CUBA WARNED U.S. WILL RETURN FIRE

Bank Manager At Haliburton Shot In Dispute

Richmond Hill Man Charged With Murder

HALIBURTON, Ont. (CP) — George Armstrong, 40, of Richmond Hill, Ont., was charged today with capital murder in the shooting death of the bank of Montreal's branch manager here Friday.

Police said another man also has been arrested in connection with the slaying.

Armstrong was arrested in the abandoned shack near Minden, 15 miles southwest of this village 55 miles north of Peterborough.

Earlier, Provincial Police Const. J. R. Desjarlais said he and Insp. J. A. Stringer arrested a man in a building near Minden 15 miles southwest of here, and he was taken to Lindsay for questioning.

A man entered the bank here on the Friday night and asked to see the manager, Eric J. Mitchell, 39, and Mitchell went to an argument and the man shot Mitchell with two shots. Bank employees said it was the second time during the day the man had been in the bank. The first time he asked to see the manager but left without seeing him.

McConnell, 45, married and a father of a 20-year-old daughter, was keeping the bank open late because he had been due to be on his vacation July 2 and he was accommodating person who wanted to see him.

The gunman, they police said apparently was not interested in stealing any money, spoke to the manager for a few minutes and then employees heard an argument then shots.

McConnell was heard to say "this is it" and mentioned the alarm.

SMASHES GLASS

The gunman then reeled into the glass door of the office, smashing the glass and cutting himself. He then fled. Mitchell had the automatic pistol from a shopping bag and fired three shots, two hitting McConnell.

The manager staggered from his office and fell to the floor.

Reg Wilson, a teller, said the gunman rushed from the bank after warning the staff: "Don't move anybody."

He jumped into a car and drove north from this village, 55 miles north of Peterborough.

McConnell, a bachelor, Linds., was shopping about a block from the bank when he was taken to hospital suffering from shock after being told of her father's death.

PREMIER HEADS FOR NORTH ONT. WITH CABINET

Fact-Finding Four Being Made

TORONTO (CP) — Premier John Robarts will lead most of his cabinet and more than 60 members of the legislature on the first leg on an 11-day fact-finding tour of Northeastern Ontario Monday.

One of the main purposes of the junket—by train, bus automobile and boat—is to make himself and his colleagues more familiar with forest, agriculture, mining and industrial development in the 165,000 - square - mile corner of the province.

The premier, in addition to several official engagements along the route, has planned conferences with business, industrial and municipal leaders at various centres.

Mr. Robarts had emphasized the need for accelerated development of the North, which he considers the natural source to accommodate an expected future population increase in southern Ontario.

The mineral- and forest-rich northern area now has a population density of less than two persons for every square mile.

TO OPEN BARKING PLANT

After the 31st week of the trip, which the premier's official duties will include opening a wood barking and chipping plant at Kapuskasing and a vocational training wing at Kapuskasing High School—the group will stop over Sunday, Sept. 8, at Kapuskasing to attend church services.

From Timmins to Moosonee and Moose Factory, on James Bay, and back to North Bay, tour members will see lumbering and milling, mining and refining and other industrial operations. They will also visit various federal and federal government installations, including the new RCAF defence development at North Bay, on the Pine Tree radar warning line.

The trip follows a similar tour of northwestern Ontario in 1956, and of the north-central section in 1957.

Heads Civil Servants

HAMILTON (CP) — Claude Edwards, 46, of Hamilton, civil servant for 17 years, has become president of the 85,000-strong Civil Service Federation.

Mr. Edwards was elected to the $12,000-a-year post on the final day of the federation's convention. He succeeds Fred Whitbourne of Ottawa, president for 15 years.

FBI Probes Threat of Violence Closing Desegregated R.C. School

BURAS, La. (AP) — The FBI is going to cause any trouble," said Woods, "They just want their school back."

Archbishop John Patrick Cody, Catholic leader of the civil parish archdiocese of New Orleans, said he had learned that Catholic people are not boycotting the school, but rather that they hesitate to expose themselves and their children to threats of economic and bodily harm."

Delegates at the Association's annual meeting acted on resolutions from the criminal justice section. The week-long session ends today with more resolutions and election of officers.

The penitentiary recommendation along with other passed by the association will be forwarded to the justice department.

Also agreed to was a proposal that drivers who have lost their licence through convictions under the Juvenile Delinquency Act, the Motor Vehicle Act or the Criminal Code be allowed to continue driving pending the outcome of an appeal.

The general session rejected a number of criminal justice recommendations, the most important being a Nova Scotia-sponsored proposed amendment to the Criminal Code which would extend the conditions under which a policeman or a private citizen may make arrests without a warrant.

It would permit arrests without a warrant if the person making the arrest believes on reasonable grounds that a warrant would be issued and that it is not feasible in the circumstances to obtain the warrant.

Bar Assoc. Recommends Lower Minimum Sentences

HALIFAX (CP) — The Canadian Bar Association Friday recommended a major change in the sentencing regulations for penitentiary prisoners.

The change, arrived at after a number of suggestions on the same subject were rejected, would make federal authorities responsible for prisoners sentenced to more than six months for offences under federal statutes.

This means a great many prisoners who now serve time in provincial and municipal prisons and jails less-adapted to rehabilitation, would be sent to sentences in penitentiaries or other federal institutions.

Under existing law prisoners sentenced to more than two years, regardless of offence, are sent to a federal penitentiary.

DEMONSTRATE FOR END OF STRIFE—Moslems demonstrate on street corner in Algiers calling for an end of civil war and strife in recently independent Algeria. Thousands roamed the streets as a general strike gripped the capital, Labor unions, the Communist Party and multiracial guerrillas in control of the city urged the demonstration with slogans such as "Down with civil war" and "Seven years of war is enough."

Algeria Totters Nearer Brink of Civil War As 30,000 Troops Massed Before Algiers

ALGIERS (AP) — Algeria appeared on the edge of a full civil war today as 30,000 regular army troops massed southwest of Algiers for a threat-ened offensive against multi-cost guerrilla forces holding the capital.

The rebel guerrilla leaders of wilayas (military zones) 3 and 4 ordered their smaller and less - well - equipped forces to hold the city at any cost.

They also attempted to drum up civilian backing for their cause, calling on the Moslem population to form human barriers against any advance by the motorized, heavily-armed regular troops loyal to Vice-Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's political bureau.

There appeared to be only popular support for either side in the capital.

Friday 20,000 Moslems paraded through the streets of Algiers shouting "Down with civil war." They demanded an end to the chaos which has rocked this nation since it won independence from France two months ago after 7½ years of bloody rebellion and terrorism.

The rebels appeared to have gone success in the countryside, where they organized demonstrations in scores of villages and towns.

There was no report that the regular army forces, armed with Soviet and Chinese weapons, had received marching orders. However, one group of 2,000 at Tlaret, 150 miles from Algiers had broken camp, loaded their heavy machine guns, howitzers and recoilless field guns and awaited word to move out.

The army commanding officer, Maj. Ahmed Sadoun said: "The National liberation (regular) army intends to establish order in the capital, and order will be established."

The rebels took Algiers last Saturday, forcing the political bureau to flee. The insurgents claimed Ben Bella's faction sought to turn its 6½ years of government into a military dictatorship.

Witnesses Obtain Protection To Tell of Ship Gun Fight

TORONTO (CP) — Two witnesses obtained the protection of the Canada Evidence Act Friday in testimony to the federal shipping inquiry about 2 Sept-lles, Que., gun fight last year.

Raymond Doucet, vice - president of the eastern district of the Seafarers International Union of Canada (Ind.), and Urgel Dupuis took the steps on grounds their evidence might incriminate them elsewhere.

He said it happened when a small boat carrying himself, Doucet and others made an early - morning call on the vessel Wheat King at Sept-Iles.

The ship had just obtained a new non-SIU crew and Doucet carried a loudspeaker.

Dupuis said he just went along for the ride and happened to have a .22-calibre carbine in his sporting coat—about 20 inches long. He described himself as a member of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America—an affiliate of the Canadian Labor Congress union ousted the SIU two years ago. The CLC sponsored Canadian Maritime Union was formed recently to try to break the SIU.

The inquiry under Mr. Justice T. G. Norris of British Columbia, ending its second week Friday appears to have at least two more months work investigating the bitter labor strife on the Great Lakes and seaway.

It resumes here Wednesday.

One aspect is that SIU picketing of Upper Lakes Company Limited ships, halted by court action in Ontario, has been waged by allies of the SIU in American ports.

Doucet told the inquiry he was elected by acclamation last year and that all the officers from President to Hall Banks down had no competition.

Castro Denies Ships Fired On American Plane

Says Cuban Govt. Not Afraid of United States

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Kennedy has warned Cuba the United States will return fire if American ships or planes are molested on or over international waters off the Cuban coast.

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, in a speech broadcast monitored at Key West, Fla., denied today that Cuban ships fired on the U.S. plane, and said the White House charge is a cover-up for what he called unofficial U.S. aggression against Cuba.

In a broadcast over Havana radio, monitored here, Castro was quoted as saying that any "further act of piracy" by the United States will be met by the strongest reprisal.

"The government of Cuba is not afraid of the United States," Castro was quoted in the broadcast. "The people of Cuba will answer any aggression with the highest cost to the United States."

The incident occurred Thursday, about 21 miles east of the north Cuban coast, near the city of Caibarien, 180 miles east of Havana, the White House said Friday night.

SHIPS OPEN FIRE

A naval spokesman said that two small naval vessels, believed to be Cuban, were in the area and that either one or both opened fire on the S-2F anti-submarine tracking plane which had flown from the Boca Chica naval station, on Florida's southern tip, on a routine training mission.

The plane normally carries bombs and depth charges as well as radar but no machine-guns. The crew of the unarmed aircraft nor its crew of three naval reservists were hit in the first incident of its kind in the tense Caribbean area.

Khrushchev's warning, relayed Friday night to the Fidel Castro regime through the Soviet embassy in Havana, said in any such future incident "The U.S. armed forces will consider by means necessary for their own protection and defence their free use of such waters."

Congressional leaders applauded the White House action, saying there is nothing the U.S. can do but retaliate if challenged.

Cubans have repeatedly accused the planes of violating Cuban air space.

The White House insisted that the plane was on a "routine mission"—a description first employed when Soviet Premier Nikita Gary Powers went down in Russia. The naval spokesman said the plane was flying low on an "observation" course parallel to the Cuban "territorial markings," the spokesman said.

WATCHING RED TRAFFIC

He did not elaborate, but it appeared likely the U.S. plane was one of a number sent out to keep track of a heavy flow of Soviet ship traffic to Cuba.

HAVANA (AP) — Invasion jitters gripped Havana today after Cuba propagandists stepped up charges that the United States is preparing a new attempt to topple Premier Fidel Castro's regime.

The jitters arise from unconfirmed reports of new landings by anti-Castro insurgents in central and eastern Cuba. The Castro regime, officially ignoring the reports, ordered partial mobilization of the militia and reinforced guards at key Havana installations.

(Washington charges that two Cuban vessels fired on a U.S. navy plane over international waters Thursday brought a violent denial from Castro early today in a Havana radio broadcast monitored in Key West.)

The Soviet embassy, which handles U.S. affairs here, refused to say whether it had delivered the Cuban protest to the U.S. warning that any such attacks in the future will be met with "all means necessary."

AFTER SHELLING

The plane incident came less than a week after anti-Castro students in two small boats shelled a suburban Havana hotel filled with Communist-bloc technicians and touched off a brief round of Cuban charges that a U.S. invasion of the island was imminent.

Havana traffic policemen today carried stubby submachine guns in addition to their usual side arms, but the city was quiet. However, informed sources said Cuban police had stopped accepting applications from Cubans for travel to the United States "until further notice."

Police Officer Given Time to Answer Charge

KINGSTON (CP)—Constable A. A. Bullock, 30, has been given a chance in which to answer a charge of failing to carry out his duties.

Bullock was suspended from the force following an incident last March 29 when he, along with Arthur Jackson, 21, said he was assaulted and abused by police cruiser and received stitches for a bullet wound in the head.

The suspended officer will have to answer a police ruling which says he should not be struck by officers when the person to be arrested is guilty of an unwarranted and unjustified.

Jackson also said he was handcuffed and beaten when officers found him lying unconscious in a field at the back of his father's Kingston home.

OPP inspector James McDermott of Toronto—has been assigned to investigate Jackson's claims.

Kingston Magistrate James Parish, disqualified himself Friday from hearing the case against Bullock because he was involved in possession of liquor in a place other than his residence.

Magistrate Carvin, chairman of the Police Commission, said he has read portion of Saturday's shooting inquiry and is satisfied that he could not hear the case.

Jackson will appear before a substitute magistrate on Sept. 14.

2,000-Year-Old Indian Burial Ground Found Near Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Ont. (CP) —A Toronto archaeologist, Walter Kenyon and a team of students assisting have uncovered a 2,000 - year - old Indian burial ground a few miles south of here.

After unearthing several human bones and a bone dagger in a field the LeVesconte family turned their find over to the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto.

Among items found in the diggings were the remains of 35 bodies of men, women and children ranging in age from six months to 80 years.

The chests and abdomens of the bodies had been cleaned out for cooking and the hollow pelvises showing marks of boiling. This is a unique burial technique which has been noted by Mr. Kenyon.

Besides, these people aren't Canadian Indian.

Fire Rating

Tweed Forest District

"Every little bit helps," is the attitude of the Department of Lands and Forests at Tweed.

Rainfall ranged from a scant .02 inch at Dacre to a helpful .18 inch at Bancroft last night. Tweed itself received .06 and word is that more might fall at any time.

Three small fires are still being patrolled, all under control, and the varied amounts of rain leave the fire hazard rating ranging from medium to high.

Extra care by all persons using the forest areas over the holiday weekend will help keep fires at a minimum.

How about it?

Newfoundland Youths May Become Pro Combo

Elizabeth Barrett, teen-age editor of The Evening Telegram in St. John's, Nfld., is guest columnist today for Teen-age Canada.

By ELIZABETH BARRETT

ST. JOHN'S, NFLD. — The Ravens, four youths who have been taking this city by storm (strum!) since they got together nearly three years ago, may turn professional.

And if they do, the mainland might do well to batten down its hatches.

Jim Hennessey, 23; Paul Ryan, 22; Derm Ryan, 18; and Darroch "Rocky" Wiseman, 21, only recently learned how to read music — a fact which may account for their fresh style.

Now only awaiting the release of their 20-year-old saxophone player, Jack Meisse, from the U.S. navy next January the group has dreams of trekking into the mainland and possibly to Detroit, Michigan.

CAPTIVATING

Jack is the only one in the group who can read music. All almost religiously follow his private rehearsing. But something in their music has captivated teen-agers here.

Jim, the unofficial leader of the group, lands most of the credit of the Ravens' success to Jack. Since "He's a one-man show in himself. He's had his own band before and he's playing with Jackie Wilson.

The combo started when brothers Paul and Derm got together on their guitars and were joined by Jim. Rocky joined a year later to establish their first rock 'n roll quartet.

Since Jack began playing at informal parties with the band — base regulations prevent him from playing professionally on their premises, various and largely composed-on-the-spot variety of rock 'n roll is changing to a new jazz sound.

Last year the combo spent most of its time in St. John's playing at teen-age dances, city clubs and the local U.S. radar station.

A new group, the Lincolns is now attracting a great deal of the teen-age crowd. But the Ravens are like a firmly established attraction at the naval base and return to town only for special shows.

A happy-go-lucky crew, the Ravens never worry over their performances. "The only time we rehearse is when we're on stage," said Jim.

Closest they ever came to a real practice is a jam session shared by friends after a regular show when they load instruments into their cars and head for the nearest restaurant.

As the only member of the group who can read music, Jack is energetically trying to capture some of the additional music produced by his others both at regular performances and jam sessions.

Already Jack has composed Newfoundland, the five aren't pushing themselves onto the mainland. But his group's ecys have sent several of their records to mainland companies and are waiting for reactions.

And how long will they continue to play together? Paul is the optimist of the group: "For the rest of our lives."

NAME-DROP?

Ever wonder how you should pronounce Peter Ilich Tschaikovsky or Alexander Porfyrievich Borodin?

Believe it or not, an American record company has just come up with the answer to all your problems — a 12-inch LP entitled "Pronouncing the Classics' which coaches you on about 1,000 composers.

Second Hercules Leaves Station For New Guinea

This was the second so-laden Hercules to leave the Trenton air station for New Guinea within the space of 12 hours.

The Otters are being sent to the New Guinea territory at the request of the United Nations for use in reconnaissance and transportation for UN security personnel, assisting in the administration of the area, in dispute for a 13 year period, between the Netherlands and Indonesia. By a treaty signed Aug. 15, the UN will act in an administrative capacity here from Oct. 1962 to May 1963.

Thursday night acting Air Officer in Command, of Air Transport Command, Group Captain G. J. Edwards, wished the RCAF personnel "God speed".

Acting city engineer Richard Kraft inspects rock and earth barrier being extended along bayshore to contain garbage in sanitary landfill operation south of the city. The landfill operation will create 40 acres of valuable property east of the Bay Bridge Road.

Dept. Planner Outlines Law To Gathering

TRENTON —At Wooler Thursday night, I. A. Anderson of the community planning branch of the Department of Municipal Affairs explained the meaning of subdivision control to a gathering of Murray Township residents. A by-law, outlining the township's needs in the area of sale-of-land control has passed two readings by the township council. Council's intention in asking the Ontario expert on the subject to address a public meeting, was to acquaint builders with the necessity for such control.

Mr. Anderson agreed with Murray council members that a planning board for the township would do much to further proper zoning regulations in the use of land. Mr. Anderson said that the setting up of planning boards on a township level was not necessarily recommended by the department, but after hearing of Murray's particular problems in this field, he agreed that in this case, a planning board would be a good thing.

20 PERMITS ISSUED

Trenton's building inspector, William Anderson, reports that during the month of August, 20 permits were issued by his department, and the total estimated value of this building was $136,350. This brings this year's total building values almost to the two million mark.

During the month, permits for eight new homes were issued, value $84,300. One six-unit apartment house was valued at $35,000 and other items in theresport concern dwelling and commercial repair.

Brass Fittings Worth $1,200 Are Stolen

TRENTON — Inspector R. J. Rutherford of the Trenton Police Department, is investigating the theft of approximately $1,200 worth of brass fittings and valves believed stolen some time Thursday evening.

The fittings and valves, property of VanDusen Brothers Limited, of Belleville, were being used for the heating system being installed at Trenton's new high school. They were taken from a wooden shed located on the school property.

cost warranties after an indictable crime has been committed, while it is being committed and while it is about to be committed. As things stand now a policeman may arrest without a warrant if he has reasonable grounds for believing an indictable offence has taken place and that the person arrested did it. A citizen must know a crime has been committed.

Sydney Palkin of Hamilton summed up the opinion of many delegates when he remarked that the resolution belonged in the times of the French Revolution.

Also rejected was a proposal to make it illegal to carry a folded weapon of less than 20 inches. Delegates felt this would rule out small rifles in survival kits.

OPP Have Full Staff On Duty Over Weekend

The Ontario Provincial Police office here, will have a full staff on duty over the holiday weekend, it was learned this morning. No officer will be allowed to take time off until after the holiday.

Every police unit will be patrolling the highways in the Quinte district in an effort to crack down on would-be law breakers, and radar units will be put into operation.

Provincial Police are asking the co-operation of all motorists in trying to keep this weekend an accident-free holiday. To date police report everything is being "quiet", but they are expecting heavy traffic to begin Sunday evening as many begin vacations in time for school on Tuesday.

City police also reported a quiet night in the city.

Land Fill Garbage Disposal Creates Acres of Valuable Property Along Waterfront

Sanitary land fill garbage disposal commenced about a decade ago in the Zwick's Island area and now being continued on the east side of the Bay Bridge Road, is creating valuable park and waterfront property for the municipality.

Under the land fill program, Zwick's Island parkland has increased to approximately 50 acres now waiting for further development, while the 40-acre marsh area east of the Bay Bridge Road is rapidly being up.

In the words of acting city engineer Richard Kraft, the program is creating waterfront property which will be worth "thousands of dollars" to the city in future years.

"Dumping of garbage east of the Bay Bridge Road was commenced late last year and the whole 40 acre area is expected to be filled in about another year.

The filling - in operation is being carried on at the rate of about 6,500 cubic yards of garbage per month. Each truck load of garbage means another eight yards filled in.

AREA SHALLOWER

Because of the relatively shallow marshland, the area east of the Bay Bridge Road is being filled in much more rapidly than was the Zwick's Island area where in some spots close to eight feet of garbage was dumped.

But landfill garbage disposal along the bay area does not simply mean dumping of garbage, levelling it off and filling it over with topsoil.

First a watertight stone and earth barrier must be built along the edge of the marsh at the shoreline. This keeps seepage from the decaying garbage from filtering into the water and further contaminating the bay.

This waterline barrier is being extended rapidly and will soon meet the Morch property to the north.

The marsh area between the retaining wall and the highway is filled in with garabge, rolled down by a caterpillar and filled over with dirt.

The operation is creating valuable property for the city and at the same time getting rid of marsh area south of the city which has been an ideal breeding area for mosquitos and an almost urban home for families of muskrats.

OTTAWA (CP)—The restrictive trade practices commission advised Thursday against legal action to break up a series of mergers in Canada's cardboard box industry since 1945.

In a report made public by Justice Minister Fleming, the commission found that the Combines Investigation Act—as interpreted so far by the courts —isn't strong enough—to break up the mergers between box manufacturers and manufacturers of paperboard which it said had closed off opportunities for independent companies to set up in either branch of the industry.

In his statement to the commission, dated Dec. 31, 1959, Mr. MacDonald made allegations of mergers against five companies and allegations of price-fixing arrangements against 25 other companies in the industry, one individual, and a private company which provided cost information to the industry.

COMPANIES NAMED

The five companies named in the merger allegations—involving 12 mergers between 1945 and 1959 were: MacMillan and Bloedel Limited, Vancouver (since merged with the Powell River Company); Pacific Mills Limited, Ocean Falls; Consolidated Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited; Canada Fibreboard Limited Paper Company, Montreal; Bathurst Containers Limited, Bathurst, N.B.; and Bathurst Power and Paper Company Limited, Bathurst Power and Paper Company Limited, Bathurst. On the basis of legal interpretation of the Combines Investigation Act in two 1960 merger cases, none of the 12 mergers would constitute a breach of the act. (In an earlier report naming MacMillan and Bloedel, The Canadian Press did not mention this finding of the commission. (The Canadian Press regrets its error and apologizes for any embarrassment or inconvenience caused the company.)

In the majority of these mergers, Mr. MacDonald alleged that an excessive price was paid for companies acquired, higher than the book value of their assets, and that this saddled the merged business with unduly high overhead costs which had to be borne by the public.

REJECTS ALLEGATIONS

The commission's report rejected these allegations and said there was no valid reason why the purchase price paid for a company should be related to the book value of its assets.

This was the situation in the case of MacMillan and Bloedel, which in 1959 bought a half-interest in Martin Paper Products Limited of Winnipeg from the Powell River Company. Martin Paper had been bought by Powell River in 1954.

Mr. MacDonald alleged that MacMillan and Bloedel and Powell River had reached an arrangement under which MacMillan and Bloedel, in its sales of paperboard for box manufacture, would recognize Crown Zellerbach as "the price leader."

"This will be likely to have the same result as if these two companies were parties to a price agreement," Mr. MacDonald said.

However, the commission found that paperboard prices charged by MacMillan and Bloedel, for some time after acquiring a half-interest in Martin Paper Products, were lower than Crown Zellerbach's prices.

How Did He Get In?

George Lincoln Rockwell, U.S. Nazi party leader, arrived in Montreal Tuesday, on his way home from Europe. He said he is ready to set up a coast-to-coast Canadian Nazi party, but cannot find a leader.

Canadians who think that there is reason for self-congratulation in the second sentence ought to spend more time studying the implications of the first.

The right reaction to Rockwell's presence in Montreal ought to be a rude, but realistic, inquiry: "How the heck did he get in?"

This is a free country and if Canadian fools or rogues want to form a Canadian Nazi party there is nothing much we can do about it — not without violating our own democratic principles.

But there is no reason under the sun why we should permit foreign trouble makers to come into Canada and stir up strife.

Canada would not have the slightest hesitancy in barring the entry of a communist agitator from Russia or China.

Why should it let a Nazi from the United States spread his poison amongst us?

Other people appear to have been asking the same question. As a result, an immigration official at Montreal stated Thursday that Rockwell would have been deported had he not left Canada voluntarily on Wednesday. Hon. Richard Bell, Minister of Immigration, said at Ottawa that he considered Rockwell an "undesirable alien" but that no action would be taken unless he decided to enter Canada again. Meanwhile, says the minister, Rockwell's status is under review. It ought not to be too difficult for the department to make up its mind about a man of this type — and to be ready to bar his entry the next time he shows up at the Canadian border.

Use of Pep Pills Common

Chief of Police Gaetan Belisle of the Montreal subburb of Laval West called for an investigation by provincial police of the death of Robert McArdle, 28-year-old football tackle. Belisle believed McArdle might have died of an overdose of "pep pills" taken during a game last Sunday. An autopsy indicated he was basically correct.

The uninitiated may be shocked at the suggestion that athletes stimulate themselves by taking pills. They may view this as just another example of the recent trend to a dependence on drugs to adjust us to our environment.

Not so. "Pep pills" of various kinds have been used by Ontario athletes for at least three or four decades. Of course, the nature of the pills used may have changed. We remember, though one instance where the use of pep pills almost caused heart failure, not for one individual but for a whole hockey team executive. The pills had been given members of a hockey team several goals down in a total-goal series. The first period saw them fly and come within a goal of tying the score on the round. But unfortunately the president of the club held the timer's stop watch. He saw an opportunity to sneak an extra two minutes' time. He did so, hoping for another goal. In the extra time the effect of the pills wore off, the "pepped" players became pooped, the opposition scored two goals and the team's fate was sealed. "Whew," complained the players in the dressing room, "I never saw a period so long." The stop-watch wielder said not one word — he did not dare.

Nice of the Enemy

Hon. Douglas Harkness, Minister of National Defence, says it is misleading to say that Canada's national survival program has been dealt a severe blow by austerity.

This is comforting. It would be embarrassing to discover that we were so broke that we could not afford to survive.

Mr. Harkness explains that most of the national survival program will proceed as scheduled. Extension and improvement of army communications and construction of regional emergency headquarters will be spread out over a longer period.

This is certainly helpful. We have here a pleasing adaptation of our well-known addiction to easy payment plans. We must say, though, that it is awfully decent of the potential enemy to agree to delay making his down payment of H-bombs, until such a time as we have completed our installments on survival methods. Rather obviously, some such pledge must have been received. Surely no government would place projects on which survival depended on the same basis as all other expenditures and make pro rata expenditures cuts in all? Unthinkable — unless, of course, nobody really expects survival plans to be needed, or to help us survive if they are needed.

Ottawa Offbeat

Novelty of Life in Ottawa Steadies Shaky Parliament

By RICHARD JACKSON

From The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — This being the kind of Parliament it is . . . with the three Opposition parties loaded with freshmen MPs . . . it is not going to be as easy to scuttle as a lot of people so far have been thinking.

Sure, the Conservatives are in an extremely uncertain minority position with only 112 seats in the 265-member Commons. member the name.

It is something like the cautious cat of a new Parliament. Everybody is too busy with their own business to bother about yours.

They tell the story of the joker who had dropped a dollar and a wife announced at one of these mass production receptions as "Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Rich" — then waited for the laugh or even a raised eyebrow.

But nothing happened.

Everybody was too busy looking each other over to notice who was being announced in the long line of arrivals.

It takes maybe six months for the glass to dull a bit, then he discovers that martinis or scotch on the rocks, cold lobster and curried chicken taste just about the way they did back home on the range.

By this time, they've found in this particular and promising-to-be-peculiar Parliament . . . it is after Christmas, the New Year. The Government has survived its first six months and with Spring right around the corner better prepared for another election.

So, too, is the Parliamentary wife. The shine is off the Capital apple. But she has got definination and enoujment of her getting-to-know-you period in the Capital, probably has done more than she ever dreamed in not rocking the Parliamentary boat.

Saints Hard To Deal With

Vancouver Sun

Prime Minister Nehru of India has ruled his nation for 15 years. It has been largely a one-man rule. As the spiritual heir of Mahatma Gandhi, he has prevailed over all opposition.

He is an old and tired man. He is reported to be in a state of mental exhaustion and physical decline. Many Indians believe his days are likely to the point of wandering.

The world must prepare for his retirement from office, sooner rather than later.

Experts on the Indian political scene generally agree that Defence Minister Krishna Menon will be his successor. Mr. Menon has over the years tightened his grip on the Indian Army, a potent political force, and has established himself as the non-Communist or Indian nationalism. The strong left wing of Indian politics is loyal to him.

Mr. Menon is personally unpopular with the Western powers. He has been a persistent and caustic critic. He has refused to align himself with the anti-Communist forces, and has given his support, sometimes to either camp which offered advantage to India.

Nevertheless, when the time comes for Mr. Nehru to step down, it will not be a disastrous to the West if Mr. Menon succeeds him. From the point of view of practical politics, Mr. Menon will be aligned with the West. He will be somehow irritating an ally he may be, he is not determined to oppose Communist China, to the point of open war if necessary, over the Himalayan border dispute.

And if he heads the Indian government, India will be much less of an enigma than in the past.

Under the influence of Mahatma Gandhi and then Nehru, there has been a strong saintly tinge to the Indian government. Western diplomats and politicians find themselves somewhat out of their element when dealing with a nation which, however imperfectly, places concepts of right and wrong ahead of political and economic expediency. It catches them off base.

With Mr. Menon they would be more at home. They would be dealing with a practical politician, whose motives and actions they could understand.

New-Car Smell

Saint John Telegraph-Journal

A new trick is being used by some tricky car dealers in the United States to palm off well-used models as new cars. It is the "new-car smell," and it comes in spray cans for use as the finishing touch to persuade appeal to a used car that has been sprucedup.

The new-car smell is something like new leather, mixed with a touch of that of the new wax and a little gasoline. When genuine as is the case in a really new car, it smells good. To the victims of the new racket, it really smells.

Bird Records Falsified

Toronto Telegram

Unspeakable. That's what it is. To think that it could happen in England.

Oh the utter, utter ghastliness of it. As though there were not darkness enough in the soul of man; as though public morals were not being bowdlerized like slow-grind, although the spivs and Teddy Boys and Rockers and Rude-the-Bombers hadn't created enough trouble.

And—this there was that awful person who snitched the Gova portrait of the Duke of Wellington from the front chamber of the National Gallery.

Then this thing happened. Indeed it had been happening apparently for a rather lengthy time. Nobody with any love for England could possibly say it aloud not even below stairs. But it must be said, for the record journalistic record. But not aloud; that would be too much. Here it is:

Well, there it is. It's almost as though someone had taken the Halifax shilling on a cricketer at Lords'. But analogies impossible. It couldn't happen; but it did.

The New York Times which is printed in Germany in quiet dignity, recorded these ugly allegations. Correspondents believe that skins of birds not found in Britain were imported, at least one dealer who passed them off as having been found in the Hastings area, "Sussex." This has resulted in a complete foul-up of the British bird-watchers' record book.

Now, the British can accept such frauds as forged paintings, pieces and the artificially-aged skulls of Piltdown man — not only with equanimity but with a certain gentle admiration. But to think that "real" bird skins should be passed in Sussex is quite another matter. For values are values, aren't they? Some things must be precious.

Perhaps it is the frantic shame of all this that makes the people of Britain — the sensitive, really feeling people — want to hide their disgrace by joining the European Union and losing their identity.

To Your Good Health

There Is No Treatment Or Exercise for Bowed Legs

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: As a former dietician, I was taught that saccharin, being a coal tar product, places an added burden on the kidneys and might be harmful. Am I right? — M.H."

One's fancy is curious may be detrimental — but saccharin in small amounts cannot be harmful. In large amounts (relatively, that is, but still very small) it becomes bitter. This is an automatic protection against getting too much. Saccharin is from 500 to 1,000 times as sweet as sugar, so users of it never take more than a tiny amount.

* * *

"Dear Dr. Molner: Can anything be done for bowed legs? Mine are that way. Is there any exercise or treatment that you can recommend? The older I get, the more self-conscious I become. — Mrs. J.H."

I have noted the current skirt length — a rarity for professional way, of course. I have also noted that, whatever the dress designers may "decree," women will wear their skirt lengths quite a bit regardless of the current fashion.

Very short skirts are worn sometimes by girls whose legs are less than perfect, and by my use of this term you can readily see my charitable attitude at the moment. The fact is that some women with terrible legs wear the shortest dresses.

This may not be a bad thing. Because if you will stand on any downtown corner for 5 minutes and study the variety of leg shapes that go by, you will lose all your own self-consciousness.

There is no exercise or treatment that will help bowed legs in an adult, but nobody's perfect, and the possession of bowed legs worries more than anyone who looks at them.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I live in the Rocky Mountains and am a diabetic. Should I use sodized salt? — L.E."

I'd consider iodized salt very much worthwhile in that area.

* * *

"Dear Dr. Molner: My 11-year-old son has diabetes insipidus. I have been giving him injections of pituitary extract but it is very difficult to obtain. Is there any other medicine that might help him? — Mrs. D.P."

A sniff of pituitary powder is often effective. If this hasn't been tried, it may replace the injections. It couldn't be more ineffective.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Since my son's diabetes I have occasionally had infections. (Diabetes insipidus a light discharge from my navel.) I told my mother and she said, 'Bake oftener and more carefully.'

This led me to think it was an unclean condition and I never mentioned it to another soul since.

I am now 50 and it seems to be occurring with more regularity and profusion. — D.V."

The most usual cause of this sort of trouble is the establishment of a fungus in the navel, or dust, or both. Some navels are deeper than others, and it makes a lot of difference. If a fungus is responsible, rinsing with hydrogen peroxide usually clears it up.

There is a much rarer condition, incomplete closure of the umbilical cord. If this is the situation, it is curable by surgery. It's too bad that the idea of "unclean" developed from your mother's comment decades ago — but that's the way life is. Some casual remark may cause years of worry and feeling of guilt when the remark was long ago forgotten by the person who made it.

Boy Wins Bet By Long Walk

Sherbrooke Record

John bet his father, Maurice Berry, that he could walk from the family's cottage at Georgeville, 100 miles to their home in the North shore and Quebec district in Montreal. The youth set out one morning over a week ago and 65 hours later he reached the doorstep of the Berry's Montreal residence.

Some of the older people may take issue with the fact that the teenager slept in the comfort of motels and hotels on the way.

But such fault finding does not take an iota af credit away from the youth who showed that despite the television slouch, hot-rods and the Twist, the younger generation has much gumption as his forefathers.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The steadily increasing sport of fishing reveals one of the most amusing characteristics of human nature. And here is my favorite illustration. A hundred-twenty-five years ago, a great, big senile old musselunge, the terror of freshwater fish, weighing about forty - five pounds, got lost. His normal home, from which he had strayed, was in the shadow of a tree lying at the foot of a rocky cliff. He had been there as long as I, or the Indians who showed me where he was, could recall. It was his home; and when he got lost he was in the habit in spring to spawn in some shallow marshy bay of the lake, he always returned to it as ever he caught where the old lost home, miles from home, got hooked.

Blonde Ballet Teacher off To Russia

OTTAWA (CP) — A vivacious blonde ballet teacher, mother of two teen-age sons, is off to Russia Sunday for a hoped-for taste look at the country's dance schools and its famous corps de ballet.

But Mrs. Nesta Toumine has no idea what kind of reception awaits her.

Mrs. Toumine, who with her Russian-born husband runs a classical ballet school here that will enrol 250 to 300 students in the coming season, says she is travelling on a Canada Council grant.

Her objective, she said Friday, is a behind-the-scenes look at the Bolshoi Ballet the Kirov and the Leningrad Kiriv State Ballet.

She also wants to observe the workings of Soviet ballet schools She hopes to pick up ideas on how to improve her own school—one of the largest in Canada.

Mrs. Toumine said that while the Russian embassy here has issued her a tourist visa it has given no undertaking that she will be able to do the things she wants.

So when she takes off Sunday she will be travelling strictly "on spec."

English-born Mrs. Toumine grew up in Ottawa, studied ballet here and in London, and then performed for eight years with the ballet Russe de Paris and the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo.

Farewell Party Held

FRANKFORD — About 90 friends and neighbors of Mrs. Mark Thompson gathered at the home of Mrs. Arthur Clow recently to bid farewell to Mrs. Thompson (Theresa) before her departure to her new home in Cobourg.

The evening was spent in contests conducted by Mrs. George Bedard and first prize winner of the first contest was Mrs. John Gilmour; second ...d was won by Mrs. J. Hoover and third prize by Mrs. John Ir. Gilmour.

Theresa was called to the honored chair and an address was read by Miss Robert Lacy. She was presented with a lovely mirror by Mrs. Ray Bunney. Although taken by surprise the honored guest thanked her friends for the lovely gift and invited them to pay her a visit in her new home in Cobourg.

A humorous reading was read by Mrs. Earle Baker entitled 'How Theresa Met Mark', after which refreshments were served by the hostess Mrs. A. Croteau.

Beautiful Girls Galore Iceland's Big Attraction

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

Reykjavik, Iceland — Don't let the name scare you.

Reykjavik is pronounced Rayk-ya-vik. It's a simple word to say, but this is the place. Bachelor's Paradise-sur-Arctic, where all the beautiful girls come from — and have gone to.

In all our tourist literature there was not a single word about Iceland's chief attraction. Understandable enough, but they could hardly keep it a secret indefinitely. As we stepped on board an Icelandic Airlines DC-6B at Idlewild, we were almost knocked off the platform by a dazzling sight — three stewardesses who looked respectively like May Britt, Anita Ekberg and a young Ingrid Bergman.

It had to be more than a coincidence. These dainty stewardesses of any description are hard to get but most of the airlines have resorted to men. Apparently Iceland still boasts the luxury of choice.

Here in Reykjavik our unlikely suspicions were confirmed. The streets are paraded by the well-stacked girls in native costume of tight slacks and bulky sweaters. Alabaster complexions, flashing white teeth while as the local dairy industry's chief product, and flowing blonde hair (how they'd be snickered at for wigs back home — and there was enough send any cosmetics salesman fleeing to Paris a raving madman.

To make sure it wasn't done with mirrors, we hied ourselves off to the local Roseland, a dance hall called Thor's Cafe (admission 17 per cent) and dance and dance to meet. It was confirmed quickly (1 per cent beer is the strongest beverage available) and we had the good fortune to be on "ladies' night."

There were no old-timers, but the dances were polkas, waltzes and a twisting, striding local ballroom jig-jig-jig as it is known elsewhere. Called glima, it is the Russian embassy here has issued her a tourist visa it has given no undertaking that she will be able to do the things she wants.

So when she takes off Sunday she will be travelling strictly "on spec."

English-born Mrs. Toumine grew up in Ottawa, studied ballet here and in London, and then performed for eight years with the ballet Russe de Paris and the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo.

Second Glance

By Viva Richmond Graham

"LAKE SUPERIOR'S UPPER SHORE"

"The far-off shores swim blue and indistinct, like half-lost memories of some old dream," — Pauline Johnson.

Monday September 3, 1962 will be a memorable day for Canada and Ontario.

This day, as you are perhaps aware, will witness the formal opening of the 4,860-mile Trans-Canada Highway (approximately a billion dollar effort) when Prime Minister John Diefenbaker will unveil a memorial at Rodgers pass — in the Canadian Rockies, to commemorate the linking of Canada from coast to coast.

This historic occasion officially signals the beginning of a new era for motorists travelling across this immense country of ours.

One of the links in this newly-opened highway is the section of Route 17 which crosses a previously impassable gap, and made possible a 165-mile connection between Agawa Bay and Marathon along the northwest shore of Lake Superior in Ontario.

Now it is possible, as never before, to drive from the 1000 miles eating rhubarb soup and Lake Superior Circle Route. This offers motoring adventure, which combines rugged scenic beauty along with modern day driving into one of the large unspoiled wilderness areas of this continent.

Such new reality had special meaning for us, last summer when my husband and I set out on a little less than a three-week motor trip with no definite plan, place or goal in mind, only a few hours willing and my childhood home, Ogden, Utah, via Lake Superior's newly-opened upper shore.

It all began with a vagabond mood. As we turned the car eastward on Highway 401 on the morning of our departure, my husband remarked casually, "One thing I'd like to do is motor around Lake Superior's north shore; some day." I said I could do until this year, really," and he discussed the facts already given above.

It wasn't very long before we both were virtually enthusiastic, and ended up with: "Sounds exciting. Let's just do that!"

We turned, then, onto Highway 17 and drove to Sault Ste. Marie which joins eventually 103 and 69 to Sudbury on Route 17 and runs west to Sault Ste. Marie and then north and around Lake Superior's upper shore.

The 520 miles from Belleville to the "Soo" took us a full day's driving. We hadn't decided at a beautifully situated small motel where Objibway Indian-made totem poles were sold for $5 a foot. "You know authentic totem poles are made by Vancouver Indians". And as we watched a red-gold sun slip beneath a sheet of blue-black water (St. Mary's River) marvelled that the manager's wife could live so far from "my home in Port Credit."

In the morning we breakfasted in the city. Read the bronze plaques in the park across from the new post office, with its verse by Rudyard Kipling dedicated to "Sault Ste Marie Town" and lest we linger longer, boarded a ship on the Port Arthur and Fort William nearly 400 miles thataway. By nightfall? Surely.

Wife Preservers

Add to the life span of your husband by preserving him with Schaefer Beer. Schaefer is the word for lifetime when it comes to drinking finer things.

But—we hadn't counted on the scenic beauty each road curve brought to our eyes. No sooner had we left Sault Ste. Marie, we found we were immediately in the wilderness. For from the "Soo" to Wawa (the next largest place) the 120 miles of road runs fairly close to the lake shore. First there are the mountains, then the lake shore, and in between a combination of both, often screened, like some altar's reredas with pine, spruce, cedar and white birch or bushes with fireweed berries.

The rocky ribs that pattern the land throughout are so ...rooted by the earth's upheavals that rivers run wild in all directions.

Now rock is bare; now thick with timber. Now streams murmur demurely; now they leap in splashy falls. How the very names fascinate! What hint of romance lurks behind each storied appelation: Pancake Bi ver, Batchawan Mountain, Hiwland Bay (where my husband hustled for Lake Superior Agates while I shook off my dizziness to walk in icy crystal water where the sand beneath glitter ed like coarsely ground gold) Harmony River, Mamainse Harbour, Montreal River and Gorge Sand River, Baldhead River Old Woman River (simply lovely), Nobby Lake, Agawa River ...to mention a few.

Bloomfield Student Is Awarded Bursary

Sharon Elizabeth Hall of Bloomfield, of Prince Edward Collegiate, Institute, Picton, has been awarded a student-aid $200 bursary by the Federation of Women Teachers' Associations of Ontario.

Miss Hall was one of the eighteen winners of these bursaries to women students who have achieved 75 per cent or better in grade 13 departmental examinations this year. The bursaries in the amount of $200 each are awarded only to women students who, having applied for a federation bursary, undertake to teach in an Ontario public school, following graduation from teachers' college, for a period of not less than two years.

A main requirement is the standing of at least 75 per cent in the examinations. This year the standings ranged from 75 per cent to a top level of 82.6 per cent.

Majorettes Newly Clad

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal Alouettes' majorettes have ordered a new football season with new costumes and a new name.

The corps, which now answers to the name of Alouettes Larkettes, has traded its traditional uniforms for production costumes worthy of a Broadway show.

"We're getting away from the idea of college shows and trying to put on some entertainment the public will really enjoy."

"We're planning four strobelite numbers," says Page.

"These are a calypso number where the girls will do a limbo under a fire bar, an Oriental number, a Whatever Lola Wants number, and a hot and cool consistency of egg white before pouring over entire cake. Cool and chill. I have not tried it but can see no reason why it would fail. Good luck!

Question: I do hope you can help me out. I would appreciate a recipe for chili sauce, and one for canning whole tomatoes in jars. Also, can you tell me how beets are canned? I am left alone with five youngsters, but we all have fun in trying to can and freeze.

Mrs E. I.

Answer: I hope you saw my recipe for chili sauce and pickled beets given here last Tuesday. If you & girls are inexperienced cooks and housekeepers you should find very useful 2 government booklets which you may have free of charge. "Freezing Foods", Publication 802, Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa and "Canning Ontario's Fruits and Vegetables", Bulletin 468, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, Ontario. I would advise you to write for both of them. Unless you have a pressure cooker I would not advise you to can beets. You can pickle them though. See my recipe last Tuesday.

CANNED TOMATOES (Cold Pack)

Blanche ripe tomatoes in boiling water for 1 minute. Remove at once, dip in cold water and peel and core. Drop into sterile pint jars, pressing down with sterile spoon. Add 1 teaspoon salt to each pint. Leave ½" headspace. Seal. Process in oven on broiler pan without rack (no water) at 275 deg. Fahr. for 35 minutes. Open oven door and let heat subside before attempting to handle jars. Do not touch the seal. Cool Wash very carefully and store in cool place.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

HOW DO YOU RATE AS A GOOD NEIGHBOR?

I cringe every time I see one of those "how-to-be-polite" on television where the next-door neighbors drop in every five minutes for coffee or a chat and get involved in everything the hostess and hostess are doing.

I realize the parts are written in for comic relief, but I can't see where they're very comic when it comes to good manners, the resulting dialogue may advance whatever plot there is, but it's a too-solid conversation, may make more sense than a half-hour soap opera, but whatever the reason the scriptwriter has for writing in interfering neighbors, I think it's because they can't break every rule in the book when it comes to good manners.

Even without a sponsor, it's nice to be neighborly, but there's such a thing as over-doing it. In plain, ordinary, everyday People Land, as opposed to TV Land, the busy housewife doesn't take as kindly and lovingly to having a neighbor settled in her living room all day long and figuring so prominently in her private life. Certainly you welcome coffee break with a friend occasionally but generally no one welcomes the thoughtless and inconsiderate neighbor who:

Charges in first thing every morning and spends an hour gossiping while the beds go unmade and the suds sink lower and lower in the dishpan.

Or drops in to kill time just when you're getting ready for company.

Or, as soon as a car drives up, races across the lawn to borrow a cup of sugar just so she can see who's visiting and wangle an invitation to stay.

Or sashay into the dining room at dinner time and plump down, into a chair with a breezy "don't mind me, I'll wait 'till you're through."

Or drops in with a friend to show her your vitreous china enamel and when you're giving it a whacking good cleaning.

Or drifts through the door just when you settle down with a good book or to have a good cry and haven't the stamina to see anyone.

It's all very amusing in script form, but the average housewives I know wouldn't stand for that sort of behavior for a minute.

And have you noticed that, except for re-runs, even Lucy finally ironed out on the whole thing? I have a sneaky suspicion they didn't run out of plots, but that Lucy finally ran out of patience with the Mertzes.

Question: Am interested in getting a good Trifle recipe I've seen a small Eng-lish Trifle which you printed in answer to a nachelor's request, but that isn't the one I'm after. An elderly Scotch lady served a concoction, part of which was composed of a sweet clear gelatin over cake and fruits. She called it Trifle and nowhere can we locate such a recipe. Could you come near it?

Margaret P. H.

Answer: The recipe you want is old-fashioned but I think I saw the cake you refer to when I was in England and I think this is the way to make it.

Take a recipe for chili sauce, and one for canning whole tomatoes in jars. Also, can you tell me how beets are canned? I am left alone with five youngsters, but we all have fun in trying to can and freeze.

ENGLISH CAKE TRIFLE

(from old English cookbook)

You require a plain sponge or plain cake about 7" in diameter and 4" deep. Cut out the inside about 1" from edge and bottom, leaving a shell. Fill this with a good custard made of 4 eggs, 2½ cups hot milk, ½ cup sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla. (Note from Emem: Stir together until thick in top of double boiler). When cold spread in ½ cup cold water for 5 minutes and dissolved over hot water. Add to it 2 tablespoons sugar and 2/3 cup white wine (sherry) cool until of consistency of egg white before pouring over entire cake. Cool and chill. I have not tried it but can see no reason why it would fail. Good luck!

Henry welcomes letters from readers, and awards each week a best-selling book for the most interesting letter he receives.

Dear Henry—I am 11 years old. I can swim very good and also tread water. But my mother will not allow me to jump off the high diving board which is about 12 feet above the water. They say I'm too young. What should I do and how can I persuade my parents to let me go off the diving board?—WON'T DROWN.

Dear Won't Drown—You can't be sure you won't drown. What happens if you get a cramp? What happens if you stay under longer than you were counting on? Too long! What happens if you hit the bottom hard and come floating on your belly? Hard luck!—HENRY.

Dear Henry—My problem concerns having my own bedroom. When we lived in an apartment I didn't mind but now we have a three-bedroom house and I think I should have the room which just sits there gathering junk.

My mother says she doesn't want to be clearing two rooms every day (the one I share with Diana now). I would gladly keep it cleaner than it's kept now so my mother wouldn't have to do it.

If friends should come I certainly would go into someone else's bed to give my room overnight. Please help me unravel this! After all my friends have their own rooms and I'd like mine before school opens.—I'M THE RIGHT.

Dear Right—You are in the right. Draw up a document saying that you will keep the room in top shape and you will give it a good going over every Saturday morning and tidy it up every day. Your mother would be foolish to resist these terms and you will leave Geneva with success.—HENRY.

Dear Henry—I am 15 and my boy friend is 21. I love him. One thing concerns me. All my friends seem to park by the road and neck. My boy friend doesn't believe in this. I do though. The best he can manage is to kiss me on the forehead. I am petrified.—SOFT FOREHEAD.

Dear Forehead—You should appreciate it. You have a civilized boy friend. He is saving the kisses for later. He must really love you; my parents really love me and they always kiss me on the forehead.—HENRY.

Dear Henry—My kids (13, 14, 15) are crazy about rock 'n roll and twisting. I can't stand it. They are dancing all the time and singing. What should I do? Please print this for other parents who are going crazy too.—GOING CRAZY.

Dear Going Crazy—You can't beat them, man! So . . . Either don't be around when the cool cats meet or, well . . . you are never too old to join their crowd.—HENRY.

Dear Henry—I have a brother just a little older than me and he is always making me mad. Yesterday when he made me mad I screamed. When Mom and Dad came they went on his side. Please tell me what should I do?—ANGRY GIRL.

Dear Angry Girl—Learn to whimper. Mom and Dad went on his side 'cause they can't stand your high intensity sound waves.—HENRY.

Forty Pound Lunge Taken off Adolphustown

PICTON — Largest muskellunge to be taken from local waters was a 40-pounder on Friday. Lucky angler was Picton native Harry Young, now of Toronto. He got a second 30-pound specimen the same night and a 19½-pounder Thursday night.

It was the 13th muskie he and two companions have taken off Adolphustown during the past two weeks.

There were 22 boats with fishermen off U.E.L. Park on Friday and Mr. Young moved to the other side of the bay, and there hooked the two big ones.

Up to this time so far this season, top catch was a 31-pounder taken by Jonathan Alas of Adolphustown.

THIRD LOWEST

Canada had the third lowest death rate in the world for 1960, behind Japan and the Netherlands and U.S.S.R., who were tied in second.

The Golden Years

Ten Rules That May Help You During Final Year at Work

By THOMAS COLLINS

Along about now, if things have gone on schedule, Mr. & Mrs. Albert G. Foster and her husband Al are fishing on the banks of a tumbling stream that runs through a town in the Rocky Mountains.

They retired earlier this summer with $7,200 in savings, an income of $221 a month, no special responsibilities, and a yen to settle down in the Rockies. They packed what household furnishings they wanted to, to a big trailer, hitched it to their car, and set out for a suburb . . . which meant a cabin on the side of a Mountain.

Before they left, Mr. Foster wanted to tell how he planned to set up a highway stand in front of his cabin and sell the handicraft of the mountain folk to vacationists. But Mrs. Foster insisted that he tell about his "Ten Commandments of Retiring" which he had drawn up during his last year on the job. So he did. And they aren't bad. Here they are:

1. One year or so before age 65 go to the boss and ask him to give it to you straight — are they going to retire you or sell her?

When he says they are, thank him and say you like it. But you'll know for sure now.

2. The next day go to the Personnel Office if the company is big enough for that sort of thing, or if it's not, to the prim little woman in the corner who keeps books on you, and tell her you'll be on what day your first pension cheque will arrive and how much it'll be, and that you'll be able to continue your hospital insurance and your life insurance, whether you'll get severance pay, what employee rights, if any, you'll carry over into retirement, and what will you get that you haven't thought of.

3. Start soft-soaping anybody in the company who is on the way up, and keep at it for the last year. You never know . . . whether or not you want a post-retirement job or a part-time job with the company. If so, start out to sell the executive who can grant it . . . shipping, marketing, clerical, manufacturing or what have you. A smart fellow, in a year, and with an idea, can sell himself.

4. Relax for a couple of months and then tell the boss you are ready to start training your successor. Then train him, well. You've got nothing to lose, and you owe it to your job help. And he'll tell people you were a great guy after you're gone.

6. Don't tell any fellow employees what you are going to do in retirement. Brag casually of your investments, of your wife's desire to explore the Smokies, of a couple of companies that are nagging you to come to work for them. But nothing definite. Then you'll walk out like a glamor boy.

7. Figure your last vacation into your pension deal. You'll pick up some dollars this way. Besides you don't need three weeks of rest a few months before you get 20 years of it.

8. Dont goof off the job in the last year. You're a bum if you do, and anyway the loafing isnt that much fun. Be gracious, be quiet and be willing to do a little more than you have to. The image of yourself that you leave will be much better. You will like that.

9. Finally, don't let them trap you into a retirement party. This is a salve for the conscience of those who are retiring you, and they don't really want you. It's a ban on your fellow employees who have to contribute for an electric-razor gift for you; or something. It is like the first stage rocket in your trip to the cemetery. That is just how you'll feel at the party breaks up. You've had it. Bud, just go quietly.

10. Don't go back to the scene. When retirement is a fact it is an absolute law. Don't go back to advise or to visit. You have winked at the girls back-slapped the boys, and grasped the hand of the boss. That's it. It's over. It's done. Go get the new life that is yours.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Mrs. R.F. — I tell him to keep it a secret. People are cruel.

• • •

Mrs. R.F. — Our son had a nervous breakdown at college. After emergency treatment at the campus clinic, he was sent home for therapy.

Fortunately the psychotherapist we consulted was able to get to the root of Steve's trouble within a few months. It was his terrific fear of not making good. Soon he was able to take extension courses near home, and last year he matriculated as a senior in a small, local college. Holding down a part-time job, too, he's in fine shape.

But a problem arises now in filling out applications blanks for law school. They ask about previous illness. Should we tell the truth?

• • •

Steven F. — I know my mother'd like to protect me from the stigma that still clings to mental illness. But I'd better be truthful.

What happens if I meet someone from the old college who'll spill the beans? Actually there's nothing to be ashamed of, nothing to hide. I became ill and I was cured, that's all. In speaking up, maybe I can show people the value of good psychiatric treatment. It put me back on my feet.

Anyway, when you apply for admission or for a job it's no more than fair to answer questions honestly. Those in charge have the right to know whom they're dealing with.

Up to now, though, I'll admit I've kept mum about the experience.

The Council: Steven admits he hasn't lost his brave resolve to the test. Unfortunately he will find that public attitudes are often antiquated. Stigma has not been erased.

Where the true nature of a breakdown is understood, that is, among the professionals and the enlightened, there is no stigma attached to an ex-mental patient. To these his condition was the clear result of pressures, like a water-main explosion. As with heart disease or ulcer, it might strike anyone whose capacity for stress is overtaxed.

But on other levels, over the lunch pail or around the water cooler, the old cliche's may get bandied about. That's why, for Steven, it may be the better part of valor to be discreet.

Perhaps this country will some day catch up with England where, thanks to public education, everything about mental illness is out in the open. There, a man stops off at his mental hygiene clinic as casually as at his dentist's office.

From the facts here, Steven was never "insane." Nor was he "committed." He was emotionally ill, disabled by blocks, held at bay, by disclosing his past illness, less a compromise. Answer: Legal, candid forms truthfully. A driver's license application, for example, requires about treatment. Steven's doctor would back him up with a statement as to his present good health, and that would be that. But there's no point in telling all to fellow acquaintances. The information may serve no good purpose.

From Dr. William C. Menninger comes the statement that, in a broad sense, mental illness strikes "one out of every

Stories of Famous Hymns

"WE'LL WORK TILL JESUS COMES"

O land of rest, for thee I sigh,
When will the moment come,
When I shall lay my armour by,
And dwell in peace at home?

No tranquil joys on earth I know
No peaceful sheltering dome;
This world's a wilderness of woe,
This world is no my home.

To Jesus Christ I fled for rest;
He bade me cease to roam,
And lean for succor on His breast,
Till He conduct me home.

I sought at once my Saviour's side,
No more my steps shall roam:
With Him I'll brave death's chilling tide,
An reach my heav'nly home.

"WE'LL WORK TILL JESUS COMES"

God sometimes uses the briefest lives to send His richest blessings to the world.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mills, a young English woman, was only 34 years old when she died but during her life-time she wrote two of Chistendom's most appealing hymns. Both enjoyed unusual Sunday School popularity throughout the nineteenth century, and both are still singing to twentieth century Christians from the pages of modern hymnals.

"We speak of the land of the blest,
A country so bright and so fair
And oft are its glories confessed
But what must it be to be there."

It was yearning for the heavenly homeland, too, which inspired her second song, "We'll Work Till Jesus Comes," which she introduced with the lines.

"O land of rest, for thee I sigh
When will the moment come,
When I shall lay my armour by
And dwell in peace at home?"

Mrs. Mills was born in 1805 and after her marriage she lived a good bit of time in London. Her husband was a member of parliament. George C. Stebbins, popular American composer, wrote the music for her first song. Dr. William Miller gave song wings to her hymn, "We'll Work ill Jesus Comes."

"I shall give you that tomorrow." The present moment is all the infant cares about.

As infancy merges into youth we begin to live in the future as well as the present. Youth has its dreams and they are glorious. But youth is not a period of unbroken happiness, such as we older persons often picture it in retrospect. Recall how many things we worried about when we were young. We took so many troubles as final. Perhaps some of you may can recall the hopeless feeling you had when you lost out to a rival in the race of love. You thought the girl you lost was the only one in the world and the light of your life was gone out for ever. Perhaps you met the lady some 25 years later, and then you were glad you had lost! Time adds a past tense which brings perspective to save us from the terrible grief over passing defeats and excessive pride over passing triumphs.

SEEK ALL BEAUTIES.

Suppose a man of 65 goes out for a walk with his 16-year-old granddaughter. He can see all the beauties of the sights around them, and he sees them with more meaning and background. He sees richer values in common things because he links them with larger associations. Through his experience he has widened his sympathies, and it thus he is alive to the interests of more people. Thus he capitalizes his memories to produce more interest in the present and future.

If we live only for selfish material things then age is a time of dimming lights as our physical faculties fade. But godliness makes age a time of lights coming on, so that there is a mellow radiance to a golden wedding anniversary rivalling the brightness of the wedding day. Last winter after a snowfall I looked across with thick roofs and windows framed in snow and the light streaming from them. They made the kind of picture we see often on Christmas cards. And graceful, godly age makes a person like a snow-framed house lighted up at eventide.

The person who trusts God feels as did Br:wning's Rabbi Ben Ezra when he said:

"Our lives are in his hand,
Who said, 'A whole I planned,
Youth shows but half. Trust God.
See all, nor be afraid."

A Lift for Living

In Later Years of Life Faith Gives Us Vitality

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Labor Day marks for most Americans and Canadians the end of the vacation season. It is the time when we not only pay tribute to the dignity of labor but also return to our regular work.

Let us hope that our vacations have restored our physical vigor and zest for our jobs. But let us take a longer look. Are the years taking a toll of our energies and leaving us with less of our old fire?

What can God do to preserve the glow of youthful vitality? I am not thinking of bodily vigor, although I believe that religious faith can do more for physical health than most of us realize. But bodily vigor is not the same as personal vitality. I have known some husky physical specimens who were not very vital. And, on the other hand, I have friends with frail bodies who are magnetically alive.

And God can give to persons such aliveness. I think of a 80-year-old man. He is so interested in others that he is interesting to others. Young people like to be around him. He began to remember his Creator in the days of his youth, and that consciousness of God's control gave a rhythm and timing to his life. He did not exhaust the romance of his early years by trying to get in his teens the thrills that normally come in the 20's. Nor did he spoil his 30's and 40's by feverishly rushing after financial and social recognitions which ordinarily come in the 50's and 60's. And when he reached his later years he did not repeat the folly of those who try to recapture their lost fun by resorting to antics of a silly second childhood.

AGE HAS ADVANTAGE

He has enjoyed all the seasons of life, and now he lives in all its tenses. Here age has the advantage over early childhood. The infant lives in just one tense, the present. It wants what it wants when it wants it — and that time is now. It does little good to say to the child, "I gave you that yesterday" or "I'll give you that tomorrow." The present moment is all the infant cares about.

As infancy merges into youth we begin to live in the future as well as the present. Youth has its dreams and they are glorious. But youth is not a period of unbroken happiness, such as we older persons often picture it in retrospect. Recall how many things we worried about when we were young. We took so many troubles as final. Perhaps some of you may can recall the hopeless feeling you had when you lost out to a rival in the race of love. Time adds a past tense which brings perspective to save us from the terrible grief over passing defeats and excessive pride over passing triumphs.

EVERYONE IN ONTARIO CAN BENEFIT FROM THIS

For the Next 10 Days Only!

The Finest Health Insurance Opportunity Ever Offered To Everyone in Ontario

Pays your Doctors' Bills from the Very First Visit—
Your Surgeons' Fees for all Operations.
AVAILABLE

Regardless of Past or Present Health

even though you're ailing now

Absolutely No Age Limit!

HOW CAN WE DO IT? This health insurance opportunity is based on the same principles as regular group insurance. The group in this case consists of all Ontario residents who join during the specified enrollment period. Because of the size of the group, benefits can be more comprehensive than ever before, rates comparable with those of large company groups.

Here are the Facts

- COMPLETE COVERAGE. This plan pays for home, office and hospital visits from the very first visit and for surgeons' fees. Payments are designed to cover the full amount of fees charged by most Ontario doctors. Additional benefits are detailed on the opposite page.
- SONS AND DAUGHTERS MAY ENROLL THEIR PARENTS. Because there is no age limit, adult sons and daughters may find it advantageous to enroll their retired parents or other dependents. This is legal and acceptable.
- YOUR OWN DOCTOR—You may choose any doctor anywhere in North America. Payments are made to you or directly to your doctor.
- NO AGE LIMIT. Unlike nearly all health plans, there is no age limit to prevent anyone from becoming and remaining a member.
- NO SALESMAN WILL CALL. All the information you need and we need is on these two pages. Simply mail coupon with first month's premium and you're automatically insured!
- NO HEALTH QUESTIONS ASKED. While most medical plans today do not require a physical exam, they do require complete health statements. Yet this plan is available without a single health question asked. NO ONE CAN BE REFUSED!
- YOUR CLAIMS ARE PAID AT ONCE. Claims are paid quickly, without "red tape". The absence of health and age considerations lets us send you payment in most cases by return mail.

You Control Your Policy's Future

Here's the Guarantee—You need never fear that your policy will be cancelled or that your benefits or premiums will be changed because of the number of times or amounts you collect. Continental cannot cancel ANY POLICY unless it cancels ALL POLICIES issued under this special Ontario Plan.

You have the Right to Cancel—Not only can you cancel your policy at any time but, after you receive your policy if you are not 100% satisfied in every way, return it within 10 days and your first month's premium will be immediately refunded.

Dodgers Sailing Along Toward Flag

Giants Fail To Gain Ground

By MIKE RATHEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Caught on a seemingly endless treadmill, San Francisco Giants have spent 54 consecutive days trying to overhaul Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League race. They are in the last month of the season still 2½ games behind.

The second - place Giants wound up a successful August campaign Friday night with a big bash against the third-place Cincinati Reds, using the hot bat of last-minute hero Willie McCovey and the five-hit pitching of Billy Pierce for a 10-3 triumph.

McCovey, getting the call over Harvey Kuen just before game time, responded by driving in four runs with a two-run homer, single and sacrifice fly as Giants handed the Reds their fifth defeat in six games. They have won 16 of 23 games back with fewer than 30 games remaining in the schedule.

But the Giants, who have been in second place since July 8 and wound up playing .643 ball during August, were unable to gain ground on the league-leading Dodgers. The Dodgers picked up 10 hits for their triumph over Milwaukee Braves.

Frank Howard paced the Dodger attack with three singles and a double to lead the league batting leader, Tommy Davis, stroked two hits and increased his average to .346.

Don Demeter's run-producing triple in the 10th inning gave Philadelphia Phillies a 3-2 decision over Pittsburgh Pirates and Chuck Hiller's game-tieing homer carried St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-2 triumph over New York Mets. Houston Colts and Chicago Cubs were not scheduled for action.

The Reds got their runs off Pierce, winning his ninth game without a defeat at home, on Eddie Kasko's leadoff homer in the first inning and a homer by Leo Cardenas in the seventh, in between, Pierce was virtually unhittable.

The Giants broke the battle open against Jim Maloney with a four-run outburst in the third inning on a single by Pierce, a walk, Willie Mays' two-run double and McCovey's sacrifice fly.

The Reds also started quickly, pouncing on Pete Richert for two runs in the first frame on run-producing singles by Hank Aaron and Joe Adcock. Relief specialist Ed Roebuck came on in the sixth inning and pitched three-hit ball over the final four innings.

The Dodgers moved ahead to stay against Jack Curtis in the fifth, scoring four runs on six hits. Duke Snider's run-scoring single tied it and John Roseboro's single drove in the go-ahead run.

The Phillies scored the clincher in the 11th inning off Pirate reliever Earl Francis when Wes Covington singled and Demeter followed with his triple. The Pirates had moved ahead 2-1 in the fourth with Bill Mazeroski's sacrifice fly and Francis' double accounting for the runs, but the Phils tied it in the eighth on Billy Klaus' triple and John Callison's sacrifice fly.

James tagged him homer off Craig Anderson, cracking a 3-2 tie and handing Anderson his 14th consecutive loss. That's the longest losing streak in the league since Charles Brown of the 1955 Braves had the same number. The Cards had pulled into a deadlock on Bill White's two-run single in the fifth inning.

Pitching — Bill Pierce, Giants, limited Cincinnati to five hits as second-place San Francisco whipped third place Reds 10-3 and remained 2½ games behind National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

Batting — Frank Howard, Dodgers, paced 10-hit attack with three singles and a double, driving in two runs in 8-3 triumph over Milwaukee that kept National League leaders 2½ games in front.

Maple Leafs Nearly Out Of Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs, all but mathematically eliminated from the International League pennant race, suddenly are playing like contenders.

The second-place Leafs got a three - hit shutout from Cal Browning and a pair of two-run homers from Ron Jones in a 6-0 triumph over Buffalo Bisons Friday night. It was the Bisons' fifth straight defeat.

The victory combined with Jacksonville Jets' loss to Atlanta Crackers, trimmed the Suns' lead to seven games, but they have a lock on the title. Their magic number is only seven — any combination of seven Sun victories and-or Toronto losses will give Jacksonville the pennant.

Rochester Red Wings outlasted Syracuse Chiefs 11-10 and Columbus Jets beat Richmond Virginians 4-2. With Atlanta and Columbus both winning, the Crackers retained a one-game hold on fourth place, the last playoff spot.

BROWNING SPARKLES

Browning, a lefty, struck out seven men and walked only one in his sparkler at Buffalo. He is 8-3 for the season.

Atlanta southpaw Ray Sadecki stopped Jacksonville on five hits, striking out 10. Centers, Singles by Phil Gagliano and Dagy Foytack and Joe Clemens' double got two Atlanta runs in the fifth inning, all that were needed for Sadecki.

Al Pehanich (7-2) kept the Jets within one-game of the last playoff spot with a six-hitter against Richmond. Second - inning singles by Rex Johnston, Tony Asaro, Ron Bland, Pehanich and Charlie Leonard produced a decider three-run 2nd burst.

Rochester used six pitchers, three of them in the ninth inning, in fighting off Syracuse. Pete Ward's grand slam in the ninth frame proved to be the winer for Rochester.

Alouettes Win Bantam Crown

The Alouettes defeated the Riders 9-4 Thursday night to capture the Bellville Minor Softball Association's Bantam championship.

Alouettes won the finals in two consecutive games.

The champs built a 5-0 lead in the early stages of the game but Riders roared back to cut the lead to 5-4. It stayed that way until the last inning when the Alouettes added the final four runs.

Alouettes were outhit by the Riders 10-8, but alert base stealing helped turn the tide of victory.

R. Wallis pitched the win and led in the base stealing department. J. Cole pitched well for the Riders.

Meanwhile, in the Peewee city finals, the Mets shaded the Pirates 13-12 to tie their set at one game apiece.

The third and deciding game of that series will be played at the CNRA park Monday night at six o'clock.

But Increase Lead

Yanks Behind Last Year's Pace

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

As September dawned a year ago, New York Yankees had 87 American League victories. Whitey Ford had 22 of them. Roger Maris had 31 home runs, going on 61. Mickey Mantle had 45.

Entering the peinant month this year, the Yankees have won only 79 games. Ford had 14 wins. Maris had 31 homers and Mantle 25.

But the 1961 Yankees were only 1½ games in frot of the pack. The 1962 version is three games ahead. Friday night the whole league showed why.

The Yankees beat Kansas City Athletics 5-1. It was only the third Yankee victory in 21 games, but the other clubs have failed to take advantage of that pace.

Minnesota Twins, in second place, were beaten 7-5 by Boston Red Sox and slipped three games back. Los Angeles Angels dropped a 4-2 decision to Chicago White Sox after winning the opener of a doubleheader 6-3 to fall 3½ games back.

Ryn ran his record to 14-7—he lost only five all last year—by striking out Jim Gentile before he tired out. Marshall Bridges finished up.

TRIPLE PITCHERS

The Yankees got 15 hits, the first 13 of them singles, and four walks off Ed Rakow and two successors. They left 12 on base. Rakow, a rookie who had nine hits, stranded 10. Tom Tresh, homered in the eighth inning for the Yanks. Mars, with a sore left arm, sat out the game.

Walks set up the Twins' upending and Carl Yastrzemski delivered a three-run double there off with two-run hits. Trailing 7-4, the Twins loaded the bases on three straight hits in the eighth inning but could get only one run home. Dick Radatz was in relief.

Fleet hitter Danny O'Connell missed on an attempted squeeze bunt in the eighth inning and was caught between two runners for the Washington victory. With the bases filled, Bob Johnson's fly ball was the date when the squeeze failed, but O'Connell stoned quickly.

OSINSKI GETS WIN

In the opener, George Thomas, Felix Torres and Bob Duliba got the home runs to account for all the Angel runs. Dan Osinski was in relief.

Dick Donovan won his 18th game of the year, going all the way for the Indians after he survived a four - run Orioles' fourth inning. It was the little's 31st homer. Al Luplow hit a two-run homer for Cleveland and Larry Doby's one - run homer was the big hit in a three-run seventh that put the Indians ahead to stay. Robin Roberts (9-7) took the loss.

Jim Bunning was pounded for 14 hits but he lasted until two men were on in the ninth to win his 15th game for the Tigers. Bunning's double, his fifth straight hit over two games, snapped a 1-1 tie in the fourth frame and Rocky Colavito drove home with a man on increased the lead to 4-1.

Eskies Win

Belt B.C. Lions 22-10

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos, displaying a pattern that took them to three straight Grey Cup championships, belted British Columbia Lions 22-10 in a Western Football Conference game before 14,500 fans Friday night.

The victory propelled the Eskimos into a first-place tie with Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the five-team league and set them off on the right foot in a crucial week of activity.

They meet the last-place Calgary Stampeders in an afternoon game in Calgary Monday, then return home to meet the Stampeders Friday.

Meanwhile, the fourth-place Lions continue a long road trip, Friday night Eastern Canada for interlocking games next Wednesday against Montreal Alouettes at Montreal and another in Toronto next Saturday against the Argonauts.

The Bombers and the third-place Saskatchewan Roughriders clash in Regina Monday.

SHOW STRENGTH

The Eskimos blended a strong running game and a stout defence to record their triumph over the Lions. They counted touchdowns by fullbacks Johnny Bright and Mike Lashuk and halfback Bill McKenny. End Tommy - Joe Coffey converted each touchdown and Vic Chapman added a third - quarter single.

For the Lions, quarterback Joe Kapp hit end Jim Carphin with a 25-yard touchdown strike pass in the first quarter. Vic Kristopaitis converted and completed the B.C. scoring in the final quarter with a 12-yard field goal.

On each scoring march the Eskimos flashed the running power that gave them Grey Cup triumphs in 1954-55-56. Bright, slowed by injuries in his last three games, carried much of the load as he lugged the ball 102 yards in 19 carries. Most of his yardage was made on crucial plays during the Eskimos' scoring marches of 86 and 90 yards in the second quarter and 65 yards in the fourth.

Jackie Parker, good on eight of 13 passes, mixed his aerial plays well with the Eskimos running game and hit McKenny with a 10-yard payoff pitch for Edmonton's first touchdown. Parker also ran himself on several of his famed rollout plays.

Edmonton piled up 19 first downs on 218 yards rushing and 111 through the air. The Lions countered with 18 first downs on 196 yards rushing and 133 on 10 pass completions in 19 attempts by Kapp.

Pinch Hitting

DUNDAS VS. KENMORS

Runners-up in 1960 and champions in 1961.

That is the story of the Dundas Merchants

Belleville Kenmors will decide the wording for the 1963 Dundas crests.

The Merchants and Kenmors open a best-of-seven series for the Ontario Senior baseball championship in Dundas tomorrow afternoon.

The second game is slated for the Belleville Fairgrounds Sunday evening at seven o'clock. The third will also be played here, Wednesday night, at 8.15. with the fourth back in Dundas next Saturday afternoon.

Both clubs are ready and rarin' to go in a series that should provide Belleville fans with the best baseball they have had the opportunity of watching in some years.

Any team that wins the senior championship, as did the Merchants last year, must be strong. They played in a nine-team district this summer and emerged as over-all winners, a feat that also testifies to their strength.

Some of the Dundas players will be familiar to the Kenmors. Catcher Fred Chayka and a couple of others played on the Hamilton team that the Kenmors defeated for the Ontario Junior crown in 1960.

Dundas is reputed to have a couple of red-hot pitchers in the persons of Mike Anderson and Frankie May. Howie Knox, who also plays third base, completes a three-man pitching staff.

The Dundas batting order is expected to have Murray Lake playing centre field and leading off, followed by Don McPhail rf, Bill Rowe ss, Joe Martin lf, Howie Knox 3b Sandy Division 2b, Neil Thomson 1b, Fred Chayka c, and either Anderson or May pitching.

Others available for duty include Larry Russell, Ken Watson and Jack Lee. A few others whose names we do not have, complete the roster.

Meanwhile, coach Sid Forster has the Kenmors keyed up for a tough battle, one where they must play top, heads-up baseball all the way to win. The entire team, from batboy to manager Ken Soden, wants that senior championship and Dundas will have a battle on their hands from start to finish.

Stan "Lefty" Reid pitched the first six innings and appeared to have good stuff and better-than-average control. He will likely get the starting assignment for the second game of the series here Monday.

Larry Soden threw fine ball over the last three innings and was next to untouchable. It was his best effort in recent weeks and likely earned him the starting nod in Dundas Sunday. He struck out five and did not walk a man Wednesday night.

The infield is pretty well set with Larry havety behind the plate, Bill Moxon at first, Gary Goyer at second, Moe Hunter at third and Pat Asselstine at shortstop.

Rick Locke, who has been on the limp with a leg injury, appears fully recovered. He ran miles the other night to haul in a couple long balls and also hit lately. He will lead off and play centre field, and he's murder on the base paths.

Jackie Elliott and Claude Carr are expected to flank Locke in the outfield. Both are solid experienced players who will hold their own afield or at the plate.

"Duffy" Follwell is recovering from a minor operation on a toe and is ready for pinch-hit duty. He hopes to be able to take a regular turn long before the series is over.

Bill Latchford and Gordie Vaughn back Soden and Reid in the pitching rotation and may be used either as starters or in relief. Barry Duguid, Larry Soule and, of course, coach Forster himself, will be set to fill in where needed.

Goyer, who has won the league batting title for the past two years, hammered a long home run the other evening. His bat will play a major role in the Kenmors' fate. Bill Moxon's hitting has picked up of late and Pat Asselstine is also slugging the ball well.

The Kenmors have the guns to win it all, if they play the ball they are capable of playing.

Our only hope is that weak opposition throughout the year, other than from Kingston, has not allowed the club to pick up bad habits,

This weekend should give some indication of how good both clubs are in the clutch. Please don't forget that new starting time Monday. It's a seven o'clock game.

Toronto Boy Wins

Norm Mogil Junior Golf Champion

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONCTON (CP) — Norm Mogil of the Toronto Maple Downs golf club holds the Canadian junior golf championship today because of superior irons shots and a cool nerve.

The slender 18-year-old Toronto youngster, who weighs in at 140 pounds, needed both Friday in defeating Brian McCormick of Kelowna, B.C., zoo up in the 36-hole final.

But for McCormick's gameness and persistence the final could have turned into a runaway.

Mogil was three holes up going into the final nine. It was then that McCormick came up with birdie fours that had evaded him all day and Mogil's lead eventually was sliced to one.

McCormick won the 29th with a 10-foot birdie, missed one from the same distance at the 30th and lost the 31st when he chipped over the shot was behaved.

Still three holes up, Mogil put his tee shot at the short 32nd into the woods and lost the hole with a bogey five. He halved the 33rd.

At the 34th McCormick planted his approach three feet from the pin and sank the birdie putt for another win.

The 35th hole was one down but saw his chances start to dwindle when he injudiciously topped his drive off the tee box 265th. The ball went only about 150 yards.

Mogil calmly went to work for his par and got it. McCormick's drive off the tee at the hole was halved in part when McCormick just missed a 20-footer.

Mogil coolly played the 36th, hole and won the match.

Most of the 36-hole match's first shots put him inside McCormick on the green, but McCormick generally was outlanded by his putting from distances up to 10 feet. Several times the ball just rolled off.

For approximate medal scores in the two 18-year-old were even par 72 each. But Mogil, three over par, in the morning and two in the afternoon.

McCormick was a six-over-par 40 for his poor front nine in the afternoon, to Mogil's 37, but came back in a one-under-par 35. Mogil took 36.

Mogil, 5ft. 10in., McCormick three - putted four times and Mogil only three.

Mogil, the new champion, got into the tournament proper for the 32-man field by finishing in the qualifying round. He missed by a hair and didn't try last year. He is a high school student in Toronto.

McCormick, also 18, is a high school student in Kelowna. He has given thought to becoming a professional golfer.

Both Out Cold

"Bulldog" Gets the Nod

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Bruno Sammartino and Dick "Bulldog" Brower, a couple of 275-pound wrestlers who are built like Sherman tanks, clashed head on in last night's main event at Memorial Arena.

Headon, literally that is, in the third and final fall. Sammartino, the hero of the piece, was outside the ring, where he had been thrown by Brower, the villain, naturally.

Bruno, knocked back to the arena floor the first three times he tried to re-enter the ring, was set for "Bulldog" on the final attempt. He threw a block at the charging Brower and a pair of heads cracked like the echo of Chuck Conner's rifle.

Sammartino went down and out on the arena floor and Brower ended up in the same condition in the centre of the ring. Bert Maxwell, third man for the evening's action, didn't even bother to take off his shoes to count to ten, hoisting the "Bulldog's" paw in a sign of victory.

The first two falls were seven minutes apart. The pair had everything his own way with Brower giving Bruno a sound beating in the first of the preliminaries.

He strangled, kicked and pounded the Italian strongboy until Bruno lot his temper, turned it loose in a flash and got the first notch on his gun with a back-breaker.

The middle heat was the same story in reverse. Sammartino was the aggressor and Brower did not even raise a hand in defence. However, when Sammartino threw "Bulldog" off the ropes, the "Dog" came back foot first — right in the middle of Bruno' Adam's apple. That made it a fall each and you know the rest.

Big Gino Marella, who drew with Stan Stasiak in the first bout of the night, filled in for Sam Steamboat as Jean Ballargeon's partner against Bobby and Steve Stasiak. Steamboat was absent because of a leg injury received in Toronto the previous night.

The blonde Stasiaks brothers, a couple of excellent showmen, got the fans in the tag-team when thy dragged Ballargeon outside the ring, took turns kicking him in the mid-section and rammed his head into the ring apron.

Doug McClure of Checkmate Has Role in The Virginian

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Doug McClure, bounced from Checkmate, has landed on his feet—or in the saddle, you might say.

Doug is the good-looking blond who supplied some youthful comedy as the junior Checkmate sleuth. When the series failed to solve its most important case — how to avoid a cancellation — Doug went right into the revolutionary new Virginian.

What is so revolutionary about another western? Well, this one is 90 minutes. It appears to be the only 90 minute regular filmed series yet attempted, though CBS did make some Playhouse 90 shows on film to spell the live ones.

The Virginian stems from the old Owen Wister classic, thrice filmed as a feature. The series will have McClure playing Trampas, the villain to whom the Virginian growled, "when you call me that—smile."

"The character of Trampas has been changed to make him less of a villain and more of a lovable rogue," McClure says.

Actually the new show is a return to the outdoors for Doug. His first series was a one-hour western Overland Trail, which he and William Bendix travelled for but a short season.

What killed Checkmate?

"Various things," said McClure. "By its very nature—the theme was trying to prevent violence—there was a lack of action.

"And I think they let the show fall into the guest - star trap. We were getting big names and much of the script had to be thrown their way. The series regulars were relegated to the background. This is a mistake. The fans turned on Checkmate to see Sebastian Cabot, Tony George and Doug McClure, not Charles Laughton."

AT THE BELLEVILLE DRIVE-IN — Samar' Drama Stars Quartet — Joan O'Brien, George Montgomery, Ziva Rodann and Gilbert Roland are the four principals, in the new action-packed drama filmed in Technicolor. "Samar" opens at the Belleville Drive-In Theatre on Monday. 2nd first-run feature attraction in "House of Women" starring Shirley Knight.

AT THE BELLE — Heads Up talking by Fred MacMurray saves the day for Tommy Kirk in Walt Disney's Technicolor production, "Bon Voyage!" The angry opposition is Geigette Anya, as mother of Mario Sirago. The Disney comedy stars MacMurray, Jane Wyman, Michael Callan and Deborah Walley, and co-stars Kirk and Kevin Corcoran. "Bon Voyage!" is continuing through Wednesday, at the Belle Theatre in Belleville.

Two Share Lead in Dallas Open

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Paul Bondeson and Juan Rodriguez, a 116-pound Puerto Rican, fired three-under-par 67s Friday to share the first-round lead in the $35,000 Dallas Open.

Bondeson, noted for his long driving, missed a four-foot putt on the 18th that would have given him the undisputed lead.

Neither Bondeson nor Rodriguez has ever won a tournament.

They finished ahead of such old campaigners as Lionel Hebert, Don Cuitin and Billy Maxwell, all of whom shot 68s.

U.S. open champion Jack Nicklaus wound up with a 72.

The Trots

TORONTO (CP) — With the fastest mile of its life, Duke of Decatur, five-year-old trotter owned by Adrien and Gerard Mireo of Montreal and driven by Keith Waples, won the $14,000 Maple Leaf Trot at Old Woodbine Raceway Friday night.

Waples, regarded generally as Canada's best driver of standardbreds, rated his horse perfectly in the one-mile test, coming with a concentrated drive in the stretch to win by half a length over favored Wee Irish.

The $7,000 winner's purse raised Duke of Decatur's season's earnings to $30,000.

A triple dead heat for second place highlighted the eighth race. Involved behind Kalmuck Street were Plain Bill W., Lucky Stone and Marjean Chief.

"Harold Lloyd's World of Comedy" to open at Park Theatre on Monday

"Harold Lloyd's World of Comedy" will open at the air-conditioned Park Theatre on Monday. Personally produced and supervised by the famous comic, the new full length motion picture includes sequences from eight of Lloyd's great famous films covering the years 1923-1930. The hilarious, suspense-filled episodes which won international acclaim for their despectacled, straw-hatted hero, now have a narration and a musical score behind them.

Presented by special invitation at the Cannes Film Festival, the film won unanimous cheers from the fete. According to press reports, the audience took a nostalgic look at the past — and loved what it saw. 'Harold Lloyd's World of Comedy' melted the traditionally festival reserve. The comedian was greeted by a standing ovation when the lights went-up in the festival palace after a sell-out performance.' Earlier Mr. Lloyd had been presented with a plaque honoring his contribution to cinema by the festival director.

The major portion of the Lloyd films have never been seen via any commercial medium since the comic retained the rights to most of his motion pictures. Among the sight sequences included in the 'The Continental' Distributing Inc. release are those from 'Safety Last,' 'Feet First,' 'Why Worry?', 'Professor Beware,' 'Girl Shy,' 'The Freshman' and 'Girl Crazy.'

SECOND FEATURE

Forget your troubles, join in the laughter and meet "Tommy the Toreador" the second feature in Technicolor opening Monday at the Park Theatre.

There is something for everyone, music, dancing, comedy, romance and even a little adventure, and to top it all there is Britain's most buoyant young star Tommy Steele, let loose amid the glamour, excitement and magic of a Spanish fiesta.

Both features are first Eastern Ontario showings. Special matinee Monday at 1.30 p.m. with the doors opening at 12.45 p.m.

NO OLYMPIC TELSTAR

TOKYO (Reuters) — Leonard Jaffe, communication section chief of the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Agency, says it would be impossible to establish a television relay using space satellites for the 1964 Olympic Games here. At a press conference Friday he said it would take at least five years to set up a commercial world relay network.

Seeks Third Title in Six Years

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Joanne Gunderson whipped Phillis Preuss 3 and 2, and Annie Baker edged Patsy Hahn 1 up Friday in a pair of semi-final matches in the U.S. women's amateur golf championship.

Miss Gunderson, 22, will be after her third title in the last six years in today's 36-hole final. Should the 17-year-old Miss Baker win, she would be the second youngest ever to capture the U.S. national championship.

To do it, she'll have to beat the one who holds that honor right now. Miss Gunderson won her first of two champions'ips in 1957 when she was only 18.

The youngest winner ever was Betsy Rawls, who won the second annual women's amateur title in 1896 when she was 16.

Detroit Man Files Suit For $800,000

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A Detroit man filed an $800,000 suit against the Philadelphia Phillies National League baseball club in connection with the death of his son, a former player in the club's farm system.

Frank J. Gemignani charged in the suit, filed in U.S. District Court, that a doctor discovered the son had a blood condition in 1960, but offered no further treatment, examination or advice.

The son, Gerald Robert, died Sept. 3, 1960, of uremic poisoning. He had been treated at Detroit Osteopathic Hospital after his release by the club July 15, 1960.

reported to be importing many Soviet technicians as well as industrial and military equipment in efforts to bolster the Castro Communist regime.

Kennedy did not say how the armed forces will seek to protect themselves and assure the free use of the sea and air—normally anything more than three miles from the coast.

(So on countries maintain their sovereignty extends 12 miles out to sea.)

However, the naval spokesmen said there are a great many U.S. ships and planes in the Florida Straits area which could conceivably be called upon.

The warning is clear," he said, "they (the Cubans) just better not shoot at us while we are on the high seas."

Some Republicans have urged Kennedy to send in the U.S. Marines to quash the Soviet-supported Cuban military build-up.

Kennedy has made it clear this week he is opposed to direct invasion because of the wider implications it would have to the East-West cold war.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For September 3

Aries (March 21 to April 19) Now you can settle down to accomplishing routine matters. This will free you for greater activity. Important that you gain confidence by gathering facts. Refuse to commit yourself to any specific procedure. Keep mind open.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Tendency to be sympathetic is fine. But also remain alert. Be on guard today against those who shed "crocodile tears." Ask for proof about things that are not ready to be a fall guy."

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Appreciate beauty that surrounds you. Otherwise, you may find yourself spending, tiring yourself out, in search of something which exists at home. Show loved one you care.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) Today harmony in relationship with older individual is stressed. Concede some points. Otherwise, you may find yourself winning only minor victory while losing the battle.

Leo (July 22 to August 21) Visit or communication from "glamorous" individual could differentiate between excitement and true happiness. Check values. Remember a budget that must be balanced.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If you are in too much of a hurry, you may lose major opportunity. Take time to finish what you start. Refuse to take on the burden of another's responsibility. This applies to emotional as well as financial load.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Stress independence of thought, action. Your cycle remains high. You can speak up to superiors and gain their approval, and enthusiasm. Avoid feeling sorry for yourself. Take decisive steps to fulfill ambitions.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If only you can see the positive side of what appears to be dark situation, you can emerge with great gain. Use keen perception to see through" possible hoax. Avoid anger. You may discover valuable secret if you remain calm.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Strive now to coincide actions, desires with those of one you love. In case of conflict, there has been some friction involving friends. Today, take positive step to win friend back.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) You may be given something you have long sought. Handle it with grace, good humor. Your attitude is under close scrutiny. Avoid being moody. Accept with dignity.

If today is your birthday you might be good idea to slow your pace. Important that you receive proper amount of rest. Social whirl, activities could be "levelled off." You soon are able to achieve better balance.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Partnerships make news. Financial matters dominate headlines.

Tuesday, September 4

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — The more you can do to serve others, including accounts, clients, personal associates, the more you make of this day. Be tolerant, creative, willing to take a chance on your own abilities. Avoid ultraconservatism.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) — No time to be extravagant where luxury items are concerned. If you are considering new purchase, think about it, but defer action. Day to attend to details, including budget matters. Self-examination gained by being orderly.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Now you previously attempted to take advantage of your own is unfortunate position by having to ask a favor. Be gracious and diplomatic. But don't sap self-confidence by abashment by being overly lenient. Use native Gemini wit!

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) — Favorable lunar aspect points to romance, creative activity. Day for change, travel, variety and time to inquire. Ask questions. You may discover that one who supposedly knows the answers actually knows very little. Be perceptive!

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Lunar aspect not high. Mean day when caution should be key. Good time to sum up, to tell yourself emotional, financial burdens. Face facts as they exist. Temptation is to imagine persons, situations as you wish they could be. This must be overcome.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — If you make a point of "hurrying", you could discourage the very persons you try to impress. Much in your favor if you state position clearly, do your job well and then relax. Otherwise, you may overreact which defeats purpose.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Secret desires should now be brought out in the open and dealt with. Show in a position to help. Frank, truthful approach can aid in a tremendous extent. Your judgment of persons, situations apt to be keen and accurate.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Quite up, meaning you can increase happiness and make loved ones happy. Try to patch up recent differences. Be one close to you. Otherwise, you brood and have numerous mistakes to prove it. Increase your new contacts and a new mental outlook.

Sagitarius (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) — You could be surprised by favorable news concerning job or ambitions. Individual in authority could seek favor which you are able to grant. Remain discreet. Do what must be done, however. Leave the fanfare to others.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Venus is in your sign. Tendency is for "flashy" attitude to get talk you into adverse position. Be sincerely. Remain friendly. But be cautious and handle the your ideals. Right will prevail.

Aquarius (Jan. 2 to Feb. 19) — Like Taurus, take time to be careful. You may find yourself involved in plan which aims at community improvement, but demands too much time, expense. Conservative view. Realize that time as well as money must be subject to intelligent planning.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Wishful thinking may escape your greatest fault today. Take time to analyze, perceive; let intuitive feelings set forth. You could receive attractive promise don't accept money-based on it. Others could be well - meaning, but not have materiel means.

If today is your birthday . . . you're a person who "frets on the ground" this month. You can prepare for a new, more vital way of life. Today new hobby might class.

General Tendencies: Cycle up for Libra, Scorpio, Sagittarius. Special...word to Taurus and Gemini. Avoid investment may spur you to take definite step. But patience would be

Sister-In-Law Insanely Jealous

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—Two years ago I went up to a cottage with my three children and my sister-in-law and brother-in-law. The brother-in-law used to fool around with me a bit, nothing serious, like he would grab my hand or touch me when we would pass, and he also pulled me to him a couple of times and once he kissed me, just a peck.

We have visited back and forth since. Then in June we had a call from her and she wanted to know what was between her husband and me. I told her there was nothing, which is true. I know what we did do certainly was far from right, but as far as I was concerned there was never anything to it.

Well we have told her everything, but she won't believe it. She thinks we were madly in love and that her husband used to come and see me in our home every day or so, which certainly is wrong. My husband knows everything and believes me and has forgiven me.

She not my husband's real sister; she was adopted when a small baby and did not find out she was adopted until she was eleven years old. My husband said it came as a real shock to her when she found out she was adopted. I always thought a lot of her and still do, but I know she must hate me.

Last weekend my husband was in to see her. He said that she looked a lot better but was still at the same thing. She won't believe anything we tell her. I think our home is going to the dogs over this thing and I feel I'm to blame for it all.—TO BLAME.

DEAR TO BLAME—Don't magnify your crime as she does. Keep your head.

In her husband's flirtation your sister-in-law sees a repetition of the shock she got when she was eleven years old. Learning she was adopted meant to her that someone had rejected her. Now the old hurt re-asserts itself as she tells herself her husband rejects her.

She can't talk back to that mother who had her and gave her away. But she has got a scapegoat for that other insult — you. In her unconscious mind the second takes on the color of the first.

While she is thus obsessed, she will have no peace. She needs professional help. Can you explain this to her husband? Perhaps then he might get her to a counsellor.

* * *

DEAR DORIS—I am 15 and like a boy a few months older than me. When he phones we say lots and aren't too shy, but when he comes down, we both turn shy and don't speak. When we get to know each other more I won't be shy.

My girl friend phones him and says its me and he believes her. She has a boy friend but you wouldn't know it when she comes around us.

If something doesn't happen, I know I am going to lose him. What should I do?—SHYFULL

DEAR SHYFULL—Make a list, ahead of time, to get you going, of:

1. Things happening at school.
2. Baseball or football events.
3. Popular news stories (You'll have to read the paper for these!)
4. Amusing personal incidents.
5. Fun-talk — riddles and jokes. (Magazine reading can help with these.)

Plunge in. You'll hit a homer somewhere — and the girl friend, so-called, will have two strikes against her.

Working Man In Cuba Gets Bad Break

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban working man went to his job Thursday under a new government edict that cuts his chances for a raise and levies fines — loss of a half a day's to a day's pay — for being late too often.

But as a soothing balm, he was told he could have one month's vacation for every 11 worked.

Under new measures handed down by the labor ministry, no monthly wage can exceed 200 pesos, even if the worker puts in overtime. All wage increases must be approved by the labor ministry.

Commonwealth Leaders Gather For Conference

Begin to Reach London To Study Common Mart

LONDON (CP) — Two Commonwealth prime ministers — Robert Menzies of Australia and Keith Holyoake of New Zealand — arrived today determined to avoid a row with Britain on the Common Market issue.

The Australian leader told reporters that he had not come in the role of an enemy adding:

"That would be absurd. I am a Commonwealth man myself — always have been and always will be.

"We have never taken up the attitude that it is for us or other outlying Commonwealth countries to exercise any veto over what Great Britain might do or has feared."

Australia, New Zealand and Canada — all large producers of foodstuffs — have fear that a British linkup with the Common Market will damage their export trade. Behind this lies a fear that the Commonwealth itself might suffer permanent damage.

CONFERENCE IMPORTANT

"This is going to be a remarkably important conference," Menzies said. "It is not to be limited if we start out by announcing our minimum demands.

"This is going to be a conference that will require a great deal of mutual understanding and considerable patience, and therefore very few slick or difficult remarks. By that I mean none at all."

Holyoake arrived shortly before Menzies. When the New Zealander pointed out that his country is the most dependent of all on exporting foodstuffs to Britain.

The problem of Commonwealth foodstuffs has been only partially solved so far between Britain and the Common Market — France, West Germany, Italy Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Britain's chief negotiator, Lord Privy Seal and chief British negotiator, will tackle the problem again when he resumes discussions with representatives of the six Common Market countries.

Britain has sought entry into the Common Market under conditions which would prevent drastic shocks to the economies of Commonwealth countries.

The 15-country conference — with certain colonial territories also represented — will last 10 days. It is the biggest in Commonwealth history.

The Australians, Canadians and New Zealanders, whose economies might be affected if Britain joins the Common Market,

TRADE DEFICIT $126,300,000 IN FIRST HALF

Exports for Six Months up 12.4 PC

OTTAWA (CP) — Despite a major gain in exports to the United States, Canada rolled up a trade deficit of $126,300,000 during the first half of the year, more than 50 per cent higher than the $81,700,000 deficit in first-half 1961.

Total exports for the six months rose 12.4 per cent to $3,032,700,000 from $2,681,200,000 a year earlier, due entirely to a 30-per-cent gain in sales to the United States, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

But imports climbed even more rapidly, rising 13.6 per cent to $3,159,000,000 from $2,781,800,000.

The total trade of $6,191,800,000 was a first-half record and the increase from the higher levels of both exports and imports are due in part to the reduced exchange value of the Canadian dollar.

At mid-year last year the dollar's value declined from a premium above the U.S. dollar to a discount, and since May of this year it has been pegged at 92½ U.S. cents. Since most export and import transactions are in U.S. dollars, this means higher values in Canadian dollar terms.

EXPORTS RISE SHARPLY

During the April-June second quarter, exports rose 14.1 per cent from a year earlier to $1,697,400,000 from $1,417,200,000. The bureau said it was the highest second-quarter sales total in recent years.

Second - quarter imports reached $1,668,800,000, up 12.7 per cent from $1,481,400,000. This left a trade deficit of $51,400,000 compared with $63,900,000 in the second quarter of 1961.

In June, exports totalled $542,600,000, up 6.7 per cent from the year-earlier $507,950,000, while imports rose 12.2 per cent to $531,241,000 from $495,496,000. This produced a June surplus for June of $10,982,000, slightly smaller than the surplus a year earlier.

Detailed trade figures for the January-June periods of this year and last, in millions of dollars:

Exports	1962	1961
United States	$1,802.4	$1,448.3
United Kingdom	429.4	430.7
Other Cmwlth	249.4	164.0
All others	632.5	638.7
Total	3,032.7	2,681.2
Imports
United States	2,212.2	1,879.9
United Kingdom	289.9	313.7
Other Cmwlth	149.3	139.9
All others	482.8	439.4
Total	3,159.1	2,782.9

The big rise in sales to the U.S. for the six months resulted mainly from big increases in iron ore, aircraft, woodpulp, lumber, petroleum and nickel.

The U.S. took 562 per cent of total Canadian exports in the period, compared with 55% per cent a year earlier. The share of Canadian imports provided

Guerrillas Say Bella's Troops Are Repulsed

ALGIERS (AP)—Rebel guerrilla forces stalled one column of regular troops sent by Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's regular troops far south of Algiers today and claimed they repulsed another in heavy combat farther east.

Dozens were killed and wounded when Ben Bella's men attacked defenses in the mountain village of Oued Djenaae south of Aumale with heavy and automatic weapons, the guerrilla command announced.

West of that area, fire from guerrillas dug in along national highway No. 1 stopped the northward advance of Col. Ahmed Ben Cherif's regulars at the village of Brazza, in the Berrouaghia sector some 65 miles from Algiers.

TOLD TO HOLD FIRE

Ben Cherif said he had one man killed and eight badly wounded, but ordered his troops to deploy and hold their fire to keep casualties down.

"Sooner or later we will be in Algiers anyway," the colonel told reporters. He said the guerrillas were "young, inexperienced troops without a cause to fight for, and are misguided by a handful of ambitious leaders."

During the night, scores of reinforcements were reported as reinforcements southward from Algiers to strengthen defence positions which would prevent drastic shocks to the economies of Commonwealth countries.

The 15-country conference — with certain colonial territories also represented — will last 10 days. It is the biggest in Commonwealth history.

500 Douks on 500-Mile Trek To Settle Near New Prison

THRUMS, B.C. (CP) — The split chant of Russian hymns rose into the still air of the Kootenay Valley.

It seemed like a poor man's church picnic as more than 500 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors settled down for the night on Nick Kabatoff's farm after the second leg of their planned 500-mile march from the fire-blackened shacktown of Krestova, 18 miles north of here, to Agassiz in the lush Fraser Valley to the west.

There, near a forbidding federal prison the Sons call Canada Buchenwald, where many of their menfolk are serving sentences for terrorism, the Doukhobors plan to make a new home.

The Freedomite "marching" party, which includes about 100 schoolage children, 75 infants and at least 100 elderly persons — some blind, partially crippled or bedridden — set out from Krestova Sunday.

They made seven miles the first day, 12 miles Monday. Most walked in 75-degree heat along the winding, blacktopped road in rubber thongs, shoes with elevated heels or flimsy sandals. Some carried infants; some pushed tarts and baby buggies; some drove assorted cars and trucks loaded with water, food and tents.

(One elderly Freedomite hobbled along on a wooden leg. Two or three rode in wheelchairs.

At least one woman carrying a baby fainted during the march. Another, asked whether she did not think some of the labor in arms might cripple them for the heat, replied: "If they die, they die, that's all."

The marchers' whose number has fluctuated between 350 and 800, planned to continue their march today, picking up others at Freedomite settlements along the way.

RCMP have followed them all the way but have not interfered with the march except to keep the roads open to traffic.

Spokesmen for the marchers said in a statement Monday night the trek was prompted by actions of the government and John L. Lebedoff, a former spiritual leader of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors.

Lebedoff threatened his people with loss of life if they did not burn their homes, the statement said. The Freedomites burned more than 200 of their homes in a series of fires that began in June.

The statement said acts of terrorism in the Kootenays and the erection of Mountain Prison near Agassiz, 70 miles east of Vancouver, "accomplishes the plan of Lebedoff and the government . . . which is the transplanting of the Sons of Freedom from their homes to a concentration camp."

Wail of Prayers, Stench Of Death Hang Over Village

DAN-ISFAHAN, Iran (AP)—The little boy's face was stained with dried blood. He knelt beside the neatly-wrapped bodies of his mother, father and seven brothers and sisters.

Banging his head in the dust, he cried: "What shall I do, God, what shall I do?"

The wail of prayers and lamentations hung over this mud-walled village today, centre of savage earthquake which killed 2,500 of its inhabitants and left only 700 alive.

Here in the oasis village of Dan-Isfahan in the arid interior of the quakes struck, stranding death and destruction that left only the mosque and one other building standing.

Lines of weeping workers, surrounded by women in veils and children in rags, filed past breasts-in grief and crying for help, dug mangled bodies from the ruins, wrapped them in white cloth and bore them on farm-cart doors and shop signs to graves on a hillside above the village.

Tear eyes bulging in horror, the body of a woman lay tangled in the wreckage with her five children dead beside her. A barefoot man moaning quietly trudged past with the corpse of his baby son balanced on his head.

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Russia charged today that an American U-2 reconnaissance plane flew over Soviet territory near Japan last Friday.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Georgi Pushkin handed a note to the American chargé d'affaires, J. M. McSweeney protesting against the "gross violation" of Soviet airspace and saying that a warning about taking "retaliatory measures" against war bases used against Russia remains in force.

McSweeney told a reporter later his instructions from the American government are "about such notes was to "receive and transmit."

He said: "Of course I have no knowledge of any such occurrence."

The note said the U-2 flew over Russian territory and territorial waters for nine minutes east of Sakhalinsk on the east coast of the Soviet Union north of Japan.

The note said that "according to cited information" the U-2 plane "overflew the territorial waters and territorial waters of the U.S.S.R. for nine minutes."

ASKS PUNISHMENT

It added: "The government of the U.S.S.R. requests that the American government will rigorously punish the persons responsible for organizing this flight of an American warplane, and will take measures in order to prevent any further violations of the U.S.S.R. frontiers.

"If this is not done, the Soviet government will take measures it will deem necessary to safeguard the security of its frontiers in the event of new violations."

Diefenbaker Taps Symbolic Piece Of Trans-Canada Road Into Place

REVELSTOKE, B.C. (CP)—Highway travellers picnic today where Prime Minister Diefenbaker and a host of others recorded history.

The prime minister jumped a symbolic piece of pavement into place on the summit of Rogers Pass Monday, declared it the last Trans-Canada highway officially open to traffic.

"This historic event taking place on Labor Day is a deserved tribute to the dedication to this vast project," the prime minister said. "This ceremony marks another step in the completion of the dreams of the fathers of Confederation, the dreams of a United and growing Canada that will move forward in faith that Canada's destiny will be ever greater and about this vast, $450,000,000 of it by the federal government.

unveiled the scenic beauty of the jagged, rocky peaks of the Selkirk Mountains, through which Rogers Pass runs.

The clearing, prepared at a cost of $200,000, including $25,000 for a stonecutter's work, arched cairn marking the historic site, is a permanent picnic ground.

It sits between Mount Cheops and Mount MacDonald, both in the midst of Glacier National Park, south of the Glacier summit of Rogers Pass, discovered in 1881 by Major A. L. Rogers, then seeking a route for the Canadian Pacific Railway which now has become a five-mile tunnel under MacDonald.

Works Minister Fulton, acting as Minister of Transport, the 6,-800-mile highway as a billion-dollar road. He said $700,000,000 had been spent on it between the start of construction in 1950 and August this year, $450,000,-

Number Injured In Iran Tremor Beyond Counting

Trying to Counter Threat of Epidemics

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

DAN-ISFAHAN, Iran (AP) — Weeping workers dug body after body today from the ruins left by Iran's worst earthquakes in 70 years and hurried them into graves to counter the threat of epidemics.

The official death toll from the tremors that devastated about 100 villages in northwest Iran Saturday night rose to more than 4,000. The Iranian Red Cross said the dead might total 10,000 and that the number of injured were "beyond counting." Premier Assadullah Alam Monday placed the toll at 20,000 dead and injured.

The Western world's governments and relief organizations assembled aid shipments for air transport. U.S. General Dr. Camy mounted an airlift to transport 10,000 blankets, 1,000 tents and a 100-bed hospital unit within the next 48 hours. Thousands of soldiers and volunteers dug the bodies in the wreckage of mud huts scattered over 23,000 square miles of northwest Iran. Trains, buses and trucks took the injured to overflowing district hospitals and to Tehran.

The three savage quakes hit hardest in the oasis town of Dan-Isfahan, home of 4,000 persons 150 miles northwest of Tehran. Only 700 persons were left alive.

As the sun climbed in the sky over Dan-Isfahan, temperatures reached 100, the stench of death became almost unbearable.

Most of those still living had been sleeping on the flat roofs of their mud huts to escape the heat.

The government ordered mourning and cancelled all music on radio broadcasts. Special prayers were said for the dead in all mosques.

Reports were still to come in from many villages far off the main roads.

The exact toll probably never will be known.

Premier Alam, after touring the disaster area with tears in his eyes, said: "The catastrophe is enormous. This disaster is big, the misery indescribable. It is beyond explanation— Allah help us."

In Tehran, the U.S. armed forces TV station broadcast a warning that further quakes expected early today and that thousands of frightened persons poured into the capital's streets.

AID IS HUGE

An American source said the station had received the warning in a telephone call purporting to come from the Tehran police. "The whole thing appears to be a hoax," the source said. The government radio reopened after midnight to broadcast repeatedly that the report was false and the people should return to their beds.

Today, U.S. Ambassador Julius Holmes apologized to Premier Alam for what he called a "thoughtless" warning.

100 FATALITIES ACROSS CANADA DURING HOLIDAY

Second-Highest Total in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Traffic accidents and drownings struck viciously during the long weekend to give Canada its worst Labor Day toll on record and the second-highest holiday fatality total in history.

At least 100 persons met violent death and the highway total of 71 exceeded the previous record of 62 on the Labor Day weekend of last year and Dominion Day of 1960.

The over-all toll exceeded the previous Labor Day record of 92 last year. High mark for any holiday was on Dominion Day of 1960, when 122 died.

LOCATION BREAKDOWN

The traffic fatalities this year far exceeded a probability prediction of 55 by the Canadian Highway Safety Council.

Multiple - death accidents involved the toll upwards in the period from 6 p.m. local time Friday to midnight Monday, surveyed by The Canadian Press. Six persons died in one accident and five in another, in Ontario alone.

The fatalities by provinces, with traffic deaths bracketed: Ontario 40 (26); Quebec 29 (23); British Columbia 14 (10); Nova Scotia 6 (5); Manitoba 5 (4); New Brunswick 2 (1); Saskatchewan 2 (1); Alberta 1 (1); Newfoundland 1 (0). Prince Edward Island was fatality-free.

24 DROWN

Twenty - four persons were drowned over the long weekend in Quebec, two in B.C., and one each in Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, Ontario, Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

In Ontario, one person died in a fire and another was electrocuted. In B.C., a man was found dead beside railway tracks and a child choked to death while eating. One person was killed in a fall in Quebec.

Strong Labor Force Had Little Appetite for Banners, Drums

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada's 6,877,000-strong labor force celebrated its own holiday Monday with a mass migration and exodus from the scene of its labors and the appetite for banners and drums.

The rush out of town, on bulging highways and over trains and planes, was the most obvious proof, "those who did not stay home enjoyed sports from yachting to football, fairs and exhibitions, religious ceremonies and a few parades.

The weather in most parts of the country was perfect.

Montreal was the centre of Quebec province's weekend celebrations. Quebec Provincial Exhibition which opened Thursday, ended with a big parade Sunday. At Quebec City crowds turned out to watch a 20-float parade organized by labor groups.

Ontario's big Labor Day celebrations were at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, which reached a 2,000,000 attendance mark Monday.

Donald MacDonald, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Labor Congress, chose the occasion to call for unity between labor and the struggle for economic survival unless labor and management adopt a more mature relationship. He spoke at a Labor Day luncheon at the CNE.

David Archer, president of the Ontario Federation of Labor, spoke at Hamilton and at Windsor. Joseph Morris, executive vice-president of the Canadian Labor Congress, demanded a more prominent role for organized labor in the planning of Canada's economy.

Montreal, with 3,500,000 workers has the largest labor force in the country, produced a stupendous parade at Toronto. The column which drew 8,000 marchers last year and was expected to muster 10,000 Monday, was only 6,000 strong.

In B.C., Prime Minister Diefenbaker opened the Pacific National Exhibition in the Trans-Canada Highway where hundreds of cars lined up to make the "first" scenic trip through the mountains.

Gregory Butler Injured When Car Overturns

A Belleville music teacher, Edward Gregory Butler, is resting comfortably in Belleville General Hospital this morning from injuries sustained in an automobile accident Sunday night on Highway No. 37.

Provincial police said Mr. Butler, age 22, was proceeding south on Highway No. 37 when his German-type car went out of control on the CNR overpass bridge. The car tipped out several guard rails, plunged down a 50-foot embankment, coming to rest in a field behind the oil tanks on the west side of the highway. Police said it was some time before a passing motorist found Mr. Butler and his overturned car.

Mr. Butler is reported to have sustained injured ribs, injuries to his left leg, bruises and lacerations.

Mr. Butler, who lives most of the time in Toronto, has already advanced technique and training, was in Belleville organizing his fall classes.

His father, Mr. E. O. Butler, said this morning that his son was a very lucky boy that he was injured more seriously than he was.

Pamphlets Explain New Motoring Laws

Two new pamphlets are available at the Belleville automobile licence bureau on Front Street for motorists. They explain the context and operation of some recent pieces of legislation which have come into effect in Ontario.

One gives the new or revised seasons of the demerit points system and its operation, whilst the other gives an outline of the provisions of the new motor vehicle accident claims act. This latter act requires that an automobile owner be able to either provide proof of insurance or pay for his car or proof that he has paid the $30 uninsured motor vehicle fee at all times that his car is being operated.

COMMONWEALTH

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who will preside at the conference has given repeated assurances that Britain will not join the six-nation European Economic Community unless the Commonwealth's vital interests are protected.

Lord Privy Seal Edward Heath, Britain's top negotiator at the Brussels talks, has made considerable progress toward getting an outline of the terms under which Britain could join.

But Macmillan's hope of getting a complete outline of an agreement on Britain's application received a severe setback at the beginning of August, when a weary Heath and the six Common Market ministers adjourned their marathon talks with their task unsettled.

Heath now has dropped his demand for "comparable outlets" for New Zealand dairy farmers for Australian, New Zealand and Canadian farmers if Britain joins.

WANTS PRICES DOWN

Jackson is trying to get reasonable future opportunities for Commonwealth farm products, and wants the six to agree to keep future farm prices low enough to discourage European farmers from producing enough to make Europe self-sufficient, thus giving outsiders a chance.

But the signs are that Australia and New Zealand are likely to oppose the approach.

The Commonwealth conference brings to London the leaders of some 700,000,000 people, about one-quarter of the world's population. They represent Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India, Pakistan, Ghana, Nigeria, Malaya, Nigeria, Cyprus, Sierra Leone, Tanganyika, Jamaica, Trinidad and Tobago.

The Rhodesia-Nyasaland Federation, though not a full Commonwealth member, will be represented by its federal prime minister, Sir Roy Welensky. The colonial territories of Britain, Kenya, Hong Kong, Malta, Singapore and Uganda are sending ministerial representatives.

Girl Charged After Accident

A 17-year-old Belleville girl, Joan Woodward, daughter of Thomas A. Woodward, 375 Front Street, has been charged by city police with careless driving as a result of a two-car accident on Camrifton Road last Saturday.

Police said a car proceeding north on Camrifton Road, driven by Mrs. Esther Marie Peck of R.R. 1 Corbyville, was in a head-on collision with a southbound vehicle driven by Miss Woodward.

It is alleged by police Miss Woodward was proceeding on the wrong side of the street when the accident occurred. Damage to both cars was extensive. Miss Woodward was taken to hospital suffering concussion and leg injuries. A passenger in the Woodward vehicle, Lucina Trottier of Toronto, was also admitted to hospital with minor injuries.

Local Rinks Win Top Prizes In Tourney

Delightful weather, splendid bowling and the usual hospitality featured the annual tournament in the John Shaw Memorial trophy and accompanying prizes at the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club greens on Labor Day holiday. They were 48 rinks in competition from throughout the district and which included mixed doubles from Kingston, Campbellford, Trenton, and a number of rinks from the local club.

The tournament is chaired by Orlo Smith and has been since the inception and is sponsored by Shaw's Men's Wear store on Front Street. It was the idea of William Shaw, now proprietor of the store, and it has been a most pronounced success. The late John Shaw and his wife, the late Mrs. Winnifred Shaw, were ardent and enthusiastic members of the Lawn Bowling Club for many years. Although Mr. Shaw never accepted many offices in the organization, he was always one of the faithful attendants at the greens and at many prizes in tournaments throughout the district. His wife was also highly respected member of the women's section as well and an accomplished lawn bowler. As the president of the club, William VanTassel said in part it is while welcoming the bowlers, "They have been sadly missed at our club in the absence from the tournament, Orlo Smith, also the late John Shaw and Mrs. Shaw for his continued interest in the success of the club.

Bellevillites were highly suspicious in winning prizes at the tournament as the first three winners were from the local club and it was not until Saturday that it was revealed was the order of finish settled. Mrs. Elsie Humphreys with her partner, Ruth Thelk, won the first three-game high with a count of 64 plus six and was closely followed by Mrs. Dora Lott and Bruce Miller with 62 plus in their pairs play and Mr. Grace Clapp and Claude D. Thew with 60 and in fourth place was Mrs. Mary Lowe and Doug McQuorodale of Kingston with 60.

KINGSTON RINK WINS

The two-game high winner was another Kingston rink of Mrs. Lottie Mackey and Georgs Tulloch with a score of 50 plus seven, while Miss Winnie Smith and Ted Batchelor won the one-game high score with a count of 49 plus two. The prizes that were awarded were much better than usually given at tournaments around the district and this was due to the generosity of the sponsor.

For some time in the memory of the club with "Jerry" Hyde as general manager and he was conducting a draw on a bond in order to get needed finances to make improvements to the clubhouse and property and the draw was completed shortly before the awarding of the tournament prizes. Aid. Walter Elliott was the holder of the winning tickets and Claude D. Thew was the winner. The greens were in exceptionally fine condition due to the hard work of the parks keeper, Charles Mathews and many remarks were passed on the fine condition of the greens. The bowlings was keen and the competition really tough and all the winners certainly deserved their laurels. During the day the members of the women's section served sandwiches, desserts and coffee and did a land office business throughout the day. It was a most enjoyable tournament and good luck to the entry list will be heavier next year.

Constable At Kingston Denies Charges

KINGSTON (CP)—Const. Roy Bulloch, 30, suspended from the Kingston city police Thursday on charges of tampering orders regarding the use of firearms, submitted a written statement to the charges during the weekend.

Police Chief Robert Nesbitt now will set a date for a hearing.

Bulloch was suspended follow-ing an incident Aug. 29 in which Arthur Jackson, 21, claimed police tried to run him down with a cruiser, shot him in the back as he fled and then beat him up.

He will face a charge Sept. 14 of having liquor at a place other than his residence.

ciety authorized a $10,000 cash grant to Iran and said it is prepared to provide more assistance if requested.

OFFERS HELP

President Kennedy sent a message to Washington to the Shah and the people of Iran and offered what ever help was needed. The president cabled Ambassador Holmes instructing him to provide all possible assistance.

Holmes delivered a $10,000 cheque, and the American Red Cross cabled another $10,000. The United States government said U.S. relief measures would exceed $500,000 in cost.

The world headquarters of CARE in New York directed its mission chief in Iran to purchase $100,000 worth of food and other assistance to the stricken area.

The League of Red Cross societies in Geneva forwarded its members' plea as an Iranian appeal for emergency shipments of tents, blankets, antibiotics, sedatives, antibiotics, vitamins and cash gifts.

Two-Toned Zinnia

Mystery writers never seem to run out of ideas and Perry Mason has never come to court about it but the Belleville area definitely has what might be entitled The Case of the Psychotic Zinnia. This split personality of the garden occurred amongst a group of zinnias planted by Russell Flagler of R.R. 7, Belleville, alongside his house.

Instead of coming out into bloom in one color it assumed two hues, pink and orange, with the colors being evenly divided down the middle of the bloom.

Rev. Ron White Goes to Mission Field in Africa

A special missionary offering of over twelve hundred dollars was raised at Calvary Temple on Sunday evening to help defray travelling expenses of the Reverend Ronald White, the Temple's first foreign missionary, who is leaving shortly for Liberia, West Africa, with his wife and three children.

The Rev. Mr. White is a graduate of Belleville C.I. & V.S. and the Eastern Pentecostal Bible College, Peterborough. He has held pastorates in the Province of Quebec, Ontario and Vermont, U.S.A. Mrs. White is also a graduate of the Bible College and a gifted preacher.

Guest preacher for the occasion was the Reverend Lorne Montgomery, National Sunday School Director, Toronto, who brought greetings from the missionary department. Quoting Saint Paul's words in 1 Corinthians 16:9, 'For a great door and effectual is opened unto me, and there are many adversaries', Mr. Montgomery stated: 'The doors are open now to the Gospel in Africa but it is also true that there are many adversaries. The glorious Gospel has brought spiritual liberty to many but there is great opposition from the Communists.

REDS GET IN AFRICA

"The Communists have set their hearts on Africa. There is not a city that does not in African port that is not loaded with tons of Communist literature. It is well prepared and beautifully illustrated and is being shipped into the open hands of the people free of charge. The Communists took some of the cream of African youth to Russia and trained them in the Marxist doctrine, then returned them to Africa to disseminate their devilish teaching."

Recently returned from a tour of the African mission fields, Mr. Montgomery added, "The great cry of Africa is still ringing in my ears: 'tell us about God!' We must spread the Gospel at a greatly accelerated pace before the doors are closed as they were in China. May God bless him and Laura as they go to preach and broadcast the Gospel to those who need Jesus Christ."

Speaking of his missionary call, the Reverend Mr. White said: "It was Calvary Temple in a few years ago that I heard Christ died for my sins. Even though I lived what I thought was a good moral life, I realized that was not enough. I knelt down at the altar and accepted Christ as my personal Savior."

RADIO CHIEF INTEREST

"While attending B.C.I. my hobby and chief interest in life was radio. Then I was able to secure the type of job I always wanted at the Northern Electric plant, with wonderful chances of advancement. But God was calling me into the ministry. Going to Bible College I felt the call of God to go to the foreign mission field. For three years there seemed to be no open door, but I was willing to go anywhere and wait God's time. God does not have a watch and figure time as we do but He has a schedule and if we are faithful He will guide and direct His own good time. Thus tonight I can stand here as one of God's servants, able to proclaim that the Lord will do anything for us that we have faith to believe for.

"It is the Lord's will that His word be preached in Liberia as a witness. Once Communism gets into a country it is practically impossible to get in with the Gospel. We will have no electricity, no conveniences of any kind. However, we are admonished in Scripture not to lay up for ourselves treasures on earth where moth and rust doth corrupt and thieves break through and steal but to lay up for ourselves treasures in heaven. We lay up treasures in heaven by sacrificing comforts and luxury, giving of our substance and working for God to the best of our ability. The job before us is tremendous and we cannot do it in our own strength. We need the prayers of God's people that He will sustain and empower us to do His will."

The Reverend Dr. Laurie Price, who was in charge of the service, was visibly moved with emotion as he expressed his gratification that one of the Trenton boys was entering the foreign field. "Many of our young people from the Temple are preaching the Gospel all over the American Continent and I am happy for that," said Doctor Price; "but I always prayed that we would send out missionaries to the regions beyond. Ron is our first foreign missionary and I pray that others will follow. I want this to be a great missionary church."

County Council to Hear, Discuss Committee Report On Hospital Facilities

Hastings County Council at their regular summer session being held this week will hear and discuss the special hospital county committee on the need for additional accommodation facilities at Belleville General Hospital.

The special committee was named earlier this year to inquire into all aspects on the need for additional hospital accommodation. The report was scheduled to be heard by county members this afternoon.

The committee report will be one of the most important matters to be dealt with at this week's session.

Council is being asked to approve of the request of two small sections in Sidney and Tyendinaga townships to be transferred from the Bay of Quinte District High School area, so that students can attend school closer to home.

WANT TO GO TO TWEED

A small section of North Sidney township wants students to be allowed to attend the Stirling-Rawdon high school, while two students in Huntingdon township want to attend at the Tweed high school. The transfers during the two requests are expected to be considered by the council at their first meeting in 1963.

At a special meeting earlier this year council made no action on the request of the Deseronto School Board to be allowed to build a new high school and to allow students to attend at Napanee. The Deseronto board has the assignment of approximately 80 students of grades 9 to 30 as reported desirous of attending at Napanee.

Yesterday's silence was observed by council members standing during in honor of two former county wardens, Henry Larkin and Peter McLaren, both of whom died in recent weeks. County Clerk Carl Bateman expressed the appreciation of the municipality and his family for county sympathy extended to the recent death of his father.

A county resolution of earlier date calling for the full rate differential between urban and rural care and semi-private and private rooms at hospital to be set aside for use by provincial hospital accommodation has met with mixed reception.

LETTER RECEIVED

This morning correspondence from provincial government officials of Ontario on receipt of the resolution were received by council members.

However, it was noted by Warden Harold Varty that the resolution had been defeated by the Ontario Counties Association. At the same time the resolution arises: there was unanimous approval of the Ontario Municipalities Association.

Health minister Dymond addressed the resolution should be taken up with the Ontario Hospital Services Commission with whom the matter of the differential is now shared by hospitals.

The need for a juvenile detention room is still being considered by the Belleville and local Children's Aid Society but no construction of a detention room at their Highland Ave. receiving room but a request for a zoning change to allow its construction was turned down by the Ontario Municipal Board following objection from residents in the area.

LOOK FOR SOLUTION

County CAS representative, Reeve Ross Reeve, said it was the responsibility of the county to provide such a detention room and they were still looking desperately for a solution to their problem.

And county councillors feel that the open season for deer should be extended to include areas where there is now an open season.

A letter from the Department of Lands and Forests indicated that white-tailed deer were becoming plentiful in the southern part of the province and were doing considerable crop damage, as well as causing accidents on the highways. The deer also have been also claimed to be spreading disease among cattle.

The suggestion is that the open season in the now closed areas be Nov. 5, 6, 7, at the same time as the regular hunting season. No dogs would be allowed and only shotguns would be used.

Bancroft Deputy Reeve Allan Bronson said if the deer were moving south it was the result of their being chased out of the north by the wolves and not because of any lack of food.

He felt a decrease in the wolf population would see the deer remain in the north where they would be less of a nuisance.

Councillors To Tour North Part of County

As part of their regular session dollar this week, Hastings County councillors on Wednesday will take an educational tour through the northern part of the county.

The trip is being arranged by Reeve Tweed, chairman, chairman of the county agricultural committee, who has planned an all-day tour to take in the county reforestation area at Bird's Creek north of Bancroft and also privately - owned reforestation areas in the north.

About 30 persons are expected to make the tour which will leave Belleville at 9 a.m.

WRECKED CONFERENCE

Premier Khrushchev's anger over the Powers flight resulted in the wrecking of the 1960 four-power summit conference in Paris with President Dwight D. Eisenhower and British and French leaders.

The note said this "gross violation of the Soviet frontier is only a flagrant open example of nature" and it recalled the grave international complications brought about by the Powers' flight.

The note said in connection with the new flight of a U-2 plane over Soviet territory, a Soviet spokesman stated:

"What is this — a revival of the piratic practices of the previous government, condemned by President Kennedy himself, as provocative act of the bellicose United States quarters which would like to create a new international conflict, like the conflict of 1960, and to aggravate the situation to the maximum?

"The United States government must furnish a clear answer to this question." the note added.

GIVES WARNING

"In connection with the news received of late about the activation near the Soviet frontiers of American reconnaissance U-2 planes, based in other countries, the Soviet government again confirms its earlier serious warning about the grave consequences for the countries whose territory is used for the flights contrary to American warplanes for preparing and committing invasions into the confines of the U.S.S.R.," the note said.

The government of the Soviet Union also states that its earlier warning about the taking of proper retaliatory measures, including the rendering harmless of war bases used against the U.S.S.R remains in force."

Two Montreal Youths Sent To Reformatory

Two Montreal youths were given reformatory sentences in city magistrate's court, this morning by Magistrate R. C. Jackson, when they appeared on a charge of armed robbery, theft of a revolver and an automobile.

Pierre Delancy, 17, received one year definite and one year indefinite less one day after pleading guilty to a charge of armed robbery, and three months concurrent on a charge of theft of a .38 calibre revolver and theft of a car.

Andre Martel, 21, also received one year definite and one-year indeterminate less one day on a charge of armed robbery and three months concurrent on a charge of stealing a .38 calibre revolver and auto.

An OPP Constable from the Manvers detachment told the court that on August 18, Martel, after midnight, Chief Constable M. Brown permitted the two accused persons to have lodging for the night at the Marmora Police department. During the night Martel went began to wander about the office and found the .38 calibre revolver in a drawer.

They then walked west on highway no. 7 until they came to a service station just inside the Marmora town limits. Here they made a purchase and while they were there, Mr. Martel took the keys to R.F. 3 Havelock, proceeding home from work, also stopped at the garage.

The two accused persons asked the lady if they could have a ride and he told them he was only going a short way and they said that was fine. They got into the car with Mr. Martel behind the wheel seat and Delancy in the rear.

Approximately one mile down the road Delancy rolled in the rear, pushed a revolver into Mr. Mack's back and told him to pull over onto the shoulder of the road. Here Mr. Mack's hands and legs clothes, leaving him with only his underwear and his shoes. The police officer said Martel then got into the driver seat and motioned Mr. Mack to get in. Delaney remained in the back seat.

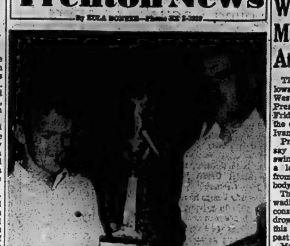
After proceeding another five or six miles further west on highway no. 7 they turned north on highway no. 28 where they let Mr. Mack out of the car. He walked about one mile to the nearest house where he phoned police.

When the two men were apprended on highway no. 28 at a service station, they were wearing Mr. Mack's clothes and his car and were also taken from the police station were found in the car. The gun was given by Mr. Templeman.

Thousands Wend Way Back To School

It was "back to school" for thousands of elementary and high school children in Belleville and district.

As was expected school officials reported registrations were over that of a year ago but a complete picture of school attendance will not be available at presa time.



The first morning high school students had received the list of books which they will require during the coming school term and had descended on the downtown area where book stores were being invaded for new books and other school supplies.

28 Boats Use Lock During Busy Weekend

TRENTON—Over the weekend, 28 boats locked through Lock No. 1 of the Trent Canal bringing this year's total to 837. That's 123 more than last year's final total.

Twenty five percent of the questionnaires given to boat operators at the government dock have been mailed back from Lock No. 7 with interesting comments and suggestions for improvement of the Trent waterway. A ratio of two to fifty operators have complained about weeds in the bay and Trenton harbor. One standard complaint is the lack of toilet facilities on the Trenton dock, and, say the boat operators, more hydro outlets are needed.

One operator said that "there were no many nice people in Trenton."

RCAF scuba divers have been down around the Stoney Point area, exploring the wreck of a large wooden boat, the John A. MacDonald. Divers have located the anchor chain but the anchor itself is buried in deep mud and presents a problem if it is to be lifted for the survey. The boat lies in eight feet of water.

VOW TO STAY

Advance elements of Ben Bella's 30,000 regulars were reported in the Medea area, 35 miles south of Algiers. Another column bypassed Orleansville and was reported less than 100 miles southwest of the city on the Oran-Algiers highway.

Some retreating guerrillas blew up bridges and barricaded mountain passes in an attempt to slow the Ben Bella thrust. But mostly guerrillas fled on foot across the fields to encounters with the regular troops commanded by Col. Houari Boumedienne, the army chief of staff.

CHEER REGULARS

Civilian crowds organized by the guerrillas to block the invading soldiers' routes often cheered the regular army instead.

The small guerrilla forces, equipped with rifles and light machine-guns, were no match for the army with its Communist-built tanks, mortars and heavy machine-guns.

Ben Bella told reporters in Oran that his government had order orders to avoid bloodshed where possible but that invancing troops had "their rights on their shoulders and their cannon covered by their tarpaulins."

He said the political bureau, Algeria's de facto civilian government, is determined to remain in power. Ben Bella, an Algerian, taken by the wilaya 4 guerrilla command Aug. 25,

A New Start

Of all the demarcations by which we divide our year into different periods, there is none more meaningful than Labor Day. It is, in every sense, the superior of New Year's Day in providing the opportunity for a fresh start. It is a much more reliable harbinger of seasonal change than Easter, for after it fall closes in fast, while spring and winter often play musical chairs around Easter time, so that nobody knows what kind of weather to expect.

What makes Labor Day a time of fresh beginnings is primarily, of course the start of another school year. But even families which have no school-age children will notice a distinct change in the tempo of their days at this time of year.

The shortening of the days makes itself increasingly apparent and we suddenly discover that, if we are tardy about answering the call to the evening meal, little time remains after it for any project of real importance There is nothing to do but to resign ourselves to loafing or puttering away the interval between supper and retirement indoors. Nor is this the only time of the day when nature's change alters our habits. The sun's strength dwindles, so that one need no longer seek shelter from its rays in the middle of the afternoons.

Gradually the hard bright light of summer gives way to the first tinge of fall's golden glow, which will shortly wrap the land in somnolence, while at the same time awaking animal life to redoubled activities. Birds start to flock up — already we have seen a half-mile of swallows hung in layers on parallel telephone lines. The crows start to make an even bigger fuss than usual. Fish begin the feast which precedes the cold, frugal fare of winter. Generally the trees delay their change in raiment until after Labor Day but this year the arboreal fashion show got away to an unseasonably early start.

Matching these changes in nature, and yet not directly dependent upon the starting of a new school year, is a great upsurge of activity in community affairs. Families return from the summer cottage and long before the last sand has trickled out of the cuffs of trousers or the last blanket has been washed and aired and stored, the telephone starts to make its insistent demands on the talents of various members of the household. Clubs of all kinds suddenly are seized of the necessity for a resumption of their activities which, strangely enough, have been sharply curtailed for the summer months without any noticeable decline in the affairs of nation or municipality. In many cases, the weeks immediately following Labor Day are the busiest of the year. Stores notice a decided pickup in trade, as family budgets start to convalesce after the crisis arising from the demands of the annual vacation. Little chores around the house get the attention often denied them during the summer. The tempo of life at one and the same time quiets down and picks up — we are channeled back into the familiar rut but the activity in that rut steps up.

The first thing we know Labor Day is almost as far behind us as our memories of summer, we are well out into the open waters of fall and are trimming our sails for the long haul before winter's gales. A new year is well underway.

Thalidomide Not Lone Offender?

A West German doctor says he has found evidence that mothers using tranquillizers other than thalidomide have also given birth to deformed babies.

The doctor is Professor Heinz Weicker assistant chief of the pediatric clinic at the University of Bonn.

He is reported to have declared that his studies showed "that 90 per cent of mothers using other tranquillizers in the first two months of pregnancy had also given birth to deformed babies."

Despite Prof. Weicker's credentials, one find this difficult to believe. The story makes it plain that by "other tranquillizers" he did not mean all other tranquillizers, but some other tranquillizers besides thalidomide. Even so, it seems incredible that deformed babies could have been born to 90 per cent of the pregnant mothers using any tranquillizer in common use, without the connection between the deformities and the use of the tranquillizer having been noticed earlier.

Of one thing we are sure: if Prof. Weicker is correct, heads should roll.

It is well for the world that in most of us, by the age of thirty, the character has set like plaster, and will never soften again. — William James.

Cajoling Caouette's Capers Losing Game for Thompson

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Next time the lords of Hollywood hand out those Oscars for the best acting performances of the year, they will be doing less than their duty if they overlook Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson.

He is acting in public as he never has in private, and he puts on a brave and smiling face in public as it he enjoyed every humiliating moment of it.

Plainly, and few Social Credit MPs in their heart of hearts feel differently about it, Robert Thompson sees Real Caouette as the personal and political disaster.

Caouette's "far out" statements may be more than that, he frankly describes as "the backwoods and farm" folk of back constituencies in Quebec, but they appeal the rest of the country including probably the majority of Social Credit-ers.

A PUSHING AROUND

As if it were not more than embarrassment enough that Caouette, leading the Social MPs from Quebec, should set himself up, not as Deputy, but as "Co-Leader" with Mr. Thompson.

Compounding the humiliation, Caouette, by defiance of Thompson, continued with his outlandish statements, defending, at first, and developing to rationalize his admiration for Hitler or Mussolini.

Swaggering outrageously, Caouette, since his arrival on Parliament Hill, has publicly lorded it over Thompson.

After all, as he never tired of explaining, he is the boss of his Quebeckers account for 28 of Social Credit's 30 Commons members in the Commons?

And with good old "Bob," as he sublimely addresses his Westerners only numbering four of the 30 . . . well, didn't that kind of make them "Co-Leaders?"

Thompson went along with this, even suffering Caouette's elbowing him at his own desk at his weekly press conference . . . went along, no doubt shuddering, with Caouette's Mussolini political dust storm.

Here he put his foot down. Firmly. That kind of nonsense would have to stop, he said. It was bunkum, defamation and lies. He would lay down the law, as he put it, to his Deputy. What is more, he would make it stick.

BRIDGE TABLE PARTY:

He was the leader, wasn't he?

And he had won the leadership because he had commanded at least 50 per cent of the Social Credit delegates at the party convention.

So he could stand off Caouette and tell him down if he had to, and after the incredible Hitler-Mussolini indication, there was no alternative.

Friendly French Canadian newspapermen in the Parliamentary Press Gallery cautioned Thompson, as amiable and even likeable sort of man, that if he insisted on exerting his leadership, he was simply laying down the law, as he put it, to his Deputy, he might find himself leader merely of "a bridge table party," he and his three followers, Mr. Thompson.

So full of fire and fight, he went down to Quebec City and the Social Credit provincial rally, and they cooled him out. But quietly.

Thompson, the great character actor, emasculated his pride and after all those tears in private, turned a smiling, happy face to the public.

No shadow of doubt over the wisdom of publicly praising Hitler and Mussolini as economists if nothing else? None whatsoever!

Everything was lovely in the Social Credit garden.

Caouette had nothing on Thompson.

Has Solved Half Problem

Hamilton Spectator

A 15-year-old Limavady, England, schoolboy has converted an old television set he got in a junk shop into a machine that can pick up programs from as far away as Moscow. This piece of junk cost him about 10 shillings ($1.40) to convert. If the program quality is considerably less money, we would say, than it would cost to convert some of the junk he will see on his set into programs worth watching.

Slang Okay Where It Fills a Need

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A college teacher of English in Iowa has written me a vigorous note protesting the use of "gimmick" in any daily speech. "Everything is a gimmick" he says, "and we hear this word a dozen times a day."

I will readily grant that the word is over-used. But in 1961 not grant, as my correspondent wants me to, that such words are an abomination. Slang is how language grows and develops.

Why does one slang word take root in the language, and win universally become Standard English, while another is in vogue for a few years and then utterly disappears from speech and writing?

The words that take root are those that are needed, that have an exact synonym or equivalent. "Gimmick" fills a need superbly, which is why it has held so fast, and will become a permanent addition to the language.

It is worth remembering that even as perspicuous a user of English as Jonathan Swift objected in his time to such words as "bamboozle," "bully" and "bamboozle." He attributed to such slang words the ominous phrase "the sword of English tongue."

He was, of course, quite wrong. Each of these words supplied some real lack in the language, and each has long established its vitality today.

There is good slang and there is bad slang, and only a prig would fail to distinguish between the two. Incidentally, the word "prig" itself is supposed to be derived from the old-fashioned term for a thief, and has by now become a most respectable part of Standard English!

Nobody knows, for instance, how the word "phony" came into the language, although Eric Partridge has made a shrewd guess in his definitive book, "Origin." But it took hold almost overnight, and is here to stay — largely because we can't get on out the British/us "bogus," which is equivalent.

Purists also object to the recent usage of "contact" as a verb, as in "I will contact you tomorrow." But it takes the place of four words — "get in touch with," and thus gives more compression and economy to the language. The history of English is replete with words that once were nouns and have been converted into verbs.

I do not mean to range myself on the side of the slang-ophiles, who insist that whatever most people say, if they say it often enough, is right. Our language must have standards and values if it is not to degenerate. But blindly opposing all change — in language as in politics — is the surest ammunition to the revolutionaries. One extremism always begets another.

Time is the only true test of the integrity of a new word or of a work of art. Phony words are just verbal gimmicks that soon fade away; real language is enriched and strengthened by filling that serves a need.

Piano Sales Are Booming

Guelph Mercury

Sales of British pianos are booming at home and abroad. In 1958 thirty piano making firms in England sold only 6,300 to the home market. This year new sales rose to 7,700 in Britain and 12,000 abroad.

Russia is buying British pianos and South America and South Africa are also buying.

Before the 1914-1918 war there was a piano for almost every home in England, and a yearly sales amounted to approximately 50,000.

In Guelph, at the beginning of this century, one biggest industry was the Bell Piano and Organ Company. It employed 300 men, and sold pianos both at home and abroad.

The coming of television ruined the piano business, and many firms were forced to close-up including the Bell Company. Today people are said to be tiring of television and are turning again to pianos.

In your issue of July 25th, on which I am only now writing, you, and in the "Looking Backward" column under date of July 25th, 1932, you give an interesting item from your files of 1892. May I throw a little light on the matter of Belleville having been called by the Ojibway name, Asaukinkonk.

That was an Ojibway name, as Mr. Chase, himself, an Ojibway says. The Ojibways were on the Keene, chiefly at the mouth of the Saguosaka (now Moira) every spring fishing. Later, just before the U.E. Loyalists came, the Ojibway were at many places living on the Bay of Quinte, and went to places, some of which stick. Mr. Chase was always the hawk territory for many hundred years back. The Seneca had their great games there, places, doubtless Belleville too. But the Mohawks were the warriors, and they had the Sacred Thunderbird Waters and whole countryside calling The Kentic Country. Even today the Mohawks have their own modern Longhouse at Tyendinaga, and have in my files on Thunderbird, but have not at hand.

However, the Mohawks being in control of the Kentic, had the name of the Sacred Waters as the name of their village, and the name of this village being, as a rule, at the mouth of the river where settlement began, and on the most widely recognized name of the village was Kente. The village moved a few miles to locations from time to time for various reasons, but always Belleville now stands was the favored spot, being more or less central. The Ojibway name has the earmarks of a latecomer, being "unmusical" thus betraying former custom; authentic names are invariably melodious. Kente is long and ancient; it means "Sacred". Trusting this light will help. Onch!

Caesarean Births Are Not Preferred to Normal Birth

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have heard that when one has a Caesarean birth, the mother can choose the date. I have also heard that a baby is ready to be born at seven months, and the last two months are merely for development.

Because of this, I wonder if it would be possible for mothers to have the babies at seven months, in cases where a Caesarean section would be necessary anyway. — S.S.

I don't know where you heard these things, but I hope and pray you don't do any more listening there. The rest of the "information" you pick up might be even worse!

It is scarcely even a half-truth to say that a baby is "ready" to be born at seven months. That is the earliest stage at which, in the words of one medical text, the infants "are fairly well developed and have only slightly reduced chances for survival."

From one to four weeks earlier, the babies have not even been concluded their basic development; they are loose-skinned because they have not enough fat; have to be protected with greater precaution to live. On a 1000 grams of cheese and eggs here today for shipment to Montreal.

The steamer Geronia was three hours late in reaching this port today, and the steamer North King was nine hours late arriving from Charlotte.

Fitness Plan Little Fuzzy

Financial Post

Physical fitness, like home and mother, is a Good Thing. We're all entitled to it.

But we wonder at the wisdom of the federal government advertising, at this stage in its dollar-saving program, for a physical fitness specialist "to plan and organize physical fitness and amateur sports programs for the Province of the Northwest Territories."

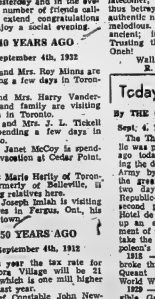
Somehow, promoting physical fitness in the Arctic seems a little like selling refrigerators to Eskimos. Possibly it is a certain state of affluence, perhaps, but hardly essential in an economy where much unsalted taxpayers have been advised to tighten their belts still further.

The whole physical fitness program could stand a thorough re-look. It was pushed through the House at a time when no politician would have risked voting against organized sport, even though its benefits were popular, its methods were so obscure that more than one financial agreement admitted it had no idea what to do with the money it received.

This, surely, is one of the federal expenditures that could save shekels until Ottawa once again feels it can get back to accounting dollars with a lavish hand.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK



"You're a good driver," said the oddity provincial policeman at the lunch counter beside me. "But I'll bet there's one thing you do that would show/do who is coming to meet you on the next curve! Is the answer high-speed woman driver, three older ladies in her car, a good driver, as she comes speeding down the curve on the highway, and can't talk to anyone without looking at them?"

I followed a woman like that for a dozen miles this morning," said the constable. She had three other women in the car, and they were busy chattering, thus betraying former custom; authentic names are invariably melodious. Kente is long and ancient; it means "Sacred". Trusting this light will help. Onch!

add the effect of facial expression. In addition to that, the woman driver on the face of her friends the effect of what she was saying, the talk while facing straight ahead, with her eyes on the road, must to a policeman, be very confusing, a knot-hole.

"Anyway," concluded the constable, with my hair on end, I followed this vehicle as long as I could stand it, weaving all over the highway; and finally, after one half-breadth miss of a collision, I pulled out of the road and told her — "If you talk, drive and if you drive, don't talk" I expect to be hauled on the carpet as the result of her complaint from her influential husband."

the ruins and heard my husband and children—my whole family—crying for help, but I could not help them."

By noon, as the temperature reached 100 degrees, workers had recovered 1,062 bodies in Dan-Isfahan alone—until Saturday a happy market village ringed by fields of wheat—and the hands or feet of dozens of others could be seen protruding from the tangles of debris. Townspeople pleaded for bulldozers to scrape away the wreckage and help dig the hundreds of simple graves that began to dot the hillside.

"May Allah help me," cried 12 - year - old Mohammed Ali, whose family of nine was killed beneath him as he slept on the roof. His cries mingled with those of a woman with her three-year-old daughter on her back, her husband and two sons lying beside an open grave: "May Allah take me. There is nothing left for me."

Your Car

Proper Upkeep Improves Car's Resale Value

By EUGENE B. MILMOE

If you were shopping for a used car, would you be attracted to one that looked rundown and neglected? Even if the engine and running gear received promptly, smoothly, why, chances are you would pass it by. This is why the owner who takes little pride in his car's appearance loses money on a trade-in or resale.

The used car buyer is usually a lot fussier than the man who's ready to lay out a few thousand dollars after viewing a showroom sample. He scrutinizes the chrome and body for nicks, dents, rust, corrosion. He examines the interior carefully, noting every stain, tear, worn spot on the upholstery and floor mats. This is no exaggeration, as any used car dealer will testify.

It all adds up to this: No matter how old your car is when you sell or trade it in, it will be worth more if you keep up its appearance.

From N.T.: "What causes brake linings to be ruined by grease?"

(A) This is primarily a trouble which applies to the front wheel linings. Rear wheels have wheel bearing grease; the wrong type or mixing two kinds of greases which are not compatible, are the usual reasons.

* * *

J.N. asks: "Is a rust-stopping paint of any value for the bottoms of car doors?"

(A) Absolutely, but this rusting starts on the inside — so be sure to buy the spray can with the special long nozzle which will enable you to get at the source.

W.L. writes: "You read a lot these days about the gas turbine engine. Is this really new? Seems to me I heard about it some years ago."

(A) Perhaps so, but the first gas turbine engine car was introduced a dozen years ago.

* * *

(A) It refers to the refusal to budge when you're changing a tire, giving the wheel a sudden snapping motion which often release it.

Vandals Damage Parkdale Hall During Summer

Gluing entry by breaking a window and pulling the catch, the vandals pried locker hoops off. Where this was not successful, screws were removed from hinges. First inspection indicates that no articles are missing but a full inventory check has not yet been made.

In the Hall kitchen, a locked cupboard containing Women's Institute foodstuff was forced open and ransacked. Sugar, salt, tea bags and coffee were scattered over the floor, and a litter of paper napkins and other articles.

CANDLES LIT

An attempt was made to cover the kitchen window heavily with paper, prevent a light being seen, then decorating candles were lit. Cords for an electric kettle and a coffee urn were plugged into a wall outlet, evidently for the purpose of lighting the candles.

Not understanding that wall outlets in the building were controlled by a master switch which was off, the vandals apparently were under the impression appliances would not work and proceeded to make a mess of the kitchen.

"I don't know what to think," signed Mervin Keeble, secretary-treasurer of the Parkdale Community Centre Board which administers the hall affairs.

"This is the first real damage we have suffered since the hall was opened on May 1st, 1956," he continued, "and the nature of damage indicates some malicious vandalism, boys."

"However," he concluded, "the Board will prefer charges against anyone found illegally entering or damaging the hall in the future."

PRESIDENT UNHAPPY

"This is another vicious vandalism," declared John Morman, president of the Parkdale Ratepayers' Association, which financially supports the Community Centre. Many of the Board's seven members are drawn from the Ratepayers.

"The first thing in the morning after the summer recess will be held in the Hall on Wednesday night," noted Mr. Morman, "and this matter will be fully considered."

Observing that sooner or later all vandals always boast about their exploits to someone, he suggested that the Ratepayers' Association might decide to offer a reward for information leading to apprehension of the offenders.

"We must all remember", he stated, "that if this can happen at the Community Hall, it can also happen to private homes when the owners are away." Therefore we invite all area residents to attend our meeting on Sept. 5th," he concluded.

The president also announced that a speaker from the Hastings County Mass T.B. Survey would attend to explain the clinics to be held in October. Plans of Boy Scout and Girl Guide Parkdale Troop activities will also be shown.

Belleville's firefighters were called to Rednersville on Labor Day evening at 9.37 o'clock when the Rednersville Pier caught fire. The one-time canning factory warehouse which had been converted to a dance hall, was totally destroyed although a nearby cottage and house were saved, thanks to the prompt action of the firemen.

The dance hall was partially covered by insurance and was owned by Timothy Casey of Belleville and a second party. Firemen returned from the scene at 12.54 a.m. this morning.

Toronto Man Shot in Leg While Hunting

PICTON — A Toronto man was shot in the right leg above the knee while hunting on the third concession of Ameliasburgh, Monday afternoon. After treatment at Trenton Memorial hospital he was removed to Toronto General. The man, 31-year-old Benjiamino Santos, 435 Delaware Ave., Toronto, was one of a party of nine Toronto men of Italian origin, who was hunting in the township. The group was scattered over an area while with Santos was his brother-in-law, Fernando Giona, 104 Hallan Street, Toronto. Santos apparently got off the land on which they had permission to hunt, and were on land owned by C. Harvey Brown, 45 of R.R. 1 Carrying Place. Brown is reported to have fired two warning shots and then in an argument with a trio of the hunters used his gun.

Cpl. Herb Meister and Constable Pat McKenna of Picton Detachment OPP investigated. They are consulting with the Crown Attorney, Lance Nethercy as to the possibility of laying charges against Mr. Brown.

KILLEN — PAXMAN

Tall standards of pastel shades of pink and white gladioli adorned the chancel, and white satin bows the guest pews in Eastminster United Church, Belleville, on Saturday August 18, at 2.00 p.m. for a lovely summer wedding, when Diana Winnifred Paxman, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Paxman, became the bride of William Frederick Killen, Scarboro Ont. son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Killen, of Mount Royal, Quebec. The Reverend Alexander McDowell, pastor of the church officiated.

Mrs. G. H. Rennie, organist, provided the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Murray Irwin, choir director of the church, in his rendition of "Because," and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charming in her traditional bridal gown of parchment white peau de faille, fashioned with scoop neckline edged in sand pearls and crystal. The long, tapering sleeves ended in lily-points and a bow emphasized the slender waistline. Impressive pleats accented the graceful skirt which cascaded into a chapel train. She wore a crown of seed pearls with shoulder-length veil of imported silk tulle illusion in bouffant style, and carried a bouquet of pastel pink Sweetheart roses mingled with English three-point ivy. A single pearl drop necklace, the gift of her bridegroom, completed her nuptial ensemble.

Her attendants included Mrs. P. Balcaszar, of Belleville, as matron of honor; Miss Wendy Paxman, younger sister of the bride, Miss Beverley Riley and Miss Georgina Armstrong, of Belleville, as bridesmaids, and little three-year-old Miss Debbie Balcaszar as flower girl. The matron of honor and bridesmaids were gowned in original floor length blue taffeta sheaths with bouffant side panels, matching sleeve and headdresses of emerald green and royal blue mingled forming cabbage roses with royal blue tulle illusion bouffant chin veils. They wore white gloves and carried cascade bouquets of Shasta daisies, Single strands of white pearls, gifts of the bride, completed their costumes.

The little flower girl also wore an original frock in royal blue taffeta with bouffant skirt, rounded neckline, sleeveless bodice, and tiny side bouffant effect on the skirt. Her pony-tail was held in place by a crown of blue and green flowers. She wore white gloves and carried a small basket of white Shasta daisies and dark blue tinted 'mums, and a tiny cross, the gift of the bride.

Mr. David R. Fanning, of Sudbury, Ontario, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Bruce Killen of Montreal, Quebec, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Norman Rushlow, of Owen Sound, and Mr. David G. Yorke, of Fort Erie, Ontario, ushered the guests.

The reception for 93 guests was held at Club Cedars, where a luncheon was served. Later the Quinte Quintet provided the music for dancing.

The bride's table was appointed in pink and white, with white damask linen cloth, centred by the traditional wedding cake, adorned with pink rosebuds and misted about the base with white tulle. Tall pink candles and the bridal bouquets completed the bridal setting.

The bride's mother received wearing a deep-sea blue brocade original in sheath style with matching lined jacket, matching hat of same fabric with shirred tulle finish, matching shoes, and handbag, white gloves and corsage of pink camellias. The bridegroom's mother was in bone-colored lace with soft gold-tone accessories, matching bone shade hat of organza, and think stole, with corsage of Talisman roses.

Women Will Be Invited To Compete

OWEN SOUND (CP) — The Canadian plowing championships, for years the preserve of hardy men of the soil, will blossom this year in lace and furs.

Grey County, host of the annual competition to be held Oct. 10-13, has invited women to compete for the title of "queen of the furrow."

Women between 16 and 25 will show their prowess with tractor and plow for the first prize of a fur jacket.

Feminine invasions also are being plotted on other fronts. Plans include a cooking school, hair-styling competition and a furniture show.

Only similarity between this contest and those of more masculine days is that it will be held on the farther than near Derby Township where it was held in 1852.

Norman Barber, owner of the farm, was six years old when his father, the late Vernon Barber, was host nearly 30 years ago.

The four days of predominately feminine festivities will end with a banquet at the Owen Sound Arena where 1,200 guests are expected.

Was The Silence Deafening This Morning?

by Mary Moore

Or they can be endlessly monotonous like Bobbie's neighbor packs for her 14-year-old boy. Every day he gets 1 thin slice of ham between 2 slices of white bread spread with mustard, 1 jam sandwich, a piece of raisin pie and a jar containing a synthetic fruit drink. No wonder he's pale and lanky and has holes in his teeth. He's a sweet kid too and it is a crying shame.

MONDAY

Dinner Menu

(Labor Day—Guest Buffet)
Jellied Chicken and Pork Mould (see Thursday, August 30th); Pickled Peaches or Crabapples; Devilled Eggs (see Thursday, August 30th); Stuffed Tomatoes; Tossed Chef's Salad; Buttered Sliced French and Rye Bread; Fresh Peach Shortcake; Coffee.

Things you can have ready to facilitate lunch packing for your precious bairns are hard-cooked eggs, baked beans, canned tuna or salmon, ground leftover roast meat, especially ham, cold boiled chicken, process cheese, summer sausage, peanut butter. After listing those things it should add that they were the fillings that Gary and Davey called for and ate like big boys.

If you do not want to go to the trouble of baking buy bread or sliced for buy it in the piece at a lower cost and slice it yourself) and fry it sparingly. It is delicious even in fresh, thinly sliced rye bread, spread with mustard relish, with a leaf of lettuce or wafer-thin slices of dill pickle between.

The salad items could be a small firm tomato with a tiny salt shaker; (I know one girl whose husband files a great deal and who brings home the little paper salt shakers from his plane meals for his son's lunch box.) crisp carrot sticks or celery hearts or tuna stick or cucumber slices or sticky inner lettuce leaves, or radish roses.

The dessert items should always consist of at least one fresh fruit. During September if you cut a melon into crescents and wrap a piece well it can be eaten out of hand, but be sure you include 2 or 3 paper napkins.

As I was thinking about this Eleanor interjected her lunch worries. David who is 14 and always hungry, has to take his lunch to school this year and she says fresh fruits and cookies will not satisfy him for dessert. She's planning on sending along a can of fruit with a can opener every day — besides fresh fruit and cookies or cake and 2 slices of bread made into hefty sandwiches.

I do not need to remind you girls who are experienced lunch packers to make large cakes or pies for dessert the night before, so there will be some leftover for school lunches. We found cheesecake delicious and was very popular with the very young. SURPRISE!!

Have a little covered container into which you tuck a surprise each day to be opened only after all the lunch is eaten by honorbound luncheon; peanuts or other nuts, raisins, dates, figs, dried apricots, a small confectionlike cookie.

Montreal Woman Is One Of French Canada's Brightest Gifts to Canadian Literature

By JANET KASK

MONTREAL (CP) — Anne Hebert, as wistful and feminine as her poetry, is one of French Canada's brightest gifts to Canadian literature.

The slim 36-year-old poet and author who has been writing since she was a little girl has been described by critics as "one of the most significant voices of French Canada" and "one of the most gifted writers this country has produced."

Miss Hebert recently returned to Montreal after a year of writing in Paris where she was living on a Canada Council fellowship awarded her in 1961. The author of five books, the first published when she was 16, she has already won a number of literary awards at home and abroad. Among them are the Governor-General's Award for poetry in 1961 and the Prix Franco-Canada, awarded by a jury in France, in 1957 and 1960.

Anne Hebert is pulled between life is civilized" and where can develop the language," and Canada, her "home." She has spent five years in Paris working and living on fellowships and grants and previous writing for the National Film Board.

BROODING ARTIST

Beneath the chic, youthful spirit which lives "day by day" and keeps returning to Paris is another Anne Hebert — the brooding, introspective girl whose haunting poetry speaks in Canadian images of primeval forests, lakes and waterfalls and "sad little villages."

Nature has always played a great part in her life and poetry, she said. But despite her visions of forbidding forests and grand castles, she does not consider herself a romantic poet. "My verse is modern, with concerete modern ideas, although the imagery may be abstract." Much of her work dwells on death and solitude. "People," she remarked, "are very lonely."

Critics consider her a revolutionary in Canadian letters. In 1958 she was awarded the Duvernay Prize for her poem-novel Les Chambres de Bois because there work was a "break in the more conservative tradition" of French Canadian poetry.

At the time the award was given, she gave her own theories on poetry. "You don't write poems like you embroider a handkerchief—and a poet is no inventor — work must be inspired by the marriage of men and earth."

ADMIRES FAULKNER

Writing is the most important thing to her, and she feels that "one becomes an artist by choice."

She cannot name an artist she thinks directly influenced her work, and unassumingly claimed no knowledge of English poetry. "I don't know English well, and prefer to read poetry in its native language."

This fall, English - speaking Canadians will be treated to a publication of her works translated into English by McGill University's poet - professor Frank Scott.

She is spending her time working in Montreal, but has plans, of course, of "returning to Paris again."

PLACE TO PRACTISE — Jean Verch, 18, of Kitchener, Ont., practises her flute lessons on the steps of an entrance to the still-unfinished University Avenue subway in Toronto. Jean, in Toronto with the National Youth Orchestra, practises before 8 a.m. and the most convenient solitary covered spot she could find was in the subway. (CP Photo).

Girl Practises on Flute In Early Morning Hours

True, later in the day the roar of traffic and clatter of construction on the unfinished subway along nearby University Avenue shatters the air.

But, generally, the song of the birds can be heard in the street during the early hours.

That was before Jean Verch, 18, of Kitchener, Ont., came to town to join the National Youth Orchestra. Not that she drowned out the birds — she joined them.

Jean was unable to find a place to practise her flute during the pre-breakfast hours.

"The Edward Johnson Building was locked," she said. "I was going to practise on the steps, but it began to rain."

The Edward Johnson Building was headquarters for the NYO during its two-week summer seminars.

The morning hours are precious to Jean. During the school year she begins her day at 8 a.m., doing homework. This fall she is in Grade 13.

She evenings a week she plays with chamber groups, in the semi - professional Kitchener-Waterloo Orchestra and in the Waterloo concert band.

MOVED TO SUBWAY

Somewhere she squeezes in two hours a day of solitary practise.

All day Saturdays she takes lessons in flute, harmony and theory.

When rain forced her from the steps of the Johnson building, she moved over to one of the unfinished subway entrances nearby—the one with the plastic cover over it.

There, with a towel between her and an unfinished concrete step and with her music propped on an attache case, she practised during the early hours.

Jean began to play the flute six years ago in school.

"At the time I didn't even know, what a flute was. I wanted to play the clarinet, but so did everyone else."

As she became more proficient on the flute, occasional professional jobs came along to help out.

For years, she considered law, music or medicine as a career.

Then she paid out $500 for a flute.

"I realized I couldn't turn back then," she said.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

Question: My daughter soon will be sixteen, and we plan to have a large birthday party at that time. She wants to invite eight girls and eight boys, and will send out informal notes of invitation. To address the envelopes to the boys, should the names be preceded by Mr. or Master? I know you wrote something about this before, but I've misplaced the column, so would you please repeat the information? This is my daughter's first big girl-boy party, and she wants to be correct in every detail. — Mrs. C.M., Washington, D.C

Answer: Boys are addressed as "Master" up to, and including, the age of twelve. Between thirteen and seventeen, a young lister is addressed by his name only (i.e., "James Smith"), and neither Mr. nor Master is used. "Mr." generally is used only after he is eighteen.

Question: My sister is being married in August and I'm to be her maid-of-honor. The wedding will be small, with no other attendants. I understand that the honor attendant usually gives a shower for the bride. I intended to have a small party sometime in July and invite my sister's friends and our mutualives. My mother, however, is shocked by the idea because, she says, a shower should be given by a friend of the bride and not by a member of her family. Is she right about this, considering that I'm to be my sister's only attendant? — M.H., Orange, N.J.

Answer: A bridal shower is given by a close friend of the bride-to-be and not by a member of her family or the groom's family. True, the honor attendant or one of the bridesmaids usually gives the party, but only if she is not a close relative. An invitation to a bridal shower means a gift is expected. When a relative gives the shower there's always a chance that invited guests might get the impression the bride's family is soliciting presents. If, instead, you're taking part in the ceremony it would be wiser to let one of your sister's intimates give the shower to avoid this pitfall.

Successful Living

(A Canadian Social Worker Helps with Human Problems)

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS— May I try to help? In last night's paper there was a letter from a girl in love with her boss. She wanted help but then she said, "Try not to tell me to leave him alone." It sounded quite familiar to me.

When I was sixteen I had every intention of being a nurse and a good family behind me. Then I fell in love and he was married, but his marriage was through a couple of years before I came along. He loves me. But, I lost an occupation that I really wanted because I left home when I was eighteen. I lost the respect of my friends, but most of all I lost my family.

Before I left home I asked myself this and maybe if your girl will, she'll make her own decision:

"I'm giving up everything for him; what is he giving up for me? I'll have friends till they find out. How long will that be? I expect to go on living like this for the next sixty or seventy years, or till he gets a divorce and we're married. (I know he would if he could). Is it worthwhile? And do I really love him?"

I've been going with him for three years now and the way things look now, we may be married next year; but, it's been a long three years.—TRYING TO HELP.

* * *

DEAR TRYING—Thank you. Helping her to see both sides of it before she makes a decision is important. Love is blind and there are times when we do not prize our good reputation until we lose it, along with family and friends.

* * *

DEAR DORIS—I am a troubled 17-year-old girl and I like a boy who is about two years younger than me. This is the first time that I have had a "crush" on a younger boy and sometimes I do not feel good about this. He is quite mature for his age.

Do you think I'm wrong in liking someone younger? Should I introduce him to a lot of my girl friends in the hope that he would like someone else his age? Though I like him a lot I wouldn't feel too bad if we were just friends.—MARY.

* * *

DEAR MARY—If you can be that noble, yes.

"We live in deeds, not years" This can apply at 15, and you may seem younger than your age; he may seem older than his. It's still good to share him; helps you, as well as him, in finding out how you feel.

Sophia Loren Glad to Get Annulment

ROME (AP) — Sophia Loren filled with emotion, said Monday as a Mexican court announcement annulling her marriage to Carlo Ponti:

"It's the most wonderful news I ever received—more wonderful even than the announcement that I won an Oscar."

Word of the Mexican court action reached Miss Loren at Tirrenia on the Italian seacoast near Pisa, where she is working with film producer Ponti on a new movie, The Condemned of Altona.

Ponti and Miss Loren, married by proxy in Ciudad Juarez, Mexico, in 1957, face bigamy charges in Rome. Ponti was previously married and divorced, but divorce is not recognized in Italy.

The Mexican annulment does not automatically erase the bigamy charges in Italy, which could still bring Ponti and Miss Loren to trial depending on the decision of the investigating magistrate and the state prosecutors in the light of the Mexican annulment.

Garden Notes

Your Garden in the Shade

By FLORA M. RAVILLE

Overhanging trees often leave a large portion of the garden in the shade. Shade discourages many of our favorite plants. The remedy is to find shade-loving or shade-tolerating plants.

Where the garden is composed of shrubs rather than flower borders, the choice is wide. The type of soil will govern the selection to some extent but the composition of soil can be changed if you are willing to apply humus and chemicals and dig them in.

Several of the viburnums grow well in shade and these have sweet perfumed flowers or handsome berries.

Hydrangeas are excellent subjects for shade. Hills of snow is one of the best. In light shade you can grow H. Pee Gee, Nikko Blue and the dwarf pink hydrangeas. The color in these last two is controlled with chemicals. One likes an acid soil and the other an alkaline soil.

Very Fragrant

Lilacs, either the common type, the French or the Persian lilacs will do well on the north side of a wall or in light shade. The French hybrids range in color from a delicate blue to deepest crimson, with orchid pink and white for contrast. They are very fragrant.

The Persian lilacs are ten days to two weeks earlier with long, loose plumes of purple. This one makes a good hedge but if you keep it cut back you will sacrifice the blooms.

Barberry does well in shade but if you want the red type you must plant this in full sun to bring out its color.

Oregon Grape (Mahonia aquifolium) has handsome glossy foliage and trusses of golden yellow bloom. It needs little attention and any kind of soil will do. This is one of the best shade tolerant plants.

Skimmias, the female plant produces lovely red berries that last well into the winter. There are several varieties but both male and female plants must be present to insure fruit.

Rose of Sharon (Hypericum) offers several colors in small tree-like shrubs. The flowers resemble hollyhocks and appear in mid summer. There is a pretty pale blue hypericum and a yellow form that's rather outstanding. This last has a multitude of stamens that form an orb. This is St. Calyctium. Cornus or dogwood in white or pink are dwarf trees and are lovely in light shade and naturalistic plantings. Fleetborn, Coral Shade, Flowering Currant are shrubs.

In a shady garden ferns can play a dramatic part. Several kinds can be grown from the spores or you can buy the plants from the nursery. There is Christmas fern, Walking fern, Lady Fern and Maidens hair fern. These and Ebony Spleenwort do well in shade or semi-shade.

Among the perennials that tolerate shade you can choose Day lillies, Aconitum, Achilles, Aquilegia, Campanulas, Doronicum, Lobelia, Lythrum, Physostegia, Primula and Violets.

New History of Dieppe Raid "The Shame and the Glory"

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A new history of the Dieppe raid by an English writer living in Canada spells out in 200,000 words of well-researched detail the story of the tragic, yet heroic, reconnaissance in force Canadians of the Red Division, made against the German resort town 20 years ago.

Terence Robertson, a Toronto resident since 1958 and author of several other war histories, wrote the book—The Shame and the Glory—Dieppe—that will be published by McClelland and Stewart) Sept. 4.

The first half, "the shame," tells of the planning for the Aug. 19, 1942, raid; the second half, "the glory," describes the carnage on the beaches where 3,369 of the 5,000-man force were killed, wounded or taken prisoner.

Robertson draws few conclusions that have not been cited in other books and official documents but the detail of his study, and the extensive use he makes of first-person interview material from planners and servicemen who fought through that hot summer day make his history one of the most complete on record.

DEFENDS ROBERTS

He views Maj. Gen. J. H. Roberts, the Canadian commander, as the first target for planning faults of his superiors and says one purpose of the book is perhaps to relieve Roberts "in some small way of the burden of ill - informed, even biased, criticism he has carried for too many sad and often lonely years."

Mr. Robertson says one of the most important lessons of the war was learned at Dieppe —"how not to go about an invasion." The frontal attack against a strongly - defended port without overwhelming fire-power to support it brought heavy casualties.

But from Dieppe came lessons that led to final victory in the Second World War.

"None of the techniques, equipment, or assault tactics when contributed so vastly to the success of on D-Day could have been developed had the need for them failed to have emerged from Dieppe," Robertson says.

He is critical of British planning that brought about the final disastrous phase of the Dieppe raid but places some blame for the costly results of General A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian Army commander, and Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, commander of the 1st Canadian Corps. These senior officers, he contends, made no attempt to condemn or amend the military plan.

FRAMES SOLDIERS

Robertson pays high praise for the gallantry of the individual soldier and says that "if men behave at moments of crisis in accordance with the manner in which they have learned the lessons of history, then Canadians should look back in pride and usefully emit in the happy memory of those who died.

Yet, in his detail, he reveals that not all of those who went ashore did so willingly and cites a pre-Dieppe naval investigation in which officers in charge of landing craft told of some troops of the Royal Regiment who were forced ashore at the point of revolvers.

"The inquiry in no way diminished the gallantry of the Royal Regiment and should not be allowed to give a distorted view to those unacquainted with the reactions of young men, such as the landing-craft officers, who had just come through a great ordeal. Once the troops recovered from the initial shock, they fought on the beaches with matchless courage.

"Yet the inquiry did provide a valuable lesson to the-invasion planners — that the employment of troops with no previous battle experience in an exceptionally hazardous operation was like-wise to say the least. This type of battle calls for skill, flesh, and professional knowledge, qualities seldom found in any but the most highly seasoned units."

GILDWOOD, N.J. (AP)—Miss Sandra Hall, 22, a Philadelphia school teacher, was found beaten to death on the beach at North Wildwood Monday.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Kris S. — I love to be alone. Joseph S. — Then why did she get married?

* * *

Kate S. — Married or not, don't everyone entitled to some time to call her own? My husband is like a little boy. He wants me at his side 24 hours a day.

I was an only child, with a room of my own. I'm used to lots of quiet and solitude. Even now I enjoy closing my eyes and thinking deep thoughts without interruption. But this agony my husband. He'll break in to ask me the time, even with clocks all around him.

We've been married six months, I know marriage means sharing and I enjoy sharing my time with Joe. But he wants all of it. I feel like a full-time baby-sitter, not a wife.

* * *

Joseph S. — What did Kate expect? A diamond ring, a wedding, a honeymoon, a new home, and then — back to life as usual?

I thought marriage means two become one. You don't go your separate ways any more. Kate says she loves me, but having me around seems to annoy her. If you love someone, you can't get enough of him, can you?

Walk in the park, go to the movies, take a boat ride — everywhere you see people in pairs. But Kate likes to go alone and tells me to do the same. Once in a while she gives me a break and we go for a drive or play cards together. Is she a wife or a prima donna?

The Council: It's fear, on both sides here, that's causing such extreme demands by one to take upon the other. Kate fears for her precious island of privacy. Joseph sees the one thing he wanted most in marriage — a constant companion — slipping away.

Naturally, extreme and almost hysterical demands bring extreme and almost childlike reactions. Let's calm down.

It's true, Joe, that marriage makes two people one, but one what? One couple with one set of goals. One of those goals is to make the other half more fulfilled and effective than he or she could possibly have been alone. Each is still a separate person as well as a mate. Joe must show his recognition of that fact, through respect for Kate's request for time in which to ponder and meditate. Thus far he has frightened her with his possessiveness. She is grasping for some free air.

Kate, on the other hand, has the new task of learning how to share — not just her toothpaste, her closet and her time, but herself. A successful marriage doesn't just happen; it must be labored over. If she truly loves Joe, she will sense his shyness and sympathize with his "formless" when alone among others. In these early years of their marriage, she will stay close to him, helping him to grow in social poise and self-confidence. This is the small sacrifice she must make, temporarily we hope, in return for the added richness marriage brings to her own life.

Chances are that this mutual determination to meet each other's needs will lead to Joe offering Kate large gobs of time for herself, and to Kate accompanying him, in turn, to meetings, classes and hobby clubs. It'll be more fun to be together when it's optional. . .

When two people marry they remain two people. But love makes them two less selfish people.

KILLS BROTHER

DETROIT (AP)—A 15-month-old boy beat his 9½-month-old baby brother to death with a baby bottle Saturday, Mrs. Phyllis Martin, 19, told police she found her son Kirk beating the baby, Tracy, with the glass bottle. She said the infant went into a coma three hours later and was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Sir Bernard Lovell Started Jodrell Bank 16 Years Ago, Now Best Tracker Station

By CHRISTOPHER POWELL

LONDON (Reuters) — On a bitter day in the winter of 1946, a young man drove into a snow-covered field near Manchester at the wheel of an army truck loaded with a naval radar scanner and a jumble of electronic equipment.

At the time, both the man and the field were unknown. Today they have become two of the most famous names of the space age — Sir Bernard Lovell and Jodrell Bank.

Lovell has made his name recognized around the world as a tracker of both U.S. and Soviet spacecraft and as one of the most outspoken men of the space age — particularly as an opponent of what he considers dangerous or militaristic experiments.

Jodrell Bank, built out of war - surplus electronic equipment and the resources of the University of Manchester, has become a world-famous radio-astronomy station, used as a kind of impartial arbiter of the space claims of the United States and the Soviet Union.

There was little in Lovell's origins or early life to suggest that he would earn international stature as a scientist.

He was born in 1913, the son of a man who owned a country radio and bicycle store near Bristol and who spent his spare time as a local preacher.

DID SECRET WAR WORK

Once at university, where he studied physics, his enthusiasm for science grew. He got his doctor of philosophy degree in 1936 and the following year he joined the physics department of Manchester University.

The outbreak of the Second World War saw him doing highly-secret research on early radar. He continued working on radar throughout the war and it was this that first inspired the idea of Jodrell Bank.

During wartime work on radar apparatus for detecting German rocket bombs he began to notice mysterious signals on the radar screen at times when there were no rockets in the air. Eventually he traced the signals to meteorites high in the upper atmosphere.

At the end of the war he decided to concentrate on radio-astronomy. He persuaded Manchester University to let him have the Jodrell Bank site, got together a few pieces of war surplus electronic apparatus and managed to raise some financial backing.

HAS LARGER STAFF

Today Lovell sits in a modern office through whose plate glass windows he can see the 250-foot bowl of the telescope. His staff of 30 includes 24 scientists.

In 1948 his only assistants were two elderly gardeners. The open field in which they were working was so cold that it took two days to thaw out the diesel engine that supplied the generating power.

But by 1952 things had progressed to the point where he could announce plans for the present steerable telescope. It was financed by the British government's department of scientific and industrial research and by the Nuffield Foundation, a private organization set up by Lord Nuffield, a British automaker.

Construction of the telescope's 2,000-ton steel framework was begun in 1950. It took four years to complete — and came into operation a few days after the Russians launched their first sputnik in October of 1957.

The tracking of the sputnik, and of succeeding Soviet and U.S. spacecraft, pushed Jodrell Bank into the headlines.

The radio - telescope has tracked almost all spacecrafts to date.

THANKED BY IKE

In July of 1960 Lovell visited the United States to receive the personal thanks of President Eisenhower for his work in tracking U.S. satellites.

Lovell himself is a keen pianist and gardener and still plays cricket for the village club at Swettenham, near Jodrell Bank.

Lovell's views on what constitutes proper scientific exploration of space have brought him nearly as much headline space as the achievements of his radio-telescope.

He is strongly opposed to anything resembling "national Stagnism." In efforts to reach the moon or planets, as well as to anything likely to affect future scientific research.

Two of the main targets of his anger have been the U.S. attempts to put a cloud of copper needles into orbit and to explode high-altitude nuclear bombs.

The first he criticized as "an act of extra-terrestrial contamination . . . a stain on the hitherto untarnished American program of space research."

In case of war, the Quinte Emergency Measures Organization would take over the functions of the federal and provincial governments in this area, until communications were restored. Col. Angus Duffy, QEMO Coordinator, checks over the sites of local EMO headquarters in Prince Edward county, on his map..

Canada Second-Rate Target But War in Skies Above Her Would Call for EMO Action

"Canadian targets are of second rate interest to the Russians", according to Col. Angus Duffy, co-ordinator of the Quinte Area Emergency Measures Organization. Col. Duffy explains that because the Russians probably do not have the capability to launch an all-out nuclear attack on the whole of North America, they may be expected in case of war to concentrate their strength on the U.S. targets. This will give Canada a breathing space of perhaps as much as two or three days before an attack is launched on Canada.

On the other hand, any missiles aimed at U.S. targets will be intercepted and destroyed above Canada, if the Americans can manage it. A second rate target in itself, Canada will be the initial battleground of any American - Russian war. Because the destruction of nuclear weapons above Canada may in itself be dangerous to Canadians, the Emergency Measures Organization of Ontario, including the Quinte EMO, is prepared to take action on short notice.

The function of the EMO is not defence, but to make it possible for the country to survive as an organized entity under an attack that may be expected to disrupt all normal functions of government. Because of this, the EMO is mostly concerned with governments, and people in their relationship to governments.

LOCAL ORGANIZATION

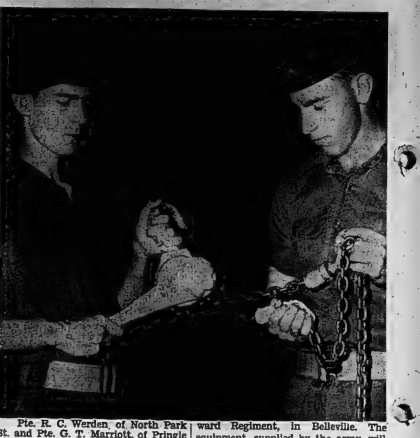
QEMO is controlled by an interim committee, presently headed by Mayor Haig, of Belleville, and composed of representatives of all municipalities in Hastings and Prince Edward, counties. The elected members of municipal governments have most of the authority, but they are backed up by the police and fire chiefs, public utilities staffs, municipal engineers and municipal clerks. Each municipality, in theory, has its own EMO, to govern the immediate area, in concert with the overall program of QEMO. Col Duffy, as co-ordinator, acts as liaison between the various groups, sitting in at all committee meetings. In the QEMO office, in Belleville's city hall. Col. Duffy keeps the plans of all the municipalities on file, plus listings of all the facilities of possible use in time of war, available in each municipality.

In case of attack the EMO office, along with the rest of the city government, will move into the basement of the city hall. There are no quarters prepared, but if there is sufficient warning it is hoped they will have time to move their furniture down from upstairs, and to sandbag the building walls to provide some protection against radiation. All EMO offices, and the municipal governments they serve, are expected to have an emergency location picked out for their office, and to have a prepared plan for the evacuation of all vital offices to the emergency location. The emergency locations planned tentatively by QEMO are not yet official because they must first pass inspection by a technical team of the federal government as to their suitability.

TO BILLET REFUGEES

In an emergency, the EMO would govern the area from their shelter until such time as the federal and provincial governments were able to resume operations. Part of the planned role is for the EMO to supervise the billeting of refugees in each area (in theory, a municipality is supposed to be able to accept refugees totalling four times the population of the municipality), and provide auxiliary police, fire and other services during the emergency. According to the plan, each EMO office will be able to supervise these operations independently within its own area.

In an emergency, QEMO would have to operate without the aid of the Militia, because the Belleville militia unit, the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, has been assigned duties in Toronto. Belleville, according to the army, is not a target or a target area, and any bombs falling here would be by accident.



The army has selected 60 cities in Canada that would be targets, of varying importance, in case of war. Toronto is the closest of these to Belleville, and it is there that the Hasty Pees will be directed. According to the plans, they too are expecting at least one day's notice in case of war. They will use most of the time in getting their stockpile of equipment ready for action.

HASTY PEES READY

In and about Belleville, the Hasty Pees have taken all the vehicles and equipment required to fully outfit a rescue column, according to Major Ken Willcocks, the regiment's training officer. In case of war, all the men and materials would rendezvous at a selected spot, and proceed as a unit to a headquarters which will be set up near Toronto. Assuming Toronto were hit by a nuclear weapon, the Hasty Pees would take part in the re-entry and rescue operations to be conducted by the army.

During this time, and probably as long as there was danger of an attack on Toronto, Belleville would be left without militia forces. The QEMO will provide air raid wardens, some rescue services and police in their absence, until either the federal of provincial government is able to resume control or the Militia forces are directed, by the army, to return to their home areas.

"War, and the possibility of there being one are unpopular subjects during these times of nuclear weapons", comments Col. Duffy. "But", he adds, the surest way to provoking war is to be unprepared for it. The enemy who knows we are ready and able to withstand an attack, and to retaliate, will not risk the attack. That's why we have the EMO".

Pte. R. C. Werden, of North Park St. and Pte. C. T. Marriott, of Pinedrive, Belleville, clean one of the chain hoists stored among the survival stores of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, in Belleville. The equipment, supplied by the army, will be used to outfit a rescue column in case of nuclear attack.

Stock Racketeering, Fraud Which Comes From Canada Greatly Reduced in States

WASHINGTON (CP)—Among United States authorities who said in Canadian relations, the happiest appear to be in the Securities and Exchange Commission, watchdog over national multi-billion-dollar trade in stocks and bonds.

"We've had our problems with Canada and we still are having some trouble in British Columbia," an official said. "But generally the problems have been reduced. I would say stock racketeering and stock fraud which may emanate from Canada has dropped to a 20-year low. At the moment we're very grateful."

This segue of cross - border harmony was personally expressed by commission chairman William L. Cary, a man who rarely grants interviews but who nevertheless issued this statement:

"There has clearly been no difficulty with financing of highway projects from Canada. We welcome the vigorous efforts which have been made in Canada to curtail the illegitimate kind and we are very pleased with the progress that has been made."

Over 50,000 Left Homeless After Typhoon

A government announcement said 41 persons were missing, 515 injured and 51,671 homeless.

The casualty figures did not include 40 men aboard two tugs believed to have been lost during the typhoon.

Wanda hit the refugee-crowded British colony with winds of 160 miles an hour. Damage was estimated unofficially at between $2,000,000 and $4,000,000

AIRMEN DIE

The dead included five RAF men whose bodies were found near a camping site on a neighboring island. The two corporals and three senior airmen were camped on the island as part of a training program and had taken shelter in a stone building. The wind apparently collapsed the building.

Most of the dead were refugees from Communist China.

Liberal Leader Spends Holiday In His Riding

Hatless and boyish-looking, he watched a hard - fought local baseball game, bought five tickets on a draw for a quilt raffled by the ladies of the Providence Bay Curling Club—depicting the island, its highways and its townships—and contributed to a log day in support of a local scholarship fund.

He said the day was made double enjoyable because it was his first visit to Manitoulin Island since having in make a speech. He was here to say thanks informally to his constituents after returning him again to the House of Commons. He won his seat in October, 1963, with a comfortable majority.

Later he attended a dinner by the community hall catered by the ladies of several churches in pioneer costumes.

Today, he tentatively plans an early morning fishing jaunt and will drive to Little Current and Blind River and then to Elliot Lake, where he will address the chamber of commerce.

On Wednesday he will head into the northern part of his riding and while driving through the countryside on the main line of the CPR from Chapleau to Biscotasing.

Log Held Fast By Rocks Saves Life of Youth

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP) A log held fast by rocks saved a 17-year-old boy from being swept over the Horseshoe Falls Sunday night by swift currents of the Niagara River.

Richard Nicholson of Kenmore, who escaped with only cuts on both knees, said: "I thought it was all over for me . . .

If I missed that log . . . "

Nicholson said he swam for all he was worth to reach the log 300 feet above the falls.

"I'm not a particularly good swimmer and the current was strong," he said.

He was pulled from the water by a bystander, who tied a rope around his waist and waded 20 feet out to the log.

Explaining his fall into the river, Nicholson said he jumped on top of a spillway retaining wall and, thinking there was a dry land 6ft the other side.

"Before I could catch myself, I fell into the spillway and was swept into the river."

Tshombe Agrees To UN Plan to End Secession

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Diplomats displayed guarded optimism today toward President Moise Tshombe's acceptance in principle of a UN plan to bring his secessionist Katanga province back into The Congo.

They noted Tshombe acted Monday under threat of economic sanctions and that his acceptance was hedged in terms that could block any quick reunion with Premier Cyrille Adoula's central government. They pointed out that Tshombe had agreed to unify with Leopoldville before and then backed out.

U Thant, acting UN secretary-general, had said that unless Katanga agreed to the plan, he would call for economic sanctions against the imperial - rich province. Tshombe's answer came as Thant's 10-day deadline expired.

A Tshombe cabinet statement said Katanga accepted the UN plan as a basis for reaching a settlement with the Leopoldville government.

Thant's proposals called for Katanga to rejoin The Congo under a new federal constitution to be drafted within 30 days; to share Katanga's rich mining revenues 50-50 with the central government pending a permanent settlement; and to merge the Katanga Army with the Congolese Army within 90 days.

The UN secretariat in New York welcomed Tshombe's acceptance of the reunifying proposals. Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche said the plan should be put into effect immediately.

Katanga broke with the central government shortly after The Congo won general independence by Belgium in 1960.

Identification Of Dead Man Now Positive

HAMILTON (CP)—The man who shot a police constable in Hamilton early Wednesday and then killed himself was positively identified Saturday as Bruce Griffett, 26.

Police had also been searching for Griffett in connection with the slaying of his mother, Mrs. Martha Griffett, 60, and the neighbor, William Nelson, 56. Their bodies were found in the Griffett home Tuesday. Police said they apparently had been beaten to death with a fireplace poker found nearby.

The following day Const. David Gregory was shot dead when he tried to detain a man carrying a rifle and shotgun. The man then turned the gun on himself, blowing most of his head away.

Since then police have been "almost certain" the dead man was Griffett, but positive identification came Saturday after a fingerprint was found on a jar of paint in the Griffett home.

The print matched the left index finger of the body that has been kept in the police morgue since the shooting.

Mock Air Battles Will Be of Lasting Benefit to Defenders of Canada, U.S.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (CP-AP) — Mock air battles waged at supersonic speeds over the North American continent will be of lasting benefit to defenders of the United States and Canada, says Gen. John K. Gerhart, commander-in-chief of the North American Air Defence Command.

More than 1,000 aircraft carried out the grim make-believe warfare Monday in Operation Sky Shield II, the largest yearly all civilian planes were cleared from the air from 3 p.m. EDT until 8:30 p.m.

It was the third time in as many years that NORAD has matched its intricate defences against the might of a simulated aggressor employing fleet bombers and mythical intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Never had NORAD and defence department officials made known the highly classified evaluation of the exercises. But they say each of the Sky Shield operations has led to the development of new techniques and electronic devices that improve the defence posture of the free world.

Gen. Gerhart's statement came at the close of a 5½-hour exercise in which U.S. and Canadian interceptors, directed from NORAD's headquarters here, rose to challenge simulated attacks carried out by B-52 and B-57 bombers of the United States Strategic Air Command.

In case any aggressor nation might have picked the time to make a real attack, about a third of SAC's bombers were held ready for action.

Some 40 mythical ICBM's were launched at North American cities, complicating the problem of defence forces.

NORAD spokesman estimated 3,000 sorties — single plane flights—were flown. More than 800 NORAD units were active, including electronic detection stations on the Distant Early Warning (DEW) line and the Canadian - operated mid-Canada and the Pinetree lines along the top of the continent.

The spokesman said 250,000 men and army, navy and marine units of both the U.S. and Canada are participating. Five squadrons of RCAF interceptor aircraft took part.

Algerians Are Being Pushed From Frying Pan Into Fire

By ALAN WALKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Algerians who sheered in the wild streets after last March's cease-fire agreement now find they may have been pushed from the frying pan into the fire.

The marauding European Secret Army Organization has been replaced by the equally vicious forces of Wilaya 4, a group of youthful Moslem holdovers picking away at the de facto government of Ahmed Ben Bella.

Meanwhile Ben Youssef Ben Khedda, president of the provisional government set up in Evian, with little military support himself, can do little but wait for Wilaya 4 and the Ben Bella forces to resolve their struggle.)

WANTED HIGH JOBS

Wilaya 4 is one of the six Algerian divisions which conducted the war of attrition guerrilla warfare against the French Army.

Whereas the other wilayas were content either to lay down what few arms they had left or to join Ben Bella, Wilaya 4, under Col. Si Hassan, held out for positions in the government —any government—that was to rule the future Algeria.

Ben Bella counted the 15,000 troops, of Wilaya 4 that promptly moved them into Algiers "to help keep" him in power.

Col. Hassan then turned against Ben Bella and with his young officers — several under age is 22—started a campaign of vandalism which led the people of Algiers to hate and fear Wilaya 4 almost as much as they had hated the OAS.

Although Wilaya 4 probably will fall, either by force or persuasion, because of their small numbers and lack of discipline and equipment, the present fighting between it and Ben Bella's forces has convinced many Algerians that any government by military force is unstable.

Here lies Ben Khedda's chance. He and his provisional government are rapidly gaining the reputation of a group which is trying once and for all the Algerian bloodbath—by peaceful means.

Sherri Finkbine Returns Home

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Sherri Finkbine who went to Sweden to abort the birth of a baby she feared would be deformed, returned home Saturday.

"I got the coldest reception I've ever had," she declared after a handful of persons, mostly reporters, met her at the airport.

Mrs. Finkbine flew here from Lawrenceburg, Ind., with her school teacher husband, Robert, and a daughter, Sherri, 8.

The 30-year-old star of a local children's television program underwent the abortion in Sweden Aug. 18, about a month after she learned that thalidomide, a drug she had taken, was being blamed for deformities of the limbs of babies.

The Swedish doctor who performed the abortion said afterward the baby would have been deformed.

Laborer Held For Questioning In Girl's Death

MONTREAL (CP) — Police said Monday a lovers' quarrel may have caused the mistaken identity slaying of Lorraine Kenny, a 22 - year - old officeworker from Nova Scotia, May 16.

A 30-year-old farmer and laborer from Alexandria Dist., 50 miles west of Montreal, was being held as a material witness in the slaying in which police said, another girl was supposed to have been the victim.

An inquest will be held later this week, possibly Monday, police said. In Quebec no charges are laid in violent deaths until after an inquest.

Det.-Sgt. Felix Jean said the prisoner had been shot early Sunday with a .303 rifle from about five feet away as she was about to enter her room on the third storey of a religious institution in downtown Montreal.

The institution, a residence for young working girls is run by the Sisters of Service, a Roman Catholic religious order.

Sgt. Jean said the victim resembled the other unidentified girl in the residence. He quoted the girl as telling police the only possible motive she could think of for someone wanting to kill her was that she recently had quarrelled with a man and told him she did not want to see him any more.

He said the man who killed Miss Kenny had apparently entered the building by a rear fire escape and hid in the hall.

"It's amazing that the two women had the same color dress—blue—the same style of dress, the same shape of face, the same color of hair and that dim light it would be easy to mistake the two."

200 Celebrants Tossed Behind Prison Bars

NEW YORK (AP)—American youth had its fling on the last big weekend of summer, but in seaside resorts on both sides of the continent it mostly once and for all the Algerian bloodbath—by peaceful means.

Hundreds were arrested behind bars in the wake of riots in Seaside, Ore., Ocean City, Md., and Hampton Beach, N.H.

In Lake George, N.Y., high in the Adirondack Mountains nearly 1,000 young persons milled about early Monday they scattered without incident.

Seaside, an Oregon resort community of 6,500, was hit by a riot of 1,500 to 2,000 youths over the weekend. Governor Mark O. Hatfield called out the National Guard, but the disturbance died down by Sunday night.

At the height of the riots police had to use nightsticks. Some heads were bloodied.

All told, some 90 rioters were taken into custody, and 40 of them were released each Monday under $200 bail.

At Ocean City, Md., some 500 college students and teen-agers attacked police and outlaws on the Atlantic early Monday, and police slapped a curfew on all persons under 25. Arrested were 48 persons, accused of violating the curfew.

In Hampton Beach, N.H., police took more than 100 youths into custody, and quiet was restored.

Political Comment Begins To Concentrate on Common Market as Deadline Nears

LONDON (CP) — Political comment here is beginning to concentrate heavily on the Common Market issue as the Sept. 10 deadline for the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference approaches.

Britain's application to join the European Economic Community over Westminster like a huge Ugandan mark and the implications punctuate policy discussion on all levels.

The Commonwealth conference, the 12th meeting of the prime ministers since the Second World War, is likely to be a historic if not necessarily a decisive gathering.

The 14 or 15 Commonwealth leaders, most of them with several members of their cabinets, will confer for the first time at Marlborough House, Queen Mary's former residence. It was presented by the Queen as a centre for Commonwealth activities.

The prime ministers of Canada, Australia and New Zealand plan to discuss the Common Market issue and an mutual problems in an informal session before the main conference begins.

CANADA ON FENCE

Most observers here class Canada as on the fence. There is doubtful about British entry. New Zealand, Nigeria, Ceylon, Malaya and the new arrs, with their families, are Eric Mc-Crouch, father of Canada, operating station operator from suburban Leaside in Toronto; Donald Belgry, a chief operator from Cameron Falls, 65 miles northwest of Port Arthur; three children; Donald Belgry, a chief operator from Sudbury, three children; and Murray Edgie, of Chenaux, near Arnprior, four children.

Internship Held up As Example

By STUART LAKE ...

OTTAWA (CP)—The medical profession's policy of requiring graduate doctors to go through a period of internship was held up Monday as an example for other professions to follow.

Ray Jones, a vice-president of the E. B. Eddy Company, told a student conference that many university graduates in the arts faculties enter industry with the impression that they will be able to take over key positions.

The graduate must realize that he is only equipped with some tools and gimmicks and learn how to use them, he said the 32-year-old Hull, Que., executive.

The four-day seminar, sponsored by the National Federation of University Students, is studying the impact of the university on Canadian life. About 150 students and graduates of universities are attending. The conference goes into its second day today.

In his talk Monday Mr. Jones said internship in the medical profession is an intelligent safeguard. Graduates in other fields —especially French - Canadians —were unwilling to accept on-the-job training and preferred to feel their degrees entitle them to immediate promotion to top-level power positions.

Other speakers, included Dr. J. D. Reid, newly-resigned as head of the English department at Queen's University, who was in 1958 after a colleague was fired for criticizing the college principal, and Dr. Jean Le Moyne de Iderville in Canada.

University men seem to reflect only the thoughts of Canadian society.

"Don't be a trouble-maker if you want to succeed," he told the students. "Be careful not to become a vegetable at your work and you won't find it very exciting but at least you'll get ahead."

No Canadians Believed In Danger Area

TEHRAN (AP) — Canadians working in Iran were outside the danger area of the earthquake that killed more than 4,000 persons Saturday night, the Canadian Embassy reported Monday.

A spokesman said there were no reports of any Canadians having been injured. Six Canadians employed by the Ontario Hydro - Electric Power Commission working on a project in Ahwaz, southeast of Tehran, reported safe and clear of the disaster area.

About 100 Canadians are registered in Iran, most in Tehran, Shiraz and Abadan, an embassy spokesman said.

The Ontario workers are in Iran under long-term contracts signed with a New York commission, a private agency that arranges aid for underdeveloped countries. They are helping to set up a power station at Dez. Hydro dams are the area, with their families, are Eric McCrouch, father of Canada, operating station operator from suburban Leaside in Toronto; Donald Belgry, a chief operator from Cameron Falls, 65 miles northwest of Port Arthur; three children; Donald Belgry, a chief operator from Sudbury, three children; Milton Swart, Otter Creek, three children; and Murray Edgie, of Chenaux, near Arnprior, four children.

Roman Catholic Schools End Segregation

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—More than 80 years of segregation ends today in Roman Catholic schools of this deep - south city and in all parishes (counties).

New Orleans public schools launch on Thursday a third year of integration. Many Catholic School officials and civic and religious leaders have expressed hope for order.

The New Orleans Roman Catholic archdiocese, which has excommunicated segregationists opposing the integration order, has not disclosed the number of Negroes on the schools involved.

Parents and curious onlookers are expected to be on hand when the city's 10 Catholic elementary schools and high schools open their doors. Police have been detailed.

About 9,000 of New Orleans 84,000 parochial school pupils are Negroes.

Thursday, 127 Negroes are scheduled to integrate the first three grades of 21 New Orleans public schools — marking the city's most sweeping year of desegregation.

Soviet Team Joins Hunt in Exclusive Club

LONDON (AP) — Wearing 100 student caps, white riding breeches, three sturdy sons of the Soviet Union have been riding with one of England's most exclusive hunts.

The major of the Russians had been invited to ride with the hunt again next week.

When the manager of the Russian team, Dr. Vladimir Kalyagin, was told that they had ever gone riding with a hunt in Russia, he replied:

"Oh no. There has been no hunting in our country since the revolution. We only have hunting by horse."

Twins Nip Nats Twice, Yanks Split

Lead Cut To Three

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Bob Allison is straightening out for the stretch drive, it could prove a big factor in Minnesota Twins' longshot crack at the American League pennant.

The hefty outfielder, whose batting graph for the season resembles a seismograph chart, had one of his most productive afternoons of the year Monday as the Twins swept a double-header from Washington Senators 9-3 and 4-3.

Allison opened up a decisive four-run burst with a second-inning single in the first game and won the second with a three-run homer in the eighth—his 25th hit and second homer of the day.

The Twins closed to within three games of the league-leading New York Yankees, who split a twin bill with Los Angeles Angels.

The Yanks cut loose for five runs in the seventh inning and ran off with the opener 8-2, but the Angels staged a rally of their own in the ninth inning of the second game and won 6-5. The third-place Angels remained 4½ lengths behind New York.

Detroit Tigers continued their domination over Baltimore and took over fourth place with two victories over the Orioles, 1-0 in 10 innings and 4-1, Cleveland Indians edged Chicago White Sox 4-3 and 6-5 and Kansas City Athletics divided with Boston, the Athletics taking the first game 8-5 and the Red Sox winning the second 3-1.

TWINS LOSE SATURDAY

The Twins dropped a 5-4 decision to Boston Saturday. Baltimore belted Cleveland 8-2, New York beat Kansas City 3-1, Detroit edged Chicago 2-1 and Washington defeated Los Angeles 3-2 in 11 innings.

New York picked up a 2-1 triumph over Kansas City Sunday, Minnesota beat Boston 5-2, Los Angeles decisioned Washington 4-2 and Chicago defeated Detroit 10-8. Baltimore swept a doubleheader against Cleveland 4-1 and 2-1.

Allison, league rookie of the year in his 30-homer season of 1959, has seen his batting average fluctuate radically since April and is now at .261. He led off the second inning of the first game Monday with a single off Bob Baird before the Senator rookie gave up three straight walks. The Twins pushed across three more runs off Ed Hobaugh on a ground out, a fly and Rich Rollins' double. Allison homered in the fifth inning with one on.

Minnesota was trailing 3-1 with two out in the eighth inning of the second game when Allison came up against Bennie Daniels after a single by Vic Power and a walk to Harmon Killebrew. Allison slammed his 23rd homer of the year.

Camilo Pascual was credited with his 17th victory in the opener, getting relief from Bill Fischer after loading the bases in the eighth, and Ruben Gomez won the second game with a five-hitter.

The Angels, who seemed doomed to a double defeat at Yankee Stadium, got only two hits through seven innings of the second game against Jim Coates before Albie Pearson put them in the running with a two-run homer in the eighth.

Then the Angels erupted in the ninth, pouring across four runs off Coates and loser Luis Arroyo. George Thomas sent in the winning run with a pinch single after singles by Lee Thomas, Leon Wagner and Leo Burke and a double by Bob Rodgers.

Tom Tresh and Roger Maris hit two-run doubles as the Yanks scored five times in the seventh frame for their first-game victory.

The Tigers have beaten the Orioles seven straight times. Dick Brown delivered the only run of the first game with a bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the 10th, giving lefthander Don Mossi his first victory since July 20. Phil Regan won the second battle with no eight-hitter, getting home run support from Rocky Colavito, Al Kaline and Mike Roarke.

The Indians, losers in 10 of 11 previous meetings with the White Sox, nipped Chicago in the opener when Jerry Kindall's bloop single in the ninth inning in-

Clippers Nip All-Stars 4-3

Canniton Clippers edged the South Hastings League All-Stars 4-3 at Canniton Sunday in the first of three benefit games for injured league players.

The teams play again at Foxboro on Wednesday and at Latta next Sunday.

crashed in an unearned run. The loss went to Early Wynn, in his fourth try for a 300th career victory. Cleveland ran up a 5-0 lead in the second game and produced the clinching run on Al Luplow's double and Tito Francona's single in the seventh.

Don Schwall's four-hit pitching in the second game led the Red Sox as they gained the split with the Athletics. Ed Charles, George Alusik and Norm Siebern paced the Athletics in the opener, combining for six hits and six runs batted in.

Unleashing terrific power at the plate the Kenmore litter-ally blasted their way past the Dundas Merchants in the first two games of the OBA senior best-of-seven finals.

They swayed the Dundas and Belleville pastures with 33 hits including homers, doubles and singles in the two victories.

They had good pitching, too. Larry Soden blanked the Merchants 13-0 in Dundas Sunday with a four-hitter while Stan Reid and Gord Vaughn stopped the foemen with seven hits in last night's 11-3 triumph here.

The third game of the series will be played at the Fair Grounds here tomorrow night starting 8.15. Dates of further games will be announced on Thursday.

DUNDAS (Staff) — Larry Soden's masterful four-hitter and an awesome hitting display set the Dundas squad back on its heels in Sunday's surprising 13-0 victory here. The Kenmors collected 18 hits in all.

The Kenmors, led by Pat Aselestine's long-ball clouting, were in command from the second inning on. They scored two in the second, three in the third, two more in the fourth and a final big five in the eighth.

Meanwhile Soden stopped the Merchants cold. He blew third strikes past 11, never allowed more than one hit per inning and walked four. Only two Dundas batters got as far as third base, both times shoveling along by errors.

Aselestine slammed a pair of home runs, one a solo shot in the t rihbdiirdngmnom80oob ahead of him. Goyer also blasted two other balls that were caught on the edge of the automatic home run area. He added a single and shared the RBI load with Aselestine, each with three.

Jackie Elliott, Moe Hunter and Larry Mavety banged the ball for three hits apiece, one a double by Hunter, while Rick Locke and Bill Mouzo had two each and Larry Soden one.

Frank May started and lost, allowing seven runs off nine hits in four innings. Moe He struck out 5 and passed none. Mike Anderson, a lefty, finished up, legged for the other

NOTE OFF THE VACATION CUFF

It was warm on the beach this afternoon. A brilliant August sun shone down sparkling the ripples of the lake. The horizon was hazy and gulls arced and planed lazily in the warm air.

I didn't know the Yankees had slipped to three games off the pace or at the minute the Twins Jack Kralick was fashioning a near-perfect game against the Kansas A's. In fact I couldn't have cared less. The madding crowd of the sports world was far away. I couldn't even hear a murmur. That is not until the man eased himself into the warm sand beside me.

He waved a big klzar in the approved George Burns manner. "I see by the papers" he said, "that a college team will represent Canada at the next Olympic games."

The afternoon drowsiness dropped off like a blanket. I had not seen a printed pulp in three days.

In the next few minutes he told me the details. I learned that Father Bauer former St. Mike's coach now with the University of British Columbia would raise a team of college athletes etc. You know all the details.

Later I read where another college physical director had taken up arms against the idea. I also read the pros and cons written by metropolitan columnists and sports editors.

This column has advocated many times that Canada should form a national team, after the style of European countries, train it for months before any international competitive action and let the government pick up the tab.

Father Bauer in my opinion is one of the better hockey coaches in the country. His record at St. Michael's has proven that. But I fail to see where the estimable father can produce a team of college players in the allotted time which will compare with the Swedes, Czechs and Russians of Olympic and world hockey calibre.

The Bauer plan has received the wholehearted blessing of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. Why shouldn't it. It has lifted that honorable body off a great hook. I understand first plans called for expenses to be paid with a large chunk whittled off the government's fitness fund. Now I understand the door has been closed to that because of the national austerity program.

And some adherents of the farcical Olympics "amateur" oath are rubbing their hands with glee. This, they claim, will on its first Canadian "amateur" hockey club to represent the nation according to Olympics standards in years.

They seem to think there is a difference in Ottawa giving Barbara Ann Scott an automobile and a potential college hockey player a scolarship.

Some gloomy Joes in Canada bemoan the fact that because a well-trained Russian squad jammed the pants off the Kitchener Dutchmen at Cortina and a fired-up pepped-up American team beat us at Squaw Valley that our calibre of hockey has fallen off.

An inspired Swedish club defeated our Galt Terriers because the Canadians figured they had it in the bag before the first puck was dropped.

Time may prove that Father Bauer has the right idea, but I do not think it will be proven in the 1964 Olympics. In the meantime I'll stick by this column's first contention. A team composed of the best senior "A" players in the country coached and trained as a unit and play a schedule of games before embarking for international competition.

Sanford Chalks Up No. 20

Giants Take Domination From Dodgers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jack Sanford didn't stop at 19 this time.

The veteran 35-year-old San Francisco right-hander posted his 20th victory by limiting Los Angeles Dodgers to eight hits Monday in a 7-3 triumph that moved second-place Giants to within 2½ games of the National League leaders.

As a boy in Wellesley, Mass., Sanford was regard is a unique program of video lessons. When he completed the full 30-lesson course, he was to receive a free visits. But on the day of the 20th lesson, Sanford ducked out to pitch in a sandlot game.

Some years later, as a rookie with Philadelphia in 1957, Sanford was headed for 20 victories when he received an urgent telephone call. It was his mother. She had only one request;

"Please don't stop at 19 this time."

Sanford wound up with a 19-8 record that season and was no stopping him Monday as he recorded victory No. 20—his 14th straight—with Orlando Cepeda's 30th home run and Willie Mays and Tom Haller in the scoring for the four-game series.

The Giants' triumph also gave them the same league record streak at Los Angeles and represented a significant first route-going performance against the Dodgers in 13 games.

BRAVES STAGGER

Meanwhile, at Houston, the Colts staged Break the Jinx night, complete with special infiel, black cat, witch doctor and Al Capp's little Joe Bisfik in an Abominable Snow Man suit—losing string to Philadelphia, which Phils didn't co-operate, winning a doubleheader, 5-2 and 5-3.

The third - place Cincinnati Reds shut out Milwaukee Braves 3-0 as Joey Jay won his 21st with a four-hitter, Pittsburgh Pirates swept two over New York Mets 2-0 and 5-4.

In Sunday's games the Dodgers blanked Milwaukee 8-0, the Giants topped Cincinnati 6-4, the Mets shaded the Cards 4-3, Houston defeated Chicago 4-3 and Pittsburgh's game at Philadelphia was postponed.

On Saturday the Dodgers beat Milwaukee 5-3, Cincinnati outslugged the Giants 10-5, Pittsburgh edged the Phillies 2-1, St. Louis whipped New York 10-1 and Chicago defeated Houston 4-3.

Mays propelled San Francisco to victory Monday with his 42nd homer, a three-run shot off Dodger starter Stan Williams (12-10) in the third inning that broke a 3-1 tie. Sanford (20-5) meanwhile, hurled errorless, strikeout five while walking two.

BEATS FORMER MATES

Jay (21-11), beating his former Brave teammates for the third time in four tries this season, hurled his fourth shutout while extending Milwaukee's scoreless streak to 21 innings. Battery mate John Edwards provided the key hit for the Reds, a two-run homer in the second inning off Bob Hendley (10-11).

The Colts led 2-0 in the first game behind the two-hit pitching of Dick Farrell (9-18) until the eighth when John Callison's homer tied it. A triple by Tony Taylor and Billy Klaus' single in the ninth won it for the Phils and Art Mahaffey (18-11), who allowed only four hits, in the nightcap, Roy Sievers' two-run triple was the major blow of a four-run third inning outburst that gave the victory to Jack Hamilton (5-11) over Hal Woodeshick (5-16).

MUSIAL GETS HOMER

Billy Williams drove in three runs with a single and double in the Cubs' first-game triumph while Glen Hobbie (5-12) held the Cards scoreless after the second inning. Bob Gibson (15-13) was the loser. Stan Musial's eighth inning homer gave the Cards a 3-2 lead in the nightcap, but the Cubs came back with three in the ninth to win. Don Ferrarese (3-4) was the loss. Don Cardwell (7-14) was the winner.

Bob Friend (16-12) pitched a six-hitter and Dick Groat accounted for both runs with a fifth inning double as the Pirates beat the Mets and Jay Hook (6-16) in the opener. ElRoy Face picked up his 22nd save in the nightcap preserving the triumph for Al McLean (15-8), who drove in the decisive run with a fifth-inning single off Roger Craig (7-23).

Cats Roar Back To Tie

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The scene was Hamilton's Civic Stadium—the 13-yard line to be exact—with 22 seconds to go. The score—tied.

Montreal Alouettes had possession of the ball with Hamilton Tiger-Cats' goal within passing, running or kicking range.

Moe Racine Cam Fraser kicked into a strong east wind and prayed for a single point. Ron Howell kicked back. Hamilton was called for a no-yards penalty and play started again on the Thots' 37-yard-line.

Fraser kicked again. Howell backpedaled the exact spots, but this time the gun went to end the game. And the Alouettes had missed a placing change to break the deadlock.

It was a wild and to a wide-open Eastern Football Conference game in which the Tiger-Cats rallied to tie Ottawa Rough Riders in the last quarter.

BEAT ARGOS

The Riders had solidified their hold on the top of the ladder Saturday with a 28-6 victory over Toronto Argonauts, the only other Eastern Football League team that hasn't collected a point this season.

The Monday tie was a dramatic come-from-behind effort for Hamilton, the only club that hasn't lost a game this season. The Thots broke loose for 20 points in the third quarter to overcome a 22-3 count.

Eastern Scoring Leaders

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Halfback Don Sutherin of Hamilton Tiger-Cats took the lead in the Eastern Football Conference individual scoring race Monday as Ticats and Montreal Alouettes tied 25-25.

Sutherin kicked a field goal and three converts for six points, boosting his season's total to 22 points, all them coming from his boot. Ottawa's Moe Racine is second, one point behind Sutherin. He too has yet to score a touchdown.

The leaders:

	TD	C	FG	Pts.
Sutherin, H	0	14	4	1 27
Racine, O	0	14	3	3 26
Dixon, M	4	0	0	0 24
White, O	4	0	0	0 24
Oliver, M	0	10	3	1 22

Each team scored three converted touchdowns, a field goal and a single. George Dixon, Sandy Stevens and Ron Stewart scored the Montreal touchdowns, Bobby Jack Oliver kicked twice and booted a field goal, Fraser added a single.

Third Game Here Saturday

Midgets, Hamilton Split

Belleville and Hamilton split a pair of decisions over the holiday weekend in the second round of the OBA Midget "A" playdowns.

The Belleville squad looked sharp here Saturday when they dumped the visitors 7-3 in the series opener at the Fairgrounds.

Hamilton tied the series in Hamilton Monday when they whipped Belleville 12-8.

The third and deciding game will be played at the Belleville Fairgrounds Saturday afternoon at 2.30.

BELLEVILLE 7
HAMILTON 3

Frankie Farrell pitched a strong five-hitter and his mates used a five-run explosion in the sixth inning to subdue Hamilton on Saturday.

Belleville opened the scoring with one in the second and it was a tight game until the sixth. The losers scored two in the seventh and one in the eighth.

Farrell struck out five and walked three while touched for two hits each by Don Tamborine and Herb Jacobowski and one by Ralph Corning.

BEAVES RECALL 14

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee Braves General Manager John McHale announced Monday night that the club has recalled 14 players from minor league affiliates. They include Len Gabrielson, Mack Jones, Mack Kranich, Denis Menke and Ron Piche from Toronto of the International League.

Do-or-Die For Joyces Tonight!

Joyce Real Estate will be trying to kick a bad case of errors and a mean southpaw when they play host to Oshawa Heffernings here tonight in the third and deciding game of their OASA Senior "A" playdown series.

The Real Estaters, after fielding in top manner against Kingston, have bowled over the ball around for ten errors in the two games against Oshawa. They still managed to pull out a win in the first game but not so in the second.

The southpaw in mind is the Heffernings' Reg Hickey. He stopped the Bellevillie squad on three hits the other night and will likely get the call again in tonight's do-or-die battle.

Joyce coach Jack Elliott has not said whether he will come back with Pat Maracle, who lossed four-bit ball while losing the first game, or start Doug Ellis. Ellis pitched well in the opener until three costly errors put him in trouble half way through the game.

Either Maracle or Ellis will have to be sharp against the Heffernings and they will need some support both at the plate and afield.

Jerome Ties World Mark

TORONTO (CP)—Harry Jerome, 22, Canada's sprint star, set a world mark in track events at the first homecoming British Empire Games, equalling a record for the second time Monday.

The Vancouver sprinter ran 100 yards in 9.2 seconds at the Canadian National Exhibition track meet to equal the world record.

His time matched the record set last year by Frank Budd of Villanova University.

Jerome is the first runner to cover the distance twice in this time. He equalled the time last Aug. 26 at Vancouver.

"I feel fine and am looking forward to doing it in 9.1 or nine seconds flat."

Ira Murchison of Chicago was second to Jerome and Ottawa's Bob Fisher-Smith third.

KIDD OUTSTANDING

Bruce Kidd, 19, of Toronto, another member of Canada's British Empire Games track team, came within 2.2 seconds of breaking the world's three-mile mile. He finished with a time of 4:08.2, missing by one second ahead of his clubmate, the Crothers.

Kidd's best time for the mile is 4:01.4, set in July. This mark is awaiting official recognition as a Canadian record.

Abbie Hoffman, 15, of Toronto easily won the women's 100-yard event in 55.6, Jack Yerman of San Francisco won the 880-yard event in 1:51.4. The track events formed part of Canada's Centennial Games festival in which some 2,500 athletes from British Columbia to the Maritimes demonstrated ways to keep fit.

Elliott's single ignited Bellevill's first rally in the second. An error, Locke's perfect bunt single and Soden's ground out scored two. After Asselstine's first homer, Goyer singled, Hunter doubled and Locke sigled to make it 5-0. Asselstine's second homer topped the count to 7-0.

Soden, Mavety and Moxon collected sensitive singles, moved along by an error and a passed ball to start the eighth. Another error put Asselstine on too before Goyer slammed the ball out of the park to complete the scoring.

Dundas 000 000 000— 0 4 5

Twin explosions rocketed the Kenmors to their 11-3 victory here last night. They blasted off for five in the third and ripped off four more in the eighth after scoring singles in the sixth and seventh.

The Dundas team, jittery after their 12-0 setback on Sunday, kicked the ball around for five errors, two of them damaging but the Kenmor hats were not to be denied.

They slammed out seventeen hits, four of them doubles, off the right-handed delivery of Howie Knox, who whiffed six and walked one.

Larry Mavety paced his mates with the bludgeon, smashing out three singles and a double. Moe Hunter got himself two doubles and a single with Garry Goyer pulling out a double and single.

Ricky Locke and Jackie Elliott each had two singles with Larry Soden pitch-hitting a two-run single. Pat Asselstine Lefty Reid and Moxon also hit safely.

Reid started on the mound for the Kenmors and hurled for five and two-thirds innings, giving up six hits for three runs. Gord Vaughn took over and turned in an outstanding effort, blanking the Merchants with one hit over the rest of the route.

Dundas scored a single run in the first and held the lead until the third when the roof fell in. The Kenmor bats came to life and smashed out a double and four singles in a row, good for the five-run outburst.

An error and Moe Hunter's lofting double started the parade with Locke, Mavety, Moxon and Reid hitting singles behind him.

Dundas scored two in the fifth off two hits, an error and a passed ball. They loaded the bases with two out in the sixth before Vaughn came in and put the fire out.

Goyer's single, an error, Larry Soden's pinch-hit single, Hunter's second double and a double by Mavety accounted for four runs in the eighth.

Goyer, Hunter and Elliott hit safely in the sixth for a Kenmor run with two errors and Mavety's single good for the seventh innings marker.

Defeat Eskimos, Saskys

Stampeders, Bombers Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Calgary Stampeders blasted their way out of the Western Football Conference cellar Mon. day as Earl Lunsford, their bruising fullback, ripped Edmonton Eskimos defences apart with a five-touchdown spree. Calgary crushed Edmonton 49-17.

In the other half of the Labor Day double-bill, Winnipeg Blue Bombers ran up a 30-7 score against Saskatchewan Roughriders and won undisputed conference leadership.

It was Winnipeg's fourth win on the season against one loss, good for eight points. Edmonton, with three loses in six starts, is two points back, followed by Calgary and Saskatchewan, both with two wins and a tie for five points. Calgary has played seven games, one more than Saskatchewan. British Columbia Lions are in last place with two wins and three defeats and four points.

At Calgary, McMahon Stadium, about 18,000 fans watched quarterback Eagle Day make his first start in regular season play after a pre-season injury. The Eagle had a field day, completing 24 of 32 passes for more than 350 yards, and scoring one touchdown.

SHATTER ESKIMOS

But it was Lunsford's crushing ground attack that shattered the Eskimos as he bulled his way for two touchdowns in the first quarter and single touchdowns in each of the remaining quarters.

Calgary halfback Ed Buchanan got the other touchdown while tackle George Hansen kicked four converts and halfback Larry Robinson booted three.

Interceptions led to three of Calgary's touchdowns.

Edmonton end Tommy-Joe Coffey scored a touchdown, a field goal and two converts while end Jim Letcavits scored a touchdown.

Calgary made 379 yards through the air and 167 on the ground for a 576 total with 39 first downs. Lunsford accounted for 103 yards on the ground.

With Getty at the helm, Edmonton passed for 171 yards on 11 out of 26 throws, ran for 54 and had only 12 first downs.

Meanwhile, before an overflow crowd of 16,000 at Taylor Field in Regina, Winnipeg found the going tough against Saskatchewan, until they fashioned a 21-point outburst in the final quarter. The Bombers led 4-0 after the first, 8-6 at halftime and 9-7 at the three-quarter mark.

COLLECTS 11 POINTS

Fullback Gerry James kicked two field goals, three converts and two singles for 11 points. Rookie import end Bob Deegan and Canadian halfback Henry Janzen caught touchdown passes from new Canadian quarterback Hal Ledyard and defensive linebacker Gord Rowland intercepted a pass and ran for one touchdown. Halfback Jack Delveaux booted a field.

An unconverted touchdown by halfback Bill Grar and a single by fullback Ferd Burket accounted for Saskatchewan scoring.

Winnipeg quarterbacks Ken Ploen and Ledyard combined for 10 completions in 18 pass attempts for 185 yards. Bombers rushed for 150 yards and 18 first downs.

Saskatchewan's ground attack made a bare two net yards from scrimmage. Quarterback Bob Pracsek made six of 12 passes for 170 yards in the air and starting quarterback Dave Sarette missed his one attempt. The club made only eight first downs.

Will Finance Olympics P.M. Says

LAKE LOUISE, Alta (CP)—Sufficient federal funds will or available to build all the facilities at Banff, Alta., for the 1968 Olympics, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Sunday.

Mr. Diefenbaker told a press conference that Canada is making a serious bid to hold the winter Olympics in Banff National Park.

He was asked whether the government's austerity measures, aimed at paring $250,000,000 from government spending this year, will affect development of sports facilities at the mountain resort.

"There's available some $5,000,000 under the national fitness program," he said. "Under that, there are all the necessary funds to bring about the assurance of every facility that the Olympics will require."

No Interest In Pro Golf

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—JoAnne Gunderson is 23, affable, colorful, attractive, strong and possibly the finest women's amateur golfer in the world. But she has no interest whatsoever in professional golf.

"Professional golf means nothing to me," JoAnne said Sunday in the wake of her third U.S. women's amateur title. She won it Saturday in a 9 and 8 rout of 17-year-old Ann Baker of Maryville, Tenn., shooting three under par for the 28 holes the match lasted.

During the week-long run of the 62nd U.S. amateur championship, Miss Gunderson, from Kirkland, Wash., fanned the 6,161-yard, par 36-36—72 country club of Rochester course to the extent that she was eight over par for 122 holes played.

Fulham Wins Over Everton

LONDON (CP)—Acting captain Jimmy Langley led Fulham, weakened by player injuries, to an unexpected 1-0 victory over Everton in an English Soccer League first-division match here Saturday.

After taking the lead through centre-forward Stan Brown in the 22nd minute, Fulham players swarmed round the goal of Everton, which boasted an unbeaten record.

Tottenham Hotspur was also getting in stride against Manchester City, which went ahead through Peter Dobing. But a clever header by Jimmy Greaves put Spurs on the goal-scoring trail, and after the interval city was never, in the hunt. Spurs won 4-2.

Three Sea Epics Soon To Be Sailing Into Theatres

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—During the next few months, moviegoers are going to wonder how the Royal Navy ever found time to fight the French around the end of the 18th century. It would seem the British fleet's officers and men spent most of the time fighting each other.

Three sea epics will be sailing into the theatres and inevitably will face comparison with each other. The first of the films, Billy Budd, sets a fast pace.

Coming up is the Damn the Defiant! with Britons Alec Guinness, Dirk Bogarde and Anthony Quayle. This is reported to be well-done sea stuff, complete with stiff-backed officers, mutinying crew and stirring battles.

The two sea films, both made in England, are being hurried into release before the colossus of sea movies, Mutiny on the Bounty, hits the market. The first two were filmed probably for little more than one-third the Bounty's $20,000,000 cost.

But money isn't everything. For all its lack of scenic grandeur—most of the action is on one ship in calm seas—Billy Budd is a crackling good movie, especially for the thoughtful movie patron.

The story comes from Herman Melville's short novel Billy Budd, foretopman. Goodness, as depicted by the ingenuous seaman Budd, and evil, in the person of the sadistic master-at-arms Claggart, are convincing portrayals.

So is the captain of the HMS Avenger, who stands between the poles and must make a decision—to destroy the position of good, as it turns out.

The captain is played by Peter Ustinov, who also produced, directed and co-wrote.

His great achievement in Billy Budd is evoking a memorable performance in the title role by a handsome British actor, Terence Stamp, 26. His first acting, for which insurance is perfect for the role. He is an immediate star.

UBC Oarmen Don't 'Fit'

Change Shells For Crew

LUCERNE, Switzerland (CP-AP)—Racing shells are being altered to fit the husky University of British Columbia oarsmen representing Canada at the world rowing championships which open here Thursday.

Seats brought along by the Canadians are being installed in the borrowed shells and new ones have been ordered from Seattle.

The Vancouver crew arrived here last Thursday and found immediately that the European boats were not designed for their big, lanky frames. The crew has an average weight of 190 pounds and an average height of 6 feet, 3½ inches.

"The FISA (the International Rowing Federation) arranged for the loan of racing shells," said Canadian coach Laurie West.

"The eight is loaned by the Lucerne Rowing Club. It was used by the West German crew last year when they won the European championships. It's a beautiful boat, well constructed, and about two years old.

"But the shallows felt the difference at once.

"For instance, in an American boat the slide width is 52 centimetres but in this it is 65 centimetres. The foot-stretchers are too low, the runners are too short and the heel-plates too rectangular to be lightweight skin the back of the boys heels."

BROUGHT OWN SEATS

West said that apart from altering those three points, officials were arranging to fit seats which the Canadians brought with them.

Leafs Whip WingsTwice, Suns Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Home may be where the heart is, but for Jacksonville Suns the road is where you win.

The league-leading Suns, only 39-35 in their Florida home, broke an International League record for road game victories Monday, topping the mark set by Newark Bears in 1937.

The Suns swept a doubleheader from Columbus Jets, 5-2 and 2-1, to run their road win total to 31. Newark won 49 in 1937. But Jacksonville has a chance to widen the margin—all but eight remaining games are road contests.

In other league games, Atlanta Crackers slipped into third place by dropping Richmond Virginians 8-3. Toronto Maple Leafs whipped Rochester Red Wings twice, 6-2 and 6-3, and Buffalo Bisons trimmed Syracuse Chiefs 9-5 and 5-3.

In Sunday's games Toronto defeated Rochester over Sal Maglie 5-3 and 5-2, Columbus whitewashed Newark 6-0 and Syracuse took two from Rochester 3-2 and 4-0 and Jacksonville dropped two to Atlanta 4-3 and 1-0.

Buffalo blanked Toronto 5-0 Saturday night as Columbus defeated Richmond 9-3 and Atlanta nipped Jacksonville 5-4. Rochester's game at Syracuse was postponed.

TAILOR WINS AGAIN

Tony Taylor of Leaside, Ont., won the opener Monday for the Suns, who protected their five-game lead over Toronto. In the nightcap, Columbus southpaw Bob Veale lost another heartbreaker, Veale, who fanned 22 Buffalo batters Aug. 17 for a league record but didn't get credit for the win, did time lost in scoring the game. He also had 12 strikeouts to bring his season total to 172 in 127 innings.

The Buffalo ace was in the eighth, Duke Carmel beat out a bunt and Merritt Ranew hit a long hit. After a walk, the bases were loaded on an error. A second error forced one run and another error let in the winner.

The Crackers got the winning runs across in the ninth, on a walk, a sacrifice, an intentional walk, a fly out and a slow ball field hit. Angel Scull then dropped a ball off pitcher George Haney's glove for one run, and Haney walked in the second.

Toronto dropped the Red Wings into fourth, scoring all their runs in the opener in the fifth inning as Steve Ridzik notched a three-hitter. In the nightcap, a two-run homer by Mack Jones broke a 3-3 tie in the fifth.

Both Buffalo starters, Jack Kerrigan and Ken Lehman, pitched no-hit ball until the next-to-last inning. Two homers each by John Herrnstein and Jackie Davis powered the Bisons to the double win.

Victor Borge Coming to O'Keefe Centre

Victor Borge, described by Brooks Atkinson as "the funniest entertainer in the world," is coming to O'Keefe Centre for a week's engagement commencing September 17th. The Irresistable Danish comedian is being presented by International Artists.

Attempting to predict what Victor Borge will do during his performance of "Comedy in Music," is not only unpredictable but in reality an impossibility.

The humor of the famous wonder of the entertainment field is never the same for his two and one-half hour show. Part of this is due to the audience participation, at which time Borge asks for requests. These requests are likely to hear music ranging from Bach and Chop Sticks to Chopin.

The program for "Comedy in Music," reads: "Frankly, we don't know what Mr. Borge will do, but we're sure he will keep us in stitches for a long time. There is also an intermission, but only Mr. Borge knows when."

One thing is certain. Audiences attending his engagement here are sure to have their favorite selection some time during the evening.

Incidentally, Leonid Hambro of the New York Philharmonic will be the supporting cast. Television followers of Mr. Borge's career will be familiar with Mr. Hambro due to his appearances with the madcap Dane.

Cartwright Family Has Not Changed Much in 3 Years

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When Bonanza, NBC's front - running western, was in the construction stage, its dramatic form was based on a family of heroes—father and three sons.

There was the wise, mature older man. There was the impetuous, fiery son, the boy growing into manhood, and the quiet, strong, slow - witted son.

Dan Blocker, the 285 pounds of muscle (who has a master's degree in English and drama) picked the role with the brawny one, says that in three years the Cartwright family has changed imperceptively.

"Originally, each one of us was a short one-dimensional character—all together we made a complete human," he explained. "And each one of us fought to change that—to give each character more depth and meaning.

"I know that if I played Hoss [funny, people would love him. But by the end of a year, they would be fed up to here with the jerk; he had to be more intelligent, but not out on an ideal, a buffoon. We all had our problems, and as the scripts came along, we tried—and usually succeeded—in getting them re-written."

By now in television, the multiple hero is the accepted device by spanning weekly panel. Usually there are two, as in Wagon Train, where the lead is divided between the brawny wagon-master and the scout.

A cluster of featured players is more than a television gimmick—it's a downright necessity in order to give writers a weekly panorama flexibility and variety in plotting a year's supply of entertainment and to keep from placing an unbearable burden on one single performer.

Reed Tops Field

Tennis Favorites Win

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Happy-go-lucky Whitney Reed, No. 1 tennis player in the United States, made an alarming discovery when he received his top ranking—you're not supposed to lose so anybody.

"And that put the pressure on me," he said after his 6-2, 6-4, 6-0 victory.

Reed, 30, has had a horrible year—so bad that he wasn't even considered for the U.S. Davis Cup team that lost to Mexico in the American zone finals last month.

He wasn't even seeded in the U.S. championships under way here. But he has reached the third round today with all the favorites except fifth - seeded Rafael Osuna of Australia, who dropped a,6-1, 8-6, 11-9 decision to Gordon Forbes of South Africa. Meanwhile, Reed whipped Cliff Buchholz of St. Louis 6-3, 6-0, 7-5 Monday.

But now he runs into a toughie, Rafael Osuna, Mexican Davis Cupper and No. 4 seed who is a real Sweden - US Schmidt 8-10, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2. nemesis.

Rod Laver, No. 1 and Roy Emerson, No. 2, the Australian pair expected to have little trouble in easy assignment. Laver took care of Eduardo Zuleta of Ecuador 6-3, 6-3, 6-3 and Emerson eliminated Arthur Ashe Jr. of Richmond, Va., 6-3, 6-3, 6-0.

Chuck McKinley of St. Ann., Mo., seeded No. 3 and top U.S. player, had no trouble whipped pal Andrej Licis of Poland 6-4, 6-3, 6-3.

Cliff Drysdale of South Africa defeated Don Fontana of Torrington, Conn., 6-4, 6-4, 6-2 and Ian Davis Cup team, 6-4, 6-2, 7-5.

One of the Soviet Union's two remaining men players, 19-year-old Alexander Metreveli, went while the other, Thomas Lejus, lost. Metreveli, after completing a delayed first-round match, rallied for a 4-6, 2-6, 6-4, 9-7, 6-4 decision over Bernard Taylor. Ulrich of Denmark. Lejus fell before Mexico's Antonio Palafox 9-3, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

QUEBEC (CP)—Ontario athletes stole the show at the Canadian open water ski championships staged during the Labor Day holiday on Lake St. Joseph, 25 miles north of here.

Gerald Fox of Deseronto, Ont., captured the men's over-all championship for skiers over 35 by winning in both the tricks and jumping events.

Pirates Win Peewee Title

The Pirates captured the Belleville Minor Baseball Association's Peewee championship Monday night when they whipped the Mets 23-5. Pirates won the championship series two games to one.

The Pirates have challenged the Peewee All-Stars to a game Wednesday to be played at Queen Elizabeth School on Thursday night at six o'clock.

Sport Snapshots

By MARK BLOOM

TORONTO (CP) — When Markland Wood is completed early in 1964 it will be a golf course with a difference—a clubhouse that will tower 15 storeys above the first tee.

The 6,700-yard championship layout in suburban Etobicoke Township is to be part of an apartment and housing development and the main dining room and lounge of the clubhouse will be located on the top floor of a 15-storey apartment building. The snack bar and locker rooms will be housed on the ground floor so that golfers coming off the 18th green won't have to make an elevator journey to the showers.

The designer of the course is Bob Hanson, 36-year-old municipal planner who is a top golfer himself, having finished third in the Canadian Amateur in 1952, but who is taking his first crack at designing.

Discussing the unusual clubhouse arrangement, Hanson said: "I will provide a view of downtown Toronto in one direction and a panorama of the countryside in the other."

HIRE AT BALDING

Directors of the development, who include Hanson, were successful in signing Al Balding, one of Canada's top pros, to a three-year contract. Balding will continue on the U.S. pro circuit but reserves Sept. 15 to Oct. 15 when he decides to retire he will become Markland's home pro.

One of the problems that faced Hanson was to "fit a championship course onto a relatively small piece of land." He had 125 acres set in semi-circular fashion around the Etobicoke Creek running through.

After employing the aid of everything from aerial photographs to testing the clientele of a par-three hole with his own four children, Hanson says: "I think we've done it with a bit of imagination."

One thing that helped was that the slopes of the valley form a natural boundary so that fairways can be laid out right to the edge. The fairways will be relatively narrow to save the fees but will broaden out to 60 to 70 yards at the spot where a reasonable drive will land.

TEES ARE BIG

Hanson has designed large tees, averaging 3,500 square feet and shaped to fit the terrain. Except for a couple of par threes, each hole will have three tees—championship, men's and ladies'.

The men's tees will make the par-71 course 300 yards shorter than the 6,700 - yard championship distance and the women's length about 6,000.

Greens will average 5,000 to 6,000 square feet and all will be carefully contoured.

The arrangement of the tees will make golfers work equally hard to avoid, for instance, a large spreading tree in the middle of the seventh fairway. And with water and plenty of bunkers, a poor shot will cost a stoke or require a spectacular recovery to gain a par."

The $400,000 clubhouse will be private but people living in the apartment and housing development will be given the opportunity to join.

WINS YACHT RACE

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Richard I. Stearns and Lynn A. Williams, both of Wilmette, Ill., won the world star class yachting championship for 1962 Saturday by piling up six firsts in five fifth and final race with their Harbor Glider. Although the United States pair finished well back of the leaders in Saturday competition they were first in the over-all tabulation with 347 points.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Phil Boylen's six-year-old gelding, First Minister, came from behind to win the veteran Chris Rogers, aged 58, aboard in the feature Monday afternoon to win the $11,250 Seaway Stakes before 19,801 fans.

Second-last on the far turn in the six-furlong sprint, the big chestnut moved between horses to grab the rail as the field turned into the stretch and came streaking for the wire inside leading Puttenden.

Meanwhile, earlier Monday morning by Roxy Gies from the Addison Hall Stable for $13,000, he seemed to have the race in hand off the last turn. But in the final jump, both First Minister and Walter Wickes Vendetta took over on the leader and First Minister scored by half a length with Vendetta falling by a neck to overtake the leader for the place position.

First Minister's time for the six furlongs was 1.13 4-5.

NEW YORK (AP)—Crozier, who has been making a career of finishing second in the big races—especially to Carry Back—finally found out what the winner's circle looked like in the $106,900 Aqueduct Stakes.

Fred W. Hopper's four-year-old son of Bald Eagle-Olympia won his first race of the year at Aqueduct Monday before 70,122, second largest crowd in history of New York racing. He did it the hard way, beating the current leader of the Kentucky Derby, Carry Back, and the No. 2 colt in the three-year-old division, Ridan, by a length. Jockey Manuel Ycaza Rex Ellsworth's Prove It retrogressed his claim when he rode victory in the $137,450 Washington Park Handicap.

Prove It, a big, rangy straight stakes of the year, Prove It matched Arlington's track record for the mile with a 1:32 3-5 clocking under 121 pounds. He earned $88,450, boosted his 1962 winnings to $246,750 and his career bankroll to $652,320. Try Cash, a 40-to-1 shot, was second.

Crozier returned $9.80 and $4.80 at Aqueduct and Guadalcanal was $7.20 to place. There was no show betting on the race.

At Arlington, Prove It paid $4.80, $3.60 and $2.80. Cash returned $21 and $9.20 and third place Cadiz was $4.80 to show

WINS DALLAS OPEN

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Billy Maxwell played down the middle with deadly approaches Sunday to win his first tournament in a year—the $35,000 Dallas Open—with a closing one-over-par 71 for 281 and $5,000 first money.

Starting the final round with 206 and a four-stroke bulge over Johnny Pott, he never gave the stretch finishers a chance and won by four strokes.

Pott, making a run for it, was one under par at 14 but had a two-over-par on the 15th and wound up with 71 for 281 and second money of $3,460.

Sports in Brief

STAFFORD FINED

WINS CANOE RACE

TROIS RIVIERES, Que. (CP) The United States team of veteran Irvin Peterson, Minneapolis, and newcomer Ralph Sawyer, Oscada, Mich., won the 112-mile Sturgeon River international canoe race Monday. The classic, which began in La Tuque, lasted three days with 27 teams from the U.S. and Canada competing for $5,000 in prize money.

YANKS PURCHASE CULLEN

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR

Aries (March 21 to April 19) In any dispute over finances, seek harmonious solution. Resorting to pressure, the law or threats accomplish very little. Best to win your way by pointing out mutual benefits to be gained. Be willing to compromise.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Cycle has been higher so today you must concentrate on preparing rather than starting. Stress understanding of goals. Make sure you are not drawn into another person's battle. Maintain good relations with both sides.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) In affairs of the heart, be sure you are true to yourself. Being something you are not could lead to tension, extravagance, misunderstanding. If friend offers good advice, take it.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) Be sympathetic to needs of loved one. You should co-operate, giving your time and possibly financial aid. Good day for "speculating" where beliefs are concerned. Hunch on person or business situation could pay off.

Leo (July 22 to August 21) Apply brakes. Take it easy, including dealings with fellow workers, superiors. Also applies to driving, writing, legal agreements. Future security could depends on willingness to be patient.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Could be day of exciting, new contacts and money-making ideas. Have facts at hand. Be willing to answer questions. Overcome tendency to be secretive. Show your hand. It will be good enough to "stand up."

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Opportunities for added income indicated. This "income" could be in form of self-satisfaction as well as material possession. Strive to adhere to principles. No time to "give in" to those who talk about so-called easy methods.

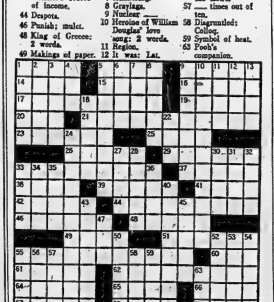
Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) There are details which require personal attention. This applies especially in connection with long-term plans. Day can be joyous in that you witness progress aimed at making life more meaningful. Tonight relax.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Talk with trusted friend could bring greater happiness. Day to communicate, make changes, pave way for journeys. Confidence required if you are to throw off secret fears.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) One in authority may be able to "afford to give you green light. Be ready to put ideas into action. Opportunity to convince key persons may arise. Have facts ready.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You could find yourself in position of promising more than you can deliver. So survey situation. Make sure you really want what is offered. Otherwise, you could end up with proverbial "white elephant."

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) You can gain by taking care to perceive the meaning of friend's suggestions. Much in your favor if you accept responsibility. Tonight very good for dining out, entertainment.



If today is your birthday you know how to utilize creative abilities. You are excellent at sizing up persons and situations.

GENERAL TENDENCIES:—Cycle remains up for Scorpio. Day when idealists are opposed by realists. Both sides could be right, but it is doubtful that either side will admit this.

Won't Split World Series Golf Loot

DATON, Ohio (AP)—Take it from Jack Nicklaus, there won't be any three-way splitting of the money in the $75,000 world series of golf to be played next Saturday and Sunday at Akron.

The winner of the initial classic will get $50,000, runner-up $15,000 and third, place $10,000.

There has been some talk that the three participants, Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and South African Gary Player, would play for the title but would divide the loot evenly—$25,000 each.

Nicklaus, in a telephone interview, admitted: "We've talked about it but we agreed that it wouldn't be fair to the show to do it. I have never participated in one (a split). I don't need to participate in a split," the U.S. Open champ said.

Focus on Health

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Topics This Week: A drug to combat colds, a question about high protein diets, and a study of mental stress and tooth decay.

COMMON COLD

An anti-virus drug, nicknamed ABOB, which can prevent or suppress respiratory infections of the common cold type, a Swedish physician reports.

In tests in an industrial plant, ABOB was credited with reducing absenteeism from colds by 50 per cent, when workers took the drug at the first sign of symptoms. In another experiment when it was taken as a preventive, the incidence of "colds" was reduced by 30 to 40 per cent, says Dr. John Haglind of Koping, Sweden.

Earlier studies had found the Swedish-developed drug effective in protecting against influenza, he says.

HIGH PROTEIN DIETS

A medical research team takes issue with the idea that a high protein diet allows the body to store up reserves of protein, useful later on if diseases strike or you have to go hungry. Such diets are being recommended for that reason.

There is no scientific evidence from rat experiments, that the body can "bank" proteins, report Drs. L. Emmett Holt Jr., Silas Hales Jr. and Charlotte N. Kadd of New York and Baltimore.

A person recovering from illness often does need more protein. Short - term studies have not uncovered any harmful effects from eating more protein than the minimum actually needed, but that doesn't rule out the possibility there could be long-term effects, they say.

WORRY AND TEETH

Mental stress and strain somehow may make teeth more susceptible to decay, at least in some adults, says an Australian dentist.

Dr. Philip R. Sutton of Melbourne checked records of hundreds of people and found that an outbreak of tooth decay frequently came at times of great mental worry or stress.

Control Is Exercised Over 1,500,000 Miles

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — United States Mariner II spacecraft streaked toward Venus today after changing to a new course scientists say will take it within 9,000 miles of the mystery planet.

The course change was made Tuesday in a spectacular maneuver 1,500,000 miles from earth.

Aboard the 447-pound vehicle are instruments that may tell whether life could exist on Venus, virtually a twin of earth in size.

If these instruments work as designed during a 30-minute flyby set Dec. 14, Mariner II will score a significant first in space file statistics. Russia's Venus probe last year missed the cloud-shrouded planet by 62,000 miles — and its radios were dead.

An electronic relay of Venus is at U.S. scientists aim at Mariner II. Unterlilized, it was never intended to linger—but to miss Venus by 10,000 miles and go on into a giant orbit around the sun.

Earlier space vehicles meant to land on planets have been sterilized to prevent contamination by earth germs.

Scientists at the U.S. space agency's jet propulsion laboratory here spent days measuring the spacecraft's error. Then on Tuesday they started sending a series of radio messages that commanded the 54-inch dish point its nose to a different direction and then fire a small liquid fuel rocket. The rocket's thrust Mariner II streaking on its way at a speed of 6,097 miles an hour.

U.S. CONSIDERS SAFEGUARDS ON AIR PATROLS

Admits U-2 May Have Trespassed

WASHINGTON (CP)—The United States is considering imposing new safeguards on military patrol flights near the Soviet Union in an attempt to reduce the risk of violating Soviet territory.

The latest in a long series of aerial border incidents dating into world headlines Tuesday when Russia charged that a U-2 reconnaissance aircraft of the type that made sensational history in 1960 had trespassed on Soviet territory in the Far East, north of Japan.

A Kremlin note charged that the plane flew over Sakhalin Island, north of Japan, last Thursday and remained over Soviet territorial waters and air space for nine minutes. The Kremlin threatened to retaliate against base where such planes are located if the incident is repeated.

Kennedy administration leaders in a quick reply conceded that a U.S. plane—which state department officials identified as a U-3—might have flown unintentionally over Soviet controlled territory last Thursday.

HOPE WILL END

Officials today, they hoped this speedy concession of possible error would put a quick end to the latest U-2 incident.

But the note to Moscow released here by the state department only a few hours after Moscow's protest went further, conceding the possibility of a mistake in navigation due to "severe winds during this night-time flight."

Informed officials said precautionary measures could include a requirement that patrol flights made in bad weather under difficult flying conditions should follow courses well away from Soviet territory to allow for potential errors in navigation. Recent requirements to keep patrol planes under radar surveillance so that the pilot could check his position accurately might also be laid down.

But qualified officials made clear that the United States has no intention of halting such flights which are considered essential measures of U.S. defence operations. Patrol planes, equipped with radar and long-range photographic equipment and flying over international waters or the territory of friendly states keep watch on Red as they can on military conditions in and around Soviet border areas.

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The main Soviet newspapers gave restrained treatment today to the Soviet protest alleging an American U-2 plane flew over Soviet territory north of Japan.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis — Showers and thunderstorms occurred over eastern Ontario this morning as cooler air moved from the mid-west. Heavy rainfall accompanied the change to cooler weather in Northern Ontario, where up to an inch of rain was reported in some areas. The temperature at Timmins dropped to 37 from 87 degrees in a few hours during the night. Readings in the mid-50s prevailed through Southern Ontario.

Showers will gradually end during the day. Mainly sunny and cool weather with light winds is forecast for most of the province Thursday.

SECT CHILDREN TAKEN ALONG WITH PARENTS

Doukhobor Schools Suffer in March

CASTLEGAR, B.C. (CP)—While Kootenay school authorities declared about a shortage of pupils, more than 600 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors got trouble today to continue their trek from interior to coastal British Columbia.

The large representation of the religious sect arrived at this Columbia River town Tuesday night after a three-day march through Kinnaird and Trail. They have picked up fellow members along the way and estimates of the number of the group range as high as 900.

The marchers planned to travel by car and truck today to Grand Forks, centre of another Doukhobor settlement, where they hope to double their number. They are heading for Agassiz, more than 400 miles west in the Fraser Valley, where many of their menfolk are serving prison terms for terrorism. They say they want to be near them.

FEW TURN UP

At Crescent Valley, near Kootenay Lake, only 40 of an expected 124 students turned up when school opened Tuesday and only one of these was a Freedomite. The pattern was similar at Brilliant, predominantly Freedomite schools in the area.

Mr. Hill, 1000 school-age children and about 75 younger children, are accompanying their parents on the trek, Attorney-General Robert Bonner Tuesday asked RCMP for a report on truancy and possible neglect of children in the Doukhobor sect.

One of the few bright spots in the Freedomite picture in the Kootenay-Boundary area has been the attendance of Freedomite children in their regular school system. Tre children were freed from a government sanctioned school in 1958 after parents promised to send them to school.

Parents taking part in the march say they intend to send the children to school once they get to Agassiz. One of the parents, who provides a group that people making a career of keep their children out of school until they get settled.

14 Countries Send Aid to Quake Victims

TEHRAN (Reuters) — Earthquake-stricken northern Iran continued to hurry its dead to mass as world-wide mercy assistance flowed in. The first aid convoys off one of modern history's worst natural disasters.

Weeping villagers in the shelter areas watched troops and relief workers load bodies in the ruins of shattered villages into trucks for burial. Some 20,000 were killed or injured in the five weakened quakes.

Offers of financial aid from more than 36 countries have been made.

As the first of 41 huge U.S. C-130 transports arrived from Frankfurt, West Germany, with relief supplies, it was announced that American surplus food sufficient to feed 100,000 persons for six weeks already was in Iran.

Other aid was coming from Britain, Canada, Turkey, Sweden, Italy, Switzerland, Denmark, West Germany, Denmark Saudi Arabia, Nepal, and the United Arab Republic, Italy, itself hit by earth tremors two years ago, sent three tons of food to Tehran with clothes, food and medicine.

Diefenbaker Believes Another Parley on Common Market Likely

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today that "there is every possibility that there should and might be a further conference" to discuss the terms of Britain's approach to the European Common Market.

He told reporters as he entered a cabinet meeting that when the Sept. 10 date for the prime ministers' conference here was set it was generally accepted that a "full and comprehensive" report on Britain's admission to EEM would have been available.

As it is, there were a variety of problems covering a number of commodities as yet undetermined.

"I would regard the conference as providing for a progress report of developments to date and an opportunity for each Commonwealth member to express his respective views on the terms which, if Britain decides to enter, would preserve to the largest degree possible existing Commonwealth trading arrangements."

Mr. Diefenbaker leaves tomorrow night for London to attend the conference opening Monday.

Menzies said he will probably have some talks with Macmillan and Diefenbaker before the conference starts but it would be foolish to say the white Dominions might "gang up" on Britain.

In a radio broadcast Tuesday night Prime Minister Macmillan detailed that membership in the European Economic Community would help the Commonwealth both economically and politically.

"Commonwealth unity depends on the strength of Britain; on—Britain remaining a powerful country," he said.

He said the Commonwealth never has, and with its great diversity never can be, a merely political unit. He stressed that since the Second World War Britain had stayed out of Europe and the result was two wars that had involved the Commonwealth.

"I think it is to the benefit of the Commonwealth that we should be at the centre of these things," he said. "It is much better to be even part of a growing market than a larger proportion of a shrinking market."

The Manchester Guardian's correspondent says three of the incoming prime ministers have cabled Macmillan recommending there should be no final communique at this conference.

Delegates from 18 countries, led by 12 heads of state, will attend the 11th Commonwealth gathering since 1944. Six colonial leaders will also be present to advise the British ministers.

Dour Parley Will Produce Firm Decision On Market

LONDON (CP)—As the cavalcade of Commonwealth prime ministers converges on London it appears increasingly unlikely that the forthcoming conference will produce a definite statement about Britain's entry into the Common Market.

Many observers now think the meeting, which starts Monday, will take the form of an intensive briefing by Britain about the progress of negotiations with the six Common Market countries at Brussels.

There is speculation in some quarters that a second conference on the Common Market issue will be scheduled for early next year. The British government hopes that the terms for British entry will be clear by Christmas.

The prime ministers of Australia, New Zealand and Nigeria arrived Tuesday. Both Robert Menzies of Australia and Keith Holyoake of New Zealand back the decision to join the European Economic Community so was Britain's own to make.

Holyoake said it was "very comforting" that the European six had recognized his country was a special case but criticized the proposed British settlement so far. New Zealand sells most of its butter to Britain and cheese and mutton—to Britain.

Russians Submit to Orders To Reroute Armored Cars

BERLIN (AP)—The Russians submitted tamely to Western orders to reroute Soviet armored cars into West Berlin. But they sent MiG jet fighters into Berlin air corridors in a way that brought a Western protest.

Interest centred most of the day on whether the Russians would heed new Western instructions for their armored cars. These orders were to run the armored cars carrying Soviet relief guards in West Berlin was memorial in the British sector by the Checkpoint Charlie route instead of through the U.S. Checkpoint Charlie, two miles from the memorial.

The big six-wheelers finally showed up in a rainstorm at Sandkrug Bridge in the British sector, little more than a mile from the memorial.

A statement by Maj.-Gen. Claude Dunbar, the British commandant, was handed to the Soviet officer in charge. This statement said Soviet vehicles would escort the Russians.

RUSSIAN SEARCH BOAT

The Soviet officer read the paper through quickly and handed it back, shaking his head. But the armored cars went along under British escort nevertheless.

The three Western commandants issued a statement saying the use of Checkpoint Charlie "could well have led to incidents which it is in the common interest of the Soviets and ourselves to avoid."

The commandants cited two collisions in which the Russians were involved.

GUERRILLAS SAY ALGIERS TRUCE QUICKLY BROKEN

Ben Bella Enters City Without Fight

ALGIERS (AP) — The commander of rebel guerrillas hooking Algiers said today truce-breaking clashes broke out at dawn near Berrouaghia and Aumale, south and southeast of the capital.

Col. Si Hassan, head of the guerrilla Wilaya (zone) 4, charged that regular army backing Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's political bureau violated the cease-fire agreement reached between the two sides only Wednesday night.

There was no immediate confirmation from other sources.

Hassan said clashes were reported at Berrouaghia, 65 miles south, and at Aumale, 55 miles southeast of Algiere. Both areas are located in the Atlas range foothills. He charged that the invading forces were held up there by rebels who began the retreating guerrillas from the bridges in their path, then threw up a curtain of small arms fire.

Hassan at first declined to identify the places, but later named them. By that time he received no details on the fighting.

Hassan also said he had no plans for removing his men from the capital area, despite the agreement for demilitarization of Algiers. He said his interpretation was that demilitarization meant merely that his troops would not enter the city (zone) N- 4, would be confined to barracks.

There was no immediate confirmation of the new fighting which was similar to early reports that given firm orders to the regular army to stop its advance.

WAS DISPLEASED

Sources close to the regular army command said Tuesday Boumediene, said he was displeased with Ben Bella because he deprived him 45,000 better-equipped troops of their original mission of marching on the capital for the time being.

Ben Bella's right-hand man, Mohammed Khider, said he accepted the orders to the regular army to halt because the regular troops were holding positions in a wide perimeter 70 to 100 miles from Algiers.

In a statement broadcast by Algiers radio in Arabic, Khider said all units must hold their present positions.

"This is an absolute order," he said. "It must be obeyed."

Khider said he had summoned all the regular army commanders to Algiers to work out a "definite and official" cease-fire agreement.

Khider said the basis for the agreement was the withdrawal of the mutinous Wilaya troops from Algiers and the political bureau free to function without interference.

Ben Bella announced the agreement Tuesday night from the government building, former headquarters of the French colonial administration.

"We have won," Ben Bella said. "The rebel army soldiers of wilaya 4 have left the city and because the people have imposed their will."

REACH COMPROMISE

The agreement represented a compromise between the provisional politicians and the guerrilla commanders trying to preserve the authority they won during the end of the war with France. Ben Bella appeared to be in function as the country's provi-

Castro Warned To Keep Hands Off Hemisphere

Kennedy Against Invasion of Cuba

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Kennedy says the United States will take all steps necessary to block any attempt by Cuba to export aggression into any part of the Western hemisphere. But he gave no indication of yielding to Republican demands that Cuba be blockaded and Fidel Castro overthrown.

In a statement apparently designed to offset some of the Republican criticism of his policy, Kennedy formally acknowledged Tuesday that Russia has sent Castro ground-to-air missiles, and Wednesday Kennedy said he had no information that Soviet ground-to-air missiles are being sent to Cuba.

PROVIDES RED EVIDENCE

But after Senator Kenneth Keating, New York Republican, had delivered a stinging attack on U.S. policy and on the meeting with congressional leaders, Kennedy issued a statement Tuesday saying Russia has provided Cuba "with a number of defensive ground-to-air missiles with slant range of 25 miles which are similar to early models of our Nike."

He also said "along with these missiles, the Soviet bloc are apparently providing the extensive radar and other electronic equipment which is required for their operation."

The Cuba crisis also confirm the presence of several Soviet-made torpedo boats carrying ship-to-ship guided missiles having a range of 25 miles. The number of military personnel now known to be in Cuba or en route —approximately 3,500—is consistent with assistance in training and learning to use this equipment.

Kennedy maintained all this equipment and manpower are for defensive purposes. There is no indication of Russia placing Cuba with offensive weapons.

NO COMBAT FORCE

"There is no evidence of any organized combat force in Cuba from any Soviet-bloc country; no organized military force from the Russia: -f a violation of the 1934 treaty relating to Guantanamo Bay naval base and that in Cuba!; of the presence of offensive ground-to-ground missiles; or other significant capability to Cuban hands or under Soviet direction and control.

The Cuban issue, he suggested, could be considered as a part of the worldwide challenge posed by the Communist threat to peace which has to be dealt with "as part of the larger issue as well as the conflict in Berlin and the crisis which have characterized the international scene.

"It continues to be the policy of the U.S. that the Castro regime will not be allowed to export its aggressive purposes by force or by the threat of force. It will be prevented by whatever means may be necessary from taking action against any part of the Western hemisphere. The U.S. in conjunction with other hemisphere nations will make sure that while ingressed Cuban communists will be a heavy burden to the unhappy people of Cuba, they will be nothing more."

NON-CONFIDENCE MOTION DUTY SAYS PEARSON

Liberal Leader Answers Questions

ELLIOT LAKE, Ont. (CP) — Liberal Leader Pearson said Wednesday he considers it his duty to move a motion of non-confidence in the Diefenbaker government when Parliament meets Sept. 27.

Not to do so, he said, would be interpreted as meaning he has confidence in the government when three-fifths of the Canadian electorate voted June 18 against the Conservatives.

Mr. Pearson answered questions for 40 minutes from the audience of about 300 attending a Chamber of Commerce banquet here after a half hour speech on Canada's role in next year's Commonwealth conference on British bid to join the European Common Market. He was asked whether he intended to move a non-confidence motion in the government.

He explained that when Parliament meets, its first duty is to take up the unfinished of the speech from the throne outlining the government's legislative program. His job, he said, is mainly to speak in opposition, declaring why he thinks the government of the day does not have the support of the people of Canada.

This, he said, was demonstrated by the fact that more people voted against the government, and elected more members in opposition to the government than the Conservatives had in their support.

MUST MOVE

"If I don't move a motion of non-confidence he said, "I would in effect be moving a vote of confidence in this government. There may be a lot of good things in the throne speech's declaration but have demonstrated they have no confidence in the past record of the government.

When Parliament meets, he said, there will be more members sitting in opposition — in the combined Liberal, New Democratic Party and Social Credit ranks—than there are in support of the government.

The Liberals, he said, had not criticized strongly the government's declaration that it would cause "we put our country above our party," but "it is one thing to say that in times of emergency measures and another thing to put forward economic policies to get the country

County, township and village councils may have to fight for the survival of their form of local government.

This is the view of Hastings county clerk - treasurer Carl Bateman who yesterday reported to county council following his return from the annual Ontario Municipal Association convention held at Niagara Falls last week.

He noted that most of the resolutions presented at the convention emanated from the larger municipalities, and quoted several speakers as saying the day is past when counties could continue to dictate to the cities.

He was referring to administration of justice and other similar set-ups which were made law a century ago when the counties were the strongest municipal bodies.

He said one of the speakers at the Niagara Falls convention claimed the people were now over-governed and said township and village governments should be done away with, and that the province be the government only at the provincial and federal levels.

TREND CHANGING

Speakers at the convention were quoted as saying the trend has now changed and the large municipalities were getting tired of the county dictating the cities paying the bills.

Mr. Bateman noted that provincial government officials were in attendance at the convention and were taking note of changing trends.

As result changes in provincial legislation are affecting county and local councils could be in the offing unless the smaller municipalities make themselves heard.

"If we are going to make local government survive we are going to have to fight for it" Mr. Bateman said.

He said more rural municipalities should belong to the Association and send more representation to the conventions.

City-County Partnership In Ownership, Operation of Hospital Gets Approval

Establishment of a city-county partnership in the ownership and operation of the Belleville General Hospital was approved yesterday by members of Hastings county council.

The agreement, it also approved by city council, will commit the county to share future capital expenditures at the hospital on the basis of 35 per cent for the county and 65 per cent for the city, and would give tentative agreement to hospital expansion costing a maximum of $4,000,000.

This was the gist of the agreement approved by county council following the report of a hospital requirements presented to council by Marmora Reeve William A. Shannon, a spokesman for a joint City-county committee set up to enquire into hospital needs.

AGREEMENT APPROVED

The report and agreement were approved by council members with only brief discussion.

In approving the agreement county council also approved a responsibility in connection with the hospital expansion plans. Four members for several years have claimed was the county's.

The partnership between the city and county with respect to hospital construction suggested by the board last year.

County council agreed to:

(a) That the city of Belleville and the county of Hastings agree to the establishment of the Belleville General Hospital.

(b)That the county assume no liabilities now existing to the hospital.

(c) That the county be given 35 per cent of all existing hospital assets.

(d) That the county and city agree to the payment of 35 per cent by the city and 35 per cent by the county to all future capital expenditures of the hospital.

(e) That the county be given pro rata representation on the Board of Governors.

(f) That all capital expenditures such as building program must have the consent of both the city and county council before proceeding.

(g) That the private bill presently in force authorizing certain by-laws and supervision of the Belleville General Hospital be rescinded, and that a new private bill authorizing an agreement, constitution, and by-laws of the Belleville General Hospital of the city and the county be presented to the Ontario Legislature.

That on completion of this agreement, the hospital be permitted to enter into a building program not exceeding $4,000,000.

READ BY CLERK

The agreement between the city and county respecting the hospital partnership, spelling out in detail the terms of the pact, was read to council by Clerk Treasurer Carl Bateman and with a few minor amendments was approved by council members.

The report noted that although the committee was almost unanimous in recommending that any addition to hospital facilities be erected on the present site, it was withholding final opinion until more facts were available from the architects and consultants.

If, at that time, it appeared to be more advantageous to go to another site, the committee would have an opportunity to do the matter.

The agreement also spelled out that the hospital board of governors would consist of 18 persons, five of whom would be appointed by the city and three by the county.

OTHER MEMBERS

Other members would include an appointee by the Lieutenant-Governor in council, the president of the medical staff association, a member of the medical staff association, and the president and two members of the Women's Christian Association.

The mayor of the city and the warden of the county would be included in the appointees from the city and the county.

When the agreement spelled out that the 35 per cent cost ratio to be paid by the county may be adjusted at five years if the population ratio between the city and the county changes considerably in that period.

Estimates for the year's hospital expenditures are to be in the hands of county council by the third week in January of each year, so that council may deal with them at their inaugural session.

To question from Deputy Reeve Sidney Fitzgerald of Tyendinaga township as to what the estimated cost of a new hospital was, Reeve Shannon replied that many thought had been given by the committee to the problem of agreement between the city and county than to actual costs.

DIFFICULT TO ESTIMATE

He stated it was very difficult to give an answer to the question in dollars and cents.

Reeve Shannon told County Friesan, hospital planning consultant from Washington D.C., had proposed a modern addition to the present hospital which would cost six million dollars and seven to eight million dollars.

And this would entail the purchase of the recently constructed pathological building which cost in excess of $150,000.

He noted that the committee was meeting with the architects this week and would be in a position to give more information in the best interests of the hospital.

"We have to take into consideration an expenditure of from seven to eight million," Reeve Shannon noted.

Warden Harold Varty said he was one member of the committee who felt the hospital might save money by constructing on a new site although he realized there was disadvantage in this of having to operate two hospitals.

HAVE EQUITABLE COSTS

He quoted architects as saying the Friesan plan could be modified if the county were willing to agree to an expenditure of five million.

Reeve Shannon Jack Brown said that regardless of county representation on the board, the committee felt that it was with the city on any decision for the hospital's future.

"They cannot build without the consent of the county", he said.

Agreed by all members of the committee was that an additional hospital accommodation was desperately needed at the Belleville hospital. At the present time approximately 40 per cent of the hospital patients' rooms from the county of Hastings.

Sadly missed by husband, wife.
And my heart is sad with pain;
But this could not be true,
Could I hear your voice again.
Sadly missed by husband Peter.
Never shall your memory fade;
Memories are golden, memories are made,
Around the grave where you are laid.

Lovingly remembered by husband Delbert.

Hundred Hurt In Series of Earth Tremors

ISTANBUL (Reuters)—About 100 persons were reported injured in a series of earth tremors which hit the town of Bandirdir and nearby villages in eastern Turkey today.

A first strong tremor at 1:10 a.m. Istanbul time lasted 40 seconds and destroyed Idzik's town hall, fire station and post office.

Several houses collapsed and others were badly damaged. Turkish soldiers were on the scene.

Igdir — population 10,000—is about 400 miles from Tehran, of the Iranian town of Hamadan which is on the fringe of Iran's quake Saturday night.

Tass news agency said a quake shook Igdir yesterday early today.

Tass said the first shock was felt at 3 a.m. and was followed by 14 weak tremors. The agency gave no details on possible casualties or damage.

The quake rocked Kerevan, big modernized Armenian city at the foot of Mr. Ararat. Yerevan is 110 miles south of Tiflis and 1,100 miles southeast of Moscow.

School Registration Up In City With Public Schools Having Over 5,000 Pupils

Belleville's schools are not quite bursting at the seams, but registration is up over last year in most of them. Unfinished expansion of Moira Secondary, and the unfinished sewer to Parkdale school are not helping matters.

Highest enrolment, and the biggest increase, is in the city public school system with about 5,000 students. The total is up about 200 from last year's figures, and about 100 more than expected by the board. The situation is eased though, by the six new rooms at the Harry J. Clarke School, and will be eased more by the five rooms at the Parkdale School, when that school is completed. Occupancy of the Parkdale School will be Sept. 24 in the earliest and the end of October at the latest. It all depends on the contractor who is pushing the sewer line through to connect with the school. For the present, students registered at the Parkdale school are attending classes at other schools.

Enrollments and distribution of students are not yet final, of course, but registrations of the schools as they stand today follow:

Avondale	156
Bayview	251
Harry J. Clarke	443
Hillcrest	196
Parkdale	140
King George	395
Prince Charles	504
Prince of Wales	415
Queen Alexandra	420
Queen Elizabeth	440
Queen Mary	333
Queen Victoria	521
Sir Winston Churchill	501

The high schools have their problems too. The addition to Moira Secondary school is not yet complete, and won't be for another month, but the students have moved in and are using the wing anyway. The school, with 1,030 students, is not yet crowded, but more are registering all the time. Quinte Secondary school, with 1,150 students, also has room for more, and is getting them. BCVIT, with 1,150 students, is full already, and probably will not be able to accept any more. The total enrollment of 5,000 students so far is about 200 less than last year, but the final figures, available next week will probably be higher.

The increase has also hit the separate schools. St. Michael's School including the Parkdale section, has 620 students, St. Joseph's has 403, Our Lady of Fatima has 394, and Holy Rosary School has 205, for a total enrollment of 1,462. This is up about ten percent from last year's figures.

At Nicholson College, there are 204 senior high school students so far, about 25 more than last year's total. School authorities report that there is no crowding at Nicholson yet, but the school is reaching its limit.

The figures will change, during the next few weeks, mostly the high schools. Students returning late from their vacations will register to raise the total. Conditions in some of the schools now are less than perfect, but they will improve as the summer's building schedule is finished.

Wife Succeeds Late Husband As CCF Member

By JIM PEACOCK

REVELSTOKE, B.C. (CP)—Mrs. Margaret Hobbs has succeeded her late husband as New Democratic Party - CCF member of the British Columbia legislature for Revelstoke.

She won the seat in a by-election Tuesday and said the battle was fought over development of Columbia River power. She said she will continue her husband's stand against the high Arrow Dam planned for the constituency.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett saw the results of control of confidence for Social Credit government policy in the river development.

The margin of victory was narrow for the 52 - year - old widow of George Hobbs, whose death brought about the by-election. Mrs. Hobbs polled 2,136 Social Credit candidate Arvid Lundell, 62-year-old mayor of Revelstoke who once held the legislature seat, by fewer than 100 votes.

When counting ended Tuesday night, with four polls containing 72 eligible voters unreported and a 10-vote hospital poll and two from East Kootenay still tabulatid, Mrs. Hobbs had 1,098 votes, Mr. Lundell had 1,033 and Mr. J.hnston 493.

CLAIMS SUPPORT

Mrs. Hobbs, who had said anti-government votes would be cast against Columbia policy declared the people of Revelstoke "support in ever greater numbers the development of the Arrow Dam."

She said the result cut Mr. Hobbs' 1953 majority of 472 votes to a "fraction" of that number. "I consider it a test" for provincial NDP Leader Robert Strachan and myself in the close vote, Mr. Lundell said he will not seek a recount.

Eight Suspected Cases of Sleeping Sickness Seen

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Eight new suspected cases of sleeping sickness went on the records Tuesday, but Pinellas County health authorities wiped 84 of the original 145 cases off their statistical books.

County health department director W. C. Ballard said the 84 cases could not be confirmed as sleeping sickness, "known medically as encephalitis."

This leaves 35 proven cases of the illness and 26 suspected cases, Ballard said. State health officials said 14 deaths have been caused by the disease.

The city commission passed an emergency bylaw making it unlawful for citizens to feed wild birds within the city limits.

Birds are considered carriers of the virus. The illness is transmitted by mosquitoes that feed on the birds and then on humans. Bylaw did not provide for any penalty if violated.

An extensive campaign is being conducted in the county for the eradication of mosquitoes.

Extra insecticide dogging equipment and some aircraft will be used.

Robbery Effort Backfires in Blast of Gunfire

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (AP)— An attempt by four bandits to rob a restaurant backfired in a blast of gunfire and hand-gun-chase that left one gunman dead.

Police said Jacob Levy shot at two of the bandits with a shotgun. He said he thought he hit both. They fled to two autos driven by their companions. At the end of a long police chase around the suburbs of Detroit, one robber was dead, a second in custody and two more were being sought.

Police sketched this story: The four went to the home of Jacob Levy, a filling station executive, and forced him to give them the combination to the safe at one of his stations.

"Two stayed with Levy, and Mrs. Levy while the other two went to the station, but were unable to open the safe. They returned to the Levy home and the other two joined them in tying Levy. Levy that if she called police they would kill her husband, took four of the bandits.

OPENS FIRE

He went in with two men while the other two remained in the yard and the auto. Levy opened the safe and while the two men were scooping up the money, Levy grabbed a shotgun from a back room and fired at them. He said he hit both men and they fled to the waiting cars, then sped away.

He called police and they spotted one of the autos and gave chase. Several shots were fired by police and the bandits during the race.

The fleeing car finally blew a tire and went off the road. Police arrested one man and found the other dead, apparently from police bullets

The dead man was identified as Joseph Rossetti of Philadelphia. The other was held as Joseph Lococe, 35, of Lincoln Park, Mich.

Britain Rejects Soblen's Final Sanctuary Plea

LONDON (Reuters) — The British government today announced it has refused Dr. Robert Soblen's final plea for sanctuary and will put him aboard a plane to the United States to serve his life prison sentence for spying.

The announcement, said he would be flown out "as soon as practicable," but it was understood he would not leave British soil today.

The announcement said Home Secretary Henry Brooke decided to adhere to his decision to enforce the deportation order, which is unsuccessfully sought to overturn in four court battles since his arrival here July 1.

JUMPED BAIL

Soblen, said to be dying of leukemia, jumped $100,000 bail in June and fled to Israel only to be deported by the Israeli government. However, he stabbed himself aboard a New Brunswick airliner and had to be taken off the plane in Britain.

Although he was given medical treatment the government refused to grant him legal entry and attempted to force El Al Airlines to fly him on to New York as planned.

But the state - owned Israeli airline took on government instructions following a controversy in Israel, refused to take him to New York and the British government then issued a deportation order.

Frankford Council Worried About Parking on Sundays

TRENTON — Reeve Frank Rabei and— the members of Frankford council met with representatives of Frankford churches last night to discuss parking conditions in the village, with particular reference to Sunday parking conditions.

Conditions are bad at any time, say the village fathers, but on Sundays it is impossible! Church-goers angle park; double park; park across private driveways. It is not only makes it next to impossible for motorists to proceed up or down the streets on which the churches are located, it also represents a hazard to children, 'dashing from Sunday school', says the reeve.

Council has had a parking by-law in the making for the past (three years, but wants to get public reaction, (and especially the reaction of churchgoers), before the by-law is passed.

Last night, one church representative suggested that a 15 mph speed limit be enforced in the vicinity of the churches on Sundays.

"We can't keep motorists down to 50 mph", observed Councillor Carman Mikel. "How could we enforce 15 mph?"

In the summer, there are more cars than usual. Fewer cars in the winter doesn't mean that the situation is alleviated. There are snowbanks for the cars to contend with.

A suggestion by Councillor Leonard Reid that once the parking bylaw was passed, the police would be free to ticket wrongly-parked cars on Sunday, brought a protest from others at the meeting as the general feeling was that a bue and cry might be raised if this were done.

Church representatives at the meeting last night will explain the problem to their individual congregations and will also meet with council's road committee chairman Ray Moran and P. E. Bonisteel) on Sunday, to examine the situation on the spot.

OFFER SERVICES

Now that Frankford's interim sewer and water mains in the village has been advertised, engineering consultants have informed the council like the "wolf on the door."

Councillors last night considered a number of written offers to provide such services and listened to Mr. J. S. Thomas of the Kingston firm of Minnes and Thomas, who admitted he had come up "to throw his hat in the ring". Mr. Thomas urged council to hold a public meeting in the village to make residents aware of its intentions when the extension work gets underway. He suggested that this might forestall the engineer having to answer questions and petitions posed by sidewalk superintendents. Council has received "verbal approval" for a $90,000 extension to existing services from the Ontario Municipal Board, but since no formal approval has been forthcoming, a decision as to which consultant to hire, if any, has been delayed for the moment. One thing about which council has no doubts is the inability of the village to afford an air survey of Frankford, which Pishinder Surveys Ltd., has offered to do . . . for a fee.

TABLES MISSING

Councillor Moran told council that he thought the picnic tables were disappearing from the village park. He said that he knew that three or four big bonfires had been going in the park last Saturday night and that when he counted the tables on Sunday, he had only found 12.

Bill Reynolds, maintenance man, said that he had counted the tables last week and that there had been 15.

"Some of them will be taken.

And finally, council's expressed need for a resident dentist has been noted by the faculty of dentistry of the University of Toronto, and several graduates will be made aware of it. That's the best the university can promise, and, in a letter to council, a university spokesman pointed out that it was difficult to get a dentist to practise in a small centre.

"Well that's all we can do about it now," said the reeve, "At least it's on record that we tried to get the third.

FIREFIGHTING PROBLEM

Reeve Harleigh Hamilton of Sidney and Sidney council representatives will be asked to attend a Frankford council meeting on Sept. 19, to discuss the fire fighting agreement between the village and the township. A few years ago, Frankford council notified the township council that the rate for fighting fires in the township would have to be increased. In a letter to the village council, Reeve Hamilton said that since it was Frankford council's wish to change the terms of the existing agreement, he and the members of the council felt it was up to Frankford council to arrange a meeting at which the issue could be discussed.

Council decided that continuation about plumbing permits and subsequent approval of the installations was up to the fire chief. Clerk Glen Mitts was instructed by the reeve to write to Prepared permits in triplicate. The original permit will stay in the municipal office; a copy will be given to the applicant and plumbing inspector Zeke Hughes will get the third. When the work has been completed, Mr. Hughes and Mr. Hughes will mark all three copies as "approved."

Harry Patrick, sewage plant superintendent, was at the meeting to complain about village residents tossing everything from steel wool to corn cobs down the toilet. As there is a by-law forbidding such practices, Mr. Patrick urged council to advertise the terms of the by-law and penalties attached. Mr. Patrick also complained about motorists and drivers running over shut-off valves on the street. The valves become bent and have to be repaired.

Hate-the-Doctor Tendencies

The Canadian Medical Journal, in an editorial, says that the "hate-the-doctor" phenomenon which is sometimes evident today is "a thoroughly bad habit for even a small segment of the public to fall into."

This is true. Perhaps this tendency can be corrected if we attempt to understand how it developed.

It is the result of another mistake, of regarding the doctor as a saint. This error was an impressive tribute to the deep devotion of the majority of doctors to the ethics of their professions. What has happened, we suggest, is not any real lessening in this devotion, but a complete change in the circumstances in which medicine is practised.

As long as doctors' patients were personal friends, or at least acquaintances, as long as pleas for help were made in person by a harried man who had driven miles in horse and buggy, perhaps in the middle of the night, as long as doctors were, in the full sense of the word, "family doctors," most of them managed to act like saints.

But only a true saint would deprive himself of sleep, night after night, to cure another man's insomnia in response to an appeal by an unknown voice, whose owner had gone to no more trouble than to lift the receiver off a telephone.

The specialization, urbanization and mechanization of the practice of medicine, matching similar trends in all other professions, has stripped away the false veneer of sainthood. Disillusioned at discovering that the doctor is no more than flesh and blood, a man who also craves rest for himself and comforts for his family, some patients have reacted in an understandable, but still indefensible, manner. Their worship has turned to mistrust.

Hide Before Sleeping

An eighteen-year-old Toronto youth was charged with dangerous driving in Newmarket court recently, after an accident which killed two men. The men were sleeping in their light car, by the side of highway 401 when the youth's car ran into the back of their undisturbed parts of it along more than 100 feet of the highway.

Sleeping by the side of the road on a long trip is a good safety measure, endorsed by police forces and safety bureaus everywhere, but there is a right way and a wrong way to do it. The two men had parked their car in the open, by the side of the road.

There are interchanges along the 401 and each one of them has a cement bridge, complete with a solid footing. At most of the bridges, there is a space for a car to be pulled off behind the footing, so any car going the same direction will have to go through several feet of concrete to reach it.

Whether we like it or not, we have the quick and the dead on our highways For safety's sake, motorists might adopt another rule of the jungle: Hide well before they sleep.

Home Is the Warrior

Algeria, independent since June 3 and now almost abandoned by France, is wracked by internal troubles. Guerrillas seized control of the Algiers radio station and censored the newspapers, while the politicians have their own private squabble about who will rule the country, if and when they are able to depose the soldiers.

This sort of internal dissension is fast becoming the trademark of the recently independent country, and of those nations that finally manage to throw off a dictatorship. Looking back on the past record, it makes one wonder how the protagonists can hope to find a country worth leading, after they finally sort out their differences.

At present is it fairly easy for an intelligent person to commit murder, especially when he is dealing with unintelligent people.—Dr. Francis Camps, the British Home Office pathologist.

Heirs of Genghis Khan

London Economist

Legend has it that Genghis Khan and his brothers "decided one day to conquer the world" and history records more definitely how they built an empire from Shanghai to the gates of Budapest. Now, eight hundred years later and after 40 years of Communist dictatorship, Mao Tse-tung has called his "incorrect attitude to proletarian internationalism." Mongolia's greatest son had in his name cleared by the Mongolian Communist Conference. He is now accepted as, for all his faults, the founder of that now recognized international entity, the Mongolian People's Republic.

By a stroke of luck, the dust of history had left it uncertain whether Genghis Khan was born in 1155 or 1162. The Mongolian authorities in 1955 hoped that the earlier date, but with Stalinist legacies at home and a natural reluctance to offend the Russians, whose scalps tingle at the mention of Genghis Khan, they let the matter drop by the 1962 their new prosperity and entry into the United Nations, made an exciting brew. So, despite the nasty things the Soviet Encyclopedia has to say, they went ahead and recognized Genghis on the 800th anniversary of that now more auspicious date — 1162. For all this the world need have little fear of the revival of Mongols, and their 28 million domestic animals, will take up their traditional way of life — but outside interest in the country has brought about some unexpected developments.

Mongolia has been ruled for 40 years by a Communist Party trained and disciplined in Moscow; but although the party's leaders have been loyal pupils throughout the period, they have worked hard to keep a little between them and it.

While the Chinese have been concerned to expand their influence in the underdeveloped of their former empire and to win an adherent to their view of Communism, the Russians have tried to impose limits. Mongolia, by the Russian view, is a buffer state; it provides a welcome Asian support for the Russian way of doing things. This difference has provided the Mongolians with a small degree of independence and a larger degree of prosperity. Counted as Russian satellite, the Mongolians have remained close to the Russian line, while trying not to antagonize the Chinese. Before the Sino-Soviet dispute reached its present peak their attitude was well summed up by the Mongolian diplomat who said, "We don't want to get mixed up in what we don't understand, so we back the Russians as we give us aid." But when the dispute became acute they voted for Albania, denounced the Albanians and their sympathizers, and were handsomely rewarded.

At the price of staying close to Moscow the Mongolians managed to prevent large numbers of Russians from entering the country and taking things over from the inside. Russian influence, however, was strong in industry, which is now credited with about 30 per cent of the national product, has fortified their sense of nationality.

* * *

Russian and Chinese interest, not Mongolian, is the reason for the air of affluence that now pervades this mainly nomadic country. Here are the happy distinction of receiving more aid per person than does any other country. Until lately their gross national product was the same as Nepal's, this left little surplus for development. But in 1960 the Chinese courtship bought them an interest of a Chinese loan of $14 million. The Russians have added another £83 million they had advanced in the past ten years. Understandably, Russia has put another £17 million in 1960 to help with the five year plan 1961-5. The Russians as if to prove once and for all who was Khan of Ulan Bator, invited in 1960 and 1961 with two loans totalling £97 million. With such backing, the Mongolians have been able to advance one of the most ambitious five-year plans ever. It will cost about £100 million, the equivalent of a reinvestment rate of a year of the entire national product. But, with aid to a total of £181 million on offer, the Mongolians can bear this burden. Even if a lot of money is spent on military projects and a portion of the aid fails to materialize, it seems that they can expect a high rate of growth for some time at least.

* * *

Even more stimulating to the national sense has been the republic's entry into the United Nations in 1961. Tucked away in the centre of Asia, they have longed for contact with diplomatic contacts; the United Nations is their opportunity. What with the struggle they have had to keep the Chinese from controlling their affairs, they find it rather difficult to accept that the Americans are the great threat to world peace. However, for the record, they denounce American imperialism at the United Nations, while the home government signs tourist agreements with an American agency and expresses its hope that Mongolian poetry and novels will be published in New York. It has hurt them that more non-Communist states have not recognized their new international status; but there have been compensations. Since 1961, when Mr. Sunloy said that "Mongolian experience in building socialism acquires particularly great importance at the present time, when the face of Asia and Africa is changing," the Russians have given Mongolia every encouragement to become active in Afro-Asian affairs and spread the good word of Soviet ways of development. In June, Mongolia was present as a member of the Council for Mutual Economic Aid, a body which China has not been invited to join.

* * *

Top status, with top people, have to keep up. The present fashion for top states is to give foreign aid, but Mongolia would wish to be left out. So, on entering the United Nations, Mongolia announced its aid program to the Laotians "fighting a just struggle against American imperialism" — 11,000 yards of cloth and 300 tons of rice.

Canadians Love Autos

Ottawa Journal

Canadian drivers, tormented by their autos, are more ruthless than any cowboy with his horse or shepherd with his dog, man's best friend. A cowboy would not start in the morning would be on the way to the factory by evening but the excuses for the balky car ring up and down suburban streets any winter day.

Yet it is the primary function of any vehicle or creature of transport that it start, get going, and keep on. It is not a deposited car lovers saying that it is unfair to say cars don't start when cold. If that was all that good, why has a profession in Canadian medicine found it necessary to start a special research program on why cars don't start and how to overcome it? Why, indeed.

The psychiatrist thinks it has something to do with the mixture of air, gasoline vapor and fine droplets of liquid gasoline We think that cars made for use in North America should be ready to do their job at any temperature and if poor flesh and blood must be on hand to have the chilly dawn with a readiness to work so should his tin horse, no questions asked.

To admit, after all these decades of the automobile, that starting it in winter is an uncertain prospect — unless it has been garaged — is not to be otherwise cossetted—means we have surrendered to the machine. We pay it tribute in forgiveness — and call the service station truck to come and get it, please.

Is this costs a ransom?

In 1961, according to the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce, the number of billion vehicle miles were travelled in Canada, requiring 4,700 million imperial gallons of gasoline, in the same year, 278,337 vehicles were registered from use, tired out, and the value of new cars and trucks bought is $1,551,408,000.

That, for purposes of comparison, was almost as much as we pay for national defence, which reached $1,507,000,000 in the main estimates for 1962-63.

We may also add that we have not about cars; a car is a young man's ambition, an old man's comfort, a boy's toy for courting, for business trips, for pleasure and then the final unsocial ride to the cemetery. And yet a car is only a chunk of metal if it will not start.

The moment of total surrender to cars came when drivers of cars were permitted not to throw away the crank. So long as the crank could flip the unwilling car, twist the unwilling motor into life with his own strength, the car was man's or, in theory, anyway. When the abandonment of the crank like a cowboy taking off his spurs, The automobile would decide, not man.

So we come to the end of our auto survey in the simplest mood prepared to quote Uniterneyer's observation that "We love the things we love in spite of what they are."

At the regular meeting of the Trenton Rotary Club in the Gilbert House on Monday evening a motion was unanimously passed whereby the club is to sponsor an Air Cadet Squadron. Fit. Lt. Mr. Douglas, committee of Rotarians was formed to take charge and bring organization work immediately. The committee has as its convener Mr. Alex Hill, secretary Mr. O. Although no charges have been preferred as yet, Belleville police took the names of several vendors on the market who were re-selling peaches which had been purchased from retail dealers. Britain's wastepaper salvage hunt has led to some incredible discoveries. A forfar woman found black beads which an amazed jeweler pronounced black pearls. They proved to be a long lost necklet from the collection of the Queen of Scots, worth $160,000. A tarnished silver coffee-pot and fork $600. Owing to sudden demand in the United States old musical boxes fetch £50 or more.

Miss Lena Jackson has returned home after visiting Mrs. Blackinthemouth, Golobed, Bliswench, Cocksbawne, Half Naked and Conkerberry.

In early passenger lists of vessels arriving at Plymouth, Elie found such names as Longhead, Palegreen, Sixfeetbig, Dollarhide, Goodfellow, Pettyfer, Bunnyducke, and one pathetic girl of 18 called The Peace of God Bringeth.

A hundred years later, the Puritan trend had even more emphasized the name situation. Birth certificates were filled with such epithets as Kind-Mercy-Pringle, Fight the Good Fight of Faith While, Weep Not Gobbo, Safety Last Pilgrim, and — the world's champion — H-Christ-Has-Died-And-Rose-You-Could-Be-Been-Damned - Barebones. He was, naturally, called 'Damned' for short.

If upon attaining the age of 21 a person had the right to change his or her given name, think of how many Virgils and Cuthberts would be spared the stiff subterfuge of going through life using initials, like poor old P. G. Wodehouse. Who wouldn't use "P. G." if it stood for Percival George? Some of his friends call him "Plum." What a thing to do to a little boy!

Name Should Reflect One's Personality

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Being introduced to a gentleman with the particularly unattractive first name, I debought myself of how the Chinese are so much more civilized than the Western world in certain ways.

The Chinese give young men a "real" name when they are born — that is, a first name which they have the privilege of changing in later years, for one of their own selection.

A good many persons go through life detesting the names their parents wished upon them, but feeling ashamed to change them, for fear of being thought affected.

Yet, a name is one of the most intimate things about a person, and the name should reflect in any reflect personality. True enough, in the last 25 years or so, parents have been more thoughtful in considering which names to bestow their children; but there is still a wide gap between what a person looks like and what he is called.

R. F. Elie Jr. once made a survey of Anglo-Saxon names, and discovered a number of interesting facts.

Names of occupations, for example, who made such things as ploughs, pianos, boots, smoked hams or wagons, are those interested in making the thing. The proud of their work. Elie found that anybody else that they not only didn't have to bother about the money problem, but lived merrily and truly looked upon the money as a by-product, not the product.

I know such men, and they were great old characters. There are sometimes a little prickly, socially. Homespun, we used to say, kindly. Some of them have grew, the fiercer grew their pride in their product. They died full of contempt for the by-product, which they could see in the not as stealing away their children from them, their wives, their grandchildren.

For the next generation could feel no pride in ploughs or smoked hams or boots. It was more fashionable to leave all that to economic forces, and to confine your pride to the annual statements.

It really is a little difficult today to find many men who look upon money as a by-product.

You Cannot Prevent Scar Tissue After Surgery

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please answer these questions for me:

A — Can anything be done to prevent scar tissue after major surgery (hysterectomy, including cancer)?

B — Is scar tissue the same as adhesion?

C — Is there any way to dissolve scar tissue once it has formed? Does it always form after surgery?

D — Is the formation of scar tissue after the above operation a serious matter? — Mrs. P. I.

A — There's no way to prevent scar tissue from forming, nor would you want to do so. Such tissue is Nature's mending of a wound. Fibrous tissue (the scar) commonly is as strong as the original tissue, and it may be even stronger. This is necessary in any wound, whether a cut finger or a hysterectomy.

B — Scar tissue does not necessarily cause adhesions, although an adhesion is, of course, composed of scar tissue. In operations it is the aim always possible to prevent some portions of scar tissue from touching each other and healing together, even though they were originally joined. Many of the times this does no harm. But in a hysterectomy, where the uterus is now way, then a second operation may be needed to correct it. For one example, after an abdominal operation a scar tissue may form in such a way as to constrict the bowel. This would be a case of "adhesion" which can be serious.

C — There is no way to "dissolve" scar tissue. In some people, especially those of dark complexions, but others as well, a surface scar, as after a cut or an operation, or a deep cut, may grow much thicker than average. This is called a "keloid," but it is really only an extra large formation of scar tissue. Plastic surgeons sometimes can make this less noticeable by removing the overgrowth scar itself, then with meticulous care bringing the edges of the cut together again. A special technique is used for doing this. It cannot guarantee that a new keloid will not form, but it often succeeds.

Anyway, yes, scar tissue always forms after surgery. It must. Only occasionally does it form in such a way as to be undesirable.

D — In a hysterectomy, formation of scar tissue does not usually involve any problems.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is known about taking a blood test a cause of cancer? I have heard there is a relationship. — A. J.W.

No, it don't know of any such casual relationship. Estrogen or other hormones can speed the growth of some kinds of cancer, but that is quite a different matter from "causing" the cancer. In average amounts used, estrogens are not regarded as a factor in cancer in humans.

Dear Dr. Molner: What can be done for a rectal itch that just about drives me crazy? I have tried all the salves and preparations on the market. The doctor suggested it might be worm, but he couldn't find that was not the case. He suggested an ointment but that did no good. — Mrs. P.J.

If pinworm has been ruled out, there are other possible causes, but I would suggest more than one test, since the modern method, using sticky cellulose tape, is so simple and convenient.

Other possibilities include allergy to foods or fabrics; excessive bile draining; excessive moisture; overuse of ointments. Keeping the area thoroughly clean, and then dry by applying a small wad of cotton wool, has helped many people. And one reader told me that, when all other physical reasons could be found in his case, a few visits to a psychiatrist brought complete relief.

—Hemorrhoids can be cured! If you're troubled with hemorrhoids, itching and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill., requesting a copy of my booklet, "Rectal Cure For Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long self-addressed unstamped envelope and 25c in coin to cover handling and postage.

The Doukhobors plan to continue their journey in cars after marching through Grand Forks, Trail, Nelson and Castlegar, arriving in Agassiz, 70 miles east of Vancouver, Thursday night.

RCMP officers patrolled the half-mile-long procession Tuesday to maintain order and keep the road clear while the Freedomites moved along the southern transcontinental highway at about one mile an hour.

Near Bellevue the Freedomite marchers stopped at the tomb of Peter (The Lordly) Verigin, former spiritual leader of the entire Doukhobor community who was killed in a mysterious blast aboard a train in 1924. However, a group of 12 orthodox Doukhobors stood guard and refused to permit the chanting, praying Freedomites to enter the fenced-in tomb area.

Agassiz, municipal officials said sanitation bylaws would be enforced to prevent the Freedomites from setting up a shack town near Mountain Prison.

But at Nelson, B.C., a few miles from Krestova, city officials wished the Freedomites a non voyage and hoped that they would make it to Agassiz.

"We don't want you would like to help them on their way," Nelson Mayor Frank Shortbouse said. "It's a pitiful sight in a way to see them on the road . . . but we don't have a big jail here and they'll be back before long."

Freedomites have been blamed for terrorizing the Nelson area for a series of bombings, arson and other acts. Most of the more than 100 Freedomite men in Mountain Prison are serving terms up to 26 years for terrorism.

"Theyve done so much harm in this area, we're all disgusted," said an official of the Nelson Chamber of Commerce.

At the head of the cavalcade for most of the march was bearded Pete Slastukin, 70 wearing only shorts and rubber sandals while he pushed a two-wheel cart carrying clothing and food for the trip.

Behind him two babushka-wearing women carried a banner which quoted in part Canada's Bill of Rights.

Further back in the procession, Molly Popoff, 13, lay crippled and semi-conscious in a wooden, farm cart pulled by other sect members.

"If we left her behind she would die. Her illness are no worse if she is with us," said one of the women pulling the cart.

At Mountain Prison, officials said the Freedomite terrorists are unaware of the march because they have no access to newspapers, radio or television.

Trapper's Voyage Marked By Trouble From Beginning

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP) — Ira Burleson, 73-year-old trapper and ranch hand who now wants to be a fisherman, has arrived in this Vancouver Island port after a voyage that was marked by trouble from beginning to end.

Mr. Burleson, who saved $300 in three months working on a Texas cotton country near near Williams Lake, settled at Pitt Meadows near Vancouver and began to build a fishing boat.

He worked on it last winter. "I had no blueprint, only a woodenship building book."

Skipper Burleson and his troubles started when he moved his oddlooking vessel into the Fraser River and headed for the Gulf of Georgia fishing grounds.

First, he hit a railway bridge after constant tooting of Little Beaver's faint whistle failed to attract the attention of the bridge attendant.

Then the vessel drifted for a few miles after its nylon clothesline rudder cable and steel smokestack blade rudder broke.

A new rudder and propeller arrangement clothesline were acquired and Little Beaver left New Westminster, continuing down the fast-flowing Fraser River.

The copper cooling tubes fell in the river, causing the engine to overheat. Mr. Burleson searched Little Beaver and headed back to New Westminster, pawned his camera for $5, bought replacement tubes, repaired and managed to get to Steveston near the mouth of the Fraser.

There the boat was beached, and the tubes replaced.

On the first day at sea Little Beaver went five miles off course. This was corrected but the then got stuck in False Pass in the Gulf Islands while the Navy cling through a small channel.

Finally she chugged into Nanaimo.

Now, he says, he's looking for a wife, some widow near middle age."

Russian Diplomat Discusses Enormous Progress of U.S.S.R. At Rotary Club Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD — Mr. A. Ivanstov of the Russian Embassy in Canada, was guest of the Campbellford Rotary Club at their regular meeting this week. He spoke of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics and the relationship of the U.S.S.R. Canada, pointing out the cultural relations. He stressed the fact that what is happening in this field could extend to differences in the political set-up of nations. He spoke of the exchange of musicians from Russia coming here and Canadian performers being welcomed to his country and of the annual visits of Canadian scientists to Russia

"To many," said the speaker, "Russia is a country of mystery and forbidding. In reality, Canada is much like Siberia, a fact which is in direct contrast to the popular Hollywood or newspaper version of the country."

ENORMOUS PROGRESS

He stressed the enormous progress in Russia since the revolution 45 years ago following which Russia became a Socialist State. He said that the country in this short time had progressed from a backward country to one with a relatively high standard of living. He predicted that by 1970 the U.S.S.R. will have the highest living standards in the world and that production in all fields would outstrip that of the United States. In addition to the increase in the benefits to the common man, he will be required to work less hours.

SOCIALIST STATE

He pointed out that Russia is now a Socialist State wherein people receive benefits according to their wants. He said that people 13 years of age and over are employed with understanding. He advocated free trade between Canada and Russia — a relationship which will benefit both nations.

FOREIGN TRADE INCREASE

Russia's volume of foreign trade had, he said, been multiplied by ten since 1945. He said that Russian - Canadian relationships should not be anything but friendly, a condition which would not be detrimental to any sional government without waiting 4 interference but gave up its demand for immediate dissolution of the wilaya command.

The regular army was not in the Algiers area when the meeting. Order was to be maintained in the city by police and the pro-Ben Bella auxiliaries, a former terrorist chief Yacef Saadi.

Saadi's men held the Casbah, the overcrowded old Moslem part of the town, and the rest of the city, as a Ben Bella enclave against the wilaya rebellious. The guerrilla troops made two unsuccessful attempts to root them out. In the fighting persons were killed or wounded when the two groups fought them off.

HOLD PERIMETER

The regular army held a wide perimeter to the east and west and south of Algiers. Its fourzone defence while the Oran area with several thousand men and heavy artillery caused fewer than 10 killed and 100 wounded, mostly in its own ranks.

The regular forces were instructed to hold their fire as much as possible, and the heaviest fighting took place in the Algiers Casbah.

Generally the guerrillas' resistance was brief and ineffective. The army's advance also was aided by widespread public desire for peace after more than seven years of war against the French.

The political bureau was expected to set a new date for national elections, already postponed five times.

other country, but beneficial to both.

Following the talk, Mr. Ivanstov answered questions. In response to one question, he said that trade unions do the work done here in Russia, but he felt that in time Rotary might be admitted to Russia. He said that his mother goes to church in Russia, but inferred his desire for peace.

PEOPLE BUILT WALL

He said the Berlin wall was not built by Russians but by the people of Berlin. West Berlin is being considerably more prosperous, the government of the Communist portion raised the wall to keep the people many of whom had received free education in the East, from going over to the more prosperous part."

The speaker was introduced by past president Hector MacMillan and thanked by Wilf Kingston.

TUESDAY

Dinner Menu

PEACH CONSERVE:

4 cups prepared peaches (about 2 quarts) fully ripe peaches. Measure 4 cups into a very large saucepan. Add the almonds, raisins, lemon juice and the cinnamon, and certo crystals to fruit in saucepan. Mix well. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour into sterile glasses. Cover at once with ¼" of hot paraffin, adding second coat when first is cool.

PEACH AND PLUM JELLY:

3½ cups juice (about 1½ quarts ripe peaches and 1 quart ripe plum), ¼ cup lemon juice (2 lemons), 7 cups (3 lbs.) sugar, 1 bottle liquid fruit pectin (certo).

Pit but do not peel about 1½ quarts fully ripe soft peaches. Crush thoroughly. Crush but do not peel or pit about 1 quart fully ripe plums. Combine fruits. Add ¾ cup water; bring to a boil and simmer, covered, 10 minutes. Place in jelly cloth or bag and let drip overnight. Measure 3½ cups into a very large saucepan. Squeeze and strain the juice from 2 medium-sized lemons. Measure ¼ cup into saucepan with peach and plum juice. Add sugar to juices in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. At once stir in certo. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim off foam with metal spoon and pour quickly into sterile glasses. Cover at once with ⅛" hot paraffin, adding second coat when first is cold.

PEACH AND ORANGE CONSERVE (Uncooked fruit):

3 cups prepared fruit (1 orange and about 1½ quarts peaches), 1-3 cup finely chopped walnuts, 3½ cups sugar, 1 box powdered fruit pectin, (certo crystals), ¾ cup water.

Grate the rind from the orange. Section orange, removing membrane and seeds. Grind or chop pulp. Peel and core about 1½ quarts fully ripe pears. Grind or chop very fine. Mix well with orange pulp and rind. Measure 3 cups into large pan or bowl. Add the chopped walnuts. Add sugar to fruit, stir well. Water and certo crystals in a small saucepan. Bring to a boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Add to fruit mixture, stirring to dissolve sugar — about 3 minutes. (There will be some remaining crystals). Ladle quickly into glasses or freezer containers. Cover at once with tight lids or seals. Let stand 24 hours; then store in freezer. If jam will be used within 2 or 3 weeks, it may be stored in refrigerator.

Paula H. — We are invaded by grandparents.

Mrs. L.H. — Our grandchildren are lucky to have us around.

* * *

Paula H. — Tom and I have been married ten years and have 4 children including a 7-month-old baby. It happens that the grandparents, bless all four of them live nearby. This means that one or several of them turn up at our home every day.

While we appreciate having such young, willing and able parents, we lament our lost privacy. Up to two years ago we lived quietly in a small factory-town. But now our home feels like Grand Central Station. We have little to say about who comes and goes. And the children are all spiked up and spoiled.

Why can't they find some other interest in life besides us? If we can't work out some sort of visiting etiquette, there'll be a big blowup with them. Either they'll leave us alone or we'll move to Alaska! . . . . .

* * *

Mrs. L.H. — I'll speak for all four of us. Tom and Paula grew up in this neighborhood and the families are close friends. You'd hear my daughter-in-law's complaint comes as something of a shock.

She was glad to have my husband and me around during her last confinement. Her own parents were upstate visiting their other daughter. And she and Tom have never had to pay a penny for babysitters. They come and go like teenagers, thanks to our help.

We try to make things easy. Paula's mother brings a ready-cooked dinner over every few days. I handle the mending. And the grandpas are drawn to those darling kids like nails to magnets. Naturally they bring along toys and treats, objects the boys to the movies.

That's not spoiling them. It's loving, and how can children get too much love?

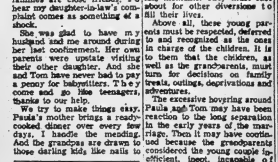
* * *

The Council: Grandparents can be one of life's greatest blessings to a child. Often they account for the fine shape in which he emerges from childhood, despite handicaps which might floor the grandparentless.

But too much of anything, however well-meaning, can be oppressive.

What the H.'s, junior and senior, need is a set of "ground rules" for their play between the generations. One round-table session of blunt talk would help, although a trained outsider — someone like the family clergyman or a guidance counselor — ought to be present to sort out the constructive ideas from the lazy, sentimental ones.

Random dropping-in will be stopped. Visits will be spaced and timed, and—to keep excitement and distraction to a minimum — limited to one set of grandparents at a time. The other folks will be reminded that Tom's and Paula's children are not playthings for their private moments. They must care about for other diversions to fill their lives.



Above all, these young parents must be respected, deferred to and recognized as the ones in charge of the children. It is to them that the children, as well as the grandparents, must turn for decisions on family treats, outings, deprivations and adventures.

The excessive hovering around Paula and Tom may have been reaction to the long separation in the early years of the marriage. Then it may have continued because the grandparents considered the young couple inefficient, inept, incapable of handling their responsibilities. And it persists from sheer inertia. Paula not speaking up, Mr. H. not giving up the old pattern of full-time parenting.

Once the best is off, Paula and Tom will thank their lucky stars for the treasure of so much love on tap. And many whose parents have passed on, or are not so interested and available, will envy this pair — and their children — this unusual passport of affection.

Romeo Loves Two at Once

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—I am a married woman, 38, separated from my husband. I met a man who is also separated from his wife. I went with him about a month or more till he told me he was living with another woman. He left her and is living alone, but after ruling with him over a year, I found out he is still seeing her. He says he can't give up me nor her till he knows which one he wants for good.

Now Doris, he lived with her a year and he has taken me out about a year and a half. Don't you think he should know? I can't share a man I love with another woman.

Last week I went out with another man. Then I told him what was good for him was good for me. He got real angry and got drunk and nasty with me.—DOUBLE STANDARD.

* * *

DEAR DOUBLE— Well, he can't have a harem, and you can't share him. If he says it's double or nothing, tell him it's nothing.

You ask for this kind of gay abandon when you play fast and loose with marriage.

* * *

DEAR DORIS—My problem is my stepson. He is 16 years old. When he was 15 he got a 17-year-old girl pregnant. They wanted to get married and keep their baby. If my husband signs his consent for his son to get married, is he responsible for his debts and for keeping his son's wife and family? If not, pray tell me why they have to sign.

If they decide not to get married and she keeps the baby, will he be expected to support the baby and can her father press charges against the boy or his father?—SICK AT HEART.

* * *

DEAR SICK— Consent does not call for willingness to support.

Then why sign? Because children cannot enter into legal contracts. Since marriage is a single exception, the parent must indicate he knows about it and is in agreement; the child may then marry legally at 16.

The child's father is obligated to contribute to its support. But not the father's father. As for pressing charges, this is unlikely since there is so much mutual consent involved.

A branch of promise situation would be different, involving as it does an admitted engagement and expectation of marriage.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO DOLLY—Just because you quail at leaving all that is familiar, does not mean you are not in love. You are merely facing facts.

Love may not strike like lightning. Ask yourself whether your interests, education, philosophies, are similar. The best love grows out of friendship and mutual interests. If you have this kind, love can weather the storm on a desert island.

* * *

TO CANADIAN MIXED CLUB PRESIDENT— Do your members want just widows? The other clubs like having the men. Ask your one widower if there are other unattached men he would like to bring.

Some people have no card sense. You could have a hilarious time playing other games, which involve puzzles, maybe, or riddles, or guessing song titles. Write to me for the name of a book about it.

Question: When we were visiting friends, recently, my three-year-old daughter broke a battery-operated toy stove belonging to their youngster. I offered to get a new one, but the mother said no. When I priced it, I found the stove sells for over $5, which is a little steep for me. I still think I should send something. Do you suppose a less expensive toy would be an acceptable substitute? — Mrs. M.L., Croton, N.Y.

Answer: Since the mother demurred, it might embarrass her if you spent so much money for a toy which was accidentally broken by a youngster. A less expensive toy in another category — a doll, for instance — would be a fair and acceptable gift to send.

Question: I'm 30 years old, have been widowed for two years, and plan to be married in late September. The wedding will be small and informal, and I plan to wear a simple beige silk dress. I don't want to wear a corsage, since the silk is very fine and I'm afraid the pins, plus the weight of the flowers, will damage it. Would it be totally incorrect for me to carry a small floral spray? — Mrs. A.R., Chicago, Ill.

Answer: A traditional bridal bouquet would be out of place, but a few flowers in a color complementary to your dress and in a very simple arrangement would be appropriate. A good florist that specializes in weddings will be able to advise you as to color and design.

Question: When a date asks you where you want to have dinner, should you tell him? I've read a number of charm books. Some advise the direct approach; that the woman should name the restaurant immediately and save the fellow the chore of timidly selecting one he hopes she likes. Others say act coy and let him masterfully pick out the one he wants to go to. From the standpoint of good manners and taste, what would you suggest? — C.K., New Haven, Conn.

Answer: First, try the direct approach, and name three restaurants in various price categories. Then use the coy approach, and let him select the restaurant that best fits his pocketbook. By combining both techniques, you give him the courtesy of a direct answer and the added courtesy of choosing a restaurant he can afford.

WOODS — BROOKS

A lovely summer wedding was solemnized recently in Calvary Temple, Belleville, by the Rev. Hope Smith, when Doris Pearl Brooks of Belleville, was united in marriage to Maurice William Woods. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Brooks, and the bridegroom the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Woods, also of Belleville.

The wedding music was provided by the Rev. J. Tubby.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was adorable in her white street-length bridal gown, with white feather hat, white accessories, and carrying a bouquet of long-stemmed roses.

She was attended by Mrs. Gary Reid, of Belleville, who was attractively attired in robin egg blue nylon with matching feather hat, and blue accessories, with corsage of pink roses.

Mr. Gary Reid, of Belleville, attended the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Legion Hall, where the bride's table was appointed in the traditional manner, and centred by a three-tier wedding cake, flanked by white candles in silver holders; the bridal bouquets adding an added nuptial accent.

Mr. and Mrs. Woods are residing in Belleville.

PIONEER STEWARDESS — Mrs. Jack Amos of Lachine, Que., is on a Trans-Canada Air Lines stewardess cap, a familiar routine for her 34 years as Canada's first airline stewardess, on duty when TCA's first passenger flight, from Vancouver to Seattle, was started in July, 1938. She was also the first woman employed by TCA and the first stewardess training instructor. (CP Photo).

Lachine Woman Canada's First Airline Stewardess

MONTREAL (CP) — Mrs. Jack Amos Grant of suburban Lachine, who actually caused the plane to tilt because she was "too tall for the job," is Canada's first airline stewardess.

Today's planes aren't quite as sensitive as the crude, silver Lockheed 10A she flew when the first Trans-Canada Air Lines passenger flight, from Vancouver to Seattle, was inaugurated in July, 1938.

"Everytime I walked up the aisle they had to trim (adjust the plane's balance)," she recalled in an interview. "They knew by the balance of the plane just what I was doing and where I was."

Mrs. Grant, a slim five-foot-six, was Lucile Garner in those days. She married Jack Grant, president of a water softening firm, after three years with the airlines.

But in that time, she established other firsts. She was the first female employed by TCA and its first stewardess training instructor.

In those days, height wasn't the only consideration for the potential stewardess. She had to weigh less than 125 pounds, possess good looks, good health and 20-20 vision. Also, she had to be a graduate nurse and be inclined towards remaining single.

SON IS FLYER

Restrictions have eased somewhat. A stewardess doesn't have to be a graduate nurse any more and her hours of work are much better.

"We trained the girls as they were hired," Mrs. Grant said. "There were no regular, before-yearly classes as there are today."

She predicted that airlines soon will abandon the job of training girls to special private schools.

Mrs. Grant was assigned to train the first batch of 16 girls TCA hired for stewardess jobs. "It took me weeks just to sift through the applications. There must have been 1,000 at least."

The girls were trained in everything from grooming to meteorology.

Although she hasn't flown professionally since leaving TCA, the Grant children are carrying on the mother's tradition.

Her daughter Jacqueline, 20, now works for TCA and will begin training to become a stewardess when she becomes old enough.

Her son John, 18, a former air cadet, has his wings and a private flying licence.

Mrs. Grant says it is only because of their ages that Margaret, 16, and Fred, 15, are still grounded.

They were married at Frankford - United Church by the Rev. J. F. Lane and have four daughters, Misses Wendy, Fairlie, Mary Ellen, and Marion, all at home.

In addition to the large number of friends who called to extend best wishes, the bride and bridegroom of yesteryear were the recipients of many cards, gifts and congratulatory messages including a telephone call from Mrs. Peter Robertson, Alberni, B.C., a sister of Mrs. Warren.

The dining room and living rooms were decorated with fall flowers, while the tea table was appointed with white cutwork cloth, silver tea services and silver candelabra. A three-tiered wedding cake also occupied a prominent place.

Those pouring tea were: Mrs. Fred Charlesworth and Mrs. Walter Morrow, of Frankford; Mrs. Walter Warren and Mrs. Harry Morrow, and Mrs. C. I. Hatton, Stirling; Mrs. Ralph Locke and Mrs. W. Foreign Buyers Will Be Airlifted to Doorsteps of Manufacturers by Hees

OTTAWA (CP)—The trade department's biggest export push yet was unveiled Tuesday by Trade Minister Hees—a four-pronged operation that will see more than 700 foreign buyers airlifted to the doorstep of Canadian manufacturers.

Mr. Hees called it Operation World Markets and informants put its total cost at more than $200,000—an indication that despite its austerity program the government is ready to spend money to help fatten the nation's export earnings.

Main feature will be a three-day national samples show in Toronto April 3-4 with more than 500 buyers from around the world flown in chartered planes to see and order the best Canada has to offer in consumer goods.

During the previous week more than 200 airlifted foreign industrialists and government officials will tour the branch plants of Canadian manufacturers of machinery and equipment.

WRITES FIRMS

Letters went out Tuesday from Mr. Hees to some 5,500 Canadian companies announcing details of the national samples show, and to nearly 500 machinery and equipment manufacturers.

The other two parts of the operation, after planning for months, involve the trade department's overseas salesmen-promotion staff at some 120 trade commissioners.

They'll be flown to Ottawa for a week of discussions April 4-11 on changing world trade conditions and special export problems.

Then the trade commissioners will hold open house for nearly three weeks for any Canadian businessmen wanting to get into the export business or expand present overseas markets.

This will be the department's second national export promotion conference—to last from April 18 to May 3—and Mr. Hees indicated he expects it will outdo the scale of the first conference held here in December, 1960, a few months after he moved into the trade minister's job.

The trade department says that the first export promotion conference brought $22,000,000 in trial or new orders within nine months, and the opening of 932 new sales agencies in other countries for Canadian goods during the same period.

SHOW UNIQUE

The national samples show, which will take over the automotive building at Toronto's Canadian National Exhibition grounds, is described as a kind of sales effort never tried for other countries.

The department is expecting both exhibitors to show their wares — predominantly consumer goods including clothing, furniture, appliances, food and sports goods—but also space will be provided to accommodate more exhibitors if they show up.

The national show will see buyers flown from all over the world to Toronto by jet—mainly British, Europe and the West indies.

An informant said the buyers to be flown in to tour Canadian manufacturing and equipment factories will come from countries that are more than in the case of the samples show, since many countries have since then begun buying dollars against consumer goods.

They will come from Britain, Europe, the Middle East, the Indian sub - continent, South America and the Arctic.

Their travels in Canada will include plants making agricultural, aircraft, automotive, construction, communications, electronic, heavy and heavy-electric, industrial and process machinery and equipment.

SAMPANS TOSSED INTO HONG KONG STREET BY TYPHOON WANDA — Sampans, lifted from the water and hurled inland by the 100-mile-per-hour winds of Typhoon Wanda, litter a debris covered street in the British crown colony of Hong Kong. Wanda, the worst storm to hit Hong Kong in a quarter of a century, left many dead and great property damage in her wake. The typhoon struck on Saturday and rescue workers were still digging out victims from debris and flooded buildings days afterwards. (AP Wirephoto via radio from Tokyo).

Mayor Whitton Against Track Outside Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Mayor Charlotte Whitton said Tuesday night the new Rideau Carleton Raceway project outside Ottawa was conceived in duplicity and brought forth in complicity."

She told the council that will be made clear whenever someone has the courage to examine fully the granting of the raceway charter.

Her remarks grew out of a question from Ald. Murray Heit about traffic congestion on Ottawa's Bank Street.

"If you think it's bad now, just wait until the new raceway gets one of its major attractions, a liquor licence," said Miss Whitton.

Con. Wilbert Hamilton, replying to the mayor, said:

"Every once in a while 18,000 people want to go to a football game and the traffic department sets up the necessary arrangements. The same should be done for the 7,000 who want to go to the raceway. . . . Projects outside the city limits must be developed on a co-operative basis."

The raceway, opened last Saturday night, is in neighboring Gloucester Township. Last fall, board of control dissociated itself from a demand by Mayor Whitton for an investigation of the raceway project.

Trade Schools Advocated As Means of Relieving Crowding at Universities

OTTAWA (CP) — Trade schools for engineers, lawyers, doctors and other professional men were advocated Tuesday night as means of relieving overcrowding at Canadian universities.

Dr. Alan Mewett of Queen's University told delegates to a seminar sponsored by the National Federation of Canadian University Students that neither economic nor intellectual barriers are the answer to the overflow of students.

He said campus life should be made so unattractive that only those sincerely desiring an education would attend universities.

Too many attend university so they can make more money in life, or for prestige purposes.

Those who wanted to learn professions could go to schools that teach them. Universities would be for students who did not expect any immediate benefits for the three or four years they were acquiring wisdom.

The opposite view was presented by Ottawa lawyer Duncan MacTavish. He said universities should be open to all who wish to attend.

Universities train students to take their place in society. Therefore entrance requirements should be lowered to allow more Canadian youths to take advantage of this training.

He said those who pass university entrance exams "show only an ability to express what little knowledge they possess with facility."

The five-day seminar, studying the effect of universities on Canadian life, was also told that the greatest problem facing college students is adjusting to the difference between high school and university teaching.

Dr. Mottet St. A. Woodside, principal of University College, University of Toronto, said the college method of putting students on their own should be adopted in the later years of secondary schooling.

Pierre Dansereau, former dean of science at the University of Montreal, said students should disobey civil authority if they feel unfair laws are enacted by governments.

But he said the disobedience should be of a passive nature and that the students must be prepared to face the consequences of their actions.

THANT RETURNS

NEW YORK (AP)—U Thant, acting secretary-general of the United Nations, returned Tuesday from a 10-day tour of Communist-bloc countries.

Lack of Pure Milk, Water Said Cause

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—An exiled Cuban child health authority says that 1,750 children have died of an intestinal disease epidemic in Cuba within four weeks.

Dr. Augustin Castellanos, former medical director of Havana Children's Hospital and University of Havana professor, said Tuesday that doctors arriving from Cuba reported gastroenteritis cases appeared to be spreading further.

Dr. Castellanos, now a University of Miami professor of pediatrics, attributed the cases to lack of pure milk and water and a lack of medicine.

"Chlorine has not been used in drinking water for a year," he said. "Milk is often contaminated. Insecticides are unavailable and flies abound. There are few stoppers, and newspapers are used to top milk bottles."

Dr. Castellanos said vaccines against gastroenteritis are unavailable.

In Havana, he said, water is so scarce that there are waiting lines at public hydrants in streets.

TO RESUME TESTS?

HONOLULU (AP) — There were growing indications Tuesday that the United States may resume nuclear testing over the Pacific near Johnston Island by mid - September. A spokesman for Joint Task Force 8 said refueling and co-ordination are almost complete. The pad was destroyed when a rocket exploded on July 25.

Will Break Ground for New Health Centre Sponsored By United Steel Workers

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—Ground will be broken today for a controversial $800,000 health centre to form the core of a medical care plan, the first union-sponsored project of its kind in Canada.

Despite setbacks — including opposition of the Sault's medical fraternity and refusal of the Ontario Municipal Board to approve rezoning of the centre's original site—the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) expects to have it in operation by the target date of July 1, 1963.

When operating, the centre will be the focus of a plan that covers all doctors' bills for members and their dependents. So far, about 4,500 employees have signed up and the union is looking for about 6,000. With dependents, the centre's doctors will be able to handle some 20,000.

If Steelworkers do not fill out the rolls, they will be thrown open to members of other unions and USWA officials say several unions have expressed interest.

Plans are for the centre to operate with a panel of full-time salaried doctors, an aspect which has raised the opposition of the Sault Medical Society.

TO SELECT DOCTORS

No doctors from the Sault area have applied for positions. The medical director—Dr. Thomas A. Fitzner, founder and medical director of a health clinic in Pittsburgh for the United Mineworkers of America (Ind.), who is expected to begin selecting his team this week from outside applicants.

Plans at the outset are for about 15 doctors to operate at the centre—about half general practitioners and the remainder specialists in such fields as surgery, obstetrics, gynecology, radiology, internal medicine and eye, ear, nose and throat disorders.

Members of the union have the option of joining the centre plan or remaining under a medical insurance plan now in effect through a payroll checkoff with the Algoma Steel Corporation.

Under the new plan, all doctors' expenses are covered including eye examinations and glasses (but not fit spectacles). The existing plan covers doctors' bills only to a certain ceilings.

Workers joining the medical centre will pay a $135 admission fee, either in a lump sum or by payroll deduction. Beyond that, costs are covered by payroll deductions which are unchanged for the worker but going up for the company.

Negro and White Children Integrated in Classes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As school bells rang over the southern U.S. Tuesday, Negro and white children attended classes together in both parochial and public schools.

For some of the Negro children, it was the first time they had been in a school formerly reserved for white children.

The transition was quiet. A few pickets appeared as Roman Catholic schools were integrated at New Orleans, La.

Catholic schools also were desegregated in other communities in Louisiana and Texas.

Districts to integrate schools at Baton Rouge, La., Huntsville and Gadsden, Ala., and Albany, Ga.

3 STATES HOLD OUT

Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina remain the only southern states that have no racially integrated public schools. About 13 Negro children attended 16 parochial schools in New Orleans. Most of the white school pupils in New Orleans, about 9,000 are Negroes.

In Jefferson parish, more than 20 Negroes attended four white parochial schools without incident. Others were admitted to Florida State University and the University of Florida.

At Little Rock, Ark., which became a symbol of southern resistance in 1957, public school integration was stepped up.

Seventy-eight Negroes joined 9,460 white students in high school and junior high classes at Little Rock. That was an increase of 23 from last year. Twenty Negroes were at Central High, focal point in Little Rock, where mobs rioted in 1957.

HOOVER TUMOR A CANCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center announced Tuesday that an intestinal tumor removed from former President Herbert Hoover, 88, a week ago was cancerous. The statement said "no recurrence is anticipated." This was taken to mean that surgeons at the center had removed all the cancerous tissue during a three - hour operation Aug. 28.

Russia Boldly Challenges Monroe Doctrine in Cuba

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

With its growing strength and ability to stir up a crisis at a time and place of its own choice, Russia is boldly challenging the Monroe Doctrine from a position just 90 miles off United States shores.

A few decades ago any European power would have thought twice before ignoring the Monroe Doctrine. It was enunciated by President James Monroe in 1823, to keep political fingers off the independent Latin American countries.

Monroe declared: "We should consider any attempt on their (European) part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety."

Soviet Premier Khrushchev says that doctrine is dead. He has made a deal with Fidel Castro to send men and equipment — industrial as well as military — into Cuba to bolster that Communist state against unrest at home and the threat of invasion from abroad.

CUBA CAN'T PAY

Cuba is crawling at the edge of poverty and can't afford to pay for the big Soviet operation, which has required no less than 100 ships for transporting alone.

What guarantee will Khrushchev have that the huge Soviet investment in manpower and equipment in Cuba won't soon be bulldozed into the Caribbean through invasion or revolution?

The guarantee, in Soviet eyes, may lie in the powder keg of Berlin.

(President Kennedy has virtually acknowledged that the Monroe Doctrine has been breached — "that is why we oppose . . . what is happening in Cuba today.")

But he also says he is opposed to any direct invasion of Cuba. Though American concern is great, "the United States has obligations all around the world, including West Berlin and other areas which are very sensitive and therefore I think that in considering what appropriate action we should take, we have to consider the totality of our obligations."

BALANCED BY BERLIN

In effect, Kennedy fears that if he pulls the trigger on Cuba, Khrushchev may stir up such a cauldron of crisis in Berlin that the U.S. might soon find itself involved in a shooting war of world dimensions.

The great dilemma for Kennedy is how to challenge communism not only in Cuba but all through Latin America without directly challenging Soviet military power. He has been seeking collective Latin American action to isolate Cuba politically, the Cuban regime, but results have been slow and relatively unpromising.

The Republicans at home, sensing Kennedy's paralysis, are lunging in with cries that the Democrats are following a "naive" foreign policy.

Increasing political pressure at home, combined with the Russian and Red Chinese split abroad, might eventually force Kennedy into a distasteful decision at the moment the prospects of a shooting war in Berlin seem to keep Kennedy's finger from the trigger.

Police Face Hostile Public Says Judge

OSHAWA (CP) — Police and public authorities came under criticism Tuesday from Judge John S. Latchford of Wentworth County.

He told the 30th annual Ontario Police Association convention here:

The current practice of laying several charges under the Highway Act for the same incident may be a means of "extracting as much cash as possible from the name of justice."

Installation of parking meters by public authorities in search of more revenue under the disguise of traffic control had forced "certain distasteful tasks upon police."

Suggesting a complete revision of the Highways Traffic Act, Judge Latchford said the practice of laying several charges where on would suffice lowers policemen's prestige and "demeans our whole system."

"You are all made to appear not the executioners for the protection of the public but as persecutors for profit from the public," Judge Latchford said.

He said public authorities, seeking more revenue from the public, have grasped at the first and only available force—the police.

Police enforcing parking meter regulations were "gentlemen of low degree" in the eyes of 1984.

"You face a hostile public—young and old.

DIES FROM GLUE

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP)—A medical examiner Tuesday reported that Wayne McKown, 16, died Sunday from inhaling poisonous vapor from model airplane glue. Dr. Arthur Lasalle said the high school senior was found accidentally by brother ethylene poisoning, found in some glues.

Twin Brothers Must Serve Jail Terms

TORONTO (CP)—Twin brothers Ben and Harry Smith, whose trial on stock theft charges was the longest criminal jury trial on record in Ontario, learned Tuesday they must serve the sentences imposed on them in 1960.

The brothers, 46-year-old hotelmen, were taken into custody as soon as the Ontario Court of Appeal announced its decision. They had been free on bail of $50,000 each since sister court Judge Mr. Justice G. A. Gale sentenced them to two years less a day each followed by 2½ month hearing.

The brothers were convicted of stealing 360,000 shares of New Chamberlain Petroleum Limited stock, the property of Brilund Mines.

Mr. Justice J. L. McLennan, in his judgment Tuesday, said the brothers, who were in effective control and management of Brilund, acquired possession and control of the New Chamberlain shares without Brilund's consent or knowledge.

Mr. Justice McLennan said the brothers used company funds to purchase the shares, which they pledged with a bank for their personal use.

Perch Fishermen Call off Third Work Stoppage

ERIEAU, Ont. (CP) — Lake Erie perch fishermen called off their third work stoppage in three years Tuesday night and agreed to work on a day-by-day basis for as long as they could sell their catch.

Fishermen at Wheatley, Port Burwell, Kingsville, Erieau, Port Stanley and Port Maitland, all on the north shore of Lake Erie, voted to return to work only if their catch for the previous day has been sold.

They haven't dropped their nets since they went on strike Aug. 26 against buyers and processing companies to force an eight-cent-a-pound price for perch.

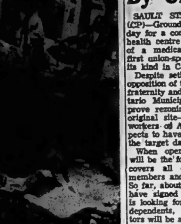
Early in the battle which began last month, fishermen imposed on themselves a catch limit of 1,500 pounds a day per boat.

Meanwhile, north shore fishermen are trying to arrange a second meeting with Ohio fishermen with the hope of standardizing prices in tons of perch fishermen on both shores of the lake.

They met with perch fishermen at Vermilion, Ohio last week in hopes of setting up a standard policy. Results of the meeting were not disclosed.

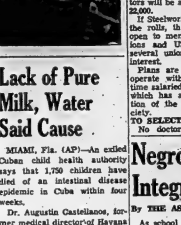
Saw Mother Shot Twice From Window

HAMILTON (CP) — A nine-year-old boy described in court Tuesday how he watched as his mother was shot twice outside the family's home in West Flamboro Township.



The boy, Richard (Ricky) Warner, said he was looking out a window Aug. 9 when he saw Gordon Henderson, 17, a neighbor, jump on the back of a pickup truck parked in the driveway and fire twice with a rifle.

He said his mother turned, ran into the house, and said: "Gord shot me."



Following Tuesday's hearing, Magistrate John Robinson committed Henderson for trial on a charge of capital murder

The youth, a Grade 9 student, was described as an introvert with no friends his own age. Witnesses said he was withdrawn with most people, but seemed at home with the Warners.

Bruce Warner, the victim's husband, said that on the night of the shooting his wife came to the bedroom door and said: "Gordie shot me, Gordie, shot me."

"Jest a Second"

Leea Wings 8-2

Leafs Win Five Straight

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ferguson Jenkins, 18-year-old right-hander from Chatham, Ont., who made his professional debut less than two months ago, notched his first International Baseball League victory Tuesday night as Buffalo Bisons beat Syracuse Chiefs 8-5.

Jenkins pitched effectively for seven innings, allowing six hits, but needed help in the eighth when the Chiefs rallied for three runs. Frank Barnes fi-lished up.

The six - foot - five youngster contributed two key hits, includ-ing a triple, to the Bison at-tack. He drove in the first Buf-falo run and scored one as the Bisons beat the Chiefs for the fifth time in 11 meetings.

Toronto Maple Leafs won their fifth straight game with an 8-2 triumph over Rochester Red Wings.

It cut the gap between the second - place Leafs and the league - leading Jacksonville Suns to 4½ games. The Suns, who need two wins to clinch and one victory to assure at least a tie for the pennant, split a doubleheader with Columbus Jets. The Suns won the opener 10-7 and the Jets took the sec-ond game 12-4. The Atlanta-at-Richmond game was rained out.

HOMERS AID LEAFS

Three home runs, by Neil Chrisley, Denis Means and Steve Demeter, propelled the Leafs to victory. The Wings lost their fifth straight battle and dropped half a game of their four-league edge over Colum-bus.

Jacksonville hammered eight home runs, four in each game, in the split with the fifth-place Jets. Columbus had seven round - trippers including two each by Willie Stargell and Larry Elliot. Art Ceccarelli, who won the opener for The Suns, served up five home-run balls.

Not Worst In History

Mets Near Loss Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Are New York Mets the worst baseball team in history?

There has been such talk. However, barring a com-plete collapse, a development that would be difficult to dis-tinguish with the naked eye, the Mets are not going to snap the major league record for futility.

They do have a good crack at the National League rec-ord, though. And they may pick up another record or two in reverse.

The major league mark was set by the 1916 Philadelphia Athletics of the American League, who won 36 games and lost 117 for a .235 winning percentage. The National League record is 36-115 for .348 set by the 1935 Boston Bees.

After Tuesday night's 5-1 loss to Pittsburgh Pirates, the Mets are playing level with the Boston effort. They are 35-108 for .246.

Both the 1916 Athletics and 1935 Bees played 153 games of a 154-game schedule with one game off, possibly for good behavior. The Mets are down for 162 games and have 31 left. If they lose 18, they will finish with a .247 percent-age and a National League mark.

The major league record seems beyond them.

UNKIND TO REFEREES

TORONTO (CP)—Zolly Czim-balmos, former star player with Toronto Hungaria of the Na-tional Soccer League, was fined $100 Tuesday night by the league discipline committee. He was found guilty of ungentle-manly conduct towards refe-rees.

Toeless Kicker Out of Job

NEW YORK (AP)—At 43, Ben Agajanian may have stuck his kicking foot in brine for the last time.

The veteran kicking specialist, whose kicking foot is toeless and toughened by soaking in brine, was among the players cut Tuesday as the National and American Football Leagues reached their mandatory player limits.

The amazing ancient was trimmed by the NFL champion Green Bay Packers, who acquired the oldest active pro football player from San Diego of the AFL last year.

Agajanian has had a varied career. It "ended" in 1941 when the onetime New Mexico University star lost all but the little toe on his right foot in a freight elevator accident. Agajanian, however, never gave up.

A cobbler made him a special shoe to minimize the pain and he began to soak his foot in brine to toughen it. Several retirements and hundreds of successful conversions later, Agajanian was still able to smile about the accident that almost finished his career.

Asked by a football player's father how to make a place-kicker out of his son, Agajanian answered: "Cut off his toes."

Now he's out of a job again, along with seven-year veteran L. G. Dupre, quarterback Lee Grosscup and Ray Norton and Ted Woods, in the NFL cutdown.

Sugar Ray Has Hopes

LONDON (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson came back to Britain after 11 years Tuesday and predicted he will be world middleweight champion once more.

The 43-year-old ex-champ is scheduled to meet Britain's Terry Downes, former holder of a share of the world title, at London's Wembley Indoor Stadium Sept. 25.

Robinson told newsmen:

"I want to go out on top, and I feel that I can win the championship back again. . . don't think I am too old."

The last time Robinson bored in London was in July 1951 when he lost the title to Britain's Randy Turpin.

Hands Out Fines, Reprimands

Grid Boss Clamps Down

WINNIPEG (CP)—G. Sydney Halter of Winnipeg, Canadian Football League commissioner, handed out several fines and reprimands Tuesday.

Among them were a $100 fine to Montreal Alouettes coach Perry Moss, a $60 fine to Calgary Stampeders general-manager Jim Finks, $25 fines to Len Chandler, Millard Fleming and Bobby Simpson of Ottawa, Al Rogers and George Allwestaiss of Hamilton and Don Vicic of British Columbia Lions.

He also issued a reprimand to Dan Pickett, Alouettes director of development.

He said Moss' fine was for "public criticism of officials and unwarranted allegations of deliberate attempts to injure by Ottawa players following a game, Ottawa at Montreal, Aug. 16."

Pickett was reprimanded for criticism of officials after the same game.

Chandler, Fleming, Rogers and Allwestaiss were fined for "unduly exciting the crowd by penalties"—fighting— in an Ottawa at Hamilton game Aug. 9.

Top Drivers Sign for Grand Prix

TORONTO (CP) — Four top international drivers have been signed for the Canadian sports car Grand Prix at Mosport Park, 60 miles east of here.

The sponsoring British Empire Motor Club (Toronto) announced Tuesday that in addition to New Zealander Bruce McLaren, the 250-mile race Sept. 23 will be contested by Sweden's Joakim Bonnier, Mexican Pedro Rodriguez and Americans Dan Gurney and Roger Penske.

Bonnier, driving an outclassed car in two previous Canadian appearances, will be a favorite this time in Porsche's new sports model powered by the flat eight-cylinder engine that carried Gurney to victory in the French Grand Prix in July.

Gurney will drive a Lotus 19, identical to the car that won the Grand Prix last year for the late Peter Ryan of Mont Tremblant, Que.

McLaren, whose entry was announced earlier, will drive a new Cooper-Monaco with 2.7-litre engine.

Most Off-Set Conversation Revolves Around Business

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Things are not always what they appear to be in this land that specializes in make believe.

For instance, you stroll into a studio commissary at the luncheon hour and find the entire cast of a show huddled at a table listening intently to one of their number.

You walk closer, hoping to eavesdrop on a monologue on some more delicate points in bringing a character to life. But no, what the man is saying goes something like this:

"My business manager has figured out the sweetest little capital gains deal you can imagine—Pasadena office buildings. By putting every single cent of mine he can find in them, I figure that if I can stay in this 50-per-cent bracket for more years, I can relax and go fishing. . ."

At another table there are two of your favorite western stars, in full regalia, ignoring their cottage cheese - and - pineapple salads in favor of listening to a small man in a business suit. JUST ON STAGE

"Motels—say, 65 units to start —on this San Fernando Valley road," the little man is saying. "You can pick up the acreage cheap, you just farmland now but with the freeway coming it's gotta shoot up in value, and these motels units are fine for tax depreciation. If you can get in now—we've got an option on the land—I bet you and Jane can just relax and go fishing. . ."

In fact, most of the off-set conversation revolves around money—and mostly its care and multiplication. The lunch break is less for eating than for talks with business managers, real estate salesmen and money lenders often decreed upon the performers.

Most of the actors know that the professional life of a top-income star is brief.

Hopes To Organize Terriers

GALT (CP)—An attempt will be made later this week to get the Galt Terriers organized and into the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A loop.

Dr. Kenneth Berkeley, president of the club which finished second at the world championships last March, said he hopes to obtain financial aid from Galt businessmen and get some of the top players back.

Galt was counted out at a meeting, last week which reorganized the league because of financial aid.

Goes To Kansas?

Angels Sell Bubbling 'Bo'

NEW YORK (AP)—Los Angeles Angels of the American League sold southpaw Bo Belinsky to Kansas City Athletics for delivery after the 1962 season. The Associated Press learned from an authoritative source Monday.

His ticket to the Athletics is part of a deal in which the Angels acquire righthanded pitcher Dan Osinski from the Kansas City farm team in Portland, Ore.

Officials of the Angels, in New York for a series with the New York Yankees, declined to confirm or deny that Belinsky, who pitched the first no-hitter in the American League in four seasons, when he beat Baltimore Orioles 2-0 May 5, has been sold.

The source said the Angels first put Belinsky on waivers in order to deliver him to Kansas City in exchange for Osinski.

Washington Senators put in a claim for Belinsky and halted the trade. The Angels then paid $35,000 for Osinski, with the promise they would deliver Bo to Kansas City as soon as the season ended.

WORKS IN RELIEF

Osinski joined the Angels July 24. Working exclusively in relief, he has compiled a 5-3 won-lost record and has saved four games.

Belinsky, a cocky, semi-reformed pool shark, was catapulted to the hearts of Hollywood after his no-hitter. Then he lost his effectiveness. From a 7-2 record, he fell off to 8-9 and has won only one game since mid-June.

Belinsky was the loser in the first game of a doubleheader last Monday against the Yankees.

Bo was drafted by Los Angeles from Little Rock, Ark., last winter. He reported late for spring training and demanded a salary increase before he threw a ball. After the no-hitter, he blossomed out with a pink limousine and a newspaper columnist at his heels.

The club fined him $250 for violating curfew in an incident in which a woman claimed she had been manhandled in Belinsky's automobile, in the predawn hours. The woman has filed suit for $150,000 damages.

Cleroux Meets Unknown

GRANBY, Que. (CP) — Bull-shouldered Robert Cleroux of Montreal, blacklisted by the World Boxing Association, has signed for a Sept. 20 fight in this Eastern Townships community where there is no recognized athletic commission.

The 33 - year - old Canadian champion is to meet Jim Cherokee of Wilmington, N.C., in a 10-round non-title bout heading an otherwise all-amateur card.

Cherokee, an Indian-Negro, is an unknown.

Cleroux was placed under indefinite suspension by the WBA after skipping out on a return bout agreement with Toronto's George Chuvalo whom he stripped of the Canadian title.

Harold Lloyd One of Greatest Screen Comics

Harold Clayton Lloyd, one of the great screen comics of all time was born in Burchard, Nebraska, the second son of Jacob Harold Lloyd and Sarah Elizabeth Fraser. His forebears were English, Scotch and Welsh extraction and young Harold appears definitely to have inherited their qualities of native astuteness, sturdiness and simplicity.

Lloyd's parents were non-professionals; but in her youth his mother was forced to give up a theatrical career by the religious scruples of her folks.

Millions of words have been written about the career of Harold Lloyd who during the golden years of comedy rated among the top four masters of the comic art — Charles Chaplin, Harold Lloyd, Harry Langdon and Buster Keaton.

Lloyd's theatrical career began at the age of twelve when he played Little Abe in Tess of the D'Urbevilles with a stock company in Omaha, Nebraska. Six years later he started in modeling pictures as an extra with a company in San Diego, California. It was only a commonplace start in a commonplace way but from that humble start Lloyd won fame the world over as the symbol of American comedy at its best — the boy with the horned rimmed glasses and straw hat.

The comic's screen character is not unlike himself off the screen; straight, forward, friendly, a little shy but determined. His films have played in the finest palaces and have entertained workers and royalty. His list of features (the early ones were made for Hal Roach) reads like a Who's Who of screen success. The group includes "Grandma's Boy," "Safety Last," "The Freshman," "Hot Water," "Movie Crazy" "The Milky Way," "Professor Beware" and fifty comedies, each of which will be found on the all-time motion picture Hit Parade. In all, including his first one-reelers with Gaylord Lonesome Lake, a character with two dots for a moustache, tight pants and a hat on the top of his head, Lloyd as appeared in more than two hundred and fifty comedies. Few if any motion picture stars can approach that record.

In 1923 Lloyd married the girl who had come to Hollywood from Tacoma, Washington, to be his leading lady in pictures like —Mildred Davis. They are still married and have been blessed with two children, Gloria, Marjorie Elizabeth (called Peggy) and Harold Jr.

This then is the story of the old Clayton Lloyd. But it would not be complete without the addition of an intimate sidelight of thirty years, with which all who know Lloyd concur:

"Of no man in the Harold Lloyd ever said an unkind word nor has he ever committed an unkind act. He is sincere and understanding and his creed is as plain and as simple as his tastes. He has no time for either prejudice or intolerance and has only one hatred — the hatred of bigotry. It all adds up to Doctor Lloyd . . ."

Liston 'Mad' at Patterson

AURORA, Ill. (AP)—Challenger Sonny Liston said Tuesday he'll whip champion Floyd Patterson "will be the first fighter I have ever met that I actually have been mad at."

Liston, relaxing after a rugged 90-hour workout in which he boxed four rounds with a pair of sparring partners, told reporters his feeling of dislike he holds against Patterson.

"Never before have I had such a personal feeling for any fighter I have ever met," Liston said in all seriousness, "it is because of the small 10½ per cent of the proceeds from this fight that I was forced to take. All of the other fighters that Patterson has taken on have gotten 20 per cent.

"I feel that this is entirely Patterson's fault and that he honestly thought it would turn into a fight with him if offered only 10½ per cent. My feeling about him is centered around the pit."

Patterson, who gets 45 per cent of everything, will put his crown on the line against Liston Sept. 25 at Comiskey Park. Promoters say the match is good live gate and with the closed circuit television network that the fight should be in the $5,000,000 bracket.

The three have been the principal victims of harsh prison discipline inflicted by the warden, portrayed by Andrew Duggan. And new action packed hit, filmed in Technicolor, is "Samar" featuring George Montgomery, Gilbert Roland and Ziva Rodann.

Champion Mail-Puller At MGM Is Doc Kildare

By BOB THOMAS

It isn't Clark Gable, Frank Sinatra, Van Johnson or Peter Lawford.

It's young Doc Kildare—Richard Chamberlain.

In just one brief season on television, this earnest-looking actor has amassed a greater volume of mail than did the movie idols after years of stardom. It amounts to a staggering 12,000 letters and cards a month, according to the studio, which claims that no other personality in Hollywood gets more.

That's just one of the changes that have happened to Dick Chamberlain in the last year, and it was just a year ago that I talked to him for the first time. "Dr. Kildare" had not gone on the air yet, and Dick still was walking around freely, like a normal human being.

Not now. Last week he took a rare vacation to Las Vegas. Mob scene. Dick had to abandon sitting beside the hotel pool, so great was the furore.

The only thing that got to me was when someone would sneak around behind me and wave while a friend quickly shot a picture," he said. "That was a little too much."

Otherwise Dick appears to be bearing up well under the immense change in his station. He is young, 27, and can withstand the grind of a weekly hour film.

When I asked him what he does for relaxation, he said: "I just rest between scenes."

Just about the only other activity he can manage is recording. His single, Theme from Dr. Kildare, is selling nicely, and he's bringing out a new album.

Unlike many another television star, he has no great urge to make a feature film.

"I really don't know what I'll be doing, and I don't have much to say about it. I have to do whatever the studio says."

LOCAL FM RADIO BROADCASTING

Last week, CJBQ's FM Transmitter went on the air for the first time. The transmitter is operating with a rated ouput of 3,400 watts at 97.1 megacycles. If the Federal Department of Transport and the Board of Broadcast Governors, approve, the rated output will be increased to 17,100 watts in the Spring.

Initially, CJBQ-FM is broadcasting the same programs as CJBQ-AM. However, plans are now being prepared to install additional studio equipment, and during the next few months some experimental FM programs will be broadcast.

Co-incident with the proposed power increase in the Spring, CJBQ plans to broadcast a regular schedule of separate FM programs. In the meantime, it is sincerely hoped that listeners will enjoy the many hours of fine music being broadcast from both transmitters. Of particular interest to FM listeners will be these programs:

"Supper Music" scheduled daily from 5.15 to 7.00 p.m.; "Evening Rhapsody" each evening from 7.30 to 9.30; and the "World of Music" with Eugene Lang, heard Sundays from 7.30 to 9.30 p.m.

Comments and suggestions from listeners are always welcome. CJBQ's postal address is Post Office Box 488, Belleville.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

Whatever slap may be said about the Kenmore, their severest critic must admit their timing is batting 1,000 per cent.

A couple or three weeks ago against allegedly weaker teams they could not, it seemed hit the broad side of a barn with a ball fiddle.

There appeared to be holes in their bats one could drive a truck through. A home run was something they read in the printed word that was happening to a couple of guys named Mantle and Mays.

The strange part of it is since they started to play baseball as a toddling unit they have demonstrated they were a club of more than the usual clouting ability. The potential was there tucked away all nice and neatly in their war clubs.

Occasionally some of it trickled out. Sometimes it emerged in clusters. For instance during the Kingston series Master Foster almost shut them out on one occasion. On two others they nearly blasted him into the Ottawa valley.

Consistent consistency with the hickory has not been one of the Kenmors outstanding characteristics this season. That is, not until the past few days.

Sunday up around Dundas way they suddenly found themselves, their batting eyes and enemy pitching.

I am told that some of the Dundas faithful thought Manager Ken Soden had hired a Yankee farm team, slipped them into Kenmor uniforms and yelled "Sic 'em".

They pulled out all the stops. They plugged the holes in their bludgeons and sprayed the landscape with everything from home runs to bunts. Eighteen solid clouts went down in Master Alexander's tote-book.

And their batting optics did not close with this rather awesome display of plate power. Monday night they picked up the hitting threads where they dropped them.

For two innings the Halton county champions kept the Kenmore feet on the ground despite the fact the homesters tacked them for two harmless clouts in the opening frame. The pasting began to show the carmarks of a close championship contest.

Then it happened. Coach Sid Forster must have signalled them to get their feet off the brakes and on to the hit-and-run accelerator.

Moe Hunter stepped to the plate and his slashing double ignited the fuse. The Kenmor bats were back on the beam. Four singles in a row followed and five K's crossed the plate.

The Merchants whittled the lead to 5-3 going into the eighth and again the Kenmor bats exploded. Two doubles and two singles were good for four runs and the ball game. Larry Mavety's fourth hit of the game went down into the records as Clent Number 37 for the eastern champions in two games.

I do not think the Dundas Merchants are that bad. Perhaps the Kenmors sudden 13-0 onslaught on Sunday threw them off stride and, they're having trouble getting back. Their fielding hasn't been any too good, thus far.

Tonight may tell the tale. The teams clash at the Fair Grounds starting 8.15 in the third game of the OBA championship best-of-seven series.

TRAIL'S END

A fine softball club came to the end of the seasonal trail here last night. Joyce Real Estators who bowed to Oshawa in the third game of their playdown series wer eworthy representatives of this city in the popular summer sport.

The kudos go to Gerry Joyce, Harry Morgan, Bill Shaw and Jack Elliott, Sr., for a softball job exceptionally well done. They and the club gave the lie to earlier rumors that the calibre of softball here had deteriorated.

They won their league championship flag and went on to defeat a powerful Kingston club in the OASA playdowns. They proved as good as any club of their classification in the district even if the fortunes of playdowns war did not swing their way. Softball and the city are proud of them.

Roseboro Steals Home With Winner

Dodgers Nip Giants 5-4

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Los Angeles Dodgers, big, bad bandits on the baseball, have stretched their National League lead to 5½ games on a sudden burst of speed by the unlikeliest desperado of them all—catcher John Roseboro.

The 5-foot-11, 195-pound Dodger receiver came barreling home in the fifth inning of Tuesday night's key battle with the second-place San Francisco Giants, sliding in safely with the run that turned out to be the clincher in a 5-4 squeaker.

The Dodger triumph, besides boosting their edge over the Giants, equalled the key four-game series between the leaders at one game each and gave the Dodgers a substantial edge with 32 games remaining before the NL race is to be blue ribbon.

It looked like an easy one for the Dodgers, who struck for three quick runs off Bill Pierce in the first inning on run-producing hits by Tommy Davis, Frank Howard and Ron Fairly. The Giants got one back against Pete Richert in the fifth on Tom Haller's homer.

Then Roseboro lashed a triple, scoring Lee Walls, and stole home for the second time within a week.

GIANTS STOPPED

Ron Perranoski came on for the Dodgers to protect the lead, but ran into trouble in the ninth when a single by Harvey Kuenn and a homer by Jose Pagan brought the Giants within one run. But he bore down, striking out sluggers Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda to end it.

The third - place Cincinnati Reds remained 6½ games back, using Marty Keough's homer for a 9-6 victory over Milwaukee Braves. St. Louis Cardinals belted Chicago Cubs 7-1 on homery by Stan Musial and Gene Oliver while Harvey Haddix pitched and batted Pittsburgh Pirates to a 5-1 decision over New York Mets.

At Houston, the Colts snapped their 17-game losing streak to Philadelphia, beating the Phils 4-3 behind Bob Bruce's four-hitter without Ike Eisenhower's jinx-breaking production which they tried Labor Day.

Vada Pinson drove in four runs with his 21st homer and a single, but it took Keough's pinch-hit bases-empty homer in the eighth off Claude Raymond of St. Jean, Que., to snap a 6-6 tie and put it away for the Reds. The Braves clipped out 14 hits, including homers No. 34 and 35 by Ed Mathews.

HUBBS NEAR RECORD

Musial connected for his 16th homer after Cubs' starter Carl Koonce walked two men in the third. That gave the Cards a 2-0 lead before relinquished as Larry Jackson allowed only five singles, striking out seven while walking none. Cubs second-baseman Ken Hubbs drew within one of Bobby Richardson's record of 414 consecutive chances without an error.

Haddix pitched the Mets only eight hits while collecting three himself, a rare thing two doubles and a single and scoring the run that proved to be the clincher on Bill Virdon's fifth-inning single.

Bruce kept the Colts from becoming the first team in major league history to lose an entire season's series to another club in the last meeting between the two teams. Bruce also drove in two runs with a double and single, sharing honors with Bob Lillis, who knocked in a pair with a triple. The only run off Bruce came on Don Demeter's 25th homer.

Chicago's Early Wynn

Finds 300 Hard To Get

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP) — Early Wynn of Chicago White Sox has run into bad luck in his bid to reach the lofty pitching plateau of 300 baseball victories.

But he is reasonably sure of two things—he'll achieve his goal this season and he might well be the last man to score that many major league triumphs.

Wynn, 45, has been struggling all this season in the American League although he is pitching some of the finest ball of his career.

Wynn lost a couple of close decisions while going for No. 296, including a 1-0 no-hitter to Bill Monbouquette and Boston Red Sox. After getting his 298th, he has lost four games. His record now is 9-8.

Despite his age and the possibility that he will reach 300 triumphs this season, Wynn has no intention of quitting baseball.

"Sure I'm after 300 but that's only my immediate goal," the burly righthander said in an interview. "I intend to keep pitching as long as the arm holds up and it feels great right now."

MAY BE LAST

Once Wynn reaches 300, he'll be the 14th pitcher to do so. Why should he be the last?

"A lot of reasons," says Wynn. "The livelier ball is the big reason. You can't afford many mistakes nowadays. one mistake and the ball goes out of the park."

"Then, too, a manager can't gamble too much with his starting pitcher and doesn't waste any time in bringing in a relief pitcher. That also cuts down on your chances of piling up a lot of wins."

Koufax Out for Season

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Southpaw Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles Dodgers, who was having his best season when a hand nerve forced him to the sidelines July 27, will do no more pitching in the National League this year.

Dodger manager Walt Alston Tuesday called up righthander Jack Smith, 26, of Omaha, the American Association's top relief pitcher. Smith had a 17-7 record at Omaha.

Koufax was leading the league with an earned run average of 2.15 and had fanned 306 batters. He had also pitched one of which was a no-hitter.

RIDERS SIGN TACKLE

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders of the Eastern Football Conference announced Tuesday night they signed ex-former Calgary offensive tackle and defensive end Harold Beaty, 26, 240-pound six-footer from Lawton, Okla., had been put on waivers by the Calgary club. The Riders also announced the placing on waivers of import Tom Rogers, 22.

Angels Cut Yankee Lead; Mick Hurt

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

"The game's not over until the final out" might be a trite old battle cry—but for the amazing Los Angeles Angels it's a way of life.

Following the script they've used so often this season, the Angels humbled New York Yankees 7-6 Tuesday by pouring across six runs in the seventh inning and producing the winner in the ninth. It was the 16th time this year they've scored the clincher in their last turn at bat, and the third time they've come from behind in the final three innings.

It was a day of multiple shocks for the Yankees, whose American League lead over the rain-idled Minnesota Twins was cut to 2½ games and over the third-place Angels to 3½.

Even before game time, the Bombers received a disheartening setback when the muscular but fragile slugger Mickey Mantle was disabled in batting practice mishap. Mantle tore the lining loose from his rib cage lashing a hard ball—missed the game completely, and is expected to be sidelined for several days.

SMITH GETS CLUTCH HIT

In chilly Al action, Chicago White Sox edged Cleveland 3-2 on Al Smith's pinch single in the 13th inning and Kansas City whipped Boston 7-2. In addition to the Twins-Senators postponement at Washington, Detroit Tigers and Orioles were rained out at Baltimore.

Turned back with just three hits off southpaw Rex Whitey Ford through six innings and trailing 4-0, the Angels cut loose with one out in the seventh. Jose Thomas smacked a two - run homer, Billy Moran singled in a run, two more scored when Tony Kubek let a potential double play ball skip through his legs, and the sixth run came in on a ground out.

Clete Boyer pulled the Yanks even in the eighth when he homered with one on. But the scrambling, g a m bling Angels counter-rallied in the ninth. Joe Koppe opened with a single off Bud Daley, who struck out the next two men but then yielded a walk to Leo Burke and a decciding single to Bob Rodgers.

NAVARRO WINS

The winning pitcher was Julio Navarro, just up from the Pacific Coast League and in his second big league game. Navarro held the Yanks after relieving Jack Spring in the eighth.

Tuesday's victory, coupled with a similar cliff-hanging win in the second game of the Labor Day doubleheader, gave the Angels a 3-1 edge in the big series which concludes today.

Smith delivered his game-winning pinch hit for the White Sox with two out in the 13th after Sammy Esposito was walked intentionally, filling the bases. Frank Baumann won it with six scoreless innings of relief.

Pinch batters delivered handsomely for Chicago. Mike Hershberger singled in the tying run in the seventh hitting for starter John Buzhardt, and Smith cashed in the winner batting for Baumann.

The Athletics battered the Red Sox with two big innings. They counted four runs off loser Bill Monbouquette in the sixth, with a double by Ed Charles and George Alusik's homer the key blow, and pushed across three more against Chet Nichols in the ninth.

Battered and Bruised

CFL Faces Tough Grind

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Battered, bruised and with some of the brightest stars on the shelf, teams of the Canadian Football League groan into the thick of the football fight during the next 10 days.

Between now and mid-September, teams of the Eastern and Western Conferences meet in six interlocking games, four of them, to be played in the East.

Hardest-hit with injuries in the Western Conference this week were the already injury-riddled Edmonton Eskimos. Out for at least four weeks, perhaps longer, is all-star quarterback Jackie Parker, shelved with a broken collar-bone. He suffered the injury Monday against Calgary Stampeders.

At the time of the injury, Parker was filling in at halfback for Bobby Walden, back only briefly after missing a couple of games with a pulled hamstring muscle.

INJURED SECOND TIME

Walden, in his only play of the game, made a 58-yard return of the opening kickoff, then was sidelined again by the muscle injury. It was not known how long he would be out this time.

Other Edmonton first - stringers out of action are defensive end Ed Gray and another Labor Day injury, linebacker Ted Tully.

In Winnipeg, Frank Rigney, Canadian lineman of the Year in 1961, will be out for a week to 10 days with a strained inner ligament. He was injured in the Blue Bombers' game against Saskatchewan Roughriders Monday, which the Bombers won 30-7 to bounce into undisputed possession of top spot in the Western Conference.

In the East, Hamilton Tiger-Cats are faced with the loss of quarterback Bernie Faloney for as many as three games. He cracked a bone at the base of his right thumb against Montreal Monday and reinjured stingy knee.

HAS FAITH

In Vancouver, where British Columbia Lions are preparing for action against Montreal Alouettes and Toronto Argonauts, linebacker Tom Brown was in the football category for the trip. He was shed with tonsilitis and a fever of 104 degrees at the weekend.

The brightest news in Calgary's camp was the return to health and sharp passing form of quarterback Eagle Day, who led the Stampeders in their rout of the Eskimos.

Ottawa Rough Riders reported that offensive guard Marv Bevan suffered stretched knee ligaments against Toronto Saturday and is not expected to be in the lineup when the Riders meet Winnipeg in Ottawa Friday.

Winnipeg's road trip puts the Bombers against Ottawa Friday and Hamilton Monday. Edmonton meets Calgary at home Saturday and plays host to Hamilton the following Friday. Calgary meets Montreal at Calgary Sept. 15.

Drop 5-2 Overtime Thriller

Joyces Lose To Oshawa

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Oshawa Heffering's struck for three runs in the top of the eleventh inning here last night to defeat Joyce Real Estate 5-2 in the third and decicding game of their OASA Senior "B" playdown series.

The Heffering's took the set two games to one and now meet Midland in the next series.

Right-Maracle handcuffed the visitors on two hits over the first six frames and his mates gave him a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the sixth. Oshawa tied it in the seventh and it stayed 2-2 until the 11th when the winners found their batting eyes.

Three consecutive hits and an error accounted for the decicding runs. Jordan lined a single to right and Fielding was sent in to run for him. Knight, also on the winning blow when he lined a screaming triple to centre field, stapling the tie Hickey made it 4-2 with a double and a throwing error on Carnwith's ground ball ended the scoring.

Joyces' runs in the sixth came when Lynn doubled and after one was out for his third straight hit, Kingston beat out a bunt single and on the play Hickey flipped the ball over the first baseman's head, allowing Faulkner to go all the way around for the first run of the game. A two-out throwing error on Elliott's ground ball added in the second run.

Oshawa lost no time in tying the score. Hickey led off the seventh with a double and scored on Batherson's single. Batherson kept running, got trapped in a run-down between second and third then raced home to tie it when the ball got away from Plane for an error. Carnwith followed with a double but the next three men went down in order.

Joyces missed a good chance when they loaded the bases in the first inning on two hits and a walk but could not score. They had at least one runner in every inning except the fourth and fifth, leaving 11 runners on base. Oshawa stranded seven.

Lefty Reg Hickey pitched the win while Pat Maracle suffered the loss. Each pitcher gave up eight hits. Hickey rapped 12 on strikes and walked three while Maracle struck out nine and passed a pair.

Palmer Knight, with a triple and single, and Reg Hickey, with two doubles, sparked the Oshawa quintet. Lynn Jones with doubled, Marty Jordan, Larry Batherson and Ray Buzminski adding singles.

Bert Faulkner sparked Joyces with a brace of doubles and a single. Chuck Kingston collected two singles with one each for Ted Batchelor, Dave Jones and Pat Maracle.

Living Costs Hit New Peak On August 1st

Consumer Price Index Up 4 Tenths of Point

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian living costs, rising in July for the third straight month under the pressure of higher food prices, hit a new peak Aug. 1.

The consumer price index climbed to 131.4 on Aug. 1 from 131.0 a month earlier, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The advance of four-tenths of a point in the cost-of-living yardstick, which is based on 1949 prices equalling 100, caps a three-month rise of 1-3-10 points from the May 1 level of 130.1.

In a year the index has risen 2 3-10 points — 1.8 per cent— from its mark of 129.1 on Aug. 1, 1961.

The DBS report did not specify the economic factors behind the recent increase, but the three-month climb coincides with the May 3 devaluing of the Canadian dollar to 92½ U.S. cents. This has increased the Canadian dollar price of imports and also the price of a number of Canadian goods — especially foods like beef and pork — where prices are governed by international markets.

FOOD PRICES RISE

Higher food prices were the chief moving cause of the recent increases.

The index of food costs— which makes up 27 per cent of the total index—jumped to a record 128.4 on Aug. 1 from 127.0 a month earlier. It now is nearly seven points higher than the May 1 level of 124.5.

During July there was a sharp seasonal rise in egg prices and "substantial" price boosts for beef and pork. Price cuts for some items in July lopped the previous peaks set in the 1951-52 period. Also costlier were lamb, chicken, turkey, canned fruits, grapefruit, sugar and flour. There were seasonal price declines for most fresh fruits and vegetables.

Industrial wages have been rising too. The index of average industrial weekly salaries at July 1—latest data available—was 108.5 compared with 108.1 a month earlier.

Apart from the boost in food prices during July, there were no significant changes in the basked of goods and services included in the consumer price index.

Report Offers Red-Tape Cutting Plan To Save Govt. Tens Of Millions

Calls for Complete Revision Of Authority Over Spending

OTTAWA (CP) — Steps to streamline the federal government service by developing away costly and frustrating red tape are proposed in the massive first report of the Glassco royal commission on government organization.

It predicts annual savings of "many tens of millions of dollars" if the plan is carried out.

The report calls for a complete revision of the authority over budget spending and personnel to give department heads more direct responsibility in day-to-day operations, freeing them from many of the chores now vested in the federal cabinet's treasury board and the civil service commission.

It urges adoption of modern business techniques to cope with the paperwork—files, records, reports and mail—which is strangling federal offices. The government "is being slowly overwhelmed by the sheer volume of its own records."

ENVISAGES SAVINGS

In this general part of the commission envisages a saving of at least $50,000,000 a year.

The 2,000-page report, released today by Prime Minister Diefenbaker, is bluntly critical of many aspects of federal operations but stresses that no one department or government is to blame.

Rather, it pictures the federal machine as a complex giant which has grown "willy-nilly" on a set of rules and practices 40 years ago but unsuited to today's enormous operations. It is the nation's greatest single employer, biggest land - owner, chief tenant and heaviest consumer.

The report, almost two years in the making, is the first offered by the three-man commission headed by J. Grant Glassco, 57 - year - old Toronto chartered accountant and business executive. Four other commission members are Watson Sellar, 68, of Ottawa, retired auditor-general of Canada, and Eugene Therrien, 56, Montreal insurance company executive and lawyer.

EXTENSIVE INQUIRY

It took 18 full-time—176 of them from outside government —and nearly $3,000,000 in federal funds to handle research for the commission's study, described in the report as "by far the most extensive inquiry into the machinery of government ever undertaken by any of the Western rights."

The Ignited nations.

The Glassco notes accused the three Western powers of provocative action in Berlin and blamed them for a whole series of incidents arising around the wall in recent months. U.S. authorities said it is hazardous at the moment to confirm or predict exactly what the next Soviet move may be beyond saying that the situation appears likely to grow more critical in coming weeks.

FIND BODIES

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Air searchers Wednesday found the wreckage of a small private plane and the bodies of its four occupants—passengers and their Nicaraguan pilot. The plane disappeared Wednesday in the Atlantic coast mountains of this Central American nation.

RUSSIA'S NOTES ON BERLIN CRISIS MOST BITTER

May Fore-Shadow New Red Moves

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials believe that Russia's latest notes to the Western powers on the Berlin issue are unusually bitter and may foreshadow new Soviet moves in the troubled city.

The identical notes were received in Washington, London and Paris late Wednesday. They were a reply to earlier United States, British and French proposals calling for four - power talks to take place in Bonn on measures that might be taken to reduce tension over the Communist wall dividing the city.

The notes indicated that the Russians are unwilling to consider such measures at this time and some authorities believe Premier Khrushchev is about ready to sign a separate treaty with East Germany.

Khrushchev long has threatened such a step. He claims it would give the East German regime, which the Western powers do not recognize, authority over the supply routes between West Berlin and West Germany.

WANTS TO SIGN

Russia told the Western powers Wednesday that what now is needed for making the situation in West Berlin is not consultation, but the signing of a German treaty that would "end the occupation regime in West Berlin."

The hope among Western leaders is that if and when Khrushchev does sign a treaty with East Germany he will provide for free transit rights on supply routes and that he will avoid a showdown with the Western powers over their use of the supply lines to Berlin. The position of the Western powers is that they will not recognize East German authority as a substitute for Soviet responsibilities with regard to

Sun's Gravity Captures Craft Bound for Venus

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The sun's gravitational pull has captured the Venus-bound spacecraft Mariner II.

But there's no cause for alarm — scientists planned it that way.

At a point 1,000,000 miles out in space solar gravity became strong enough to overcome the earth's weakening pull on the 447-pound spacecraft.

For the rest of its uncalculated lifetime, Mariner II will be a tiny satellite of the sun. Scientific interest in it will cease next Dec. 14 when the 12-foot-tall vehicle streaks past Venus at a distance of 9,000 miles.

Its scientific instruments, designed to help determine whether life could exist on the cloudy planet, will be turned off after the 21-past and Mariner II will become another hunk of space junk orbiting the sun.

TRAVEL AT HIGH SPEED

Although travelling away from earth at about 6,000 miles an hour, the spacecraft is whizzing along an orbit around the sun at 66,000 miles an hour.

In a sense, Mariner III now is "falling" toward the sun but it will not plunge into the sun. Its speed will keep it moving in a giant egg - shaped orbit around the sun for years.

Hunger Strike Results in 150 Arrests

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A clandestine shortwave radio said Wednesday night that hundreds of prisoners in Castro's government prying into private citizens' affairs is terrified revealed in Cuba's Las Villas province.

The broadcast, from an unidentified station, said a hunger strike in Cabaiguan, Las Villas province, resulted in the arrests of 150 persons.

Routine Practice Carried Out in Havana

HAVANA (AP) — Anti-aircraft defences opened fire in Havana Wednesday. The evening newspapers said the shooting was "routine practice carried out at points near this capital."

Artillery practice had been announced Monday night. Also province during the day but there had been no previous announcement of practise in this area.

TAX STRUCTURE TO BE STUDIED SAYS ROBARTS

Makes Statement In Iroquois Falls

IROQUOIS FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Premier Robarts announced Wednesday night that the Ontario government will institute a study of provincial and municipal tax structures.

Mr. Robarts made the announcement following a civic dinner ending the second day of an 11-day provincial tour of northeastern Ontario by members of the provincial legislature.

The premier told the touring members and town officials that such a study should be aimed at ending discrimination and unfairness so that a modern tax structure will offer encouragement for both the individual and business to play a greater private role in development.

He said the planned announcement of the appointment of a commission will limit its studies to the field of federal taxation.

"There is a pressing need for such an examination at the provincial and municipal levels in order to carry out any improvement and changes and in order that we can have a full and complete picture of the tax structure of our own province. Such studies will be instituted in this province in due course."

QUOTES FIGURES

The premier quoted figures from a recent study by an independent organization based on 1957 statistics which said the average Canadian paid 18.3 cents of every dollar earned to the federal government, another 3.9 cents went to municipalities and the lowest amount — 3.6 cents — went to the provinces.

"One of the anomolies that the system has," said Mr. Robarts, "is that the percentage of income paid to municipalities drops as the income goes up." Persons earning less than $1,000 paid 11 per cent into municipal treasuries while persons earning between $5,000 and $7,000 paid 9.7 per cent.

The premier said that while Ontario has maintained a high level of general prosperity," we cannot regard it as a God-given grant."

"I feel that recent economic setbacks that have visited other country and a number of other countries throughout the world as well will be taken as a warning of the need for re-appraisal."

TOUR MINES

The touring MLAs arrived at this community of 1,600 Tuesday night after a morning tour of underground and surface operations at gold mines in the Timmins area, 40 miles southwest of here, and an all-afternoon bus trip through nearby Anson-ville and Matheson.

Today the premier and several cabinet ministers fly to Sault Ste. Marie to attend the funeral of Harry Lyons, Sault MLA who died Tuesday. The rest of the tour continues to Moosonee, northern terminus of the Ontario Northland Railway. James Jay, where Mr. Robarts will rejoin it Friday.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: It was a cool clear night over Ontario Wednesday night. While Rivers and Armstrong both recorded below freezing temperatures. Fortunately these exceptionally low temperatures were not widespread through Northern Ontario. Generally readings were in the 35 to 45 range similar to those reported across southern Ontario. Names Nephew Commonwealth State Minister

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan today put the finishing touches to his big July government reshuffle with more appointments, including the Duke of Devonshire — nephew by marriage—as minister of state at the Commonwealth relations office.

The Duke, 42, was promoted to the newly-created post from his previous position as parliamentary undersecretary at the Commonwealth office.

Macmillan also announced three other portfolios—Lord Derwent, 61, was made a minister of state in the Board of Trade, which now has two ministers of his rank.

CABINET BALANCE

Authoritative sources said the purpose of the promotion of the Duke of Devonshire to the Commonwealth ministry of state was to provide a balance between the Commonwealth relations office and the colonial office now they have been made the responsibility of one minister—Duncan Sandys.

The colonial office already had a minister of state, Lord Lansdowne.

BURN CROSS

CHICOPEE, Mass. (AP) — A cross was burned Wednesday on a vacant lot outside a barracks housing Negro servicemen at Westover air force base. Three "K's" that could have meant Ku Klux Klan were marked on the side of the building. A public information officer confirmed the burning Wednesday night and added that air police concluded the incident was possibly a prank.

Glassco Highlights

OTTAWA (CP) — Highlights and key recommendations of the first report of the Glassco royal commission on government organization:

More responsibility for department heads in spending and contract commitments.

Departments — not the Civil Service Commission — to handle promotions, transfers and pay rates, with authority to lay off excess staff and to dismiss employees for misconduct or incompetence.

Removal of delaying procedures in civil service hiring.

Higher salaries for senior administrators.

Transform the treasury board into a super-manager of government services, under its own cabinet minister, and freed from the detailed study of most federal spending.

Development of modern management techniques to trim $50,000,000 a year in waste from paperwork now costing $500,000,000 annually.

Steps to increase bilingualism in senior ranks and to attract high-quality French-speaking Canadians into government.

Annual five-year forecasts of government spending based on long-range plans of departments.

Inclusion of new-exempt agencies under a revised Civil Service Act to create a more unified public service.

Adoption of a points bonus system for war veterans in competitive exams in place of the present veterans' preference policy.

Electronic data processing service centre for Ottawa and, as required, in other centres.

Continual review of improvement programs with an independent survey of the entire service every five or 10 years.

Legislation to govern the destruction of useless records, now done on a loose schedule.

Savings of "many tens of millions of dollars" predicted if recommendations carried out in full.

Greater efforts to reduce huge amounts of time lost due to accidents; stricter scrutiny to halt abuses of sick leave.

Attempt to Disqualify Commissioner Thrown Out

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Court of Appeal today threw out Vincent Feeley's attempt to disqualify Ontario's royal commissioner on crime and handed his lawyer a stinging rebuke for taking the action before the court.

A three-man panel of the court issued the rare penalty of ordering the lawyer, Walton C. Rose of Toronto, to pay personally the costs of all parties involved in the hearing. No figure was named, but an informal said this could be between $2,000 and $3,000.

The unanimous judgment, upholding the commissioner, Mr. Justice W. D. Roach in his action in privately questioning a prospective commissioner will not, opened the way for resumption of commission hearings which had been called off Aug. 20 when Feeley claimed the commissioner disqualified himself.

Hearings could be delayed further by an appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada, but Mr. Rose said after the issuance of the Appeal Court judgment that he would consult with Feeley before deciding on further action.

Commission Counsel Roland F. Wilson said that public hearings of the commission might re-open Friday but this would be decided by Mr. Justice Roach.

Feeley, who had been called to the witness box when adjournment unexpectedly broke off on Aug. 20, is scheduled to be the first witness at the resumption but he may be in jailors' custody when the hearings resume.

The gambler has been out on bail since last March following conviction on a charge of conspiring to obtain police information. Sentence on this charge is to be heard Friday by the Ontario Appeal Court.

Feeley and two defendants were due to surrender to authorities at the Don Jail here Friday and to remain in custody until the appeal has been disposed of.

Mr. Wilson said that if Feeley is a prisoner when he is scheduled to take the witness box, he will be brought before the commission under guard.

The other two men appealing convictions are his partner Joseph McDermott, also under subpoena as a commission witness, and Robert J. Wright, former member of the Ontario Provincial Police anti-gambling squad who has testified before the commission.

In administering a tongue-lashing to Feeley's lawyer, Mr. Justice James McLennan, speaking for the Appeal Court panel, declared the purpose of the court move against the commissioner was to "frustrate

Soblen Delays His Deportation By Taking Barbiturate Overdose

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Robert A. Soblen poisoned himself today minutes before he was to be deported to a United States prison aboard a jet airliner, the United States announced.

Soblen was hurried to Hillingdon Hospital near London Airport, seriously ill and unconscious.

A home office statement concerning the 62-year-old psychiatrist took a drug of the barbiturate group minutes before he was due to board a Pan American jet airliner for New York.

The text of the home office statement:

"Dr. Soblen, who became ill in the ambulance taking him to the airport (prison) for London Airport this morning, is at present in Hillingdon Hospital, Middlesex, undergoing medical treatment.

"It has been confirmed in the hospital that Dr. Soblen has taken a barbiturate drug. The nature of the case is being instituted."

Thus Dr. Soblen, who once cut himself in a simulated suicide attempt, again delayed attempts to send him back to a United States prison to serve a life sentence for passing wartime secrets to the Soviet Union.

According to one account Soblen took barbiturates which he had hidden on him. This dramatic development occurred while the ambulance taking him to the plane was at the airport gate.

At the hospital he was examined by three doctors — one a prison doctor, one from Pan American Airways and one from the hospital itself.

Soblen got into Britain in the first place by stabbing himself aboard a New Zealand-bound plane. That act on July 1 touched off a bitter legal battle.

He appeared to have run out of time a million when Home Secretary Henry Brooke rejected his final plea for clemency and ordered him placed aboard a New York-bound airliner.

The ball-jumping fugitive has leukemia and his lawyers contend he has only a short time to live. British prison officials said they did not believe Soblen's condition is as serious as his lawyers claim.

U.S. Will Not Put Hydrogen Bomb Into Orbit Unless Russians Do

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission has offered to refrain from launching into orbit weapons of mass destruction in the hope that outer space a battlefield, if the Russians will do likewise.

The new offer was made by Deputy Defence Secretary Roswell Gilpatric Wednesday in the first words reported to have been written by members of the Kennedy administration.

Gilpatric told an industry-university audience in South Bend, Ind., that "we have no program to place any weapons of mass destruction into orbit."

"An arms race in space will not contribute to our security," he said. "I can think of no greater stimulus for a Soviet thermonuclear arms effort in space than a United States program committed to such a program.

"This we will not do."

Gilpatric said there is no doubt that either the United States or Russia could send up a hydrogen bomb into orbit "but such an action is just not a rational use of the prestige for either side in the foreseeable future."

Informed sources acknowledged that the underlying theme of Gilpatric's speech could be described as "mutual forbearance" — that is, that both sides should refrain from using space a battlefield.

This idea of voluntary restraint parallels the approach taken by Defence Secretary McNamara some months ago in offering the Soviet Union a more strongest invulnerable retaliative" in spare cities and limit any nuclear attacks to military targets in the event of war.

County Councillors Enjoy Tour to Northern Part Of County, See Woodlots

The economy of North Hastings still is dependant largely on the woodlot and the sale of pulpwood.

That's what municipal representatives from the townships and villages in the southern part of the county learned yesterday when county councillors took a bus trip to Bancroft and "through the Mirrors" through Maynooth and Fort Stewart in the extreme north of Hastings.

The all-day bus trip, planned by Agricultural and Reforestation Committee Chairman Tracey Adams of Dungannon Township, saw councillors visit the 200-acre county reforestation plot at Bird's Creek; the Lands and Forests depot at Gilmour and enjoy the scenery across the beautiful Mississippi River Valley.

In the words of Clarke T. Sellins, M.P.P. for Hastings East, the trip would do much to assure continuation of understanding between north and south part of the county.

MANY ASPECTS TRIP

The 33 county councillors, together with county officials and local Members of Parliament Lee E. Grills, (Hastings South) and Elmer Sandercock (MPP for Hastings West), made up a party of 44 who took in the trip.

The party was entertained briefly at the fine new home of Mr. Sellins at L'Amable, south of Bancroft, who also was host for dinner at the Detlor L.O.L. hall with ladies of the Dungannon Women's Institute providing the turkey dinner with all the trimmings.

The evening meal was enjoyed at Bancroft where the ladies of St. John's Anglican Church provided the meal following a reception at the village of Bancroft at the village municipal offices.

Despite a dull and rainy morning in the south, fine weather was enjoyed throughout the day in North Hastings.

First stop on the trip was at the Bird's Creek ranger depot on No. 62 highway.

EXPLAINS OPERATION ...

Here Clarke Goodman, Hastings County reforestation ranger and Ernie Wright, of Bancroft, explained the operation of a fire ranger station and also how fires were pinpointed by triangulation from fire towers.

After dinner at Detlor the party drove through the county's 200-acre reforestation plot of red and white pine at Bird's Creek. There five planting were done about 16 years ago with the initial area now soon to be in need of thinning.

It was the first time which most members of council had seen the reforestation plot started by the county during the mid-forties.

Other private reforestation plots in the North Hastings area were also visited.

Reeve Tracey Adams explained that woodlots were still an important source of revenue for the rural residents in the north part of the county.

"In the south you have your grain and dairy farms and cash crops grown for canning factories, but up here we have our woodlots", noted Reeve Adams.

TRUCKED TO PLANTS

He noted that pulpwood from the north is trucked to Trenton paper mills and even shipped as far as O'Connwall and Thorold in the Niagara Peninsula. Price for pulpwood ranges from $13.50 to $22 per cord. It is trucked to Trenton and shipped by rail to more distant paper plants.

Councillors saw one field at a Detlor pilot plant with 1,700 cords of peeled pulp waiting to be shipped out to the paper mill.

And huge trucks loaded with pulp seen on their way south indicated that the pulp trade was not confined to the one North Hastings area.

Councillors also learned that mining at one time was much more extensively carried on in the north than it is at present.

DAY WELL SPENT

Further north in the area northeast of Bancroft it was noted that iron mining in the early part of the century was carried on extensively at Beaverdell, Scotter and other locations.

Still further north was a corundum mine where at one time there was a community of 300 persons. Now there is nothing left.

Also at Coe Hill there was a once active iron mine where upwards of 100 men were employed. The mine has been closed for many decades and the mine buildings have all disappeared.

Several councillors felt it was a day well spent. Warden Harold Hall suggested that the trip might well be taken every year.

And many of the councillors felt it was a good idea.

High School Registration Now 3,080

High schools in Belleville are becoming crowded now, according to Roy Dalmage, of the Bay of Quinte District High School Board. Shipments Will Be Used to Detect Firings

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Cuban government said Wednesday night that arms shipments being sent into Cuba by Soviet Premier Khrushchev will be used to interfere with U.S. missile launchings.

Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, president of the Cuban exile group, said in a statement:

"In different sections of Cuba, principally in the north coast of the province of Pinar del Rio, missile rocket bases and electronic equipment are being installed for warlike operations."

Miro said the equipment would be used by the Red Castro regime to "detect and help in the launching from Cape Canaveral in Florida."

Pearson Would Cut Campaign In Half

CHAPLEAU, Ont. (CP)—Liberal Leader Pearson said Wednesday night that if he was prime minister he would introduce legislation to cut the eight-week period of a national election campaign in half.

He made the statement at a banquet for 100 persons after he had been given the honor of his sprawling Commons constituency of Algoma East during which he was to make a speech to his supporters for his sixth election campaign.

Mr. Pearson spoke informally at the dinner, recounting personal experiences during the election campaign.

His suggestion of cutting the time of election campaigns was made half in jest, but he indicated seriously that he was a proponent of making it more serious.

He said he would be able as head of a government to introduce a bill to cut that time in half. Then it would be added, in serious vein: "This is one bill you can thank Mr. Diefenbaker and I, I think, agree—and so, I think, do the electors."

Right now, it is too long. A political party ought to be able to get its message across in less time. It is a long and tiring and rugged experience."

REPORT OFFERS

ing spending estimates to Parliament for approval.

END USELESS CONTROLS

The report's central theme is the need to get rid of outmoded controls and put the departments on a businesslike basis.

The royal commission was set up Sept. 27, 1960, to recommend changes which would "best promote efficiency, economy and improved service in the dispatch of public business."

Its initial 646-page document, entitled Management of the Public Service, is in four sections: A plan for management, financial management, personnel management, a paper record and systems management.

Here are its main observations:

THE CIVIL SERVICE

The calibre of civil servants compares favorably with employees in private industry and "in some areas, in a very good indeed."

But the practices under which they operate "frequently waste resources, do little to bring out top performance and fall short of creating a dynamic and unified public service."

The civil service commission, the government's central employment agency which hires, fires, transfers, promotes and trains civil servants, works under procedures which are too slow and costly. "The result is delay, morale problems and loss of staff."

It takes nine months to 21 years to fill a new government post because of the "dilemma of controls." In the meantime, the best candidate is often lost to industry with its speedy hiring practices, particularly of professional people.

FORCES OVERSTAFFING

This has forced departments to adopt overstaffing to have workers available when they are needed. "Some departmental managers estimate overstaffing is high as 50 per cent. . . . This figure is almost certainly exaggerated but the fact it is regarded by responsible officers is disquieting."

On the other side of the coin, at once jobs are created they tend to perpetuate themselves, chiefly because of civil service rules which militate against a system of elimination or layoffs except when absolutely unavoidable. "To avoid deletion of positions, departments tend to make work for temporarily redundant personnel."

"Dismissal for misconduct or incompetence is so rare in the public service today as to constitute evidence that the power is rarely employed. The only obstacles to exercising it, even in clearly justified cases, are great."

The system by which civil servants can appeal decisions on promotions is another bottleneck. When a promotion which leads to a whole series of other promotions is taken to appeal "the whole sequence is paralyzed."

GIVES REMEDY

To remedy the situation, departments should be given control over their own hiring, promotions and transfers. They should be given the task of setting qualifications for each new job. Each staff above a certain wage level, laying off excess staff and transferring dismissals for misconduct or incompetence.

The civil service commission would hire all lower - echelon staff and certify all initial appointments to ensure that proper methods were used in selection. It also would hear appeals against disciplinary action.

The salary division point for hiring senior or junior staff is suggested as $5,000 a year under present conditions of pay.

These proposals would give departments and agencies "the requisite authority to manage their own personnel and be held accountable for efficient performance."

A notable difference was observed between the staff management problems in departments and agencies which come under the civil service commission and those federal agencies which operate in comparative freedom—the CNR, Trans-Canada Air Lines, Polymer Corporation and others. They used accepted industrial methods with much better results.

SALARIES ON PAR

Salaries and wages in the civil service are on a par with industry at the junior levels but there is a narrowing and no better pay in senior posts, said the commission strongly recommending corrective action.

There now are 84 different pay scales; this should be simplified to 25 pay ranges. (The United States civil service has 18).

Tighter control is needed on sick leave rights which are "abused by some employees." Too often accumulated sick leave is treated as an extra vacation right.

"The federal government has a poor safety record and apparently no effective management action is being taken to meet this problem." Civil service accidents in 1960-61 fiscal year cost $2,500,000.

Approximately one in every 10 public servants filed a disabling accident claim during the year, as compared with one in every 37 employees in private industry in Ontario.

FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT

Each department and agency faces formidable scrutiny by the treasury board and the comptroller of the treasury before it can spend much of the budget money allotted to it.

This causes duplication, encourages waste and leads to frustration of department heads. Some of it has become "organizational nonsense."

Under present controls some contract procedures the department has to go through treasury board study as many as four times.

The board is a committee of six cabinet ministers chaired by the finance minister and with a staff of 140 drawn from the finance department. It now faces a backlog of 9,000 items a year and has become so immersed in detail that it cannot fully cope with its main task of dealing with the financial policies of the government as a whole.

"Most (submissions) vary from objectives and forecasts to projects involving a sizable portion of Canada's economic resources . . . to a request involving a few dollars for the purchase of sugar and tea by a reception at an experimental farm."

Treasury board reviews are becoming increasingly concerned with detail "much of it unnecessary" and senior department personnel have come almost unanimously to regard this concern with detail as representing an unwarranted interference in the day-to-day management of their departments—"as indeed it is!"

DATA MISLEADING

Standards of review are based on a "dangerously misleading" data. "Little use has been made of modern, highly - developed techniques such as work measurement, cost analysis and statistical sampling."

As a result, the man with an unspent budget balance at the end of the year attracted a reduction in base for spending.

"The indirect result is to encourage unnecessary or wasteful expenditure toward the close of the fiscal year."

The comptroller of the treasury, with a staff of 4,700 scattered throughout the public service, makes separate checks to ensure that each expenditure is lawful and that money is available to cover it.

In spite of all this, it is recommended that "departments and agencies be given the necessary delegation of authority and be held accountable for the effective management of their financial resources placed at their disposal."

The current method of ensuring accountability by surrounding departmental managers with a hedge of detailed, negative controls and regulations can only frustrate the aims of efficient, economical management."

In 1961 the bill for paperwork was about $500,000,000 — about one - twelfth of the federal budget. At least 100,000 civilian and military clerks were needed to prepare or store this volume.

Some 2,500,000 cubic feet of records are stored in government buildings, equal to 250 modern skyscrapers. This grows by 10 per cent each year.

"Your commissioners are highly critical of existing conditions. . . . There is an appalling lack of understanding of present deficiencies and a general lack of concern about the money wasted."

Opportunities for improvement were "challenging in the extreme."

The 100,000 different forms used in government cost $5,500,000 a year to print and $100,000,000 a year for clerical handling. Proper controls could trim at least $11,000,000 a year from these costs.

As an example of form inefficiency, 1,200 employees recently were transferred from one department to another and it required one man-year of work to switch their records from one set of forms to another because no two departments follow the same procedures. Two departments there are 450 different personnel forms in use.

FILING INADEQUATE

"Filing systems . . . are generally inadequate or inefficient."

In one department 10 separate indexes are in use to help the filing staff find information and searches frequently take from one to three days."

Not enough use is being made of new devices to speed paperwork and reduce costs. Conversely, costly electronic computers are being obtained in haphazard fashion. Three departments have plans to install three computers, side by side, by the end of 1962. Yet in the next three years the work involved could be handled by two such computers with a $1,000,000 saving.

Five remedies are needed for the paperwork problem:

1. An administrative improvement division set up within the treasury board to set new administrative policies and co-ordinate the whole system.

2. Management advisory groups within departments to reorganize paperwork programs.

3. Legislation to govern the disposal of useless records.

4. An electronic data processing centre for Ottawa and, later, other major cities with large federal operations.

5. A continual review of improvement programs with an independent survey every five or 10 years.

Is Given Month For Theft of TV

TRENTON — In magistrate's court at Trenton on Tuesday, Roy Nichols of Trenton, charged with the theft of a television set from Lyle Hartman, also of Trenton, pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to a month in jail by Magistrate R. C. Jackson.

Constable Sidney Vickers testified that Mr. Hartman had reported that when Nichols, who was renting from him, moved out of his apartment, a 17-inch television disappeared. The set was valued at $45. Const. Vickers said that when Nichols was located working at R 3, Desmondville he readily admitted taking the set and said that he had used it for a down payment on a car. When the set was finally found it had changed hands three times.

Nichols asked the magistrate for "another chance" as he said that he had a job and wanted to pile up unemployment stamps against the winter months when, having no trade, he found it hard to get a job.

Magistrate Jackson said that he sympathized with the accused but in view of a record, had no alternative but to impose a jail sentence. He advised Nichols, who said that he was married, to learn a trade.

Approve Wooler Site for Housing For Elderly Folk

TRENTON — Following a meeting of Murray Township council yesterday, Reeve Douglas McMaster and councillors approved the selection of a senior citizens housing development for the township. The 4-acre development is to be located within the boundaries of the village of Wooler, and council stated the proposed site before coming to a decision about its suitability for the purpose. As the site faces on the Wooler Road, there is a question of access to the highway at one point and council advised the developers to try to secure an easement over the land, which is owned by another party. Eventually, it is planned to build 20 separate units in the development, although the builders would make a modest start by erecting three units.

Council passed the resolution asking that a by-law be prepared by solicitor Roy Hough of Wooler would be appointed township tax collector. Mr. Dorland will explain Mrs. Driscoll Cox, who has served in the position for the past five or six years. Mr. Dorland and assessor Henry McColl will work in the assessment office.

A township sub-division control by-law was given its first reading. In the future, developers will be required to gain approval before they submit for buying building lots. The by-law is designed to forestall headaches all-around, as those seeking building permits in the past have found that the land that their land is construed as unsuitable.

Council passed a resolution to request an interim grant of $25,000 from the Department of Highways to proceed with township road reconstruction and repair.

Cecil Morgan came before council to ask that a pledge to construct fencing on his property be waived for certain road repair, made by a previous council, be made good. This request was granted.

Two representatives of the Wooler Agricultural Society asked that three or four of the floodlights in the old fair grounds be relocated so that they will not shine directly in the town hall at Wooler. The ladies said that a new hall, recently sponsored by the institute had been a resounding success and that it had been suggested that a greater diversity of entertainment could be provided if the area had been adequately lighted. Lord suggested that the Institute secure poles and arrange with the Hydro to install lights which will be more economical than moving the fair ground lights.

Council at the meeting were Reeve McMaster, Deputy Reeve Fred Burgess, Councillors Angus Gunter and councillors Leo McAuley and Ronald Webb.

TRENTON — Squadron Leader Stanley C. Easton of Brockville, Ontario, retired here this month from the same station where he joined the RCAF twenty-four years ago.

S-L Easton has served continuously since July 1938, when he commenced training at Trenton as a wireless operator. He preceded overseas in 1939 serving as a wireless electrical mechanic on Hurricanes with 401 - (Fighter) Squadron during the Battle of Britain.

Returning to Canada in 1941, he received his commission in Winnipeg in 1943. Since that war S-L Easton has served at units from the Yukon to Nova Scotia in various telecommunications duties.

In 1958 he became Staff Officer Telecommunications at Air Transport Command Headquarters, Lachine, Quebec. He moved to Trenton with Command Headquarters in 1959 and serving here until his retirement this month.

Married to the former Beth Dalziel of Halifax, N.S., S-L Easton is the father of two daughters, Barbara Anne, 17, and Aileen Ruth, 9. On retirement the Eastons plan to take up residence in Ottawa.

THREE ONTARIO SCHOLARS — Three girls from Quinte Secondary School have been named Ontario Scholars as the result of marks they obtained in Grade 13 examinations. All will attend university this year, but this morning they enjoyed a reunion at their old school. Left to right are Elsie Beach, Helen Coffey and Helen Vozabule

7 Students at Schools Here Are Named Ontario Scholars

Seven Ontario Scholars have come from Belleville Secondary School this year; three from Quinte Secondary School and one from Albert College.

To qualify for an Ontario Scholarship a student must have achieved an average of at least 80 per cent on eight papers, including English literature and composition.

The successful students and their results are:

Eleanor Beach of QSS, who received nine firsts in ten papers written for an overall average mark of 89.5 per cent as an Ontario Scholar. She will be taking honors arts at Queen's University, majoring in English.

Helen Coffey of QSS, who received nine firsts in ten papers written with an overall average of 79.7 per cent and a qualifying average of 82.1 per cent. Coffey also was awarded a Dominion-Provincial bursary ($500). She is enrolled in honors history at Queen's University.

William James of Albert College, who wrote nine papers of which seven were firsts with an overall average of 78.9 per cent and a qualifying average of 80.2 per cent. He will be attending Queen's University in the honors maths and science course, this fall.

Klaus Quickert of BCIVS, who achieved nine firsts in 11 papers for an overall average of 83.8 per cent and a qualifying average of 85.0 per cent. (Quickert was also awarded the Reuben Wells Leonard Scholarship at the University of Toronto, worth $200). He will attend the honors maths and science at the University of Toronto.

Herbert Taylor of BCIVS, who wrote nine papers and received seven firsts with an overall average of 79.3 per cent and a qualifying average of 80.4 per cent. He will attend Queen's University in the honors maths and science course.

Helen Vozabule of QSS, who received nine firsts in nine papers written with an overall average of 85.1 per cent and a qualifying average of 86.0 per cent. (Miss Vozabule also received an University of Toronto general proficiency scholarship valued at $1,450). She is registered in the modern language and literature course at the University of Toronto.

Victoria Wheeler of BCIVS, who wrote nine papers and received seven firsts with an overall average of 80.0 per cent and a qualifying average of 85.0 per cent. She has enrolled in engineering at the University of Western Ontario, London.

5 Red Attempts To Probe Planets End in Failure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia has failed in five of six attempts to send spacecraft past Venus, NASA 725, says official report.

Twice within the last two weeks, they said, the Russians tried to beat or match the American launching of Mariner II, now hurtling about 6,000 000 miles toward Venus.

Both Soviet attempts went haywire, the report said.

It listed off the two space flops this way:

Aug. 25—two days before Mariner was launched—broke up in space its fragments are orbiting earth. This failure was reported unofficially earlier.

But the U.S. space agency disclosed Wednesday night a second attempt Sept. 1 not previously reported. The Russians saw this one misfire, too.

The only fact that approached success was a Venus probe in 1961, said the report, but its radio blacked out before it got even close to the planet.

The chronicle of Russian space troubles was contained in a letter to chairmen of the Senate and House of Representatives space committees from James E. Webb, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The Congress members had urged Webb to make public information on the Soviet space mishaps, adventures since the Russians only talk about their successes.

TO ALTER PENNY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy Wednesday signed a bill taking the tin out of the U.S. penny. One-cent pieces are 95 per cent copper and, by previous law, the other five per cent was to be a mixture of zinc and tin. The new law specifies since only, the cents.

and obstruct" the work of the inquiry.

The decision added that, in the opinion of the court, the royal commissioner would be within his rights in denying any particular counsel the right to appear before him.

COUNSEL SEEKS KEY

Feeley himself was accused of vagueness, evasiveness and falsification in material in an affidavit he filed with the commission on Aug. 20 and in subsequent questioning before a special examiner in preparation for the court hearing.

Certain paragraphs in the affidavit were described as improper, scurrilous, irrelevant and the court observed, that Mr. Justice McLennan had made no full knowledge of its "impropriety," though at a hearing Wednesday he had described himself — under questioning from the bench—from some of Feeley's charges of "bias" on the part of the commissioner.

Mr. Justice McLennan called the financial penalty against Mr. Rose "exceptional, but justified."

There was a strong indication that Feeley will ask the lawyer's failure to argue before the court on the "bias" allegations, when he filed his affidavit.

SUGGESTS PUBLICITY

Mr. Rose claims in the affidavit had been made either for publicity or to undermine confidence in the commissioner, or both, the court said.

In the course of the application to disqualify the commissioner, the court said simply that it had been suggested that a contention of counsel for the Liberal and New Democratic parties.

Mr. Crowe, it said, was to complete control of the commission.

Feeley had asked that the panel direct Mr. Justice Roach to file with the Supreme Court to rule on whether he had unjustified himself by holding a "secret" session June 21 with Ralph Clark, former gambling associate of Feeley and a prospective public witness.

The commissioner has denied it was a secret hearing, and the court said the question which Feeley wants to have put to the appeal court would have the judge admitting misconduct before a previous decision of the court—which he has already denied.

If Mr. Justice Roach's purpose in keeping the examination of Ralph Clark "in secret" was to prevent interference with a witness, this purpose has been frustrated by subsequent events, since Feeley later had told how he and Mr. Clark met in Feeley's office in a Toronto parking lot on the subject, after he gave a sworn statement.

Of the procedure used by the commissioner with Clark, the court commented that such a royal commissioner is not governed by any set of rules and must of necessity have the widest discretion in the conduct of his proceedings.

While in general it might be undesirable to interview witnesses under oath prior to their public appearance, there might be circumstances which made this desirable. This was for the discretion of the commissioner.

Civil Liberties-To Be Or Not To Be?

Recently the Canadian Bar Association was warned that Canadians were in danger of losing their civil liberties through legislative action if they were not prepared, on occasion, to cede voluntarily such freedoms and rights as they are now accorded to assist the police in executing their duties.

If the police are hindered in the administration of the Criminal Code, as was the suggestion, it is more probably because they are forced to spend much of their time and efforts in handling civil misdemeanors than because any citizen standing on his own rights is frustrating their efforts at crime prevention or the apprehension of criminals.

It is absurd to suggest, as one Toronto lawyer did, that because a citizen stands on his rights as an individual when questioned by the police he is apt to be considered more guilty than if he fully co-operated with them — even to the point where he allows himself to be questioned and confined without any charge having been laid against him.

If the police forces of the land are starting to bog down under the administration of our laws perhaps it is well nigh time that Canadians start thinking about righting the situation before some theorists become enamored by their own ideas and plans and try to fulfill their prediction.

Let us, instead of ridding ourselves of our basic rights and civil liberties, rid ourselves of the enormous bulk of largely useless and antiquated civil legislation and misdemeanors designed to "protect the individual from himself," a concept which is the very antithesis of our brand of freedom.

Some enlightment in this direction despite the howls of the "holler-than-thous" would do much to ensure that right is done by the laws of the land.

Progress!

As the wheels of progress turn, life gets more and more complicated. There is the AP report from San Deigo, for instance, of the woman who chose a reslly up to date method of getting rid of an unwanted husband. She hired a man to fix hubby's electric toothbrush, so it would short circuit and electrocute him.

The electrician informed police, so there was no test of the probably impractical, but highly original plan. The field however, is wide open. Imagine, for instance, an electric razor that went haywire, or a specially modified earplug or transistor radio. Even the dynamite-in-a-airliner approach may soon be outmoded.

The winds of change blow ill for many commercial firms. The manufacturers of rat poison probably thought they had at least one market safe, in spite of the ultrasonic mouse killer. Now comes the bad news from Sand Diego. They must join the ranks of buggy whip and spinning wheel manufacturers, whose products are used only by hobbyists in a retreat from the pressures of modern times.

Not Another Powers Case

Not too much attention need be paid to the latest Russian protest about the conduct of the U.S. — this one concerning an alleged intrusion of a U-2 reconnaissance plane into Soviet air space.

According to the Russians themselves, the plane was over Russian territory and territorial waters for only nine minutes.

An intrusion of this length could easily occur inadvertently. There is no comparison between this incident and the U-2 flight on which Gary Powers was shot down in May of 1960 That flight was planned across the full breadth of Russia and was a deliberate and flagrant violation of international law. President Eisenhower ordered U-2 flights over Russian territory terminated after the capture of Powers, which was used by Khrushchev as an excuse for wrecking the 1960 four-power summit conference, but which also placed the U.S. in a bad light as far as uncommitted nations are concerned. There has been nothing in President Kennedy's conduct of foreign affairs to suggest that he has reversed Eisenhower's order, or that he would condone a policy which would provide the Russians with a legitimate grievance against the U.S. The U-2 flight over the Siberian coast, therefore, if it occurred at all, must be considered to be a mistake of the kind which almost inevitably occur in situations like those prevailing in the world today.

Ottawa Offbeat

Over-Confidence Is Blamed By PC's for Their Losses

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Seems that in the hard and unforgiving world of politics almost nothing produces such action so fast as a close call in an election.

The Conservatives have had their squeaker, and after pinching themselves to see that they were really still alive as a Government, are back in training for the next race.

They have even held a weekend three-day conference, calling in the political medicine men to tell them what went wrong.

Their National Campaign Committee, the National Executive and the Conservative Caucus all came to the same conclusion . . . It was fat, lazy over-confidence.

They had won only four years ago with a never-before-equalled 208 seats in the 265-Member Commons . . . and they were so far ahead in it was impossible for them to lose enough to give the impression anyone else to even threaten let alone topple them from their pinnacle of power . . . or so they thought.

IN AGREEMENT

They have over-confidence now.

And it seems like a sure sign that they have completely recovered from their near-fatal attack of over-confidence . . . for all three wings of the Conservative Party, from Prime Minister Diefenbaker, the executive, the professionals of the campaign committee, and the politicians of the Commons caucus, agree they have mutually accepted the blame.

Out of their two-day skull session came the order for reorganization at all levels, bottom to top.

The top, the Cabinet, has been shaken out and re-treaded, and now the bottom, the key man in any political organization— your friend and neighbor, the poll chairman — is being recruited over.

Across the country there are 45,000 of them.

These are the men who deliver, literally, the vote to the polls.

And in Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia where the Conservatives sustained 79 of their 90 constituency losses, the performance of these poll chairmen is being the more closely scrutinized.

And many of these political workhorses, the old, the tired, the lazy, will be put out to pasture.

For some of them, it was discovered too late, after five years of clover had grown so over-confident and under-worked they didn't bother to lift a finger during the campaign. Neither, 'twas whispered, did a few of the candidates either.

KEEN AND CRACKING

The drop-off in Ontario was from 85 to 54 seats, in Quebec from 50 to 14, and in B.C. from 19 to six.

The top organizational hand in the Conservative camp put it this way after the two days of political soul-searching here: "When you lose 90 seats, 79 of them in three provinces, you look for the trouble — and always, it's people, your people. "And you don't have to look very down through all the levels of organization to find the real trouble to the little guy on whom the whole structure rests, the poll chairman.

"You've got 45,000 of them — and so has your Opposition — and if they're not all they're keen and cracking, then you've got yourself a hot organization.

"If not, then you've got trouble and you do something about it, Dick."

The poll chairman usually has charge of not more than two Only blacks, if he's "up, keen and cracking," he knows everybody in his two blocks by name, he knows who's sick, who's poor and why. He can sense a swing, for or against, and do something positive about it, or lay blame.

Gagarin Shares Dreams

By YURI GAGARIN for Novosti Press Agency.

In the year when the Soviet people adopted the great 20 year program of building communism they created, with their powerful science and technology the spaceships, one of which I had the good fortune of making an orbital flight. We can say, that the dream of Oct. 4, 1857, when the Soviet satellite of the earth was launched, was the beginning of the era of the conquest of outer space.

Only three and a half years had passed since that memorable date before man appeared on the satellite route. Soviet people took off one after another to the expanses of the universe, demonstrating great achievements of their country. This onslaught was unstoppable, and soon we shall be greeting ever new space pilots joining the ranks of "Vostok" pilots.

* * *

Replying to the questionnaire of the Novosti Press Agency, I want to share my dream in the spheres of the universe which has become my profession, a rare and unusual one so far. It is impossible to forget the source on life on our planets: the unbearable heat, poisonous bluish white sun, entirely different from what it looks like on the earth. Only a few people have seen it so far. I am confident that in the future it will be seen by dozens or even hundreds of earth men, and then it will be seen by those of different professions and citizens of different countries.

The path of the stars will not be easy for these people and those who will equip them with technics. Dreaming of the future of mankind, I clearly visualize what great effort persistence and talent will be required for a manned flight to us say, to the moon. Without detaching myself from the real possibilities of science and technology but just slightly invading the realm of the fantastic, I try to visualize the building of giant stairs leading man to the universe.

* * *

First come satellites of the earth, which penetrate farther and farther into outer space, steadily enriching our knowledge of the universe. Every new laboratory we send to outer space to study the radiation belts of our planet, the activity of the sun, the life and movements of the cloud cover. This knowledge enables man himself to follow the satellites.

The day finally comes of direct contact with the moon. In my ideas, on that day the moon will receive remote-controlled automatic vehicles capable of performing an extensive program of research. This research will then be carried out on the panet of our own planet. The moon is like a geological and tectonic museum presenting to us very long bygone formations analogous to those of the earth.

* * *

The conquest of the moon continues. Transport rockets land at convenient spots on its surface carefully studied by the automatic vehicles. There are no people in them. People are still in outer space. Preparations for the moon. The rockets deliver stocks of everything necessary for the life of people, food, rocket fuel, powerful mining machines, dwelling quarters from foam metal—light, strong and non-heat conducting.

Men appear on the moon after careful preliminary studies. I feel that the first lunar explorers will appear there in the same time, for only a well-protected man will be able to fulfil the task of making the initial study of the "difficult" globe heated to 120 degrees at daytime and cooled to 150 degrees below zero at night.

* * *

Man will evidently find protection against the unfavorable conditions existing on the moon below the lunar surface itself, where there is unchanging temperature at which man can live and work. The first vessel, of course, special isothermic suits to be able to appear on the surface.

It is to be hoped that long before 1981 the first astronautical observatory and the first cosmodrome for the flight to Venus or Mars will have appeared on the moon. Gravitation there equals one-sixth of the earth's pull, and besides there is no atmosphere there. How much easier it is to forspaceships to start from the moon! I would like very much to be among those who will set out on the first flight along the Moon-Venus route. In those conditions, the take-off will not involve such exhaustion.

* * *

I dream of the time when spaceships will be propelled, not by the reaction of fuel oxidation, or ordinary atomic, but by atomic or thermonuclear energy. Atomic or thermonuclear energy.

Owing to the colossal thrust of the Soviet rockets the cabins of the Vostok-I and Vostok-2 caps are fairly spacious. But I feel they are cramped compared to the size of the stages of the rocket putting the ships on their orbits.

Man Moves In Mysterious Manner

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: Most people who talk about conscience, for instance, tells conscience is a capacity, and not a standard; the capacity of conscience, for instance, tells them it is "immoral" not to devour his enemy after battle.

A person who feels compelled to tell others about his past sins is still a little infatuated with them; confession can be as much a matter of pride as of repentence.

It is fruitless to look back upon our parents and grand-parents and exclaim that they got a far better job in America than we do today; they got along better because they expected less, and we live in an age of "rising expectations," not only economically, but in everything as well.

Self-interest is the beginning, but it cannot be made the end, of a life; as Amiel observed a hundred years ago: "Selfishness is but the survival of the animal in us; humanity only begins for a man with self-sacrifice."

It seems plain to me that our personal future in small American cities is more endangered by the attacks of Communists among us than by the small and insignificant bands of Communists here. History shows that whenever a group wants to "save" a nation from some threat, the self-styled saviors usually become a great threat, as in Germany.

When the reader pauses to notice this admire a writer's style, it is sure sign that the writing has failed to communicate its personality. The writer's style should be an integral part of his personality, not an adornment, which distracts us from the total impact of the creation. Another love is beginning to flicker; a promissory note in love changes the relationship from a romance to a contract.

The commoner way to cheat an employer is not by stealing his money or loafing on the job, but by refusing to disagree when you feel it is wrong — if he is paying you for your brains, and not just for your body, an employee has an obligation to dissent from decisions he thinks wrong.

Men are born with clocks in them, and women with calendars; a man always knows what time it is, but will do unreasonable things, like fishing in November; while a woman lacks a precise sense of time, but rests securely within the seasons.

The unsung genius who most appeals to me is the first man who figured out how to make a bridge across a wide expanse of water; I could have lived four lifetimes without solving such a problem.

Nobody under 40 can appreciate Aneurin Bevan's comment that "People always get what they ask for; the only trouble is that they never know, until they get it, what it actually is they have asked for."

Heart Conduction Defects Do Not Require Hospitalization

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is meant by a conduction defect of the heart? Is it serious? Could this condition, varicose veins and hemorrhoids have anything to do with each other? — M.J.T.

To answer your last question first, no.

Now to conduction defects. This means some slight defect in the way the body conducts to the heart the impulses which tell the heart when to contract or "beat."

There are two main types. The commonest is called a "bundle branch block," which means some delay in the transmission of the impulse from the upper part of the heart down to the lower chambers, or "ventricles" of the heart. The signal, in other words, is somewhat slowed down before reaching its final destination.

Generally, this doesn't require treatment. There are no symptoms that you can detect. You can't find it with a stethoscope. In fact, this kind of conduction defect is rarely actually discovered at all until you have an electrocardiogram.

Since high blood pressure or coronary heart disease are two possible causes of "bundle branch block," it's obviously wise to examine the patient for these possibilities if you can find them if they are present. If no such troubles exist, such as include the "delayed signal" isn't anything to fret about.

However, there is another main variety of conduction defect" is a more serious matter. Instead of the impulse being "impulse" being delayed in transit, there is a dropping out of the point where the impulse starts.

This is an actual slowing up instead of a down-the-branch, so to speak. The impulse doesn't originate as it should, or actually originate as it should. Without these signals, the heart can't beat.

A slight delay, you see, doesn't much matter. But when the heart beats only 45 times a minute, for example, instead of 60 or 70, more or less, that's a different matter.

Slow heart beat (which also is confirmed by the electrocardiogram) can produce symptoms such as giddiness, faintness, even momentary unconsciousness. This sort of deficit certainly requires treatment.

Various drugs are used, such as ephedrine, atropine, benzedrine and the steroids (cortisone, etc.) to speed up the heart rate. In extreme cases, pacemaker surgery is now going on with special devices which substitute an electrical impulse. It is a much more what faster rate than the slow speed. These are called "pacemakers."

These devices are for the very serious cases, not for the ones which are encountered ordinarily. This is a field in which more is being learned from month to month.

Anyway, it makes a great deal of difference which kind of "conduction defect" is involved.

Causes of the second type? They vary considerably, but are usually incited by some serious infection which can range through such things as diphtheria, rheumatic fever, syphilis and others, which can affect the heart muscle. That's one good reason why preventing or controlling these diseases is so important.

* *

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the treatment for bursitis? — L.C.

Depending on the case, doctors use various ones, including injection of pain relievers, heat, injection of cortisone and similar hormones, X-ray therapy; surgical removal of calcium deposits, widening of narrow fluid inside a burse or "joint sac."

* *

Note to Mrs. L.P.: Fatty tumors are not serious or dangerous, require removal only if (a) they become so large as to be located as to be a nuisance; (b) they are unsightly.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Among my occasional complaints through this vale of tears is a fondness for plates of taste. With an architect friend, we were driving through one of the more attractive suburbs when we came upon a bungalow of such extraordinary design that we had to stop the car and gaze. The late Frank Lloyd Wright could not, in his greatest years, have conceived a more original construction. He has no congruous wart on the nose of an otherwise sedate neighborhood.

"It," explained the architect, "is more of a conversation piece than a home."

"I was to the home of a fashionable friend," said our primitive passenger, "which was decorated in the modern mode. In one corner of the living room rose an unholy conglomeration of tin, metal rods, bearings and assorted pieces of steel. They explained to me that it was a modern sculpture entitled Space Variety. I enquired why, they said it was a conversation piece. I then observed that anybody so short of conversation as to require that thing must be pretty dull. I got my hat and left.

"And I don't expect to be back for some time."

'Lines on Life'

By Dr. Stuart E. Rosenberg

A well known human - relations counselor was lecturing before a group of his colleagues, explaining some of the fundamentals of his work as a guide and helper to people in the throes of knotty problems. Some of the things he said can be of help not only to professionals but to all. Inevitably, as parents, employers, workers or friends we are called upon to deal with our fellow human beings. Let's listen in to what he said and learn:

In the first place he suggested: Let the person seeking help "talk it out." Sometimes, the greatest part of the help sought comes from the opportunity to be heard by someone who is listening. Too many people never have a real opportunity to unload their burden, to "confess," as it were. Their parents, friends or colleagues impulsively jump to conclusions, almost before anything has been said. As a result, problems never get a real airing, but instead, grow deeper and deeper until they are virtually locked up in the darker recesses of our being, where they fester in the absence of illumination. The confession, in itself, often has cathartic value. If we give our friends the opportunity of ridding themselves of their inner hurt by listening intelligently as they talk out loud, we have helped them flush out some of their creeping inhibitions.

Second: If listening is to be constructive and helpful, be reminded his colleagues, the counselor must never show signs that he is either shocked or offended by anything he hears.

To be sure, many personal difficulties are caused by behavior that is sometimes both shocking and offensive to good taste and judgment. But this is precisely the confused one's difficulty. He often knows that he's been involved in wrong-doing which may scandalize his beloved. Out of fear that no one will understand or have compassion, instead of facing up to his error and starting again, he confounds his problem all the more, by running away from the self he fears he can never be. Too often, when we say that we are "shocked" by what we hear, we are really only withdrawing from a real issue, in our desire not to enter vigorously in support of our colleague's spiritual need. If we offend too easily, we cannot be of much help to those who are seeking it, because our real or feigned shock is often only a trick we play on ourselves. Actually, we would rather not listen, so we withdraw, claiming "foul."

Third: The lecturer urged his professional counselor colleagues never to set themselves up as the designer of other people's life-patterns. A good counselor, he said, helps people to understand the deeper roots in their personality from which the difficulties arise. He does not solve their problems for them, only with them, by offering insights which will supply them with new understanding of themselves and their problems.

Here, too, many of us can fruitfully follow the expert's advice. We need not assume that people in trouble are stupid and can only find help if we take them by the hand and lead them like little children. When we behave this way we may be satisfying our own egos, playing the role of the all-wise, all powerful demi-god. At the core of many human difficulties is the fact that we don't wish to be led by our decisions; often, we want, as much as we need, opportunities to think and to feel our own way out of our trials. Sometimes because people are too closed in themselves, they can't easily see what's immediately in front of them. But they mustn't suppose that they can get someone else to live their lives and live their lives. They need help to help themselves; light to illumine the road ahead. But it is their road and they have to travel it.

So it is that we do not really give the vital help required when we make up other people's minds by dictating decisions they must learn to make. We need to learn that patience which is almost divine.

Patience for others and others out.

Patience to share their problems, discreetly and dispassionately.

Patience to help them to help themselves.

REMOVE SEAMAN

KODIAK, Alaska (AP)—A 25-year-old Russian seaman, apparently suffering from peritonitis, was removed from a Russian trawler by the U.S. Coast Guard and hurried here for emergency treatment. The fisherman, whose last name is Chuckkov, is the third Russian to be helped by coast guard and navy personnel in this area in the last three weeks.

Diefenbaker Leaves Tonight For Commonwealth Parley

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker flies to London tonight and a new "last chance" to urge Britain to find terms for Canada should Britain enter the European Common Market.

The Commonwealth prime ministers' conference opening next Monday was originally planned to give Commonwealth leaders a final say on an outline plan for British membership in the six-nation ECM.

But the outline wasn't completed during lengthy British-ECM negotiations that adjourned a month ago, and Commonwealth members still have a chance to tell Britain what shape they want it to take.

Mr. Diefenbaker said Wednesday the prime ministers have the opportunity to put forward their views on terms for British entry to ECM that would "preserve to the largest degree possible existing Commonwealth trading preferences."

He also raised the possibility that Canada will seek a further Commonwealth conference before Britain finally approves a finished package deal with the prosperous Common Market six—France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

He said "there is every possibility that there should and might be" a further prime ministers' conference.

Commonwealth trade with Britain will be the dominant theme at the London meeting of 15 Commonwealth members — 12 of them represented by prime ministers. Because of the vital importance of the issue, leaders of six colonies headed towards independence will also attend.

No agreement has been reached on a reported $300,000,000 a year in Canadian agricultural exports — Britain has unsuccessfully sought ECM assurances of undiminished entry for them — for some $200,000,000 in industrial raw material sales on which Britain has asked duty-free entry to an enlarged Common Market.

Last year Canada's total sales to Britain exceeded $900,000,000—some 16 per cent of total exports.

Tentative agreement has already been reached covering Canada's sales of manufactured goods to Britain—some $100,000,000 last year. Instead of present duty-free entry to Britain and preferential tariff treatment in some cases they would face the full Common Market tariff by 1970.

Aqua Divers To Hold Meet

This evening the Quinte Aqua Divers, Belleville and district's skin and scuba diving club, will be holding their first formal meeting of the 1962-1963 session at 8.00 o'clock in the YMCA.

Films are to be shown on some of the past members' activities during the spring and summer of this year. These should include diving on wrecks and anchors off the Main Ducks Island and near Bath. There will also be time for discussion on points and new techniques learned about underwater salvage and exploration.

A recent club bulletin notes that the club's compressor saw much use this past summer by visiting divers who found the waters in this area quite interesting for diving.

Two British Mountaineers Climb Some of Alaska's Unconquered Mountains

By EDNA ATKINSON

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (Reuters)—Two young British mountaineers are working their way back home after a summer of hair-raising adventures climbing some of Alaska's previously unconquered peaks.

Tony Smythe, 25, and Barrie Biven, 26, had some narrow escapes on the peaks but it was after they came down that their troubles really began.

The two tried to join the 1962 British expedition to climb Mount McKinley in Alaska and when this failed, they decided to go to the far northern U.S. state on their own.

After making their way to Canada separately, they joined up in Ottawa, bought a car and set out on the 3,000-mile drive to Alaska, working their way through the Canadian provinces and up the Alaska highway to the Yukon with a variety of jobs.

Since only approved parties of good size are allowed to attempt Mount McKinley, Smythe and Biven turned to other peaks.

From Talkeetna, in south-central Alaska, bush pilot Don Sheldon flew them to Ruth Glacier from where the 10-mile approach to the base of 10,200-foot Mount Dan Beard took them four days on foot—three of which were spent stormbound by a blizzard.

"The actual ascent and descent took about 18 hours and we stood on the summit at midnight on July 13," Biven recalls.

Smythe says the climbing of Dan Beard was "nothing really difficult" but several times they slipped into crevasses saw them up to their waists in treacherous snow.

Before climbing Dan Beard they two conquered the Moose's Tooth, a formidable 10,335-foot mountain "shaped like a molar with twin peaks." The climb took them three days and there was a constant danger of snowslides.

After climbing for two weeks they built a log raft, lashed together with climbing ropes, on which they hoped to float downstream from the Ruth Glacier to Talkeetna.

But as soon as the raft was launched it was smashed to bits in the mountain torrent and Smythe and Biven barely escaped. Their equipment was lost but they saved their packs and some food.

The two walked overland to the Susitna River and built a second raft but it piled up on a sand bar, leaving them stranded on an island.

Without food or firearms, they scratched an S O S in the sand, laid out brightly-colored shirts, built a fire and waited for rescue. An airplane saw their S O S while flying a regular sight-seeing run and they were rescued.

Immigration Department Criticized by Missionary

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP)! — To thousands of Chinese scraping their living in the tiny British colony of Hong Kong, Canada is like a paradise guarded by dragons and jungle cable dragon—the immigration department—says a Canadian missionary.

Rev. Walton H. Tonge, chaplain and dean at Chung Chi College about 15 miles from Hong Kong's capital of Victoria, says Canadian immigration laws work hardship on the Chinese in two ways.

Canada was lagging in accepting Chinese students from Hong Kong for study at universities in this country. And it was difficult for Chinese families in Canada to adopt orphaned children from Hong Kong.

Mr. Tonge, minister 10 years ago of Lakefield United Church here, is home on a year's leave with his wife and four children.

For students, he says, Canadian immigration policy presents few difficulties even than Australia which permits no permanent Chinese immigration but has opened its universities to Hong Kong students.

Many students from Chung Chi College went to the United State and Britain. Few came to Canada. The only universities here that welcomed his students were McGill in Montreal and Western Ontario in London. The others, especially the University of Toronto, did not seem to want Hong Kong students at all.

HOME FOR ELEPHANS

Mrs. Tonge does her part in helping handle the chronic social problems brought about by the continuing stream of refugees into Hong Kong. She runs a home for unwanted babies.

Dozens of abandoned children find their way into her home are nursed back to health and then at eight is made to find homes for them.

Can't Forget the Other Boy

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS— I am a married woman of 21 years with two children. I've started to write you many times, but I am so ashamed that I tear up the letter.

My problem is this; I cannot get over a boy I used to date before I was married. Although he is two years younger than I, doesn't make any difference. I love my husband and hate to hurt him. Ours was a rushed "shotgun wedding," but my husband and I were married seven months before this worry started.

It seems I'll never forget the other boy. I admire and respect this boy and I worry about him, and hope he doesn't mess up his life in any way.

Why should I always have him on my mind? One time a year ago I even phoned him. I felt so ashamed afterwards. I'm sure he thought me foolish and scatterbrained.

Please, I get so miserable sometimes. If you can give me advice, or even insult me, maybe it will shock me into seeing how foolish and childish I really am.—MARRIED AND MUDDLED.

DEAR MARRIED—The insult which will help will be when news comes that he has married someone else. Meanwhile I sympathize.

You enjoyed some good times with him and feel a little guilty. That's all. Now you've got good times ahead, and you're well away on a lifetime of satisfactions, if you'll have it that way. Some girls would give their eye teeth for what you've got.

Do you know just how good marriage can be? That you can make love grow into something you never dreamed, at 19? I'm sending along the name of a book about it, by a prominent Canadian woman doctor; my favorite on the subject.

* * *

DEAR DORIS—We have an epileptic 12-year-old boy, whose seizures are partly controlled by drugs. He has also become a disciplinary problem and has outbursts of temper, throwing things, etc. and must be watched constantly.

This has always fallen on my shoulders as my husband is away a great deal. Since we have four other boys I feel that I often neglect them in favor of the other one. I also feel he is with me so much that it isn't good for him either.

Can we find a school that will take him at a reasonable cost? Preferably close enough so that we can have him home weekends so that he doesn't feel we have abandoned him.—END OF MY ROPE.

* * *

DEAR END—It's time for a change. Mothers in your state need relief. And your other boys must not be shortchanged any longer.

A residential school for the boy, at 13, may be just what he needs. There are assorted schools for such cases right across Canada. Get your Children's Aid Society, 63 West Moira Street, Belleville, to help you find one.

* * *

DEAR DORIS—When you say "See a counsellor, who do you mean. My doctor, or a psychologist, or what?—IN THE DARK.

* * *

DEAR IN—I mean a trained social worker. May be called marriage counsellor or child guidance worker; more often "case worker" — one of the staff of a family or child care agency.

Main thing is, he or she has studied human behavior and has learned, at college, how to "treat" social ills and individuals with problems.

Just as medicine, certain principles apply in the treatment of individual stresses; and cures depend on some understanding of causes.

(If you need help, tell a trained person your problem. Doris will be glad to answer your letter.)

Hong Kong to Peking Trip Introduces Newcomer to Bewildering Contradictions

By ADAM KELLETT-LONG

PEKING (Reuters) — The three-day, 2,000-mile train journey from Hong Kong to Peking gives the newcomer to Communist China a swift, kaleidoscopic introduction to the bewildering contradictions, impressive accomplishments and still unsolved problems of the world's first known Communist state.

The combination of ancient and modern, vitality and apparent sloth, noise and peace, floods and drought which overwhelm the visitor is always fascinating and sometimes confusing.

As soon as the traveller enters Communist China at the quiet frontier post of Shumchun, he is aware that he has left the Western - influenced world of sky scrapers, neon lights and air-conditioning.

In a large clean waiting room at the post, hot tea or beer were on sale to refresh the visitor, but overhead, an electric fan was motionless in the hot July air.

"I am very sorry, but there is a shortage of electricity at the moment," a guide explained apologetically.

NO AIR-CONDITIONING

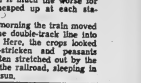
In a large, modern, white brick hotel in Canton, south China's largest industrial city, reached after a three-hour train trip from the border, an air-conditioning vent showed tantalizingly on the wall—but again it was not working.

"This hotel was completed only last November," another guide explained.

Peking-bound travellers have a 24-hour stopover in Canton because the Hong Kong train just misses connecting with the daily afternoon express to the capital.

From the Canton hotel roof there is a panorama of factory chimneys, only half of them smoking, modern buildings in heavy, Soviet-style architecture, buildings half-finished and apparently temporarily abandoned and hundreds of the wooden and brick one-storey buildings which house most of Canton's population.

From the windows of a gleaming Mercedes taxi, in air-conditioned comfort, the visitor passes through streets crowded with pedestrians, buses, bicycles and pedicabs, some carrying passengers, others huge loads of crates and farm produce, but another car was in sight.



NEW SWIMMING POOLS

Past modern parks, museums, stadiums and sparkling new swimming pools, the taxi drove to the great Pearl River which flows through Canton, teeming with junks and sampans where thousands of Cantonese live.

The Peking Express, made up of 12 cars, most of them Pullmans, moves along a single-track line through lush green fields where modern irrigation schemes contrast with the centuries-old watering methods of China—tiny waterfalls cascading down terraced rice fields.

In the stations the express passed local trains jammed with laughing, smiling travellers and long freight trains. But the fact that there were long waits on the rare sections of double-track helped to account for the large piles of freight, some of it much the worse for wear, heaped up at each station.

Next morning the train moved along the double-track line into Peking. Here, the crops looked drought-stricken and peasants were often stretched out by the side of the railroad, sleeping in the hot sun.

Marysburgh

MONTEVIDEO (Reuters) — Uruguay is a used car dealer's paradise, or as one visitor put it, "The happy hunting ground for old jalopies."

Buyers are lured by a few examples from the used car column of the classified ads section of El Dia, Uruguay's leading newspaper:

1926 Overland, double Phaeton, $600; 1929 Dodge, $600; 1930 Marmon, $700; 1931 Oldsmobile $700; 1931 Studebaker, $800; 1936 Chevrolet, $1,300; 1937 Ford, $1,500; 1938 Lincoln, $1,-200; 1947 Oldsmobile, $1,500; 1948 Nash, $2,100; 1948 Chrysler, $2,200.

Every day of the week Montevideo looks like the middle of a classic car rally as cars that would be museum pieces in other countries crowd the streets of the capital, kept running not through the sentiment of their owners but simply because they will still do a day's work.

Some of the cars to be seen daily in Montevideo would make an old car collector green with envy — Overlands, Whippets, Marmons, Erskines, Rugbys and other almost forgotten models from the days when the automobile was young.

The reason behind the high price of used cars and the astronomical price for new ones—$18,000 for an average-sized sedan—is two-fold: An enormous public demand and punitive import duties.

Little three-wheel European runabouts such as the Messerschmidt and Goggomobile sell for between $2,000 and $4,-000 apiece.

But Uruguay, with a population only 3,000,000, doesn't offer a large enough market to attract a car manufacturer and has no car assembly plants, so all cars must be imported.

In a largely futile effort to curb demand and avoid investment of scarce foreign exchange on luxury goods, the government has placed a 300-per-cent tax on imported cars. A previous 150-per-cent import tax, however, did nothing to quench the Uruguayans' burning desire to own a car.

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Splashed in vivid colors on the side of the new Bolivian embassy of mines and petroleum is a huge mural that suggests the country's struggle for freedom.

The figures are grotesque, faceless and have large, grasping hands.

Critics of Bolivia's ruling National Revolutionary Movement (MNR), and there are nearly all sneers.

Most critics tend to place the blame for everything on the MNR. But the country has its share of natural handicaps. It is a backward mountainous country ravaged by illiteracy, hunger and poverty. It lacks the iron mineral riches.

More Effective Use Of Female Working Force Recommended in Report

OTTAWA (CP)—The Glassco royal commission today called upon the federal government, Canada's biggest employer of women, to give creative leadership in more effective use of the female working force.

"It should prudently experiment with job assignments, and training and development principles to end the waste of abilities and qualifications well suited to these talentwasted and senior positions for which talent will be increasingly scarce in future."

The all-male commission, in its first report on government organization, found that on the whole the government as an employer has discriminated against women less than have most employers in commerce and industry.

But Canada trailed the United States and Britain in the number of women it allows to reach senior positions in the public service.

COULD GIVE LEADERSHIP

"The government, in employing women, is not precluded from pioneering new standards for the community," indeed, because of the number and wide range of jobs which it has to offer to women, the government of Canada has a better than average opportunity for giving creative leadership."

The policy of equality of treatment for women, implicit in the Civil Service Act, was not fully implemented in practice.

Traditional views on the suitability of women for many types of work and kinds of responsibility as well as real factors of cost resulting from higher absenteeism and turnover, undoubtedly combined to produce this result.

"There are few cases of women being appointed to senior levels of management. The evidence is that women with the necessary qualifications experience and ability do not receive equal consideration with men for such appointments."

This was particularly true for positions involving the supervision of men.

LACK SKILLS

However, the commission added, "apart from the clerical occupations, an important factor limiting the number of women employed is the relative scarcity of women candidates with particular skills."

Officially, there was no discrimination against women in classification and pay systems.

For instance, a nurse in the federal service reached a maximum of $6,200 a year whereas a male hospital orderly trained on the job may reach $4,500. A hospital cook $4,500, a hospital storeman $5,200.

Most persons—60,000 women, or 27.7 per cent of the civil service work force, were on the government payroll as of September, 1960. This compared with a proportion of 18.7 per cent in 1937.

More Than Year Later Case of Ann Marie Burr Still Agonizing Mystery

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Say you are the parents of four happy children, living in pleasant home in a quiet neighborhood. Then one morning you awaken and learn that your eight-year-old daughter is gone from her bedroom.

There is a frantic search. Days, weeks and months pass and there are only false clues and dead ends.

This happened to Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Burr the morning of Aug. 31, 1961. More than a year later the case of pretty Marie Burr still is an agonizing mystery.

It was cold and rainy that Aug. 31, Mrs. Burr, 33, awakened shortly after 5:30 a.m. She heard their youngest child, Mary, 3, crying. Mary was merely bothered by a cast put on her arm after an accident. The other children, Greg, 5, and Julie, 7, were asleep in a basement bedroom.

But when Mrs. Burr looked in Ann Marie's bedroom, it was empty.

Mrs. Burr searched every room and closet in the two-story brick home. Then they called police.

There was ample cause for alarm. The front door, locked and latched with a night chain and opening from the inside. A small living room window, closed the night before, also was open. A little breeze from the window was overturned.

Donald and Beverly Burr live now in 3 tangled web of conjecture, hope and supposition—hoping against mounting odds that their blonde, hazel-eyed daughter may be alive. No ransom was asked—No cut-and-dried motive is available.

Tacoma police are just as puzzled.

Missing person bulletins have been sent to every state and to Canada and Mexico. When Ann Marie first disappeared, hundreds of searchers combed the area. Not a trace was found.

Police made a house-to-house check of the neighborhood. All known child molesters and sex cases were questioned.

With no proof Ann Marie was dead, police have kept every stand by to assist. Today, while police are almost certain there was foul play, the case still has not been listed officially as a homicide.

The night of the child's disappearance, the parents went to bed about 11 p.m. They locked and chained the front door, locked the back door and made sure all the windows were closed.

Sometime during the night, Ann Marie brought her little sister downstairs because she was crying. Uncertain of the time and not fully awake, Mrs. Burr sent the children back upstairs. It was the last time she saw Ann Marie.

Investigators found no sign of a struggle in Ann Marie's bedroom and nothing disturbed in the house.

Weddings

ROOT — McINTYRE

Tall standards of pastel shades of gladioli 'mums and potted ferns adorned the altar of Melville United Church on Saturday, August 11th, at 2.30 p.m. for a lovely summer wedding, when Miranda Christine McIntyre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McIntyre became the bride of Earl Frederick Root, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Root, all of Concession, R.R. 2, The Rev. C. W. Coleman of Belleville, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Mr. James Corradi, Belleville, guest soloist, provided the wedding music while Mrs. Ralph Sine, Belleville, guest soloist, sang "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony, and "Because" while the register was being signed.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charming in her full-length gown of white Chantilly lace over satin fashioned with square neckline accented in seed pearls and crystals. The long, tapered sleeves ended in lily points over the wrists. She wore a crown of seed pearls with a shoulder-length veil of silk tulle illusion and carried a bouquet of red Sweetheart roses.

Her attendants included her sister Mrs. Allen Lumley, Hartler, as matron of honor, and Mrs. Robert Dobbs, Belleville, as bridesmaid. The matron of honor and bridesmaid were gowned in mist green and mauve waltz-length dresses respectively of silk organza over taffeta with matching bell sleeves, round necklines trimmed in lace rosebuds with matching headdresses. They wore white shoes and gloves and carried cascades of yellow 'mums. Drop pearl necklaces and earrings, gifts of the bride, completed their ensembles.

Little Donna Root, Consecon, niece of the bridegroom, was sweet as flower girl in white silk chiffon with bouffant skirt and matching bow. She wore a band of yellow silk flowers and while accessories and carried a basket of yellow and white 'mums. A white gold locket, gift of the bride, completed her ensemble.

Mr. Fred Brandt, Stirling, attended the bridegroom and Leonard Root of Consecon, and Dominic Degazio, of Niagara Falls, ushered in the guests.

The reception was held in Allisonville Hall with the bride's table appointed with white gladiolus lined with white and yellow 'mums and centred with a wedding cake adorned with miniature bride and bridegroom. Tall white candles and yellow bouquets completed the nuptial setting.

The bride's mother received guests wearing a green flowered organza with white accessories and corsage of yellow carnations. The groom's mother assisted, wearing a navy sheath gown of shantung with white accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls the bride chose a dress of pale green tiered with white accessories and a corsage of white roses. On leaving she presented her wedding bouquet to her grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Sine, of Stirling.

Guests were present from Belleville, Stirling, Halloway, Trenton, Picton, Wellington, Bloomfield and Niagara Falls.

They received a telegram from their minister the Rev. D. Pipe, Ilford, England, who was unable to be present.

Previous to her marriage the bride was feted to a shower by the Northern Electric girls and also at a presentation from the Northern Electric staff. She received a white Bible from Melville Sunday School.

BAGSHAW—ZEBEDEE

An all-white summer wedding of local interest took place recently, in Christ Church, Belleville, when Carol Margaret Zebedee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Storms of R.R. 2, Frankford, was united in marriage to David H. L. Bagshaw, of Trenton, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bagshaw.

The Reverend Everett P. Smith, assistant rector of the church, officiated in the double-ring ceremony before a sanctuary adorned with white gladioli, and guest pews designated by white satin bows.

Mr. John Croyden Withers presided at the console of the organ and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Lloyd Bagshaw, of Sunderland, uncle of the bridegroom, in his rendition of the wedding hymns "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

The lovely bride, given in marriage by Mr. Joseph Storms, was radiant in her white brocaded lace wedding gown, fashioned in floor-length in bouffant style over hoops with tiers of lace cascading into a chapel train. The molded bodice featured a scalloped neckline with tiny cap sleeves. She wore a crown of seed pearls and aurora borealis with shoulder-length veil of nylon tulle, and carried a white Bible crested with yellow roses and ivy mingled with white stephanotis, and yellow rosebud-accented streamers. White satin slippers and white lace mitts, and a crystal necklace completed her wedding ensemble.

The bridal attendants were the bridegroom's sister, Miss Elizabeth Bagshaw, as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Sheila Milne of Toronto and Miss Anna Archer of Belleville. They were gowned in white silk organza over taffeta, fashioned in short, full skirts accented by green cummerbunds and sashes. The bodices featured round necklines and cap sleeves. They wore crystal necklaces with matching earrings, gifts of the bride, and headdresses of white clustered roses and net, and carried cascade bouquets of yellow Shasta 'mums, ivy and white stephanotis.

The two little sisters of the bride, the Misses Patricia and Rosemary Storms, were flower-girls, the contrast of dark and fair accented their roles. They wore frocks of white nylon organza over taffeta with white slippers and white gloves, with white daisy bandeaux, and carried tiny baskets of yellow Shasta 'mums with trailing ivy.

The bridegroom was attended by his uncle, Mr. Douglas McGuire, of Haliburton, and the ushers were Mr. Stephen Shenstell, of Trenton, and Mr. Bill Zebedee, brother of the bride.

The reception was held in the Christ Church parish hall, where the guests were received by the bride's mother, Mrs. Storms, who wore a pale blue silk linen sheath with white accessories, a small white hat and white orchid corsage. She was assisted by Mrs. Bagshaw, the bridegroom's mother, attired in a turquoise linen sheath, with overskirt; white pillbox hat; matching accessories, and corsage of a pink orchid.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Archer, of Belleville, and Mrs. Leslie McGuire, of Haliburton, the bridegroom's maternal grandmother was also present.

The bride's table was centred by a three-tier wedding cake, decorated with roses on the top and sides. Silver candelabra with tall white candles and the bridal bouquets completed the pretty setting.

The Reverend Everett Smith was toastmaster.

Before leaving for the wedding trip to the 1000 Islands the bride tossed her flowers, and Miss Mary Donsko was the lucky guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Bagshaw will reside in Frankford, Ontario.

Guests were present from Trenton, Belleville, Frankford, Tweed, Toronto, Sunderland and Haliburton.

The bridegroom's gifts to his attendants were tie bars and cuff links.

GREEN — FINKLE

A lovely double-ring wedding took place on Saturday, August 25, at 3.30 p.m. in King Street United Church, Trenton, Ontario, when Carolyn Jean Finkle, of Trenton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Henry Finkle, became the bride of George Ronald Green, of Belleville, son of Mrs. E. E. Green, of Belleville, and the late Mr. Green. Tall standards of yellow 'mums and gladioli interspersed with ferns, and candelabra, formed a beautiful background for the ceremony at which the Reverend J. T. Irwin officiated.

Mrs. Clarence Brooks rendered the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Miss Anne Doxsee, as she sang, "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony, and "The Wedding Prayer", during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. C. H. Finkle, the bride was charming in her floor-length bridal gown of white organza and taffeta with molded bodice having a yoke of imported French appliqued lace. She wore a short veil in the dress of white seeded pearls and fingertip veil of silk illusion, and carried a cascade of lawny-gold roses.

Mrs. Keith Latchford, of Toronto, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, and the bridesmaid Miss Margaret Finkle, of Trenton were gowned identically in pale lime brocaded taffeta with rhine-tone tiaras, matching shoes, and carried bouquets of pale lime low and Snowdrift 'mums.

The little flower girl, Miss Judalon Jefferies, of Calstock, Ontario niece of the bridegroom, was dressed in white chiffon over taffeta with pale blue cummerbund, matching bandeau and carrying a basket of yellow Snowdrift 'mums.

Mr. Kenwood Green of Belleville, attended the bridegroom, while Messrs. James Green, of Bronte and William Green of Belleville, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors, when the bride's table was appointed in the traditional fashion with white damask and centred by a three-tier all white wedding cake with touches of blue, and flanked by candelabra and the bridal bouquets.

The bride's mother received, gowned in pure silk organza over blue floral print fashioned in sheath style with jacket; blue organza hat, and white accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses. Assisting her in the receiving line was the bridegroom's mother, wearing a Swiss embroidery pure silk organza sheath over blue nylon taffeta, with side drape; white accessories, and corsage of pink carnations.

For the honeymoon to the Muskoka area, the bride chose a champagne beige eyelet Madras sheath with black accessories, and corsage of yellow roses.

Prior to her marriage, the bride was entertained at a miscellaneous shower in Peterborough given by the bride's school class; at a cup and saucer shower given by Miss Anne Doxsee, with the teaching staff in attendance; by a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Ian Darling and Miss Grace Preston, and at a pantry shower given by Mrs. Johnson Brandt.

Mr. and Mrs. Green are residing at 119 West Bridge St., Belleville.

Keep dangerous clutter off the back steps by installing plenty of hooks and narrow shelves on the walls around the back door, to house the LESS things which need to be stored there.

Margret's New Ladies' Wear Store Opened

Margret's Ladies' Wear opened this morning, in their new location, 194 Front St., Belleville. This is almost directly across the street from their old location.

The store, owned and operated by Mrs. Margarette Machold and Mrs. Ethel Sills, opened originally during July of 1961. Mrs. Sills, formerly a saleswoman for a large chain store, and Mrs. Machold, formerly assistant to her accountant husband specialize in the Catalina line of sportswear.

It was in June of this year, after just 11 months in their old location, that they decided on the move. An important reason for the decision was the vacancy of the present store, formerly a wholesale office and warehouse, which gave them the opportunity to expand. The owners of the building renovated the store, and Margret's moved in.

Mrs. advantages of the new location are the larger stock now carried and more and larger fitting rooms. Mrs. Jean Carter, assistant in the store, remains with the firm.

PROLIFIC WRITER — Shirley Ruth May of St. Catharines, Ont., mother of six children, gets ready to type another article in a steady output that reaches about 100,000 words a year. She has been a selling writer for five years, turning out adult and juvenile fiction, articles, a newspaper column and comic strips. (CP Photo).

Success Did Not Come Overnight to Writer

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — Raising six children and three dogs would appear to be enough to keep any ordinary woman busy, but not Shirley Ruth May.

The energetic 32 - year - old woman is writing and selling 100,000 words a year of adult and juvenile fiction and articles, along with a weekly column in the St. Catharines Standard.

She also finds time to teach a course in creative writing at Queen Mary School to a class that includes English teachers and principals a swell as aspiring authors.

Success didn't come overnight to Mrs. May who has been a selling writer for five years. For five years, before 1957 she carried time and again without selling a story. She accumulated 88 rejection slips from various editors.

Her first paying proposition came when she bit on the idea of a column in The Standard dealing with people and their interesting and unusual hobbies.

From then on she had many demands for her work, especially her stories for children which began to appear in The Family Herald. Other publications that have bought her work include Chatelaine, The Star Weekly, Jack and Jill and Country Guide.

STORIES FOR TEXT

Some of her children's stories have been chosen by an American textbook company to be used by schools next year and Mrs. May is proud of the fact they will also be transcribed into braille for blind children.

Some of Mrs. May's Star Weekly stories have been republished in England, Denmark, The Netherlands and Belgium. And her Standard column has been reprinted in Scotland.

A photography enthusiast, she has often supplied the illustrations for her stories.

"I enjoy photographing animals. I think they're worse hams than people when they get in front of the camera. Once they've caught on to what's happening I've actually seen them push each other trying to get into the limelight."

Mrs. May says her six children, ranging from 1½ to 12, are a help rather than a hindrance to her writing career. They and their friends often serve as real-life models for her children's stories.

She writes about five hours a week, working in a small converted pantry that looks out on the yard so she can keep her eye on the children.

Mrs. May has the knack of getting her work down on paper without the need for rewriting.

"I usually have to work it out in my mind first. Often I do this while I'm working with my hands, peeling potatoes, scrubbing floors, anything that leaves the mind free. Then when I've got what I want to say organized in my mind I begin to write."

As for financial success, she says: "Most of the money is used for bills and things around the house."

Car-Ried-Away Bread

by Mary Moore

In a current magazine the bachelor-author "ate" a short article on dining out describing a meal he has eaten, giving the French names of the dishes and a slight idea of the atmosphere of the restaurant. The last sentence reads "I thought $30, for such a good dinner and drinks for three was quite reasonable."

The day before I had received a letter from a harassed wife whose husband gives her $25. per week to buy the groceries and soaps and paper goods for four. She says he is a successful businessman. He started giving her $25. per week when they were married in 1945 and expects her to make it stretch now that food costs and family have doubled. He will not discuss the budget with her. Her plea for help is pitiful and I have sent her budgeting help.

The diversion of points of view of the spendthrift bachelor and the miserly husband is great, but there are thousands who take the middle road.

It smooths my wrinkled brow to hear that the wife of one of our leading surgeons made thrifty jars of tomato butter because her husband likes it so much.

My sister reminded me of my enthusiasm for Dilly Bread in the Fall of 1960. Recently she made it and it was the hit of a dinner aprty she served to some visiting celebrities. She in turn became so carried-away about its simplicity and deliciousness that she doctored up the recipe with some caraway seeds and cheese. Today I am going to give it to you again with her changes.

Strike a balance between extravagant entertaining and miserly providing by going on a "making-it-yourself" campaign.

Make this loaf next time you need a gift for a sick friend. Or when you entertain bring it to the table hot, on the cutting board. Have the host slice it thickly and pass it on the point of his long knife to the guest. Sweet butter is heavenly with it but margarine is good too.

CAR-RIED-AWAY BREAD:

1 packet active dry yeast (or 1 cake compressed yeast), ¼ cup warm water, 1 cup creamed cottage cheese, heated to lukewarm (see note), 1 cup grated old cheese, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon instance minced onion, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 teaspoon caraway seed, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon soda, 1 unbeaten egg, 2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour.

Many Attend Pentecostal Opening

STIRLING — On September 2, the members of the new Good Tidings Pentecostal Church in Stirling, with their friends, filled the church to capacity for their special services. The pastor, Rev. Robert Donnan, conducted the joyful singing and welcomed the large number in attendance.

The guest soloist, Miss Saren Chuk of Toronto rendered two vocal selections in the afternoon, "Bless This House" and "How Great Thou Art." In the evening she rendered "I Believe Had A Vision of Jesus," "It's So Wonderful" and "How I Love Jesus."

The guest speaker in the afternoon was the Rev. Walter McAllister of Toronto, general superintendent of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada. The evening speaker was the Rev. G. Noble of St. John's, Newfoundland. He is conducting a campaign at the church for the next two weeks with services each evening. A special get-together rally was held both afternoon and evening on the Monday (Labor Day).

The new church is built of cement blocks and has a seating capacity in the main auditorium for 125 people. At the Sunday services there were capacity crowds at both services and extra chairs were needed for the overflow crowd, who came from various points to enjoy the fellowship.

Late in May of this year the Stirling assembly held a special service on their newly-acquired property on Front Street, west of the Frankford corner. The first sod was turned by the Rev. A. Hodgen who pioneered Pentecostal work in Stirling for four years beginning in 1956. In 1958 Mr. Donnan was chosen as pastor and through his efforts and much voluntary labor on the part of the members the group now has realized its ambition of a new church. The cost of this new structure will be approximately $12,000.

NOTE:

Be sure to heat the cottage cheese very slowly and just a little, because if you do not it will form into a tough rubbery ball.

Soften yeast in water for 5 minutes. Combine softened yeast in mixing bowl with cottage cheese, grated old cheese, sugar, onion, butter, caraway seed, salt, soda and egg. Add flour gradually to form a stiff dough, pausing to beat well after each addition. Cover and let rise for 2 to 2½ hours at room temperature until dough is light and doubled in size. Stir down dough. Turn into well-greased 2" round casserole of 6-cup capacity. Let rise until light and risen 2" higher than rim of baking dish. (Or put in refrigerator, uncovered, for about 8 hours). Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. if loaf has come directly from refrigerator it will require 1 hour baking. If it has risen at room temperature it requires 50 minutes. Be sure not to underbake this loaf for a good, crisp brown crust is one of its charms. If desired, brush with butter and sprinkle with salt after baking but while still hot.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Martha E — She'd better not mention us in her novel.

Beth T.—The others don't care, Why should Martha?

Martha E. — My cousin Beth won a short-story contest in college and now she's out to write a novel. She says she wrote a few chapters already and sent them to a publisher who is encouraging her to finish the thing. When she sat down with me a few days ago to ask me what I remembered about our grandmother, I suddenly put two and two together. Her contemplated book will be about the family!

Has she a right to blazon forth our intimate family secrets? Can't she think of anything else to write about? I'll tell her this much — I don't want her to put anything about me, my husband or my children in her story. If she does we'll get a lawyer. There must be some protection a person can get against the blabbermouths she's related to.

Beth T. — So much tumult and shouting from Martha, and all she's doing is trying to fill in some background gaps in my own knowledge of family matters. I've been asking aunts, uncles, brothers, sisters and cousins to refresh their memories for interesting recollections. Everyone's been pleased about my project. It's only Martha who thinks I'll be telling tales out of school.

I can't figure out her antipathy. Certainly there's nothing about her own life to be ashamed of. Strangely one of my uncles who's really the "black sheep" of the family has been the most co-operative. He bends my ear every day now with his revelations, many of which should be kept under wraps. With Martha's attitude nothing would ever be written.

The Council: Martha may take heart — even though part of the reason comes at Beth's expense. Not all neatly typed novels reach publication, and not all published novels get widely read. Further since most first novels are assumed by perceptive critics to be autobiographical, however much camouflaged, Beth will be wary about what she reveals about herself and her own mores. So the chances of anything juicy about Martha being served up to the world at large are just about nil.

On the other hand, Beth must bear in mind the lines in the statute books about "invasion of privacy". Bitter discontentment, including lawsuits, accounts for the families' love in prefaces: "Any resemblance to living persons, etc . . . is coincidental." By means of true artistry, honest motives and tasteful delicacy, our truly great writers have managed to protect their "sources," even when these are immediate family and close friends.

A moving example at hand to interest Beth is a brand-new novel called "A Family's Affair," winner of the Houghton Mifflin-Esquire Fellowship Award for its author, Ellen Douglas. And who is she? We don't know, because to spare her living relatives, she writes under a pseudonym. The tale digs into skeletons in the family closet and feuds, as well as high points of glory and triumph. Sensitively and artistically executed, and the unfortunately grounded, the world comes across as pure fiction and no member of Miss Douglas' family is likely to be looking for a lawyer.

Other writers have used other means to pour out their impressions about kin. Somerset Maugham, Eugene O'Neill and Fanny Hurst are among those who have made it known that some of their writings are locked up and may not be published until after their own death, or that of certain members of their families. Tom Wolfe, one recalls, masked the names of his home town and its family. Nevertheless, some embarrassment ensued. But today 30 years after "Look Homeward, Angel" appeared, all is forgiven and the home folks smile hum.

So to Martha and Beth we say, if a book is good it's because it helps us understand ourselves, it deals with universals and eternals. Petty nips between cousins wouldn't even get past the first desk.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS BY PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

Question: When my daughter was born six months ago, a number of presents were sent to her at the hospital. Unfortunately, one or two cards were thrown away with the wrappings, so I never was able to send notes acknowledging them. I've just a bitter disappointment. One of the gifts, a lovely wrapper, had been sent by a friend of my mother's. Mother met her at a party recently, and she seemed quite put out that she had never received a note or even a phone call. I'm very embarrassed about this, and wonder if I should now send a note, considering the time lapse and the fact that she's obviously miffed. I'm not even sure she'd remember if I told her the truth about why I haven't been able to acknowledge the present. Should I bother, or just let the matter ride? — Mrs. C.B., Chicago, Ill.

Answer: Whether or not she believes you a note should be sent. To help smooth things over, you might enclose a snapshot of the baby — in the wrapper, if you have one — and include an invitation for a personal visit at the earliest opportunity.

Question: We had a couple as house guests a short time ago and were invited to bring them with us when we went to dine at the home of a friend. I introduced them to our hostess when we arrived. She then told me to take them into the living room and introduce them to her other guests, whom I luckily knew. I felt rather awkward about this, and thought she should have made the introductions. What is usually done in such a matter? — Mrs. D.L., New York City

Answer: The hostess should have made any additional introductions, herself, after greeting you and your house guests at the door.

Sask. Medical Care Plan Has Provided Province With Best Service in N.A.

By SCOTT SCHILL

REGINA (CP) — Launching this summer of Saskatchewan's controversial medical care plan has provided the province's 920,000 residents with the most complete public health insurance services in North America.

The only health need not now covered fully is drugs although most drugs for hospital patients are paid for through insurance.

Saskatchewan first moved into the public health field in 1911 with comprehensive free care for tuberculosis patients. Free mental health care was inaugurated in 1914.

In 1930 free treatment and diagnosis of cancer was instituted. In 1947 the present socialist CCF government began steps to provide a complete public health service by starting a compulsory hospital insurance plan.

On July 1 this year a compulsory medical insurance plan was launched. It was bitterly opposed by the province's doctors until an agreement on modifications was reached July 23.

Settlement of the dispute left four avenues open to Saskatchewan residents in seeking medical care.

MAY CHOOSE DOCTOR

They may go to a doctor working directly with the Saskatchewan Medical Care Insurance Commission which administers the plan. The doctor bills the commission directly and is paid 85 per cent of the 1959 fee schedule set by the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons.

The patient may join a voluntary medical health group, under which the doctor bills the voluntary agency, with the agency paying him 85 per cent and collecting reimbursement from the commission.

The patient may go to a doctor practising outside the medical care plan, pay the bill in full and submit the bill and necessary information for reimbursement at the 85-per-cent rate from the commission.

He may deal with a doctor practising entirely outside the act and pay his own bill without recourse to the commission for reimbursement.

Settlement of the controversy over medical care came about only after concessions from both the doctors and government. The most significant government concessions were to permit doctors to practise outside the plan and to allow voluntary agencies to handle payments to doctors. But the fact remains that residents of Saskatchewan are compelled to pay taxes and premiums to finance the government plan whether or not they choose to be reimbursed by the plan.

SALES TAX PAYS

Medical care is financed by personal premiums, a percentage of the sales tax—raised to 5 per cent last Jan. 1—and increases in personal and corporation income taxes. The plan is expected to cost $21,000,000 in its first full year of operation but will take only about $9,000,000 this year.

Since the plan was not scheduled to be in operation more than six months this year the government decided no personal premiums were necessary for 1962. The premiums, $24 a year if family and $12 if single person, will be collected for 1963 along with hospital insurance premiums in November.

The medical care premiums are expected to provide slightly more than $6,000,000 a year.

The annual hospital insurance premiums are $48 for a family and $24 for a single person over 18 and self-supporting.

The government quotes statistics to show that a family with an income of about $3,500 a year would pay $48.03 for the medical care plan. This is calculated on $24 for the premium, $18.75 as the medical care portion of sales tax (assuming the family spends about $1,250 on taxable purchases) and $5.28 in extra income tax.

Private medical insurance cost about $84 a year before the provincial plan went into operation.

Cost of the hospital insurance is $48 premium plus $18.75 as the hospital portion of the sales tax on the same $1,250 spent on taxable goods.

Thus total cost of the hospital and medical plans for a family with income of $3,500 would be $134.78.

Income Tax Explained

Written and designed for the taxpayer who is not in a position to employ the services of a professional accountant or visit an Income Tax Office.

By C. A. MILLER
Former Supervising Assessor
Income Tax Dept.

When a taxpayer obtains a divorce during the year it is sometimes difficult to determine how this will affect the income tax return for that year.

If the husband was voluntary supporting the wife and family up to the time the decree was granted, he will claim the ordinary exemption allowed to a married man for that year. If he starts paying alimony during the year, he cannot make any deduction for the payments made if he claims an exemption for the wife and children. If, however the alimony payments made in that year exceed the allowable exemption for his wife and family, then he should not claim any personal exemption for them but deduct from his income the alimony payments made.

If there existed a written separation agreement or a court order for support of the wife and family prior to the divorce, then the total of both the separation payments prior to the divorce and the alimony payments made afterwards are deductible from his income. To be deductible without question by the income tax department, a full explanation of the case, together with the supporting receipts for payments made, should be attached to the tax return.

The divorced wife does not have to show on her returns any payments that were voluntarily made by her former husband. She will have to report as income, alimony received after the divorce, as well as any amount ordered by the courts to be paid to her by her husband. The allowable exemptions for any children of a divorced couple will be covered in a future article.

• • •

Question 1 — I was divorced from my wife in October. I voluntarily supported her up to that time. We had no separation agreement. After the divorce I have to pay her $200 a month. How is this handled on my tax return?

Answer — As there did not exist any separation agreement or court order up until the time of divorce, you may claim the full exemption for her during the year. You cannot deduct the alimony paid, if you take the full exemption for your wife.

• • •

Question 2 — I divorced my husband in October. I receive no alimony for myself but do receive $10 per week for each of my three children. Do I have to show this on my tax return?

Answer — Yes. This is considered to be income in your hands as specifically laid down in the Income Tax Act.

• • •

Question 3 - I have lived as man and wife for the past two years with a woman who has one child. Can I claim an exemption on their benefit? I am a single man.

• • •

Answer — You may claim $1000 for the child and if your common-law wife has no income you may also claim the child as a dependent. Your exemption would be $2,250 as this woman would qualify as a full time housekeeper.

• • •

Question 4 - My wife is employed and fully supports herself. We live together and I am considered single for income tax purposes. Why can I not claim an additional $1,000 exemption on one of our children?

Answer - There is a section of the income tax act which specifically covers this point (sec. 26 (2) (b) which states that when a man and wife live together during the year, he will be deemed to have supported her during the year.

Students Work on Forest Improvement Projects for Lands and Forests Dept.

By JOHN YORSTON

ST. JULES DE CASPACADIA Que. (CP)—Every morning at a silent forest clearing near this Gaspe Peninsula community Quebec's blue and white fleur de lys flag is raised and 60 youthful male voices sing O Canada!

Then the owners of the voices scatter into the surrounding woods to take up forest improvement tasks.

The scene is repeated daily across the province in 13 other camps peopled by college and university students living and working in them for two summer months.

The students work on forest improvement projects for the lands and forests department which pays them between $150 and $225 a month.

Their food, in traditional lumberjack quantities, and their tent lodgings are provided by the government.

"These camps are unique in North America, perhaps in the world," says Bona Arsenault, lands and forests minister.

HELPS PAY FEES

Started in the summer of 1961, the camps system had some 1,400 students this year, chosen for their scholastic standing and their family situation. About 90 per cent are from lower income families, says Mr. Arsenault.

The camps have two aims—to provide students with enough money to pay fees for the coming school year and to make forest improvements.

During their eight-hour work day, the students do such jobs as replanting and forest cleaning, uprooting scrub so that valuable trees can grow taller.

During a visit to Le Camp des Coureur des Bois Camps—as the students have dubbed it, Mr. Arsenault said that under the previous Union Nationale government students were picked by the party to work in the woods for the government. Some never saw the woods, and only picked up their pay cheque each month.

"I was revolted by this system," he says, "I talked to the premier and my cabinet colleagues and from this there grew the idea for these camps." Choice of students—there were some 10,000 applications this year, he says — "is absolutely non-political, non-partisan."

During the same visit, Premier Jean Lesage recalled that he worked in the woods at the age of 17 to earn money for school. He said his father went into debt to educate his family of eight.

The camps, he said, are one means of helping students.

"I hope that year by year we will be able to increase the number of camps, if "is bon Dieu" gives us the finances."

The students, whose minimum age is 18, put in a 16-hour day.

They rise at 6:30 a.m., work in the woods from eight a.m. to 4 p.m. and meals are said by the camp chaplain after each day's labor is done. After supper the youths play ping pong, volleyball, softball or fish until dusk. Lights go out at 10:30 p.m.

On rainy days lectures may be given by one of the students on a subject in which he is interested. A few speakers come in from outside the camp.

Each camp costs about $50,000 a year, says Mr. Arsenault. It would be interesting to figure out how much of this goes for dessert at mealtime.

The camp chef here whomps up at least five different desserts per meal, in addition to heaping bowls full of hearty meat, potato and vegetable dishes.

Bobcat Tried To Get Into Angler's Boat

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fisherman Norm Trasolini tells about the big one that got away, Canadian style.

The Vancouver fire department captain was fishing with his 10-year-old nephew Austin from a boat on McLeese Lake in the Cariboo region.

"I saw this thing in the water," said Trasolini. "At first I thought it was a bear, then I figured it might be a deer. It was swimming towards us and as it got close I saw it was a bobcat.

"It looked hungry, kind of skinned out. It swam right up to the boat and tried to climb in. I put the oar over its head but it bit right through that and an aluminum ring on it."

An amateur wrestler, and accepting a scuffle rather than the capsizing of the 13-foot boat, Trasolini went for the animal. He managed to throw it overboard and it swam away.

Nephew, meanwhile, "just sat there — bug-eyed," said Trasolini.

Gore

GORE — Junior Farmers and other interested friends attended the annual chicken barbecue sponsored by the Jr. Farmers at Picton, on Saturday evening. All enjoyed a wonderful supper and program.

A "Hat School" was held at Victoria school house during the week with junior institute members in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Townsend and family, of Toronto, were weekend guests of his mother, Mrs. Frank Townsend. Other guests on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Townsend and family.

The Rev. and Mrs. Robert Wragg returned to their home at Cannington after holidaying with relatives, here.

Question of Bilingualism Splits 3-Man Commission On Federal Organization

OTTAWA (CP)—The question of bilingualism in the federal civil service split the three-man royal commission on government organization, prompting its French-speaking member to write the lone dissenting statement of the vast inquiry.

The commission touched on the problem in advocating steps to promote greater bilingualism.

But Eugene Therrien of Montreal disagreed with his fellow commissioners, Chairman J. Grant Glassco of Toronto and Watson Sellar of Ottawa, in their majority decision that the commission's terms of reference did not call for a broad and thorough investigation of the subject.

"Bilingual aspects of the federal administration are neither adequate nor satisfactory," Mr. Therrien said in an 11-page dissent incorporated in the 560-page first volume of the commission report issued today.

He offered these basic conclusions:

1. Bilingualism is not treated in the federal government as an efficient instrument of, administration, as it should be.

2. There is an insufficient number of French - Canadian public servants in the higher levels.

POLICY WASTEFUL

3. The policy of the administration regarding bilingualism is wasteful both of energy and money.

The commission as a whole agreed that more should be done to correct the inadequacy of bilingualism in the government service.

It recommended that the government:

1. Adopt active measures to develop bilingual capacities in the administrative and executive basis.

2. Intensify its efforts to attract and retain more of the highly qualified young people of French Canada in the field of advancement to senior ranks.

The confidence reposed in the civil service throughout the country will depend in large measure on adequate representation it is of the public it serves, the commission said.

"If the objective of 'representativeness' . . . is to be met, a career in the public service of government should be as attractive and congenial to French-speaking as to English-speaking Canadians," the commission said; MUST BE ATTRACTIVE

"At the very least, it must be sufficiently attractive to bring to it a reasonable share of highly qualified young people of French Canada.

"As matters now stand, appointment to the centre of federal administration seems to French-speaking Canadians to involve abandoning their language and severing their cultural roots.

"This sense may be dispelled if the central public service can be made more bilingual—by the revival, ideally, where the two languages can be used interchangeably for internal communication."

A useful first step by the government would be to "provide courses in both languages and to assist public servants, on government time if necessary, to become genuinely bilingual."

The federal government had been less successful in recruiting and retaining highly-qualified French-speaking Canadians than it had been with others.

Based on limited reports gathered by the commission, the proportion of French-speaking employees varied among government departments from 18 to almost 60 per cent. However, in administration occupations the proportions were lower, varying from two to 38 per cent.

FEW SPEAK FRENCH

In Ottawa, only a few deputy ministers and other senior officers were able to converse fluently in French.

In his statement of dissent, Commissioner Therrien goes over much the same ground, but more pointedly in some areas. He found the commission's terms of reference should have led to more specific and more detailed conclusions and recommendations on bilingualism.

After detailing many inadequacies, he makes one firm recommendation:

The co-ordination of bilingualism in the federal administration should be placed under the jurisdiction of the treasury board which represents the general and central administrative authority.

Some of the shortcomings he listed:

Of 5,000 public servants receiving an annual salary of more than $8,000 in 1961, fewer than 10 per cent were French-speaking Canadians.

NOT PROPORTIONATE

The number of French-speaking public servants is not directly proportionate to the administrative importance of the French Canada, which is not merely a single geographical area but, on the contrary, extends throughout the whole of Canada.

3. Extensive examinations for promotion in the public service do not conform to the French-Canadian educational system nor are they set in French by qualified French-Canadian examiners. Moreover, the English language is considered to be a shortcoming which eliminates the French-Canadian candidate or civil servant.

The general use of the French language by all French-Canadian members of the armed forces is recognized neither in theory nor in fact, even though the services are becoming increasingly integrated with French-speaking peoples in the present world situation.

Tavern Brawls and High Finances Paraded Before Federal Shipping Inquiry

TORONTO (CP) — Tavern brawls, high finance and complaints about practices of the International Seafarers Union of Canada (Ind.) have been paraded before the federal shipping inquiry.

Shipside violence in Montreal and the lakehead involving fists, feet and other instruments was described Wednesday by first witnesses for the Canadian Labor Congress, backing a new union in its bid to smash the controversial SIU.

They also told of conditions imposed by the SIU when they had been members, including payments required to achieve a higher—and voting—rank in the membership.

The inquiry, which continues today, began an abbreviated third week under Mr. Justice T. G. Norris of British Columbia, named by the federal government to investigate Great Lakes - Seaway labor unrest.

UNIONS COLLIDE

It springs from the birth of the Canadian Maritime Union and as a rival to the SIU, ousted from the CLC two years ago. Upper Lakes Shipping Company of Toronto, an American-owned firm, is involved because the SIU claims a lockout against it for signing CMU crews to replace the SIU.

Upper Lakes is a subsidiary of the Norris Grain Company of Chicago and its president is Bruce A. Norris, whose other interests include Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League, the inquiry was told.

The SIU errs in linking James D. Norris, a half-brother and owner of Chicago Black Hawks of the NHL, with Upper Lakes, which grants grain counsel Robert C. Vincent.

An SIU pamphlet said James D. Norris through his various enterprises was linked with fight figure Frankie Carbo, who has been convicted for fight improprieties.

Upper Lakes called its last witness Wednesday, for the present at least. Its vessels have been harassed in American ports by American allies of the SIU, prevented by court action from Ontario and Quebec picketing.

The CLC then began what it expected to be a lengthy parade, beginning with Seaman John Dewling, whose left arm cast is a memento of an April 26 beating in Montreal, he said.

JUDGE ISSUES WARNING

He objected to giving his address for fear of reprisals to his family and Mr. Justice Norris once again stated his intent to do everything in his power to stop any intimidation that would deter testimony before the inquiry.

Mr. Dewling said he hasn't worked since about eight men jumped aboard and two companions. He had been an SIU member from 1949 to 1954, he said, but was never informed of or attended any meeting or voted.

Paul Myers, 19, of Morrisburg, Ont., said he and Gaetan Pyette were beaten up in a Montreal waterfront tavern washroom by two men April 28.

Daniel Heinbecker, 24, of Dunnville, Ont., said he and a friend were leaving their Upper Lakes ship after midnight June 7 when two men jumped from a car and one shouted: "We'll teach you to scab on the SIU."

His companion "just outdistanced" his opponent back to the ship. He said he had a rib broken and an ear torn before a nearby house restrained one of the attackers away by turning on his front lights.

ATTACKED BY 15

Ray McAdam, 40, of Goderich, Ont., said he and four companions were suddenly attacked in a Fort William beer parlor by about 15 men or more. Mr. McAdam said he was just getting up after a commotion was hit from behind when he himself was felled by a chair. He said he was down three times and then stayed there amid broken glass, overturned chairs and flying chairs and tables. He suffered a cut artery among other injuries.

Mr. McAdam said he and two companions picked one man from a police lineup next day and made statements but to his knowledge no charges had been laid yet in the May 1 incident.

John Staples, 20, of Port Colborne, a member of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC), said he assisted the Canadian Maritime Union in spare-time organizing this year. May 5, he found his hotel room ransacked and correspondence with the CLC and CMU stolen.

Like other witnesses, he said he had been a member of the SIU but left it after that he left because it was a bad union. It had cost him $25 to join in 1950 as a permit member—one permitted to vote only when he'd become a book member, with full voting privileges, cost another $25. He'd quit after being forced to rejoin the SIU for failing three months dues payment. Being tagged with a $50 fine for unknown reasons.

Two Elderly Women Killed Near Coboconk

COBOCONK, Ont. (CP)—Two elderly women were killed Wednesday when their car bounced off two other vehicles and smashed into a tree beside Highway 35.

Mrs. Anita Cadenhead, 80, of Allenton Park, Pa., and Mrs. Elspeth Middleton, of Coboconk and Toronto were heading north of their cottage in Coboconk. Mrs. Cadenhead, the driver, tried to overtake a car driven by Mrs. Donald Barker of Fenelon Falls, Ont.

The cars collided and Mrs. Cadenhead's car veered across the highway into a young birch again, clipped a truck and ended in a ditch.

The accident occurred two miles south of Coboconk, about 30 miles east of Orillia.

CLEAR CANAL

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—The Welland Canal was cleared for navigation at 12:30 p.m. EDT Wednesday after traffic had been stopped more than 12 hours because of a collision-damaged lock fender. Damage and repairs estimated at $18,000 resulted Tuesday night when the freighter Wallaceburg, operated by Jemmig Enterprises Limited of Chatham, slid into the fender. The freighter was not damaged.

Soviet Sputnik Goes to Pieces Over Ontario

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Russia's four-ton Sputnik IV, put in orbit 26 months ago, apparently broke up over northwestern Ontario, Minnesota and Wisconsin early Wednesday, causing a rash of reports of flaming objects, scientists said.

Fred Whipple, Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory at Cambridge, Mass., said it had asked its network of professional and amateur sky observers to begin a vigil Tuesday night. Smithsonian mathmeticians said the satellite was unlikely to stay aloft beyond Friday.

The breakup startled law enforcement officers in a wide area of northern Wisconsin. Officers in Eagle River, Wausau, Three Lakes, Tomahawk and Marrill all reported seeing flaming objects about 4:40 a.m.

Deputy Sheriff Stanley Rauch of Eagle River said the objects resembled shooting stars but were spaced out, one after another. Louis Coon, an Eagle River policeman, estimated that he saw 24 flaming pieces pass overhead from northwest to southeast.

GLOW LIKE PLANETS

Observers for the Milwaukee Astronomical Society, about 200 miles south of Eagle River, counted six, or possibly seven, fiery objects which they said glowed as bright as planets.

Roger Chaffee, a Milwaukee engineer, said the heaviest piece fell into Lake Michigan if it did not burn up in the air.

Flaming objects also were sighted around Fort William, Ont., the head of Lake Superior, and near Kenora, Ont., about 200 miles due west of the Lakehead. Similar reports came from Duluth, Minn.

Sputnik IV was launched May 15, 1960. At the time, Soviet announcements said the vehicle "contains a dummy spaceman, all the necessary equipment for a future manned flight, and moreover, various instrumentation weighing 1,700 kilograms (about 3,250 pounds).

There were several reports that a human voice had been heard by free world listeners when they tuned the space ship's radio signals, but none ever was confirmed.

Kelso Roberts Agrees With County Judge

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney General Kelso Roberts has endorsed criticism by Wentworth County Judge John S. Latchford that police place several charges against traffic offenders when one would suffice.

Mr. Roberts said the practice of placing several charges for the purpose of extracting fines has "always been frowned upon by me."

He said the number of traffic charges laid in connection with one incident should be kept to a minimum.

Judge Latchford told the 30th annual Ontario Police Association convention Tuesday in Orillia:

"You are made to appear not as prosecutors for the protection of the public, but as persecutors for profit from the public."

Russia Rejects Pleas to Hold Berlin Talks

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Soviet Union again has rejected Western initiatives for talks toward easing the tense Berlin border situation.

"We therefore cannot be satisfied by discussion of incidents and consultations," the Soviet government said Wednesday night in identical notes to the United States, Britain and France.

The only way to bring about a relaxation, the notes said, is "to abolish the occupation regime in West Berlin through signing a German peace treaty," liquidate the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and "withdraw the troops of the three powers from West Berlin."

This has been the Soviet position on the Berlin and German questions for years.

In addition to rejecting the Western initiatives, made in notes to Moscow last month, the Soviet reply charged that incidents along the Berlin wall were directly due to Western policy in the city.

WARN OF TENSION

The Soviet notes noted that an earlier Soviet message to the West had warned that provocations were being planned for "mid-August with a view to raising the tension."

The new notes did not refer to the shooting of fleeing refugees from East Berlin, occasion of the latest Western notes.

Instead, they alleged that with the connivance of the American occupation authorities, unbridled Fascist gangs openly assaulted servicemen of the Soviet army" and wounded some of them.

This was a reference to the men hurt by flying mass when the buses taking them for guard duty at the Soviet war memorial in West Berlin were stoned by angry West Berliners.

The Berliners were upset by the shootings of would-be refugees, especially one young man left to bleed to death on the eastern side of the wall.

Three Ohio Boys Missing

BIG LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Police from here to Buffalo were on the lookout Wednesday for three Ohio boys who disappeared while apparently on their way to a canoe trip in this Manitoulin Island resort centre.

Missing since the weekend are James Rogers, 15, and William Neader, 15, both of Marietta, Ohio, and Jerry Patterson, 16, of Malta, Ohio.

They were reported to have told their parents they were going to stay overnight with some friends in Ohio, but took a bus instead to Buffalo with an estimated $300 among them.

BIG MILL OPENS

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Operation was begun Wednesday of a new multi-million-dollar paper mill at the Kodak works of Eastman Kodak in suburban Greece. The mill produces a web of paper 150 inches wide at speeds up to 1,000 feet a minute. The paper will be used for photographic products.

Accused Given Nine Months For Fraud

THAMESFORD, Ont. (CP)—Keith Richard Foster, 25, of Kingston, was sentenced Wednesday to nine months in a reformatory after conviction on eight counts of fraud.

Crown Attorney P. Forestell said Foster had defrauded seven Belleville residents of amounts ranging between $5 to $22 by claiming he would get them jobs and the money would be used for union fees.

Foster also was sentenced to nine months imprisonment to be served concurrently, for defrauding the Falls Manor Hotel, Niagara Falls, of $44 for food and lodging.

Commission Says Veterans Should Not Have Absolute Preference in Civil Service

OTTAWA (CP)—Removal of the absolute preference given war veterans for jobs in the Canadian civil service was recommended today by the Glassco royal commission on government organization.

Instead, the commission proposed that Canada follow the practice of the United States where veterans enjoy a preference at initial appointment consisting of the addition of a specified number of points to a veteran's rating in job competition. At present, under the Civil Service Act, all Canadians who have served overseas in the armed forces are given preference for government positions over all other candidates—regardless of merit. The only condition is that the veterans meet the minimum qualifications established for the jobs in question.

Veterans now constitute about 40 per cent of all civil servants. In 1961, immediately after the Second World War, 38.1 per cent of all new appointments to the civil service involved war service preference. By 1960, this proportion had dropped to 10.3 per cent.

DOUBTS VALUE

"Whether or not the absolute preference provided by the Civil Service Act is genuinely in the interest of veterans is at least arguable," the commission said.

There is evidence that specifications for positions are sometimes written with the deliberate purpose of making it impossible for a veteran to qualify, because as has often been said, "when a veteran meets the minimum qualifications, there is no competition."

The commission found that no absolute preference is given veterans in the U.S. and British even though they make up a larger proportion of the working population there than in Canada. Veterans still comprise about half of the civil service.

The commission said the proportion of new job appointments based on war service preference has tended to be highest in departments employing a large number of relatively unskilled or semi-skilled workers. In appointments to such positions, it was often a deciding factor.

Police Chiefs Want Amber Car Lights

VICTORIA (CP) — Canada's police chiefs are in favor of uniform legislation requiring cars to have drivers re - examined each five years.

Delegates to the annual conference of the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police supported the suggestion Wednesday which came from the association's traffic committee.

The police chiefs also supported a resolution calling for uniform legislation requiring, by Jan. 1, 1965, that both front and signal lights on vehicles be amber in color.

Another resolution suggested increased driver education in high schools.

200 Strikers Attack Trucks Crossing Lines

HAMILTON (CP) — Rocks, scrap iron and splintered glass filled the air at the Dominion Glass Company Limited Wednesday as 200 strikers attacked trucks that crossed their picket lines.

One woman striker was injured and five men were charged with intimidation and mischief. One of the five also was charged with assaulting a policeman.

The demonstrators, members of the 1,100-strong Local 203, United Glass and Ceramic Workers of American (CLC), converged on a truck, one of three that had entered the plant earlier in the day, as it tried to leave.

More than 30 policemen went into action as the strikers closed in, hurling missiles that shattered all the vehicles windows.

Plant Superintendent James Caskie and Personnel Manager Everet T. Banford, walking in front of the truck, escaped unhurt with the driver.

POLICE TAKE CHARGE

The flying strikers tried to chase the truck, but were cut off by police, Sgt. Maurice Bourgon was attacked by one man as he tried to arrest another.

Less than two hours after police settled the melee, trouble broke out again.

The company's Hamilton vice-president, Harold Thompson, and Mr. Caskie tried to get the two other trucks out through the scab gate. About 100 strikers beat them to it. The trucks were driven to the north gate and pushed through the strikers there amid a hail of rocks.

Striker Joan Sutton, 22, was hit by one of the trucks, and received scalp cuts and a bruised hip. She was taken from the scene in her lawyer's car.

Two weeks ago Dominion Glass was granted an injunction limiting the number of pickets to not more than four at any of the plant's three main gates.

AWAIT HEARING

The injunction has twice been extended and company and union officials are awaiting a final hearing at Orgoode Hall.

Charged were John Veltri, 35, with intimidation, mischief and assault; and Harold Hamilton, 25, John Innocenti, 25, Edward Nizioi, 20 and William Parker, 25, all with intimidation and mischief.

The five were released on bail, $500 each or $500 bond, and will appear in court today.

Youth Column

Brantford Boy Good Student And Shrewd Businessman

By PATRICIA RUBAK

TORONTO (CP) — A 15-year-old boy from Brantford, Ont., is a skilled craftsman, a good student and a shrewd businessman.

George (Jody) Huff, Jr., has also upset an ancient tradition by having his father follow him into his business.

It was 14 months ago that Jody interested George Huff Sr. in his stone-cutting, grinding and polishing business, and during the past two weeks at the Canadian National Exhibition here they have received orders for distribution of their products in the Maritimes and abroad.

"We are swamped with orders for fall," said Jody. "It's terrific. A piece, of rough opal is worth 50 cents. Grind it, and it's worth about $12."

Jody and his father specializes in "tumbling" stones or earrings and pendants—a process in which stones are smoothed and polished in the same solution that stones on a beach are polished by waves.

CUT AND POLISH

They also cut and polish stones for cufflinks, rings and brooches. "This is the real laboratory process, and I like it best because you have to do all the work yourself," said Jody.

He began to collect stones about six years ago. There wasn't much around Brantford, but my father and I have taken many field trips to collect and study stones."

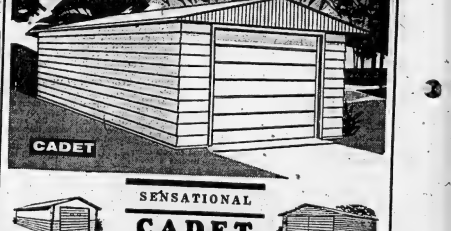
Their favorite haunt is the Bancroft area, 60 miles north-east of Peterborough, Ont. "It's a geologist's paradise — 1,600 minerals within a 50-mile radius."

Sapphires, agates, amethysts, as well as feldspar, sodalite, Jade and bloodstone have been found there, said Jody, an associate geologist.

Jody also prepares mineral sets, each containing 20 different kinds of Canadian mineral stones, for sale in gift and novelty shops.

"We have also started making up sets with 24 larger rock specimens, for use in schools."

Jody last spring passed from Grade 10 to get an Brantford Collegiate Institute. He plans to continue his studies in geology and hopes some day to become by having his father follow him a university professor. "Four months of holidays a year to go around prospecting and digging sounds not bad," he said.



Asked who is the "idea man" in the business, Jody said: "Dad usually gets the original ideas and I refine them." Jody's father had been in the hobby shop business before, and had also worked with the Ontario lands and forests department at Toronto.

Pungent Quotes From Glassco Report

OTTAWA (CP) — Pungent quotes from the Glassco royal commission report on government organization:

Government in modern society is often burdensome and restrictive. Consequently, it will seldom be viewed as better than a necessary evil — and it is a sign of national vigor that this should be so.

The public does itself a disservice if it belittles the public servants by whom the affairs of government are administered . . . Excellence cannot be sustained indefatigably without public recognition.

An element of mystery is created by the listing of such (public service) occupations as insect sampling and rearing aides, negative operators, receivers of wreck, scope watchers, and strippers and layouters.

Blind adherence to regulations is too often given precedence over efficiency and dispatch.

A career at the centre of government should be as attractive and congenial to French-speaking as to English - speaking Canadians. At the very least, it must be sufficiently attractive to bring to Ottawa more of the highly qualified young people of French Canada.

While the public servant must be politically neutral in doing his job, he serves his (cabinet) minister badly if he is unaware of, or indifferent to, the political consequences of what he does.

There is, generally, greater proficiency in the collecting of tax revenue than in public spending.

The stake of every citizen of Canada in the effectiveness of the federal public service has never been greater than today.

The culture of personnel within the public service is comparable with that found in large private organizations in Canada . . . Conclusions are less favorable about government's success in making use of the talents, energies and skills at its disposal.

The estimated total paperwork bill in 1961 amounted to about $500,000,000, about 1-12th of the total budget . . . At least 2,000,000 cubic feet of records are stored on government premises, and each year adds 250,000 cubic feet of filing space—the equivalent of 83 railway boxcars.

The mounting tide of paper can inundate the public service . . . Records have a life cycle. They are conceived, brought into the world, serve a more or less purposeful life in active files, tend to reproduce themselves, and in old age are decently cared for in dormant storage. When they have no further purpose to serve, they are cremated. Haphazard control of any stage in the life cycle can be disastrous."

Every day millions of individual pieces of paper are born; some serve a useful life and many others are copies serving no useful purpose, but most of them are destined to find their way into the 200,000 filing cabinets of the government.

It is useless to retain a piece of paper if it cannot be found when required.

One government department was found to have spent over $75,000 on 12 bookkeeping machines to perform operations which could have been done better manually and at less cost.

At least $50,000,000 is spent each year on checking the accuracy of government paper work. In one department, all payroll notices are checked at a cost of approximately $100,000 a year, equivalent to 30 per cent of the original cost of the operation.

Far too often a report is made simply to report that there is nothing to report.

BIG EMPLOYER — Nine departments of the federal government employ roughly 80 per cent of employees in the Graph, based on 1960 figures in report of Glassco royal commission on government operations, shows breakdown by departments. National defence tops the list with 36.1 per cent of the total employees and the post office is next with 13.9 per cent. (CP Newsmap).

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

They're calling David Hurst the "15-year-old mighty mite of Belleville" down Kingston way.

And rightly so, tennis-wise. The youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Hurst, Church Street coverlet handful with net play over the weekend clean-sweeping four trophies in a sensational display on the courts.

David, I understand, had never won a tennis tournament up to this point. He made his trophy-winning debut in grand style. As was said he came home with no less than four.

He got away to a grand start by winning the junior boys (under 16) singles then repeated in the doubles. He stepped up to the junior men's (under 18) to win two titles in the Whig Standard Eastern Ontario Tennis Championships.

The youngster's fine tennis ability had not been missed by the Kingston tournament officials. He was top-seeded in the junior boys' events and was expected to win them. This he did.

With likely a little trepidation but full of confidence David stepped up to the junior mens' competition. He was unseeded and given little chance to win.

He took the first round by default then was pitted against Dave Huestis, Kingston's top junior player who had drawn a first-round bye. He scored a big upset when he defeated the Kingston star 5-7, 8-6, 6-4.

He had hit his stride and went on to defeat E. Meyer, 6-0 and 6-2 for an easy victory before he won the final round from J. Goldstein 6-2 and 6-0.

David is quoted by Kingston reporters as saying that although his victory over Huestis was the big upset, he considered his toughest match the junior boy's singles against his doubles partner Rick Cunningham, 16.

In the junior mens' doubles young Master Hurst swept through to another upset victory with partner Bill Metcalf, 17, also of Belleville.

They were seeded second but not given much chance against the Kingston pair of Huestis and Ian Lockwood.

They met and defeated another Kingston pair Spencer and Acton, 6-0 and 6-2 in the first round. They had a slightly tougher assignment in the semi-final defeating Shallam and Stankiwicz 6-4 and 7-5.

In the final Huestis and Lockwood took them to three sets before bowing out 6-4, 1-6 and 8-6.

In the junior boy's doubles Hurst partnered with Cunningham drew a bye in the first round and defeated Dropee and Evans 6-0 and 6-2 in the semi-final. They disposed of Acton and Stankiwicz 6-3 and 6-4 to win the title.

David modestly discounted his victory over Huestis. He is quoted in a Kingston story "Against Huestis I wasn't worried. I didn't care, I didn't think I had a chance. I was lucky to have caught him on an off day. Any other day I wouldn't have beaten him."

He that as it may. The fact that the Kingston ace may have had an "off day" doesn't detract from Hurst's brilliant all-round performance. The youngster has a fine tennis potential and should go a long way in his favorite summer sport.

I am told that prior to his cluster of tournament trophy wins in Kingston, David was rated ninth in Ontario under-16 ratings last year and 14th in Canada.

GILLY GOYER

Another link with the hockey past of this city was broken with the passing of "Gilly" Goyer, a member of Belleville's well-known athletic family. He learned his hockey here, later turning pro and being associated with St. Louis, Minneapolis and St. Paul clubs. He led the league in scoring in one season. He was popular in hockey and other sports circles. He had a droll sense of humor that endeared him to many. This department with other sportsmen of the city and district extend sincere condolences to the family.

SOCCER STARS MEET

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto soccer talent worth about $300,000 will line up before fans at Varsity Stadium Saturday for an international game against a squad from New York. Toronto pick, made up of players from Roma, Italia and City in the Eastern Canada Professional Soccer League will play Brooklyn Italia on a challenge issued by Brooklyn club manager, Tommy Caruso.

Wallopin' Willie Giants' Triggerman

Lacrosse Player Suspended

BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP)—Brampton Bombiers defenceman Gord Thompson has been suspended by the Ontario Lacrosse Association for the rest of the season, it was announced Wednesday night.

Jack Wilson, secretary of the association, said Thompson will not be able to play in any of the remaining games of the Eastern Canada senior final. He is also barred from play in the Canadian senior final for the Mann Cup.

Thompson's suspension is a result of an incident in Monday's game at Brooklin during which he was given a match misconduct penalty for injuring Brooklin player Bob Curtis.

Paces 3-0 Dodger Defeat

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Wallopin' Willie's giving Wall the willies.

A one-day rest a week and a half ago may have been just the tonic Willie Mays needed for that National League tug-of-war between his pursuing San Francisco Giants and manager Alvin Alston's front-running Los Angeles Dodgers.

Triggering a San Francisco victory for the seventh time in the last 10 games since the All-Star break, Mays collected two doubles and a single, driving in the first two runs in a 3-0 triumph over the Dodgers Wednesday night that moved the Giants back within 2½ games of the top.

He won Monday's opener of the key four-game series between the leaders and Wednesday night provided the only runs the Giants needed to win it behind the combined six-hit pitching of Juan Marichal and Bob Bolin, who came on when Marichal was injured in the sixth inning.

Marichal was hurt in a collision at first base involving himself, the Giants' Orlando Cepeda and the Dodgers' Willie Davis. The pitcher, who suffered off the field, but is not expected to miss a turn. X-rays disclosed no break, merely a twisted right instep.

GIANTS GAIN GROUND

While the Giants closed the gap, Cincinnati's defending champions also gained ground, climbing to five games behind the Dodgers by beating Chicago Cubs in both ends of a doubleheader, 7-5 in 10 innings and 10-3.

Milwaukee Braves' Tony Cloninger shut out St. Louis Cardinals 1-0 on five hits and Houston Colts defeated Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3. New York Mets and Philadelphia Phillies were not scheduled.

The Reds won the opener in the 10th when Gordie Coleman hit his 27th homer, with a man aboard, off Dave Gerard. That gave the victory to Johnny Klippstein, the nightcap, the Reds blasted Paul Toth and three successors for 13 hits, with Coleman collecting three. Ernie Banks hit home run No. 32 for the Cubs in the opener while rookie second - baseman Ken Hubbs bettered Bobby Richardson's record of 414 consecutive errorless chances. Hubbs extended his string to 418 in 78 games before committing an error in the second game.

Brampton Takes 2-1 Lead

BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP) — Brampton Bombiers took a 2-1 lead in the Eastern Canada senior lacrosse final Wednesday night with a 13-5 victory over Brooklin Hillcrests.

Fourth game in the best-of-seven series is in Brooklin Saturday night.

Bob Dobbie led the winners with five goals, Bert Naylor, Mike Fingas and Wayne Thompson each scored two goals and Bruce Wamless and Barry Ambee added singles.

Knotty Lee Dies at 85

SMITHS FALLS, Ont. (CP)—George (Knotty) Lee, 85, who had a long career as a professional baseball player and manager, died Tuesday night.

Knotty started his career as a pitcher with Toronto Athletics of the old Canadian League in 1900. One of the first pitchers to use the now-outlawed spitball, he also was a capable batter and wound up with a lifetime batting average of .300.

Starting Quarter Against Lions

Pete Hall Gets Argo Nod

TORONTO (CP) — A clash here Sunday between the heavyweights of the Canadian Football League may not shake up the standings but it could shake up some of the Toronto Argonauts.

Argos, who go into the game with a four-game losing streak that has netted them last place in the Eastern Conference, meet their Western Conference counterparts, British Columbia Lions.

At the first meeting of the Toronto Quarterback Club here Wednesday, coach Bobby Wirkowski announced that he plans to fill the holes in the Argos with castoffs from the National and American Football League.

Wirkowski said there is no much competition for good U.S. college players from the NFL and AFL that Canadian clubs can best pick them up when the U.S. teams cut them.

Pete Hall has been given the nod to prepare for a tentative assignment at quarterback against Lions.

"It's almost definite I'll start Hall," Toronto coach Bobby Wirkowski said Wednesday night. Tobin Rote, the Eastern Football Conference team's regular quarterback who has a hairline fracture in his right index finger, is not expected to be ready by Sunday.

YOUTH HOSTELS

For the first seven months of 1962, the 200 - odd Norwegian youth hostels had a total of 4,0.. overnight guests.

'Generals' Back in Hockey

The Oshawa Generals are back in junior hockey.

At a meeting of team officials, it was decided to name Oshawa's new team in the Toronto Metro Junior A League after the team that won three Memorial Cups between 1937 and 1944.

The old Generals operated in the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A series until the Oshawa arena burned down in 1954.

The Generals won the OHA title seven years in succession, from 1938-44.

Bonnie Brains of the National Hockey League sponsored the Oshawa team in the early 1950s and promised they would return when Oshawa erected a new rink.

The rink isn't here yet but the city of 63,000 plans to have one by next season. This year the Generals will play their home games at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

Brass To Investigate

No One Knows Where Bo Goes!

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball commissioner Ford Frick said today he will investigate the player deal involving Los Angeles and Kansas City Athletics in which Angel owners reported to have promised "No-Hit" Bellinsky to the Athletics at the end of the season to seal a deal for a player purchased last spring.

Officials of the two clubs involved acknowledged an agreement whereby Bellinsky went to Kansas City as a player to Kansas City at a future date as part payment for pitcher Dan Osinski, purchased last July 21 for $35,000 from Portland. Kansas City had optioned Osinski to the Pacific Coast League club earlier this year.

Bellinsky, a left-hander who came into prominence when he pitched a no-hitter against Baltimore Orioles May 5, disclosed Wednesday that he is the player agreed upon.

"I was told about the deal the last time we played in Kansas City (two weeks ago)," the 25-year-old New York-born rookie said.

IS A SURPRISE

The deal apparently came as a surprise to Frick and his staff.

"We have checked the contracts," said Charles Segar, secretary - treasurer of baseball, "and there is no mention of any other player. As far as our office is concerned, the sale of Osinski to the Los Angeles club was a straight sale with no other players involved."

Segar then said the commissioner would investigate the matter.

Under baseball law, player trades are illegal after June 15 to the end of the season. Only waiver deals, whereby one club acquires a player from another club for the set $20,000 price, are possible. In such cases the last place club has first choice and the club asking waivers may withdraw them as more than twice.

The original deal was to have gone through the waiver process but the last place Washington Senators threatened to block the deal by refusing to waive on Bellinsky. The ord article char, weighing 19 pounds 15 ounces, caught in Finger Lake, Quebec, Sept. 4.

"I don't mind going to Kansas City," said Bellinsky, "but I haven't been told at all the Angels are getting for me. If so, they're stupid. You just don't trade a starter for a relief pitcher."

OTHER REPORTS

Officials of Los Angeles and Kansas City clubs denied they had agreed on any particular player to be delivered to the Athletics at the end of the season.

General manager Fred Haney of the Angels, reached in Los Angeles by telephone, said: "We owe a player to the Kansas City club part of the deal in which we acquired Osinski. We agreed that the player was to be named at a later date. No player has been decided upon at this time."

Charles Finley, owner of the Athletics, corroborated Haney's statement and added: "We received cash ($35,000) and the promise of a player to be announced at the end of the season, subject to approval by both clubs.

"But we don't know whether that player will be Bellinsky or somebody else. . . ."

Claims Record Catch of Arctic Char

AURORA, Ill. (AP)—Claim of a record catch of a 30-pound five-ounce arctic char kingsized relative of the lake trout) was made Wednesday by Jim Aurora Fish Farm who landed his prize in Canada's Northwest Territories.

John O'Neil, a plumbing and heating contractor, snagged the char casting with a U-shaped spoon in a 20-pound line Aug. 28 in Three River, near its joining with the Arctic Ocean.

O'Neil said a check with Hugh Grey, editor of Field and Stream magazine, indicated the fish topped the recognized record.

World Rowing Championship

Confident Canadians Eye Germans

LUCERNE, Switzerland (AP)—The 1962 world rowing championships get under way here today with 107 crews, from 27 countries participating in the seven-event meet.

Top oarsmen are on hand for what the experts believe will be one of the finest rowing regattas staged in years.

Races throughout the four-day event are held on the Rotsee, a small lake on the outskirts of Lucerne judged to be one of Europe's fastest rowing courses. It was the site of the 1934 and 1947 European rowing championships.

Events begin with heats for the single sculls and the coxed and uncoxed pairs and fours.

Friday sees the elimination rounds for the double sculls and the big eights, along with repechages, or losers' rounds, for the coxed fours, uncoxed twos and uncoxed fours. Saturday will be devoted to repechages in the other events, with the finals Sunday.

EIGHT HEATS FRIDAY

Sparking excitement among Friday's eliminations will be the big eight heats Friday, a contest expected to boil down between the Canadians, the Olympic gold medal winning Germans, the Swiss and perhaps the Italians and Australians.

Canadian coach Laurie West believes his University of British Columbia oarsmen will get their only trouble from the Germans, members of Olympic team member is their third oarsman Karl Heinz von Grodzeck.

The giant Canadians — they average 190 pounds—are expected to show their strength to whip the Germans, who average only about 150 pounds.

But the Germans are in excellent condition and have developed an extremely high stroke rate which they say they are willing to demonstrate during practice sessions.

All around favorite for the double sculls is the Soviet Union's Vyacheslav Ivanov, two-time Olympic champion and gold medalist at last year's European championships in Prague.

HAS LITTLE COMPETITION

The Ritel Malcovitie's only serious competition is expected from U.S. champion Seymour Cromwell of the Riverside Boat Club in Cambridge, Mass., and from Stuart Mackenzie, a husky Canadian from Vancouver.

Mackenzie points to Germany's Achim Hill as a serious contender he says he is expected to battle it out with for just a third berth. Hill was a bronze medalist in the Rome Olympics.

Another oarsman not to be forgotten is Czechoslovakia's Vladimir Acker, a 17-ay ball powerful stroker who took second place at Prague.

Leafs Cut Suns' Lead To Three

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs, all but counted out of the International League pennant race weeks ago, suddenly are making a full-scale drive toward the top.

The Leafs, fighting the schedule as much as the opposition, won their sixth straight Wednesday, a 5-4 verdict over Rochester Red Wings, and moved to within three games of the leading Jacksonville Suns.

The victory, coupled with Jacksonville's double loss to Columbus Jets 10-4 and 4-2, trimmed the Suns' leading margin to the slimmest it has been since mid-season.

Toronto, however, has only six games to play and Jacksonville four more. The Leafs trail by two in the loss column.

Buffalo Bisons beat Syracuse Chiefs 8-5 and Richmond and Atlanta split a pair, the Virginians winning the first 2-0, the Crackers the second 5-1.

FOURTH PLACE TIE

Columbus' sweep over Jacksonville put the Jets in a tie for fourth place, the last playoff spot, with Rochester. Rookie Bob Bailey drove in seven runs in the first game with two homers and two singles. Veteran Vinegar Bend Mizell released by New York Mets last month, spaced nine hits in winning the nightcap.

Richmond lefty John Davolio allowed only one scratch single in blanking Atlanta in the seven-inning first game. The Crackers, however, collected 10 hits in the nightcap and scored single runs in each of the first five innings, making it easy for Ray Sadecki to win his seventh in eight decisions.

Says Argos Fooled Alouettes

MONTREAL (CP)—The acquisition of quarterback Jim Walden by Montreal Alouettes was a move to prevent Toronto Argonauts from getting the import backfielder, it was learned Wednesday night.

The Alouettes claimed Walden from Calgary Stampeders for the $350 waiver price and sent defensive lineman Angelo Mosca to Edmonton Eskimos in what amounts to strictly a paper deal.

Walden was released by Calgary and went to Edmonton to negotiate with general manager Joe Ryan of the Eskimos.

But Ryan said he had been advised by commissioner Sydney Hallcr of the Canadian Football League that Montreal had claimed Walden and no further negotiations could be conducted.

The Als apparently feared Toronto—with ace quarterback Tobin Rote sidelined by a hand injury—would pick up Walden and get first claim on him because they finished behind the Argonauts in the Eastern Football Conference last season.

To remain within the player-import limit the Als sent Mosca to Edmonton.

In Toronto, Argonauts publicity director Ken Brown said the Alouettes wasted their time and efforts because Toronto did not enter a claim for Walden.

"Even if we had," said Brown, "Edmonton would have got him because they have waiver priority."

Oarsmen Turn Down Argo Bid

HAMILTON (CP)—The Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen is not likely to comply with a request to withdraw from international competition, a spokesman for the association said Wednesday night.

Claude Saunders, past president of the CAAO and its representative on the British Empire Games committee, was referring to a suggestion by Jack Russell, president of the Argonaut Rowing Club of Toronto.

Russell, dissatisfied because the Argo pairs team was not included on the B.E.G. Canadian team to compete in Perth, Australia, in November, said he would ask the ACAAO to abandon international competition.

Argos had offered to finance their team, Leif Gottfredson and Bart Hildebrand.

Saunders said of the withdrawal proposal: "We couldn't go that far. We're certainly displeased, but there isn't anything we can do about it."

Russell said he would ask for the CAAO's withdrawal after B.E.G. officials overruled the association's recommendation that the team consist of 17 and not 15 men.

The Argos offered to finance their men's trip. They claim the two easily met stipulated requirements at the team's trials, but their places are being taken by two spares backing up the University of British Columbia four- and eight-man teams.

Bolster Bid For 1968 Olympics

OTTAWA (CP) — Multi-million dollar developments in Banff and Lake Louise, Alta., will bolster Canada's bid for the 1968 winter Olympic games.

However, Calgary, about 115 miles east of Lake Louise and 80 miles east of Banff, would still have to bear the bulk of demands for visitor accommodation.

That was the assessment given by Resources Minister Dinsdale Wednesday after he met officials of the Calgary Olympic Development Association to examine a town-planning report prepared by the national parks branch for Banff National Park as an Olympic site.

Site of the Olympic village to accommodate the thousands of competitors has not been determined, he said. But ski jumping events would be held on Mount Norquay at Banff and other ski events likely at Lake Louise.

SIGNS FIFTH CONTRACT

MONTREAL (CP) — Sammy Pollock, general manager of Montreal Junior Canadiens, announced Wednesday that Claude Ruel has signed his fifth contract as coach of the club.

Vote YES Group Formed To Act In Referendum

A vote yes committee has been formed in connection with the Liquor Referendum to be held in Belleville on Wednesday, September 26th.

The committee will centre its activities on a "get out the vote" campaign. Another activity will be to have the questions on the ballots clarified. It is felt this is necessary because there appears to be some confusion about these questions. A great many people do not understand that there are two separate questions before them. That each question is covered by a separate ballot and that each voter is entitled to cast a vote on both.

As well some people will be wondering whether they are entitled to a vote and where they must go to cast their ballot. The committee is anxious to answer these questions. With this in mind the committee will be running an advertisement in Friday's issue, Sept. 7th. of the Ontario Intelligencer showing samples of the two ballots they will receive on September 26th, and besides will be sending the address of the polling station to every voter on the voters' list.

Aside from this, the committee plans to wage a modest but concentrated Get-Out-The-Vote campaign.

While the committee is grateful to the citizens who have contributed in many ways to this point, they still have an urgent need for workers willing to assist on a voluntary basis to help Get-The-Vote-Out.

Tobi Weinberg Hopes to Change Hollywood Image of Cleopatra

By BRUCE McLEAN

VANCOUVER (CP) — Tobi Weinberg hopes her performance at the Vancouver International Festival will help to change the Hollywood image of Cleopatra.

The Toronto actress played the Egyptian queen in the VIF production of George Bernard Shaw's play Caesar and Cleopatra in 18 performances which ended Aug. 18.

"For quite a few people, the image of Cleopatra has become that of Elizabeth Taylor and her antics in Rome," said Miss Winberg recently referring to the lately - completed Hollywood film Cleopatra. She doubts whether the film portrayal will have much relationship to either Shaw's version or Shakespeare's Antony and Cleopatra.

Miss Weinberg, 23, said the movie star's hectic personal life has distorted Cleopatra as one of the theatre's greatest dramatic heroines.

"People have come to think of Cleopatra and Liz Taylor as one and the same, but it just isn't so," said the Toronto actress who returned to Canada several months ago after four years of study and acting in London.

Dr. Donald Soule, production manager for the festival play, said most theatre - goers who came expecting a character in the Taylor image quickly accepted Cleopatra on Shaw's terms.

"Tobi Weinberg's performance was so strong that people soon put aside any false notions they had," said Dr. Soule, an associate professor at the University of British Columbia.

He said Shaw's prologue also helped to put Cleopatra in perspective.

"Do ye crave for a story of an unchaste woman. Hath the name of Cleopatra tempted ye here. Ye foolish ones, Cleopatra is yet but as a child," says part of the prologue.

Dr. Soule said the talk about the Hollywood film served one useful purpose.

"It helped us at the box office. We had good crowds for the whole run, partly because of the publicity Elizabeth Taylor got."

An official said attendance figures for the play haven't been compiled, but "it was one of the most successful plays ever produced at the festival, both financially and artistically."

Miss Weinberg will shortly open at the Crest Theatre in Toronto in Who'll Save the Plowboy, a play by Frank D. Gilroy.

You Don't Get Actresses, Actors off Street Anymore - - Zukor

By DORIS KLEIN

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Young lady, Rock Hudson could have been a hit two or three years earlier if he'd gone to Harvard."

The speaker was Adolph Zukor, 89-year-old survivor of the celluloid wars that built Hollywood in its golden era.

Zukor—who earned millions with a night school education—is still chairman of the board at Paramount Studios. In town from New York on his annual visit to check his surviving empire, he was doing a little reminiscing.

"You don't get actors or actresses off the street anymore," he said. "Mae West could play one terrific part in her day, but just one. Today's stars have to be able to do more. The great personalities of the future will come out of college."

"Take Audrey Hepburn. She could play Camille or do a Mae West part if they'd let her."

Zukor, if you remember your Hollywood history, is the little Hungarian immigrant who became a Chicago furrier, then fell in love with films.

After building up capital in the penny arcade business with Marcus Loew, Zukor in 1912 decided the time was ripe for full-length features. He formed Famous Players Film Company, later Paramount.

"It just couldn't happen again —those old days of 40-50 pictures a year," he said. "Motion pictures were a novelty. And the world was different. People really believed that everything would work out happy in the end.

"Now people don't know what tomorrow will bring. They don't always want their movies that way either. It's like a book: if you knew how that was going to end, you wouldn't want to finish the book."

Could the old actresses and actors make it today?

"We worked a different kind of woman in those days—Blanche Sweet, Mary Pickford —that was what they wanted to see. Today they want a different type. And they're more interested in the subject of the picture.

"It's difficult for a woman star to survive. Once she gets over 40 or 45, she looks silly if she's in tight corsets spooning with a leading man.

"The men do a little better. They can still play romantic leading men when they're in their 50s—but with younger women."

Newspaper Drama Will Be Main Fare of Powell Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Detectives are dead," said Dick Powell, raising his left hand and ticking items off on his fingers. "Lawyers are dead. Doctors are dead. Cowboys are dead. So what are you going to do?"

What Powell and his Four Star production company are doing this season are anthologies, comedies (the broader the better), and reviving that fine, old, all - purpose device, the newspaper drama.

"If they (and Powell) means the networks) will just tell us what they want, we'll make 'em," said Powell, "I think that we're turning out some pretty good shows for them. I know that for my own series, we've shaken down the writing supply to some 35 or 60 scripts and there will be more weeding out. But I've got my fingers crossed for the rest—I don't feel that we've got really good spots for any of the other shows—even if the time is right, the competition is rough—so we'll just have to see what happens."

This year his Four Star company (other partners include Charles Boyer and David Niven) is producing the Lloyd Bridges show; an anthology series, Ensign O'Toole, a comedy show along the lines of Mr. Roberts, and Saints and Sinners, the city-room series with a star reporter for a hero.

By GRAHAM COX

WINNIPEG (CP) — One notable retirement of the 1962 Western Foot b a l l Conference week almost unnoticed among the eulogies attendant on a score of departures.

It was actually the second retirement from the WFC for 36-year-old Harold K. (Bud) Irving.

His first was at the end of the 1950 season when he called it quits after six years as a standout running-guard for Wilnipeg Blue Bombers.

The second was after 10 years as an official, serving as No. 2 referee behind Paul Dojack of Regina in the later seasons.

Both football careers for the Winnipeg civil lawyer started out by accident, neither intended to be as long or as colorful as they became.

After he parcel Winnipeg's Kelvin High School to the 1944 provincial championship, he and other youngsters went out "just for fun" to practise with the Bombers.

TOOK A BEATING

"I was one of the lucky ones who stuck, along with Harry Hood who later played with Calgary Stampeders.

"I played at 178 pounds and took a hell of a beating.

"I was between Jack Manno and Mel Wilson at the line and the first thing the opposition lineman did was haul off and sock you.

"So when we went back into the huddle, Manno and I decided we would ask me which one did it and they'd get him the next time out.

"They sure took care of me." Bud's first season netted him $50. His last season he drew $2,000 as the highest-paid Canadian lineman on the team.

His four Grey Cup appearances, 1945, '47 and '50, and three years as an all-star, on the first team in 1946 and the second team in '47 and '48, served h i m well when he started officiating.

'EXCELLENT REFEREE'

"He was an excellent referee," says G. Sydney Halter, Canadian football league commissioner. "Exactly the right temperament, conscientious and hard working.

"He knew the game, having been a player himself, and was always trying to better himself as a referee. I was very sorry to see him go, but would have been one of the very best in his line. Sometimes unfair business pressures build up and a man must give it up.

"It is especially difficult with travelling in Western Canada where the great distances sometimes make it necessary for an official to be away from home several days at a time.

"But he's still doing a fine job as referee-in-chief in Manitoba."

Bud started officiating because, after he finished playing he "wanted to keep working with the kids." He handled junior and intermediate games throughout Manitoba as well as the Western junior finals twice in Saskatoon and the Canadian junior championships in Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg.

"The first time I refereed a professional game, I remember, we were in old Osborne Stadium in Winnipeg. Just before the game Bill Watts kissed me his whistle and said, 'This is your game.'"

C.A. OPEN AIR SERVICE

FRANKFORD — Frankford Full Gospel Service was held on Friday evening when the C.A.'s tournament was and held their meeting in the open air at Oak Lake.

Mr. Alex Myssonen led the song service, opening with "Redeemer". Mr. David Strome read the Scripture from St. Luke 13. Choruses were rung and several testimonies were given.

The quartet sang "Since I Have Been Redeemed".

Miss Beverley Wannamaker sang the solo, "Have You Counted The Cost?"

The evening message was brought by the Rev. F. Spring, speaking from St. Luke 13, his theme being "Being Made Straight For Service For the Lord".

Following a chorus, Mr. A. Myssonsen closed the service with prayer.

Men Who Claim Direct Link With Druid Priests Always Meet at Stonehenge

By ALAN WALKER

STONEHENGE, England (CP)—Human sacrifices are no longer seen in British rituals but white-robed men who claim a direct link with Druid priests of 3,000 years ago still meet here every summer to greet the rising sun.

The Druids' connection with Stonehenge — a fascinating series of circles of huge stones on the lonely Wiltshire plain that forms one of the world's oldest and most awesome religious sites—gives the Ancient Druid Order a popular appeal.

At this year's summer solstice 803 persons each paid obpence to the ministry of works and gathered in the dead of night to watch some 50 members of the ADO hold their ceremony.

Bearing symbols of fire, air, earth and water—formerly believed to be the four elements making up the universe — the Druids in their robes and cowls walked through the pre - dawn mist past the recumbent Slaughter Stone and the circles of trillithons t o w a r d s the Hele Stone inclined in an attitude on prayer 256 feet from the main temple.

ANCIENT RITUAL

Each Druid touched the vertical boulder in reverence to "fatherhood." Then on the way back to the temple they sprinkled water on the Slaughter Stone in memory of "motherhood."

The long wait for dawn began.

The layout of the temple and surrounding circles was carved on the longest day of the year — June 21—the sun rises directly over the Hele Stone, through a causeway and Slaughter Stone with the trilithons and no Altar Stone between two towering trilithons.

The ADO chief illuminates no more," said P. Ross Nichols, ADO chairman, 72 years of life 53-year-old principal of a London tutoring college.

"We see the rising sun as a parable to indicate the rising of spiritual sun in the self."

OAK IS SYMBOL

The Druids laid oak branches on an incense burner.

"We venerate the oak," Nichols explained, "because it is the longest living of all trees and because its branches are more horizontal than on other trees. It therefore symbolizes eternal father hood.

REPEAT DRUID RITUAL — Hundreds of curious visitors watch white-robed members of the Ancient Druid Order perform a mystic ritual to greet the rising sun at Stonehenge, England. The members claim to be direct descendants of Druid priests of 3,000 years ago. Their pre-dawn ceremony is held amid the series of circles of massive stones on the Wiltshire plain. (CP Photo).

"Mistletoe is a fertility symbol. It is a rare and beautiful thing to find it on an oak. We celebrate fi and all that sort of thing."

The Druids meanwhile were joining h a n d s. The Herald spoke:

"Let all mankind prepare for the restoration of the inheritance that has been withheld from them by the power of darkness. Let the earth be prepared for the coming of the great peace."

A trumpet fanfare blasted to the four points of the compass. Then the chief Druid, called the Ancient, shouted:

"Arise, O Sun! Let the darkness of night flee away. Let the beams of thy glorious light."

The sun did not let the Druids down. Thus cued, it rose.

Fall, winter and spring are also celebrated by the Druids but not at Stonehenge. The members meet every month in London.

"Until recently the average age of the members was rather high," Nichols said, "but lately we've had a lot of younger people show an interest. A lot are artists. They seem to tap it up."

He said the ADO is not a religious group as it was the "classical" Druid order but a mystical and philosophical one. Its members believe all wisdom derives from one source called the Divine Light. There is no formal teaching and each member can develop along whatever lines he chooses.

The first records of the ADO date from 1717 AD and include such members as the famous architect Sir Christopher Wren and poet William Blake.

Ancient British tradition says Aed Mawr founded the British Druidism about 1,000 B.C. The earlier history of the religion is too remote even to guess at but as the earliest parts of Stonehenge date from about 3,000 BC and as even the latest additions came 500 years before Aed Mawr, it is apparent the Druids took over a previously well-established religious site.

COLD ON PRAIRIES — Much-below-normal temperatures are predicted for the Prairies during September in the 30-day outlook of the United States weather bureau. Above-normal readings are expected in Eastern Canada.

The outlook is based on long-range predictions and is not a specific forecast. A change in weather pattern may produce major errors.

Heavy precipitation is expected for most of Canada during the month. (CP Newsmap).

Three U.S. Senators Want Armed Action Against Cuba But Price Would Be High

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The infusion of Soviet military equipment has made Cuba a major pawn in the cold war.

No longer is it just a hemisphere problem. It has an explosive potential embracing the entire system of U.S. alliances.

If the United States should take military action to remove the Cuban thorn — and three senators have recommended it — the price would be far higher than many would suspect.

Further, the United States would be accused of using the same tactics it condemns when used by the Soviet Union.

If the U.S. permits Cuba to continue unmolested, then Cuba becomes an ideal training ground for Latin American guerrilla forces which could undertake what Soviet Premier Khrushchev calls "wars of liberation."

To solve the Cuban dilemma three senators have recommended military action. They are Homer Capehart (Rep-Ind.), George Smathers (Dem-Fla.), and Strom Thurmond (Dem.-S.C.)

There is no doubt that the United States could clean house in Cuba if the U.S. would be willing to pay the price.

The Communist regime of Fidel Castro has had three years in which to indoctrinate, train and equip an armed force variously estimated at between 250,000 and 300,000 men. These men are well equipped with former U.S. weapons and Soviet bloc arms.

'TECHNICIANS' HELD

Further, the presence of 3,500 Soviet technicians would provide a stiffening force for the Cubans. These men undoubtedly would operate the anti-aircraft missiles they brought with them.

A successful U.S. landing in Cuba and the destruction of Cuban armed forces would require far more than a few marines.

If the United States is willing to stop all ships, including those flying the Soviet flag, by seizure or sinking, if necessary, Cuba could be blockaded.

A great deal of the interior of Cuba is mountain and jungle. Even if the United States successfully invaded Cuba, there would be a war of attrition, probably for years to come.

Military action against Cuba easily might set off a chain of Communist counter - pressures against the United States and her allies in Korea, Southeast Asia, Berlin, the Formosa Straits and the Middle East.

If Cuba were conquered, the United States then would be left with the task of providing a government. Any government so installed probably would be viewed as a puppet regime, even as the United States regards the regimes in Poland, East Germany and Hungary.

DESERONTO

Council Had Hard Time to Get Quorum

DESERONTO — After some difficulty in obtaining a quorum the first regular council meeting of the fall season was held on Tuesday night at nine o'clock. The meeting had been called for eight o'clock but at that time only three council members and the mayor were present. Shortly after nine the fourth member of the council showed up and council was called to order. Present were Mayor Sweetnam, Reeve Lott and Councillors Howard, Alford and Brooks.

A letter regarding the removal of a tree at 191 Centre St. was referred to the Streets committee.

A letter was also received from Father Farrell complaining of the flooding of the sidewalk in front of St. Vincent de Paul church. He advised that a similar letter was being forwarded to the Department of Highways. There was some discussion on the subject and Reeve Lott advised council that a drainage problem existed on the church property. The matter was finally referred to the streets committee for a full report at the next regular meeting.

The Ontario Water Resources Commission advised the town that tenders will now be called for the test drilling on Rendell's island.

The Ontario Municipal Board advised that the town zoning by-law would be approved shortly.

There was a discussion concerning a strip of land adjoining the property of Miss F. Tompkins on Main St. West. It was moved that the strip be sold to Miss Tompkins for $25 and she was to pay the cost of the survey and deed. The piece of land is 28 feet wide and 120 feet long.

On recommendation of the street committee council rescinded the motion turning $1,000 over for sidewalk construction as this money was needed for the final resurfacing of the streets repaired in the west end this year. One by-law was passed authorizing the agreement between the council and Ross Rendell for the test drilling on the island.

The clerk was instructed to write the Canadian Legion regarding their intentions on the hall now rented from the town.

The extension of the water main on Dundas St. West was again introduced as Council had never received a reply from the Public Utilities concerning the cost of extension. The mayor defended the Commission but some members of the council seemed to feel that the Utilities should furnish the estimate when requested.

Finally on motion of Councillors Howard and Alford council decided that the Utilities Commission be requested to install the main no later than June 1st, 1963 and the cost be borne from current revenue. The mayor advised that an expenditure over $500 would have to be approved and he was asked if the expenditures at the pump house this year amounting to some $3,000 had been approved.

Council adjourned shortly before eleven o'clock.

Nick Peconi Gets 6 Months In Meat Case

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Nick Peconi, 48, a dealer in dead and fallen animals, yesterday was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $2,000 for selling meat from such animals for human consumption.

Judge John Kennedy ordered that Peconi, convicted Aug. 27, serve another six months if the fine is not paid.

Peconi was charged after RCMP officers posing as meat dealers, made purchases and said the meat would be sold to Negroes in Detroit.

DESERONTO

High School Opens With 63 Enrolled

DESERONTO — Since the decision of the County Council last June to keep the Deseronto High School open the question has been a matter one about the town. There were some disappointed persons and some gratified but the re-opening of the doors of the D.H.S. on September 4th reveals some interesting facts.

According to authorities the enrollment at the school was 63 and is expected to reach the 70 mark before many more days. The biggest drop-off of pupils was in grade 8 where only fourteen registered. Grade 10 has sixteen pupils, Grade 11 has 23 pupils and Grade 12 has ten pupils. Last year the enrollment was only 87 at the peak.

According to information there were 27 pupils took the bus for the Napanee School, and of these, two were not accepted due to the understanding that each school would look after those who were promoted conditionally.

The split at the Deseronto school consists of Rev. E. L. Quirk, Principal, Miss M. Berlanquet, Mr. Gibson, Mr. Bartlett, Mrs. McTavish and Mrs. Gilmore. Mr. Bartlett who replaces Mr. Houle will be conducting the Physical Culture for the boys and this is a position for which he is qualified. He was a participant in Major A. hockey was a track and field expert at college and is well versed in Canadian Football.

The extra-curricular activities planning for the D.H.S. include a Field Day on September 28th and the annual Commencement on November 28th.

In scholastic achievements it is interesting to note that one of last year's grade 12 pupils John Murphy was awarded a bursary by the Ontario Department of Education.

The school board have engaged one of the Wager coaches to provide transportation to Napanee for those pupils who wish to take shop work. It is noted that some reverted to grade 9 in order to avail themselves of the opportunities of the five year plan. To those versed in school financing it is also evident that the cost of transportation and schooling would more than have provided the cost of a science laboratory at the Deseronto school.

Interested towns people are anxiously awaiting the results of the Christmas exams.

Dr. Joseph Goebbels Still Gets Bad Press in Britain

By DOUG MARSHALL

LONDON (CP) — Dr. Joseph Goebbels, Hitler's shrewd disseminator of wartime propaganda, is still getting a bad press in Britain.

Goebbels committed suicide as the Russians advanced into Berlin in 1945. Somehow he has gained a posthumous reputation as the most interesting and sophisticated of the Nazi leaders.

But critics say this legend about his personality is shattered by the recent publication in English of The Early Goebbels Diaries.

"Not one thought in his head worth committing to paper," says G. M. Thomson in the London Evening Standard. "Vain, shallow, hard and ambitious," echoes The Observer's James Joll.

The diaries were written in the 1925-26, a period when the newly - reconstituted National Socialist Party was split into two factions.

Goebbels was then a young journalist who had once preached drastic radicalism. After switching to the Nazi party he dallied between a more socialistic group under Gregor Strasser in northern Germany and Hitler's circle at Munich.

In the end he gave his allegiance completely and rapturously to Hitler. His loyalty was absolute. Of his leader he wrote:

"He is a genius, the natural creative instrument of fate created by God. How I love him!"

Ideologies and world - views fascinated Goebbels but his grasp was superficial. He was neurotically uncertain about his own future and the world around him, ranting one moment and worshipping the next. "Life is a grotesque," he says as actors and oneself as one of them. Must it be like that! mast beast!"

ANTI-SEMITIC AGITATOR

Goebbels became convinced the Jews were ruining Germany when his novel was turned down by two Jewish publishers and several articles were rejected by Jewish editors.

As an anti-semitic agitator he glorified in his ability to sway audiences.

"Some 5,000 people. I have received with raging applause. Addressing those people listening in hushed silence I become inspired and I inspire."

Hugh Trevor-Roper in The Sunday Times says Goebbels' talents were nothing more than those of an expert advertising man. It was his job to put across the Nazi message and he did it well.

"He devised its public image, articulated its propaganda, arranged its ceremonies; but he had no independent character and never originated an idea. It seems we must scrape the bottom of the Nazi barrel."

Business Wants Tax Cuts; Better Tariff Deals

Answers Government Questions at Parley

OTTAWA (CP)—The government today asked business how best to boost Canadian production and got the heaviest part of the load tossed back at it in the firm of ideas for cuts and better tariff deals.

These were the two most recurring suggestions made as five industrialists and one retail business executive laid off the trade department's "industrial expansion conference, a one-day session attracting more than 400 businessmen.

Carl A. Pollock, president of Dominion Electrohome and of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said the most urgent need in Canada is for corporate and individual tax reductions aimed at stimulating the economy.

"... Industry's ability to compete successfully in the trading like the necessary scale will depend very largely on whether these incentives are forthcoming—and quickly."

He said reductions in corporate taxes should be cut to a level at least as low as that in effect in the United States industrial countries. Depreciation allowances should be increased.

FAVORS PLOWBACK

As for tariffs and what he called "other prodoctive devices," Pollock said both were in Canada sales only for "competitive comparable to that accorded foreign manufacturers by their governments."

Later the theme was picked taken up by H. H. Lank, president of Du Pont of Canada Limited, who said more research is one of the basic needs in getting a more satisfactory industrial growth rate in Canada.

Mr. Lank said this can be achieved through research and development within industry in Canada or by purchasing research results.

The government could help by providing these results. For example, its proposed tax incentives for research—not yet enacted—appear to aid research, and not only to those spending more on research dollars than they did in 1961.

"Secondly, the government should explore the same type of protection . . . to the imports of highly technical products which is applied today by the large industrial importing and exporting countries such as the United States and the members of the European Common Market and this could and fair and with prevailing schedules."

SEEKS NEW AWARENESS

O. H. Wells, president of Imperial Oil, Limited, said there must be new awareness of government attitudes and for "investment climate" and the need for appropriate fiscal and monetary measures.

"We can no longer afford the sort of programs that encourage five industrial units where only

UBC Eight Easily Wins Preliminary

LUCERNE, Switzerland (CP-AP)—The University of British Columbia's powerful eight easily captured its preliminary heat in the world rowing championships today on Lucerne's rain - swept Rotsee in six minutes, 21.2 seconds.

The powerfully - built Canadians who average 190 pounds finished 1½ lengths ahead of Australia, but their time was slower than the Olympic champion, Germany, winner of the last of three heats in five minutes, 53.9 seconds.

Australia was clocked in 6:26.80 followed by Yugoslavia in 6:30.91.

Fourth was Denmark in 6:32.80, followed by Japan in 6:37.47.

The Canadians were almost neck and neck with Australia and Yugoslavia during the first 500 metres of the 2,000-metre race.

SURGE AHEAD

But after passing this mark, they picked up their pace and surged one length ahead of the Australians, who in turn slowly passed the Yugoslavs. The Canadians kept up this lead until the last 200 metres, when they spurted ahead to cross the finish line ½ lengths ahead of the Australians.

The Canadian eight comprised Trevor Wilson, Peter Hewlett, Peter Browne, Don Dewar, Richard Bordewick, Max Wiecozek, Marc Lemieux, Daryl Sturdy and coxswain Ashley Burley.

UBC finished second behind Germany in the 1960 Olympics in Rome.

The eight final is scheduled for Sunday.

Rival Unions Plan Boycotts Of Lake Ships

TORONTO (CP)—The Telegram says Canadian maritime unions are threatening to close the entire St. Lawrence Seaway to all United States flag vessels in retaliation against a threatened boycott of Canadian ships in U.S. ports.

The Globe and Mail said earlier that a Great Lakes conference of the International Longshoremen's Association in Milwaukee Sept. 26 will discuss plans for a boycott of all Canadian shipping in the U.S.

If both sides carry out their threats and plans, key ports on both sides of the Great Lakes would be paralyzed. The welland canal would also be affected.

It was believed the boycott of Canadian shipping was a move to aid the Seafarers' International Union (AFL-CIO) in its battle against the Canadian Maritime Union (CLC).

JUSTICE CHARGES SIU TRIED TO SHAKE WITNESS

Inquiry Told Of More Attacks

TORONTO (CP)—Mr. Justice T. G. Norris of British Columbia said Thursday that a member of the Seafarers International Union of Canada (Ind.) had rendered himself liable for contempt of court by talking to a federal shipping inquiry witness.

The justice tongue - lashed Paul Stuart, an electrician employed here, for having chatted with Stuart, 35, of Collingwood, Ont., while the latter was still testifying to the inquiry.

"I don't propose at the present time to commit you," Mr. Justice Norris said although "you have endeavored quite clearly to aid Mr. (Hugh) Peggie in his evidence or to have him change it."

STUART PROCEED

He said the inquiry, appointed to investigate bitter inter-union fights and violence on the Great Lakes and seaway, should proceed. Further, this was not offence.

"But I will not have witnesses before me who are frightened with or intimidated. . . ."

Mr. Stuart admitted that he had chatted to Mr. Plegehen during the noon adjournment and expressed sympathy as one "working chap to another."

Mr. Plegehen said Mr. Stuart came to him and asked him whether he was sure he was doing the right thing.

The inquiry background involves the ousting of the SIU from the Great Lakes in a bitter seaway two years ago for misconduct and the formation this year of the CLC-affiliated Canadian Maritime Union to "fight the controversial SIU.

TELL OF ATTACKS

CLC witnesses again Thursday told of attacks on CMU members who replaced SIU members on vessels of the Upper Lakes Shipping Company of Toronto.

Three CLC secretaries also described harassment last spring at their Toronto office consisting of phone calls daily by persons who immediately hung up or gave false information. Windows were unsolicited and unsolicited deliveries of fish, barbecued chicken, typewriters and folding chairs. There was an order for 1,000 pizzas.

All this stopped when the CMU moved out, the witnesses said. Louise Humphrey of Port Colborne, cook on the vessel Provincial Explorer, corroborated testimony by shipmate Ralph Scott about a July 24 assault at Lansing, Que., east of Montreal.

While Mrs. Humphrey, another female crew member and two male members of the crew were ashore, Scott said, they were joined by an affable stranger. They drank and ate and described Mr. Scobbie, Port Norman sitting nearby joined the party.

At a subsequent Joliette, Que.,

Valiant Young Knight From Bronx Conks Taxicab After It Honks

NEW YORK (AP) — Once upon a time, when knighthood was still in flower—namely Thursday — there was a young knight by the name of Edward Hessler.

Now this Hess was a goodly fellow and some 33 summers ago who hailed from a land called the Bronx. He rode, knight fashion, on a motor scooter in the province of Manhattan on a white charger called Nancy, wearing a red tunic with falcon crest, knight's helmet and coat of mail.

He was, however, only a knight for a day or so, and he rode around the city of New York advertising for Brooklyn's St. George Hotel, St. George and the Dragon — get it? Hess was riding about the United Nations building, when a likely adversary appeared in the form of a New York taxicab.

For the benefit of the uninitiated, a New York taxicab is a sort of modernday dragon that moves at high speed, stops with great squealing, eats people and has a call that goes "Honk, honk".

This particular taxicab, driven by Philip Viceconti, pulled up behind Hess and his entourage and greeted them with a honk".

"Weigh, neigh", went Nancy, whirling about. And, before Hess could go, "Nay, nay", his knightly helmet was pierced by taxicab's armror — right in the grill.

"Odd bodkins", said Viceconti, or words to that effect. "Read", said Hess, "Prepare, but an error, milord".

Quoth Viceconti as the knight rode off into the sunset — "Go tell King Arthur he owes me 60 bucks for this radiator".

Feeley May Be in Custody When Inquiry Opens Mon.

TORONTO (CP) — Vincent Feeley's bid to overthrow the Ontario royal commission on crime has been tossed out by the province's Court of Appeal and the gambling boss and his lawyer have received a judicial scorching for trying to "frustrate and obstruct" the inquiry.

Lawyer Walton C. Rose underwent the rare punishment Thursday of being ordered to sing into his own pockets for the court costs of all concerned—unspecified but pertain between $2,000 and $3,000—and the court panel let it be known there would be no appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Feeley promptly launched a move to carry his case to the Supreme Court of Canada, but ostensibly on his own and without the name of a lawyer— it is customary — appearing on the formal notice he served late Thursday on the royal commission.

The commission, meanwhile, set for Monday the reopening of hearings which had been in recess since Aug. 20 as it awaited the Appeal Court's interpretation of the gambler's application to have Mr. Justice W. D. Roach, the commissioner, disqualified.

Disqualification of Mr. Justice Roach, a one-man commission, would mean a delay of breaking up the whole inquiry, which has been over 21,000 pages of evidence since March 21, much of it focused on Feeley and partner Joseph McDermott.

The pair may be in custody at the time of the scheduled commission opening.

They now are out on $50,000 bail apiece following an appeal court conviction last March on charges of conspiracy to obtain police information — gambling raid tips—illegally, and are due to surrender at the Don Jail Monday before their appeal opens in Ontario Appeal Court today.

They would be held until the court disposes of the appeal, but commission counsel Roland F. Wilson said Thursday that Feeley and McDermott will be brought before the commission in custody if he is still in jail.

It was his summons to the witness box Aug. 20 that touched off his attempt to scuttle the commission.

The commission had no immediate plans to call off the hearings Monday as the result of the 40-year-old gambler's Supreme Court of Canada bid, Wilson on his two previous court tussles with the commission—the latest Thursday—had begun to come.

Mr. Wilson said Thursday the Monday session would open on schedule and what happened then he was up to the commissioner.

To get before the Supreme Court, Feeley would first have to get leave to appeal from either that court or the Ontario

Many Glassco Proposals May Be Adopted by Govt.

OTTAWA (CP)—Adoption of many of the far-reaching proposals of the Glassco royal commission on government ottain. The only question left is how many.

The commission's report, released Thursday, calls for a massive revision of the whole federal operation to strip away its mass of red tape and put it on a businesslike basis.

Prime Minister Pearson said after receiving the 300,000-word report that its proposals will require the closest study and added:

"I've always found that there who talk loudest about economy scream the loudest when action is taken in the direction."

Finance Minister Nowlan, who said he has not yet had time to read it thoroughly, said "acceptable" recommendations in the report will be acted on within a year. Many could be done without legislation.

Many observers noted the timeliness of the commission's diction that action on its plan would save "tens of millions of dollars" a year. The government is in the middle of its cost-cutting austerity program.

Main criticisms came from the Liberal opposition party which denounced the royal commission's findings as part of a Tory campaign for negotiation rights. They also took exception to proposals to give the chairman of the Civil Service Commission what they call dictatorial powers right to hire senior staff, promote, transfer, compensate and dismiss.

The three - man commission, headed by Toronto accountant Dr. Grant Glassco, reported that it found the government's machinery too big for the tight central controls which date back to the depression era.

As a remedy, it advocated bold decentralization, giving each department head responsibility for its own budget and staff. The result would be a slimmer department corporations run on the lines of modern industry.

The commission, which heard 197 specialists to handle its investigations, still has two four- more reports in preparation with the first of these due

Govt. Faces Second Test At Polls Since Election

OTTAWA (CP)—The Conservative government faces its second test at the polls since the June 18 election Monday in the British Columbia constituency of Burnaby-Coquitlam Oct. 22.

The first test was in the Ontario riding of Stormont where successor of the death of Liberal candidate Albert Leger ended in a strong endorsement. Mr. Lavigne's successor, Lucien Lamoureux, by a large margin over Conservative Grant Campbell.

The Burnaby-Coquitlam byelection will provide New Democratic Party Leader T. C. (Tommy) Douglas with an opportunity to gain a seat in the Commons.

The former Saskatchewan premier was defeated by Regina in the June election at which the Conservatives returned with a majority of the Commons members.

The byelection was made possible by a cabinet acceptance of the resignation of Erhart Regier, teacher who won the seat he has held since 1953. Mr. Regier resigned to provide his colleague with another chance and Mr. Douglas was promptly nominated by the NDP constituency association.

The possibility of a five-way fight developed. The Liberals nominated Warren Clark, Burnaby municipal councillor. He ran second to Mr. Regier in June. Rene Gamache, another Burnaby councillor and a lumber grader, will represent Social Credit. Mrs. Margaret Rose, a Westminster storekeeper, has said he will run as an independent.

Mr. Diefenbaker, announcing the byelection date after a meeting of cabinet, said legal officers express grave doubts that the CCF party is incorporated. However, he said, it was decided to accept Mr. Regier's resignation but it must not be regarded as setting a precedent. The seat has a population of 92,000 plurality and will act as Mr. Douglas' campaign manager.

His resignation leaves the Commons standing at 116 Progressive Conservatives, 100 Liberals, 20 Social Credit and 19 New Democrats.

A combination of all three opposition parties would be necessary to unseat the government easily. Mr. Douglas has indicated he will not support another general election this year but Liberal Leader Lester Pearson and carries his 18 colleagues with him in keeping the government in office during the session which starts Sept. 27, when government will have a four-vote edge over any Liberal-Social Credit combination.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he expects the Conservatives will field a candidate.

VIOLENCE ERUPTS ON PICKET LINE IN HAMILTON

Six More Strikers Arrested at Plant

HAMILTON (CP) — Violence erupted again Thursday outside the strikebound Dominion Glass Company Limited and six more strikers were arrested.

Rocks and scrap metal once more flew and bonfires were brought into the fray when the strikers pounced on a truck that crossed their lines.

More than 50 police led by Inspectors William Homer and Samuel Burd were targets themselves. Tomatoes were flung at the policemen and their cruisers and the strikers jeered and challenged the police to take off their badges and guns.

A copy of an injunction against the strikers was burned in the street. At least one man was injured.

The United Glass and Ceramic Workers of North America (CLC) have been on strike against the company for 40 days. Thursday's trouble came after the end of two days of talks, broken off in August.

The last lines were lighted by wages, a change in working conditions and seniority clauses.

LIMITS PICKETS

Since the strike began there have been several incidents on the picket lines. Mid-August, after which six men were arrested. The company has obtained an injunction limiting the number of men who can picket the gates.

The men arrested Thursday are Robert Melnick, 36, Wayne Dawson, 27, William Rideout, 28, and Albert Gray, 57, all charged with intimidation and mischief.

Also Boucher, 20, was charged with obstructing police, and Gerald Dubois, 34, was charged with assaulting police and with obstruction.

Bail was set at $200 each. The union said it would attempt to raise it.

Union officials said they intended to lay charges against several policemen for company officials. One of their members Thursday was armed with a movie camera.

2 Girls Wait 3 Days for Rescue After Plane Crash Kills Parents

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—On a pinecloud mountain slope two little girls, one with a broken leg fracture, kept a days-long vigil near the bodies of their parents killed in an air crash.

Leaning against a tree trunk for support because of their light plane, its tail in the air, its nose crumpled against the ground by inside the plane's cabin, strapped in the seat, was the mangled body of their mother.

Nestled, a few feet away, lay another body—their father.

Through three bone - chilling nights and three scorching days, without food, without water, the girls stayed by the wreckage waiting for one of the many search planes they saw overhead to spot them.

At mid - morning Thursday help came.

Thursday night, in a bed at St. Bernardine Hospital, six-year-old Julie Clark told her story.

"The plane went down real fast," she said. "Mommy and daddy didn't have a chance, to say anything."

At the side was her grandmother, Mrs. Scott Kimball, and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, who died on the mountainside, and for Julie's eight-year-old sister Laurie. Julie was suffering only bruises, bumps, bruises and exposure.

William Clark was vice-president of Travelodge Motels Incorporated. Both he and his wife Jacqueline, daughter of the corporation's president, were 32.

New Proposals May Be Offered By Diefenbaker

Gives Hint to Press On Arrival at London

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker arrived today for the conference of Commonwealth prime ministers and intimated that Canada may put forward proposals that would allow a major increase in Commonwealth trade.

"I believe there are alternatives to Britain joining the European Common Market," Diefenbaker told an airport press conference after his RCAF plane landed following the 9½-hour flight from Ottawa.

He declined to be drawn on specific plans Canada may have and said the alternatives to be discussed at the conference "will not be drastic."

But they would "provide the opportunity for an expansion of trade within the Commonwealth to a greater degree than ever before."

The Canadian leader also said he feels that the trade terms for Commonwealth exports so far worked out in the Brussels negotiations with the Common Market should be reconsidered.

DOESN'T SAY

He did not say which of the tentative agreements negotiated at Brussels he opposes. However, the only major agreement affecting Canada involves manufactured goods, and would mean that by 1970—if Britain enters the Common Market—the full European tariff would be levied against Commonwealth manufactured goods entering Britain.

The first event on Diefenbaker's itinerary was a luncheon in his hotel suite with Australian Prime Minister Menzies and New Zealand Prime Minister Holyoake.

He described it as an "informal" meeting and told reporters they would discuss their "respective problems and prospects for agricultural exports from their countries—our mainstays—as inter on forming a common front during the conference.

DENIES ANY BLOC

But Diefenbaker said emphatically there is "no bloc." Conference sources earlier said the three o'clock St. P.m. meeting was to be grouped all along at Britain's request to discuss its relations with the Common Market negotiations, and it was natural to continue in the Monday.

Diefenbaker also reiterated his view that it is "possible a further Commonwealth prime ministers conference will be necessary when negotiations on Britain's terms of entry to the six-nation Common Market are completed."

In fact, he used the phrase "when and if there is a finality" brought to the negotiations."

Alberta Doctor Says Fallout Deforms Babies

RED DEER, Alta. (CP)—Dr. L. J. de Vann, medical superintendent of the provincial training school for retarded children here, says an increasing number of birth deformities in Alberta is linked to a meteorite rise in Canada's radiation level of strontium 90.

Dr. de Vann, conducting in-quiries into the unusual number of infants born with malformities for the provincial government, said in an interview the connection between deformities and the higher levels of radiation cannot be ignored. He said the rate of deformities in Alberta has increased to 14.1 per thousand from 5.9 piece 1950.

The former physics lecturer at the University of Alberta said the disappearance from other physicists of the limited effect of small amounts of radiation, he believes there is a real threat.

He said strontium 90 has an affinity for calcium and gets into the bones of animals such as cows. Milk and beef from cattle used by humane can affect unborn infants. The strontium 90 can attack important chromosomes which govern the formation of body cells. Continual exposure will build up the toxicity.

"I don't even feel like giving my own children milk until I am sure we are past the age when we are going to have any more children," he said.

County Council Members Critical of Regulations

Will Repave Highway 7 In Marmora

The No. 7 highway route through the village of Marmora is to be repaved with concrete curbs constructed. Subject to Ontario Highways Department approval the contract for the paving project will be let to the Glen Lawrence Construction Company of Kingston who submitted the lowest tender.

Reeve William Shannon said the new paving would extend from the railway tracks to the east end of the village with a three-lane roadway through the business section.

Criticism of government unemployment insurance and welfare payment regulations which make it possible for men to refuse employment, and welfare recipients receive more than a working man, was heard in county council yesterday.

The discussion came out at a request from the Belleville Unemployment Office for two county appointments to be made to the winter works program committee for the Hastings area.

Reeve Verse McMurray quoted an instance occurring his area wherein a family on welfare received more money than another man who had worked on the winter works program.

He noted that this apparently was encouraged by the government in that 75 per cent grant was paid for labor costs under the winter works plan, whereas the municipalities received 80 per cent of welfare costs.

At the same time Mr. McMurray cited another instance where a man out of a job listed himself as a bulldozer operator and declined to take a job unless it was in this category.

"The man wouldn't know which end of a bulldozer to climb up on, yet he got away with it," he said.

He said the system wasn't right and that the whole matter of welfare payments and unemployment insurance was being abused because of nonessential laws.

Reeve J. N. Brown of Bancroft moved that welfare payments were being abused.

"We don't give out welfare in our village with no questions asked," he said.

Mr. McMurray said he mentioned the instance in his area because he felt these matters should be kept in mind by the county appointees on the winter works program committee.

The Tudor reeve was accordingly named to the committee along with Warden Harold Varty.

40 Students of Tweed H.S. 'Strike' Against Transfer to Enlarged Madoc School

Defying direction from the Centre Hastings High School Area Board that they attend classes at Madoc instead of at Tweed, approximately 40 high school students from the Tweed Huntingdon area today took "strike" action against the board and refused to attend classes.

With school area buses directed not to transport them to the Tweed school, the students made it on their own today and erected placards declaring they didn't want to attend school at Madoc.

They were joined intermittently by regularly enrolled students of the Tweed school who drifted in and out of classes until they were persuaded to return by their principal W. R. Hamilton.

The principal told his students his position as head of the Tweed school would be threatened unless they returned to their classes.

The refusal of East Huntingdon students to attend classes at Madoc is the aftermath of closing Tweed High as a village of Tweed and the township of Hungerford from Centre Hastings Secondary School Area which was allowed earlier years.

The withdrawal will be effective January 1st of next year. Tweed and Hungerford will set up their own boards and themselves operate the Tweed High School.

Students from East Huntingdon attend Tweed as they've been attending high school at Tweed and wanted to continue to do so despite the fact the school no longer was in the high school district in which they lived.

Centre Hastings High School board decided that East Huntingdon students would have to commence attending classes at Madoc at the beginning of the school term this year instead of waiting until the first of January, when the withdrawal of Tweed and Hungerford would become official. This, it was felt, would be better for the students than changing schools in the middle of the school term.

East Huntingdon residents, however, brought their request before council to make a special meeting earlier this year. No action was taken by the county so the Centre Hastings board directive stood for students to attend classes at Madoc.

Tuesday East Huntingdon students failed to show up for enrolment at Madoc.

Tweed school buses have been instructed not to pick up East Huntingdon students and the students will have to make the bus sent out from Madoc.

Today East Huntingdon students turned up at the Tweed school and after erecting placards commenced circulating a petition.

Gist of the petition was that the students were not against Mr. Hamilton, they were not against the Tweed school board and they didn't want to go to the Madoc school.

Mrs. A. E. Allen of Tweed, said today that none of the school bus contracts had been cancelled by the Centre Hastings Board.

Thomas Kelly, who with Mrs. Allen and others took a leading part in the Tweed and Hungerford request for withdrawal from the Centre Hastings High School area, tried to persuade the "striking" East Hastings students to attend classes at Madoc.

He told them their action would be of no use unless they could hold out until the end of the year, which he said he did not think they could do.

MEMBERS SHOW UP

By late morning a few of the Centre Hastings High School Board members had shown up at the Tweed School, while a number of parents of the striking students also were on the grounds.

Board chairman Kel Kincaid of Madoc had not put in an appearance but he was expected to do so in an attempt to bring about some settlement of the trouble.

2 GIRLS WAIT

the hospital, was undergoing three hours of surgery to set a protruding bone in her left thigh.

"When the plane hit," Julie continued, "daddy and Laurie and me was in a row and mommy stayed in the plane."

LAURIE'S BRAVE DEAD

Julie previously had said she knew her parents were dead because "they didn't move."

She said she helped Laurie sit up against a log.

Laurie was crying because her leg hurt. But after a while she quit crying.

"Laurie said I should go over to the plane and try and find some water. I looked all over because we always carried water but I couldn't find any. I couldn't find any food either.

"Then Laurie told me to look for something for us to keep warm with. I went back to the plane and found a suitcase. Inside was daddy's clothes were in it. We put them on and huddled together to keep warm. We didn't get cold.

"Later Laurie said I should go up over the hill to get help. I got halfway up and got scared so I came back. I didn't get scared again though."

Julie didn't know it but the searchers were only 300 yards from a backwoods road above the wreckage. They could not see the road through the dense pines. Motorists on the road could not see the wreckage.

A helicopter, carrying pilot Ralph Landels and the girls' grandfather, Scott King, president of Travelodge Motels, first spotted the wreckage among towering pines at the 1,900-foot level. Landels radioed ground parties, bracing for the emotional state of his passengers, flew King to nearby Big Bear Airport. He arrived back at the crash scene as the ground party reached there.

County Building Pay Phone Is Not Paying

The pay phone at the county administration building in Belleville isn't paying.

Or maybe it's paying its taxing customers too much.

At least that is the story heard this week at county council when members were informed the pay phone at the county building was averaging less than 10 cents a day. Th escapomnyists cents a day. The company wants a guarantee of 27 cents per day to leave the phone in operation.

A number of councillors pointed out they frequently made calls from the pay phone and consequently had their pockets crammed with charges being paid at the other end.

Joe counciller said a pay phone is required in a building the size of the county structure regardless of who paid the bill.

The matter was left with the clerk-treasurer.

Final Approval For New School Given by Govts.

Final approval from the federal and provincial governments for the construction of the new technical school addition to the Madoc High School was received this week, according to Madoc village reeve Thomas Burnside.

Reeve Burnside made the announcement at Thursday's meeting of county council, and said the contractor was expected to commence work immediately.

Legion Branch Gets $500 Grant

The Coe Hill branch of the Canadian Legion will receive a grant of $500 from Hastings county toward the construction of their new Legion hall.

The grant was approved by council yesterday following a request by Wollaston Reeve Ross Wilson.

Reeve Wilson said veterans in the Coe Hill area formerly belonged to the Apsley Legion branch but now had formed their own branch and were building a hall by school hall.

The foundation was now in and the branch was in need of further money to complete the framework and get the roof on before winter.

County Council Winds up Summer Meet

Hastings county council wound up its annual summer session yesterday following a three-day meet in which councillors put their stamp of approval on entering into a partnership with the city on the ownership and operation of the Belleville General Hospital.

Thursday council perfected the necessary by-law authorizing the county clerk and warden to sign the agreement with the city.

The agreement, approved on Tuesday, and providing city council approval is assent, would see the county become a 25 per cent owner of the hospital and also committed to 25 per cent of future hospital capital expenditures.

Authorization was given by council for additional hospital construction of up to a maximum of $4,000,000.

Otherwise the summer session was a relatively quiet meeting. Various committee reports were heard and appropriation by-laws to acquire the necessary right of way for building of the third and final phase of the Foxboro-Madoc county road, were passed.

The session was marked by an all-day bus tour by councillors to inspect the northern part of the county on Wednesday.

Also on two days of the session, Wednesday and Thursday, councillors and county officials were dinner guests of the two county members of provincial parliament, Clarke T. Rollins, Hastings East, and W. Elmer Sandercock, Hastings West.

Coaching Classes To Be Held for County Plowmen

Coaching classes for those desiring to enter the Hastings county plowing match to be held in the Madoc area on September 26th, will be held at three different locations in the county.

This was noted yesterday by Harleigh Hamilton, recently-named president of the county plowman's association as he referred to the match at Hastings county council.

He said the match would be held on the Bell Smith farm on No. 7 highway east of Madoc. Coaching classes would be held in South, Central and North Hastings, possibly on different dates.

Mr. Hamilton said the match would have an open class, three classes for juniors and a special "no hands" class calling for contestants to complete plowing a specified area in a specified time. Contestants would not be allowed to touch the plowed land with their hands.

Special prizes are being offered for the match by Esso, and by the T. Eaton Company and Simpson Sears.

Threshing Bee Helps Widow Harvest Crop Near Bancroft

North Hastings has its good neighbors the same as in the southern part of the county.

Following the recent death of Samuel Trolley, resident Fred Stewart farmer northeast of Bancroft, the district neighbors on Labor Day got up a threshing bee with close to 100 turning out to help Mrs. Trolley with the harvest.

Carlow township Reeve Gerald Caldwell told county councillors that three threshing machines were kept busy all day while area Women's Institute members turned out to provide dinner and supper for the field workers.

Council members from the southern townships learned on their bus trip Wednesday that neither were all the good farms in the south.

The Trolley farm at Fort Stewart has one field of 50 acres extent. Another farm in the Detlor district carried anywhere from 40 to 60 milking cows and will winter 70 head of cattle this year.

In addition to forage feed, the same farm this year threshed 3,000 bushels of grain.

Dates Named For Trapping In District

November the 1st is the opening day for trapping wild fur in the Tweed district. The closing dates are as follows — Beaver and otter — March 31; fisher and mink — January 31; muskrat — April 30, north of No 7 highway and April 20 south of No. 7 highway.

Although lynx and marten are present in the district, they are considered too scarce in density to permit any trapping and therefore no quotas will be allotted.

The pelts of beaver, fisher lynx, marten, mink and otter must be sealed by a department of Lands and Forests officer before being sold by a trapper.

Though not a strong swimmer, David Kushner jumped in and grasped the girl who had previously panicked and pulled her would be rescuers beneath the leaden. He was able to avoid her clutching hands and pull her to safety.

Two new teachers have been added, Susan Donald of Dundas and Tom O'Halloran of Wellington.

two can be justified," he said.

"... we cannot afford to dilute our effort by subsidizing non-economic or non - contributory elements of the industrial complex. I suggest we have to concentrate on those things we can do best and that the record shows there is much more we should do than has been commonly supposed."

Mr. Twaits also urged that Canada should be set up to coordinate and reconcile provincial and federal government policies.

C. A. Peachey, vice-president of Northern Electric Company, said a vigorous education campaign is needed to make Canadians realize that its most precious commodity income comes from other Canadians.

'BUY CANADIAN'

He asked businessmen to support a campaign — "maybe a government one" — to encourage Canadian consumers to "buy Canada first."

J. R. Jenkins, senior vice-president and director of the T. Eaton Company Limited, said the government can do much in setting up a proper climate for Canadian manufacturers.

He called for "proper" depreciation allowances and said manufacturers "should also be given tax inducements to spend it volume so that they can become more efficient by increasing their volume and thus be able to sell at lower prices in their Canadian market."

But Mr. Jenkins indicated that a lot remains with the manufacturers themselves.

Reviewing the reasons why his store buys abroad, he said one factor is that a Canadian product may lack originality or distinction.

ADJUST PRICES

Mr. Jenkins added that some foreign manufacturers in dealing with organizations such as Eaton's price their goods on the basis that the store will handle distribution. He said that part of the cost from their price.

"Canadian manufacturers also should pay more attention to style, he said.

The final speaker, Karl E. Scott, president of Ford Motor Company of Canada Limited, took a hefty swing at undue pessimism on the Canadian economy. He said in part:

"I feel that from time to time in the past few years we Canadians have been too quick to draw general conclusions about our economy. Thus there have been times when either we have deluded ourselves into moods of over-confident complacency, or conversely, of gnawing uncertainty. At present we appear unduly to be inflicted with the latter."

Tourist Groups Meet But No Decision Made

Executive members of the Highlands of Hastings tourist group attended the annual meeting of the Land of Lakes tourist association held in Northbrook yesterday evening to ponder the practicability of joining forces to form a single association.

The purpose of such a move was primarily to gain recognition from the provincial government and become eligible for a grant to assist in their work.

Allan Venn, a director of the Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity, spoke on the benefits of the proposed amalgamation. After some discussion the proposal was dropped in favor of the two groups seeking individual recognition as tourist agencies.

Chairman of the meeting was Ted Courtreye of Tweed. The Land of Lakes association was headed by president Russ Brown, whilst Alderman Jack Ireland headed the Highlands of Hastings group.

Mass TB Detection Survey Will Begin Here Tuesday

Mr. John Deacon of the Hastings County Tuberculosis Association, today announced that a mass tuberculosis detection survey is being set in Belleville on Tuesday, September 11th. Mr. Deacon has been appointed General Chairman of the survey committee. In a statement issued yesterday Mr. Deacon said:

"The Hastings County Tuberculosis Association will co-operation with the Ontario Department of Health, will be conducting a mammalin photofluorographic and X-ray survey of Hastings County including X-rays of all Hastings County industrial employees. The tuberculosis picture in Ontario must not be taken too lightly. It is a constant battle to keep the incidence rate under control. Currently, approximately 5 people per day enter Ontario's sanatoria, 70 per cent of whom are in an advanced stage of tuberculosis. It is only through the efforts of the public that we can hope to keep these figures down, and Hastings County is prepared to offer the public the opportunity of being a part of this international fight against tuberculosis."

Mr. Deacon said the relatively new "Heaf" method of testing will be used. "The Department has trained three special teams, each consisting nurses in Heaf testing, an absolutely painless method of administering the test."

DETECT TUMORS

The tuberculin test will indicate if any person has ever been in direct contact with tuberculosis. It will not show active disease. It will not prevent who show a reaction will be X-rayed, as well as all persons 15 years of age and over. It is in this age group that the highest rate of new infection and chest abnormalities is located. The Chest X-ray is capable of finding small chest area tumors, enlarged hearts, but such findings will be reported.

Dr. G. G. Brearley, Hastings County medical adviser, stresses that persons newly infected with TB experience a particularly dangerous period of about two years.

"During these two years," the doctor explained, "a noticeable percentage of the people infected with germs will prove incapable of handling the infection and will break down with active tuberculosis".

He said the great majority of the newly infected will successfully encase the germs in their own tissues in tiny nodules called tubercles. "They will be safe from TB providing they maintain supremacy over the action of the germs. However, if their body tissues undergo severe stress or strain this supremacy may be lost.

INFECTION EXPLAINED

"I want it understood that 'infection' does not mean 'active disease'. Active cases are diagnosed from chest X-rays and require immediate medical attention in sanatorium. On the other hand, infection is indicated by a positive to a simple tuberculin test available from any doctor and will be available during the forthcoming mass tuberculosis survey. If a person is infected, he should obtain a yearly chest X-ray. Then any evidence of active TB would be plain to see and treatment could begin at once".

"On concern," Dr. G. G. Brearley emphasized, "is for persons who have difficulty in out knowing they are ill, are infecting other people in Ontario. They also provide reinfection for thousands more and this re-infection could be disease-producing".

"Tuberculosis is by no means a disease of the past," said the Doctor. "It is here with us to stay and; it could be with us for a long time in the future".

No Action Taken On Appointment Of Inspectors

Hastings county council took no action this week on motions for the appointment of men to inspect roads and to inspect construction safety throughout the county.

The feeling generally of council members was that such inspectors would be impractical due to the wide area of the county. The request for appointment of a county meat inspector came from the city of Belleville, while the request for the construction safety inspector appointment was from the Ontario Department of Labor.

Reeve William Shannon felt a meat inspector for the county would be a "conservative step" but the general feeling was that the matter should be spelled out a bit more fully before any appointment was made.

Councillors wanted to know if the inspector would inspect all meat slaughtered or only that offered for sale.

"We would be creating an impossible situation," commented Reeve Earl Sager of Madoc township, inspection of all meat killed in the county would just not be feasible.

DOZEN COULD NOT DO IT

"Half a dozen men couldn't inspect all the meat in the county.

Such safety other man will be an inspector," he said. "Who is going to inspect the inspectors? The department of health recommendations also asked for the appointment of the county inspector with payment for the inspection plan to be shared by the provincial government.

Reeve Sager felt the city should reconsider the matter and come back with a more "local" recommendation which he felt the county would be willing to support.

The same feeling was held by councillors with respect to the county inspector on construction safety called for by the Ontario Department of Labor.

IMPOSSIBLE TO DO

"It would be physically impossible for one man to look after all construction safety jobs in the county," observed Bancroft Reeve Fred Brown. "The map wouldn't do it."

Council concurred in a Wellband county resolution asking that the act calling for county safety inspectors be repealed and that such inspections be the responsibility of the Workman's Compensation Board.

At the same time councillors voted that no action be taken on the appointment of a county inspector.

Only Point Separates Two Top Contenders

MOSPORT — Local sports car racing enthusiasts who have found Canada's new motor sport racing circuit a pleasant place at which to watch Canada's top drivers battle it out for the Canadian racing driver championships will find tomorrow's Indian Summer Races, sponsored by the British Empire Motor Club of Toronto, a most exciting day to date.

Only a point separates the two top contenders, Ludwig Heimrath and his Porsche and Francis Bradley with the "Miss Whiz" Lola, following the Porsche pocket win at the Riverside Circuit one west last weekend.

With only two race meets left on the championship calendar the eventual winner is still anybody's guess and spectators can be assured that neither of the two drivers will be tacing it easy during the race program which starts tomorrow at 11.00 o'clock.

The Indian Summer Races are also interesting from the signal aspect that they are the last Canadian sports car races which combines motorcycle with sports car racing. A dozen motorcycle back sidecar outfits are running between the seven sports car races.

Top drivers, including Montreal's Yves Dulamel, 1961 Canadian sports champion and international winner four Lloyd of Scarborough as well as Ed La Belle from Philadelphia, will ensure that these races will be exciting.

No Action Taken on Request For County Library Set-up

Hastings county took no action this week on a request for the establishment of a county library.

Mrs. David MacDonald of Belleville and W. A. Roedde, director of the provincial library services, spoke to council stressing the need for better library service throughout the county particularly in the community halls.

For both Mrs. MacDonald and Mr. Roedde had spoken to council on the same matter at the Spring session.

Mr. Roedde outlined requirements for formation of a county library system and suggested an annual budget of about $54,000 with about $20,000 to be provided by the county. He said this would provide books with a wide range of subject matter 'for distribution among the rural areas.

CLAIM DUPLICATION

Individual municipalities within the county would have to give approval before the system could be set up.

In the main, however, county councillors felt there would be duplication of the several municipal libraires now operating in county centres.

Several of the reeves said their councils had turned the idea down.

Reeve William Shannon of Marmora and Lake and Reeve Allan Bronson of Bancroft felt their libraries were giving good service, while county finance committee chairman Reeve Thomas Burnside indicated there had been no provision in the year's budget for setting up a county library.

One councillor felt the county area was too great for a mobile library to serve satisfactorily.

Warden Harold Varty said however that council should study the idea and no doubt members passed a motion from Reeve Harleigh Hamilton of Sidney township that no action be taken at this session.

No Automatic Cure

People who supposed that devaluation of the Canadian dollar would provide an almost automatic cure for our trade problems will have suffered a rude awakening if they have perused the official statistics for the first half of this year.

Canada's trade deficit for that period was $126,300,000, more than 50 per cent higher than for the same period in 1961.

Total exports rose by 12.4 per cent, while imports rose by 13.6 per cent.

The higher level of both exports and imports was partly the result of the devaluation of the dollar. Stress has been laid upon the fact that the lower value for the Canadian dollar should make it easier for Canadians to sell their products abroad, since we could afford to reduce the selling price of these products in terms of U.S. dollars. But goods we import cost us more. Devaluation cuts two ways.

It is evident that so far we have not taken full advantage of the opportunities which devaluation provides to increase the physical volume of our exports. It is, however, worthy of note that an exception appears to have occurred in one field, and that the most important, our exports to the U.S. Here the dollar value of our exports increased by 24.4 per cent. an encouraging achievement, which obviously is not solely the result of our obtaining higher prices in terms of Canadian dollars for our goods.

However, when we find our trade deficit increasing by 50 per cent, in spite of this gain in our exports to the U.S., it is made doubly plain that we must step up our efforts to sell more goods to other countries — and it also seems evident that steps should be taken to reduce the physical volume of our imports.

Earthquake In Iran

More than 7,000 people were killed in Iran Saturday night by an earthquake. The eventual death toll is expected to be about 10,000, making this the worst disaster in more than 2,500 years of recorded history of the area.

An earthquake is one of the deceptively simple phenomena of geology. Usually, it occurs where high mountains arise near ocean deeps; actually it may occur anywhere there is a significant difference in height between the highest and lowest parts of the same area. Iran is mostly tableland, about 3,000 feet above sea level, but in the quake area, peaks rise to more than 17,000 feet. An earthquake is the result of the fault in the basic rock, which allows part of the mountain region to drop to a lower position. In effect, it is landslide on a collossal scale.

When any disaster of this magnitude occurs, the world is shocked. We like to think we live in a world of modern science and efficient rescue organizations, and that ten thousand people cannot be killed at once, except, of course, by mass himself.

But this is a totally unrealistic point of view. Man's technical ability is not, and probably will never be, comparable with the natural forces that build, and destroy, mountain ranges. We may hope to kill, by nuclear and chemical poisons, the world's life, but even in our most insane frenzy, we cannot alter the planet itself.

With robot spaceships heading toward the nearest planets, and cute little mechanical gizmos drifting in orbit around the world, there is perhaps a tendency for man to become swell-headed.

But a gentle planetary hiccup in Asia Minor has done damage we cannot repair for years to come. It just might teach us - a lesson in humility.

Junior, Get Up!

An outbreak of sleeping sickness has hit the Florida west coast resort area near St. Petersburg, according to the American press Pinellas County officials have reported 61 suspected cases of the rare disease, and it has been suspected in fourteen deaths.

Belleville's Florida-like weather during the past few days may be blamed for an outbreak of another form of sleeping sickness, but the blame will be misplaced. Florida's sleeping sickness is caused by the bite of a mosquito: Belleville's by the re-opening of schools.

We do not expect our program to be as smooth as before. Therefore, we are prepared to have some failures.—Maj. Yuri Gagarin, on Soviet space program.

Battle of Paperwork

Montreal Gazette

Prof. C. Northcote Parkinson is at it again. In 1955 he discovered Parkinson's Law — the law that work will expand to fill the amount of time available for its completion. He's proved that, according to this law, you could, if you wished engage two people to do the work of one and all would be busy doing it, though the time allowed was ten times as great as needed.

His latest book, "In-Laws and Outlaws" (published in Canada by Thomas Allen Limited) goes on to deal with a number of other remarkable features of our time. One of the most interesting is his chapter on "Paperwork."

* * *

Business today, as he says, is in danger of being overwhelmed by a sea of paper. Everyone is sending pieces of paper to everyone else. By this sort of hypnotic activity, everyone is busy reading what comes from others, making notes and memoranda, and energetically multiplying the amount of paper in circulation.

There are several reasons why we are living in the age of paper mania. One reason, of course, is the growth of governments. In government the bulk becomes the thing. Why? Because there is always the possibility of some sort of inquiry.

At any stage of his career a civil servant may be asked questions concerning his work. What action did he take in response to this? Was he the man responsible for recommending that? Why did he recommend before rejecting something else? So what the civil servant needs is a documentary history of what he has done. One receives the impression that Parkinson has laid it before his next superior B. having first obtained a legal opinion from C. who has to be embodied in Minute G, dated November 1st, circulated to D. then took action and lows.

The trouble is that with this procedure what actually happens becomes of less and less consequence. The file has to be kept in order, not the people or things to which the file refers relates.

* *

But it is not just in bureaucracy that the file becomes more important than the subject of the file. The same attitude creeps into business. The great advantage claimed with an exchange of papers among departments and so much to confuse and bedcloud the fact that a large order has been cancelled, a "paper box" of goods were not up to the samples. Proof that the file is neatly kept to this end. Likewise there is a false sense of order and efficiency.

Centralization, Prof. Parkinson believes, is another cause for the growth of paper work. Fewer and fewer people do more and more and more people simply report. The stack of paper piles up on a few executives' desks and there is no time to read and less to think. The panic tend can be sent out again to more people for more notes and comments.

* *

Everybody thinks he is busy, and he may be. Everyone is putting it down on paper. But what happens may be very different from the executive described by Prof. Parkinson.

The executive arrives at his office in the morning. He is supplied to height of 18½ inches. Of this only the uppermost compromise the information he needs he has demanded, the remainder consisting of that on which no decision is asked. Hardly has he begun to read the first item, before the daily mail is added. This amounts to an additional 18½ inches.

All day, amid various interruptions, this executive battles against the rising tide. The level begins to drop. With everything thrown into the battle, with blood, sweat and tears, he deals with all the paper on head. By the time he leaves the office for every letter has been answered; for "In" tray reads simply "I've won again, he says, as he drives home in his car.

But what has really happened in that hard day's work? Prof. Parkinson says that the man whose life is devoted to paperwork has lost the initiative. He is dealing with things that are brought to his notice, having failed to notice anything for himself. He has been essentially defeated by his job."

* *

Prof. Parkinson tells of one chairman of the board who decided to get out and see for himself. He visited a branch of the company on a Saturday afternoon. He found the drix working overtime to fill the catalogue order.

He asked what the cards were for. "For?" repeated the supervisor blankly. "They are for filling in. Here is one, sir. You can see for yourself that it has to be filled in."

"But why?" asked the chairman. No one could tell him. No one knew. No one had ever known.

In his own way way Prof. Parkinson, after discovering Parkinson's Law, has come up on another feature of modern life: the tendency to escape from reality by making ourselves more important than ends, and by becoming worshippers of the file.

All of us contribute memoranda to the file are proving the means; a big file becomes the proof that many people have been at work. How could the file judge that way if they hadn't?

Strictly Personal
When Put To Work, Man's Mind Balks

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One of the best newspaper columnists who ever lived — Don Marquis, God rest his soul — once warned neophytes in the business: "If you make people think they're thinking, they'll love you; if you make them really think, they'll hate you."

Many writers and teachers, some of the most successful ones, dislike a sort of literary con-game. They specialize in double-talk that sounds meaningful, extemporize with the merciless ray of logic, their writings are as vaporous as smoke-rings.

In an article on semantics I was reading the other day, the author neatly illustrated this point. First, he quoted a paragraph from a political essay, full of long and sonorous phrases — such liberty and justice and the usual campaign cliches. The quotation just didn't make sense, but it lulled you into peaceful acquiescence.

Then he suddenly introduced this sentence: "Only once or more trees in the world than there are leaves on any one tree, then there must be at least two trees in the world with the same number of leaves."

At first this sounded like gibberish. So I re-read it slowly, and it made complete logical sense; moreover, it is expressed almost entirely in one-syllable words.

Only it took a little effort to absorb the meaning — and unconsciously my mind resented the trouble I had to go to. It was more rewarding than the empty political paragraph.

The human mind, like water, takes the easiest course. It resists any break in its pattern of serenity. That is why all the great prophets and dissenters, the bold creators of original thinkers, have always met with fierce opposition. We hate anyone who makes us re-examine our ideas or behavior.

Yet, if we are to work out any decent sort of world for the future, we must be able to discriminate between the genuine and the phony, between real thought and mere literary vaporising. I believe, nonetheless, that we are validly drawn from their premises and their premises to our passions and our greed.

We have to learn how to track down a proposition, how to think out a proposition, how to detect a logical fallacy in ourselves as well as in others, and how to recognize an argument based on authority or hypocrisy or emotional prejudice rather than on logic.

This sort of discipline is not taught in the schools, except abstractly on the college level. If we began straightening children's thinking at the age we start to straighten their teeth, there might be some hope for us all.

Sour Grapes Are Genuine

Lynette Gamble, a recent and unsuccessful candidate for the title of Miss Universe, returned home to South Africa after the pageant where she found harsh words about her hosts in Miami Beach.

Then, she pointed out, her (Miss Gamble's) clothing was the envy of the American girls look silly. In those days of pessimistic public relations, where statements to reporters often reflect a carefully constructed public image, Miss Gamble's words have the ring of sincerity. Over the weekend Toronto city police arrested a Montreal ex-convict, aged 37, on a charge of theft from the Ellis Jewelry Store in this city on the morning of Wednesday last. Today Acting Chief Harman and Constable Arnott went to Toronto to bring back the accused for trial; and they also took along a warrant for the receiver of the stolen goods. The capters also recovered all the articles that allegedly were stolen from the store and these will also be returned with the prisoner.

Some kind of a record in bovine reproduction is claimed by Mr. Morley Davidson of Massassaga for one of the fine Holstein cows in his purebred herd. Approximately one year ago of Mr. Davidson's cows gave birth to triplet calves, while last week the same cow gave birth to a pair of twin calves, five calves in slightly over a year. Multiple births seem to be a habit with Mr. Davidson's Holsteins. Last week another cow in his herd gave birth to twin calves. Both sets of twins are doing well, reports Mr. Davidson.

Pill Problem Up to Puplic

Londen New Statesman

Thalidomide, it should be remembered, was marketed in Germany and Britain and thoroughly tested by current standards. In the last resort new drugs must be used on human guinea-pigs.

It is here that the physician plays an indispensable part.

Unfortunately the general use of therapeutic drugs is a post-war development and even today is scarcely reflected in medical education.

Few doctors are qualified over 15 years ago received training in the scientific assessment of new drugs, and they are often easy victims of the ceaseless propaganda of pharmaceutical firms.

The obvious course for the physician, unless he is certain of his ground, is to exercise great restraint.

But this is difficult in the face of a public avid to submit itself to the monstrous regiment of pills.

The late Marilyn Monroe, we are told, was accustomed to take 20 sleeping tablets every night. Such cases are tragically common — justified by the alleged stresses of 20th-century existence.

Stress, in fact, is now one of the most telling words in the adman's vocabulary and finds a ready response in a public deprived by affluence of the more material sources of grievance.

Pill-mania, of course, can be reduced by removing medicine from the counter, where anybody can get it. They're which usually is about 36 days.

He Approves Of Spooning

Windsor Star

Metropolitan Toronto Parks Commissioner Thomas W. Thompson is a man with a heart. He thinks it is all right for young couples to spoon in parks, but doesn't even object to youngsters carving their initials on trees. Parks, he says, are proper places for dreamers.

Mr. Thompson has another idea. He suggests that mothers and fathers would do well occasionally to stroll hand in hand in the parks where they once spooned. The environment and the memories might rekindle some of the youthful spirit of romance they once had.

Mr. Thompson has a worthy idea. If more middle-aged folk revisited the scenes of their courtship, they might see their lives in a better and more romantic perspective. Memories of the past can influence the present.

Work Recipe For Old Age

Chicago Daily News

Hardly a week goes by that some senior citizen doesn't give his recipe for living to the actuarial percentages. If it isn't swimming, golf or sex appeal, it's carrot juice or the avoidance of worry.

Now comes two men, both crowding 80 whose prescriptions coincide and who have arrived — each in his field — the right to be heard.

"I have a recipe and I can state it in one simple word: Work," said Herbert Hoover, who is 88 next month. I sat around in some club with other elder statesmen discussing life and pills, I probably would not be here very long."

The other man who knows hit the newsstands, the boys at Mcconnick's, are busy singing "Happy Birthday" to Sunny Fitzsimmons on his 80th.

Mr. Fitzsimmons is the boss trainer of his time (Nashau, Omaha, Johnstown, and many more) made a little speech in which he spiked rumors of his pending retirement.

"A man never quits in his prime", said Sunny Jim.

Food for thought, we believe, in an age when most people's ambition seems to be to reach a condition where they can dispense with it.

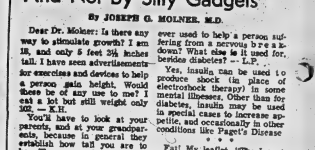
THE PACKSACK



By GREGORY CLARK

Inattention, according to a schoolmaster of my acquaintance, is mere laziness. It is laziness of the mind which naturally goes along with laziness of the body.

"I have seldom met a child," he says, "that was inattentive to his teachers, to his parents or to instruction of any kind, who was not at the same time a lazy galoot. Show me an inattentive child, and I'll show you one who is lazy, who avoids tasks of any kind, who, in an idle quite charming way, escapes any share of work that has to be done. Prettily little girls are often marvels of inattention, by which means they escape all kinds of little jobs such as running upstairs for Daddy's slippers, carrying out the dishes to the kitchen. There is all kinds of blather in educational circles as to the many factors in contemporary society distracting the attention of children. Confidentially, I think our whole social development is aimed at producing convenience and leisure, and the lazy, inattentive little heirs of tomorrow are right on the ball."

Will Ask Police to Enforce Parking Ban on Balsam St. As Council Gets Complaints

TRENTON—Trenton police will be asked to enforce the parking ban on Balsam Street, the street running through Trenton Memorial Centre Division Street, and at the back of King Street, across from the market square.

Last night, Trenton councillors considered a letter from a heating equipment company, located on Balsam Street, in which the company manager complained that while his company's trucks were always parked on company-owned land, it was next impossible for them to proceed down the street to reach their property because of cars and trucks under repair being parked for long periods, (and in various stages of disassembly) across the road. Only one of the three parking meters on the block is working. The company executive called for some sort of co-operation between council and the police department.

Councillor C. V. Graham, chairman of the town's traffic committee, said that the question of the parking ban had been considered by his committee, but dropped, because, "It was too hot a potato to handle."

"What do you mean, 'too hot to handle?'" queried Councillor Ross Burtt. "Are you afraid of stepping some one's feelings? We have a by-law which prohibits carrying out to the street any items, except for emergency repairs."

Mayor James MacDonald said that the police chief had been sent a letter on August 19, asking that the by-law mentioned by Councillor Burtt be undertaken, but the letter had subsequently told him that he hadn't received the letter. Mayor MacDonald said another solution to offer, to alleviate congested conditions on Balsam Street.

COULD REMOVE WALK

He suggested that the town engineers look into the possibility of removing the sidewalk which runs along the west side of the street, altogether, giving the street, in effect, "wall to wall parking."

Town engineer Eric Aldersey said that this could be done and in answer to a query concerning the town's liability should someone step out into traffic on the narrowed street, town solicitor Roderick Campbell stated that the town was obligated to keep the sidewalk in repair if it was there but was not obligated to replace it with a new sidewalk should it be removed.

Council wasn't in complete agreement about whether a handicapped person should be allowed to operate a "Modern Mobility Wagon", on town streets. The resolution to this man had written to ask council's opinion towards licensing the conveyance. Some members of council thought the presence of many such vehicles on the streets might create a hazard, but others thought it might lead to the street being littered with wrappers, etc.

"You give permits to cater-ers," complained Councillor Burtt, "Their rigs are on the street being littered with wrappers restricted."

It was decided that acting clerk-comptroller Alan Weaver write to the applicant and request more information for registration and advice of his proposed business enterprise.

Mrs. Margrethe Birch of Marathon, who has asked $1,000 for a small triangle of land at the corner of King and Elgin Sts., which the town wants for a park, will be notified that exact assessment value on the area in question is $500, and that council use the land to create more space on the turn-off from King Street.

REPORT ON DOGS

Councillor Burtt relayed the August dog catcher's report to council. During the month, 15 dogs were caught, three returned, four destroyed; three sold and there remain five dogs in the pound.

Councillor Burtt, who had been appointed to inform the lighting situation on North-ern Ontario Lighting but said Scott Street, reported the area that PUC manager Jim Page had told him that the PUC had overspent its budget in the new lighting department and could not do anything about North Scott Street, or Spring Street, this year. The manager's suggestion that new lights, of the greatest candlepower, which will be taken by the old-type sockets, be installed on both streets in question, was adopted by council as a measure to improve the situation.

Councillor Burtt said that it was a peculiar thing that when council was asked to install lights in new developments, it could be done, but when some of the older areas of town requested additional lighting, "try and get it." He said that the PUC had installed lights in Elmwood acres and on the hospital grounds, as a "carry over" from last year's fulfillment of council's lighting requests. He said that he would like to see the town's lighting program completed.

Mayor MacDonald said that he would be and reminded council that the PUC had promised to supply council with an overall survey of the town's lighting needs. This, said the mayor, had not been forthcoming.

The general opinion was that since the town pays for the lights in the long run, the PUC should be asked again to co-operate and supply a survey.

WHERE IS BY-LAW?

"What's become of our snow removal by-law?" asked Councillor Burtt, (the by-law provides for the removal of town streets of cars during hours when snow removal crews are working).

It was told that the traffic committee is re-working the by-law and that it will be ready for adoption at the next council meeting. Then, it must be approved by the Ontario Municipal Board.

"We may not get it back until next March," said Councillor Burtt, dejectedly.

Councillor Worrall reported that after two months rehash of months of waiting, the town planners finally finished with the plan to demolish the present fire hall and create a parking area in its place. Councillor Tola will be considered by the fire hall committee. The original suggestion to re-locate the fire hall and create the parking lot for firemen, councillors, town men and shoppers, was sponsored by Councillor Worrall, Industrial and Economic Development Committee.

Councillor Tola also said that clerk-comptroller O. W. Larry had "written a stiff letter," to the town's Toronto solicitor, engaged to represent the town in arbitration proceedings with Murray and Sidney townships, asking that action to get the by-laws, which is preventing the town's annexation request, approved by the Ontario Municipal Board, be stepped up, but that to date, no reply has been received.

Councillor Worrall, as 1962 chairman of the Trenton Court of Revision said that the court had been busy hearing appeals of tax assessments from farms which had particular buildings or offices, etc. He said that the court had written off $1,000 in refunds.

WILL ASK FOR DEED

The town will ask the Trenton Board of Education to be deeded to a street adjoining Silvers Ave. and Kitchener Street and running along close to Queen Elizabeth school. The street, if accepted and used by the town, should be the town's by right of use, opined town solicitor Campbell, however, but he said that it might be a good idea to get the deed. "The street was at one time named, "Cloud Street," and it was decided to revert to the former name. Councillor Ed. Todd said that something should be done about the condition of the street as "you could drive a hole down in it after a rain."

A letter from the fire chief, Cecil Sills was read, in which the chief reported that his department had answered 23 calls during August.

"No so good," said Councillor James Duncan, "how's the rented radio equipment in the chief's car and the fire truck working out?"

"Good," said Councillor Burtt.

"No so good," said Councillor Duncan.

"Well, let's get together on this," laughed Councillor Duncan.

The case was jumped by above 15 assailants. It was testified by one man in a wheel chair that he was injured but the assailants had by three of the police force but the police chief cannot have been told.

Mr. Fiegehen said in a statement: "In general the Glassco commission proposals have presented a fair and timely report. If the Diefenbaker government is serious in its avowed intention of obtaining more economy and efficiency in the operation of government, then here is a real basis for prime minister to initiate action."

T. C. Douglas, leader of the New Democratic Party, read news reports in Vancouver about the Glassco proposals. He had the same criticism as the civil service groups here, saying "One of the great deficiencies . . . is that the employee has no way of sitting down with superiors to discuss problems or advance ideas for improved efficiency or greater security."

He said the civil service should have full rights to bargain collectively with government.

Mr. Fiegehen denied it. He said he had been told by Mr. Lacroix during the noon break in the trial that he was the SIU officer who in 1956 told him to go home during the strike But Mr. Fiegehen insists he told himself could not remember who that official was.

Oshawa Man Is 'Top Gun' At RCAF Club Skeet Shoot

TRENTON — A total of 22 shooters participated in the RCAF Trenton Fish and Game Club Labor Day open skeet shoot. Nineteen shooters participated in the main event, which was the Hunter's special. Prizes were awarded to the top gun, runner up and top gun of each of the three classes. A shoot off was necessary to determine the high gun of the day because of a tie between Stan Starr and Pete Trouki, both of the Oshawa Skeet Club. Stan Starr won the shoot off. Because of a number of misfires it was decided to have several shoot offs, one for each of the three classes. Second class winners were Jim Hatton 1st and Alex Seymour, 19; Nelson Starr (Oshawa) 18. The third class winners in the main event were George Hammett 1st and Don Parker 2nd, both of the Quinte Trap Club. Individual scores in the main event were as follows — Stan Starr (Oshawa) 24-23 (47); Pete Trouki (Oshawa) 23-22 (47); Bill Rudyk (Oshawa) 23-20 (46); Nelson Starr (Oshawa) 23-22 (46); Tex Tyreman (RCAF) 24-22 (46); Jim Hatton (RCAF) 22-22 (45); Alex Seymour (RCAF) 23-22 (45); Earl Lasby (Oshawa) 22-21 (43); Glen McConkey (Frankford) 23-20 (43); Bill Parker (RCAF) 22-19 (42); Don Parker (RCAF) 22-20 (42); George Hammett (Quinte) 20-18 (38); Jon Parker (Quinte) 19-18 (37); Jim Kenedy (Quinte) 18-18 (36); John Hatton (Oshawa) 21-15 (36); Gardiner (Quinte) 16 (32); Allen Dunn (RCAF) 13-10 (23); Roger Cote (RCAF) 11-8 (19).

The second event consisted of 50 targets singles, doubles, trap and types of shot guns. Included in this shoot were a 20 gauge, a 410 gauge pump over under and also, a 16 bolt action. Both of these different type 12 gauge guns, some being semi-automatic and pump gun action. Both the participants and spectators appeared to enjoy this shoot, particularly because of the mixture of gauges as well as the age and condition of some of the guns used. Bolt action 12 gauge on doubles produced a considerable amount of hilarity for the spectators in particular, since it was next impossible to get off a second shot before the upper barrel blowed into the ground. In one case of this shooter was attempting to get a second round ejected by the use of the forearm in double bolt simply disengaged from the receiver and fell to the ground. This shoot was so following: Bill Rudyk (Oshawa) 19; Nelson Starr (Oshawa) 18; Stan Starr (Oshawa) 15; Bill Parker (RCAF) 14; Jim Hatton (RCAF) 12; Gord McGee (Quinte) 12; Tex Tyreman (RCAF) 12; Doug Johnston (Quinte) 12; Tom Trodden (RCAF) 12; John Harley (Quinte) 11.

The last event was a tenmarget special shoot which consisted of singles, doubles, 3, 4 and 5 and doubles from stations 3 and 5. The outcome was: Bill Rudyk (Oshawa) 10; Stan Starr (Oshawa) 10; Pete Trouki (Oshawa) 10; Nelson Starr (Oshawa) 9; Tex Tyreman (Quinte) 7; Alex Seymour (RCAF) 7; Tex Tyreman (RCAF) 7; Bill Parker (RCAF) 3; Doug MacDonald (Quinte) 3.

The various prizes presented to the winners, runners-up and top gun were the latest in clothing, gun cases, shooters vests, a hand trap, gun cleaning kits, a Remington automatic cigarette lighter and for low gun a book entitled "Trigger Talk".

The RCAF Trenton Fish and Game Club intends to have another open shoot before the heavy season opens. The Club intends to invite the champion of champions shoot, Barney Hartman of Ottawa.

Erie Resistor and Essex Announce Expansion Plans

TRENTON — Yesterday, George Kempf, vice-president and general manager of Erie Resistor of Canada, Ltd., announced expansion plans of the Erie company and the near-by Essex Electronics of Canada, Ltd., plant. Present at the meeting was Mr. Kempf's company's general manager, Erik Kaifus and Trenton's former mayor, Frederick Doods.

Mr. Kempf as spokesman, Trenton stated that Erie had wanted to expand for quite some time. He said that Mr. Couch, who had been instrumental in bringing the two plants to Trenton ten years ago, had hit upon a mutually satisfactory solution for both companies. Adopting his suggestion, final arrangements were made by company headquarters in Erie to purchase the Essex plant, which lies but 20 feet north of the Erie property. Owner of the Essex building, Mr. Couch, has made arrangements to build a new plant for Essex, on an extension of Wall Street, in the near vicinity of the Erie Plant. Company plant and near the present warehouse in North Trenton.

Erie will use the additional 7,200 square feet provided by the Essex building as a research and development centre. Use presently being made of current approximately 24,228 square feet). Mr. Kempf said that industry's needs and requirements of national defence had brought about the need for a research area. The 90 by 80 square foot area in the Essex plant which the two plants has been earmarked by Erie for a future production area and there is some thought of building a second storey on the existing Wall Street building if future expansion needs require it.

READY FOR ANNUAL

Mr. Couch said that the new Essex plant he plans to build on Wall Street, (the building to be Essex), will be roughly one-third larger than the present building. This new plant should be completed and ready for use by January 1st. Plans and specifications have been awarded the contract for construction. As soon as the Essex move has been effected, Erie will renovate the old building to suit its requirements and will install additional equipment.

Company heads stressed the fact that the changeover would in no way affect work schedules. There will be no dismissals as a result of the move. Erie will add two engineers and three technicians to staff of three research engineers and five standard technicians.

Mr. Couch said that when negotiations began, he had the greatest confidence in the parties concerned and that the arrangements would be made in a highly ethical manner. He said that the actual deal was satisfactorily and been completed in less than three hours.

Confidence in each other and Trenton was the keynote of the negotiation," said Mr. Couch.

Eight Bands To Take Part In Tattoo Week

TRENTON — Sept. 16 to Sept. 22 has been proclaimed by Trenton council as Trenton Tattoo Week. More than 300 bandsmen and military personnel will appear in a giant Military Tattoo at the Trenton Community Gardens on Friday evening, Sept. 21, and Saturday evening, Sept. 22. Sept. 20 will see a full dress rehearsal of the eight bands participating, with newspaper, television and radio representatives and the members of disabled persons' club, the blind and children from the Ontario School for the Deaf as audience.

The eight bands taking part will represent the regular and reserve Army, RCAF regulars and auxiliary, and the Royal Canadian Sea Cadets (RCSCC "Trent").

Headlined will be the band of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals and Air Transport Command's band of the RCAF, both returning to Canada from the World's Fair in Seattle.

The bands participating will be the 400 Squadron (Auxiliary) Pipe Band from Toronto and the pipes and Drums of the Queen's Scottish Regiment. The Hasty Ees Trumpet Band and trumpet and Drum of the Trenton and No. 6 Repair Depot will also appear.

Members of the Boy Apprentice School, Royal Canadian Electronics Engineers, Kingston, will be given the "freedom of the town" in other words, they will be citizens for a day) in order to bypass an old law, forbidding a fellow to run from the police in the streets of any municipality with barred cells. They will march through the heart of the town with fixed bayonets.

"This will be one of the biggest events ever to take place in Trenton," says Trenton's mayor, James MacDonald.

The event is being sponsored by the town, assisted by the Industrial and Economic Development Committee, headed up by Councillor Lloyd Worrall.

Will Sue Murray If Firemen's Bill Is Unpaid

TRENTON—Murray Township officials were notified that unless it comes up with a $2,000 bill for fire fighting services by Oct. 15th, the Town of Trenton will "take legal action".

At last night's meeting of Trenton council, Councillor Lloyd Worrall pointed out that the township had paid only $1,000 on a total bill of over $2200, claimed by the town to cover fire fighting services in the township last spring and summer. Last year, charges for the thousand came a note, explaining that since fire fighting services were rendered to unpaid part of the bill had not been forthcoming, the council did not feel obligated to pay for them.

"We have an agreement stating that the reeve or council must sign before we go out to fight their fires" asked Councillor Worrall.

After examining the town's original bill and the agreement with Murray, town solicitor Roderick Campbell pointed out a clause in the agreement which states, "the town shall not fight fires outside assistance to the township, whenever called upon by any resident of the township."

WEDDINGS

KETCHESON — PITTS

On Saturday, August 11, at high noon, a lovely summer wedding was solemnized in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, Madoc, by the Reverend R. A. Sinclair, pastor of the church, when Martha Eldrena Gayle Pitts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Pitts, of Madoc R. R. 2, was united in marriage to Grant Allen Ketcheson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ketcheson, of Madoc R. R. 1, in a double-ring ceremony before a background of cedar and pink and white gladioli in pastel shades.

Mrs. Irene Crawford, of Madoc, rendered the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Dale Mackey, of Elzwood City, Pa., as she sang the three wedding hymns, "O Perfect Love," "The Lord's Prayer," and "O Love Divine."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in her floor-length gown of silk organza having a lace bodice with Sabrina neckline embellished with sequins, as were the long lily-point sleeves. The fully bouffant skirt, worn over many crinolines, was also trimmed by lace appliqué. Her finger-tip veil of silk illusion tulle was caught in a crown-like sequin encircled with seed pearls and crystals, and fell gracefully in a quiet in cascade form of shaded pink roses and stephanotis.

She was attended by Mrs. Larry Stickwood, of Madoc, as matron of honor; by Miss Beverley Ketcheson, of Madoc, as senior bridesmaid, sister of the bridegroom, and by Miss Jayne Pitts, of Madoc, sister of the bride, as the junior bridesmaid. The matron of honor and the senior bridesmaid were gowned identically in white waltz-length pure silk organza over taffeta accented with cummerbunds and large flowing sashes in olive green and two large pink flowers between the bouffant skirts. The junior bridesmaid wore a similar gown of silk organza over taffeta with pink cummerbund and sash. The attendants carried sprays of pink and white 'mums.

Mr. Larry Stickwood, of Madoc, was groomsman, while Mr. Lyall MacLachlan, of Stirling, and Mr. Gordon Pitts, of Madoc, brother of the bride, acted as ushers.

The reception was held in the church parlors, where the bride's table was appointed with white damask, glass candelabra with pink candles, and centred by the wedding cake, flanked by the bridal bouquets.

The guests were received by the bride's mother, attired in an aqua triple sheer crepe sheath accented with rounded necklines and tiny cap sleeves. The skirt was complemented with an over skirt of matching material daintily finished at the waist with a narrow inserted belt having a bow. She wore beige accessories, and corsage of pink and white 'mums. The bridegroom's mother, who assisted in the receiving line, was gowned in a robin-egg blue sheath, white feathered hat, white accessories, with corsage of white and pink 'mums.

For the honeymoon through New York State to Vermont, the bride donned a turquoise linen sheath with matching jacket, completed with a multi-colored blouse in pure silk; white accessories, and corsage of white carnations. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Ketcheson will reside at Madoc, R. R. 1.

Guests attended from Windsor, Montreal, Ottawa, Buffalo, New York, Pennsylvania, Burlington, Woodstock, Belleville, Peterborough, Havelock, Milton, and Madoc.

A miscellaneous shower was given by Mrs. Larry Stickwood, and one by Miss Barbara Bateman, with Mrs. William Bateman as co-hostess prior to the bride's marriage, she was also presented with an electric tea kettle by the staff of Prince Charles' School, and honored at a luncheon at Moira Lake with Mrs. James Mossell, of Buffalo, New York, as hostess, and at the presentation of a brown TV chair, by the community of Madoc.

WILLIAMS — SMITH

FRANKFORD — On Saturday, September 1st, at 11 am, a pretty wedding was solemnized in a simple setting, when the Rev. C. Judd united in marriage in a double - ring ceremony in Frankford United Church, Judith Ellen daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Smith, of Frankford, and Larry Lyle Williams, son of Mrs. Olive Williams of Belleville.

Miss Bonnie Raine was soloist, singing "The Wedding Prayer" and "O Perfect Love" with Miss Eleanor Beath, who played the traditional wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over satin, fashioned with fitted bodice, long sleeves pointed over wrists and scalloped neckline with pearl sequins. The full skirt was embraced at the back with seven rows of net and chantilly lace with front panel of net and scalloped lace. Her shoulder-length veil of French tulle illusion was held by a crescent headdress studded with pearl sequins and lace appliqué. Her finger-tip veil of silk illusion tulle was caught in a crown-like encircled with seed pearls and crystals, and fell gracefully in a quiet in cascade form of shaded pink roses and stephanotis.

She was attended by Mrs. Larry Stickwood, of Madoc, as matron of honor; by Miss Beverley Ketcheson, of Madoc, as senior bridesmaid, sister of the bridegroom, and by Miss Jayne Pitts, of Madoc, sister of the bride, as the junior bridesmaid. Only Defence Disarmament Says Woman

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. Frances Herring, a 66-year-old grandmother who thinks shelters are "silly" will be among delegates at an international conference of women for international year which opens Sunday in the Laurentians.

Dr. Herring has taken five months off from her research job for the bureau of public administration of the University of California to attend conferences and visit groups working for peace.

She was in Ottawa before the Montreal meeting, organized by the Voice of Women, a Canadian women's group which supports disarmament.

Five Russians and representatives from Poland, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia are among the 40 to 50 invited guests who will meet in closed sessions in the Laurentians, followed by open meetings in Montreal Sept. 14 and 15.

Dr. Herring said she became interested in working with peace movements when a national survival program suggested that families build shelters.

"When you realize your children would be at school and your husband at work the shelters seemed silly," she said. "We want defence and security and the only defence is disarmament."

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Mrs. K.W. — She takes no interest in her sister.

Colette J. — She's my mother's pride and joy, not mine.

* * *

Mrs. K.W. — I have two married daughters, both with young children, living 300 miles apart. Although I'm in close touch with each, I'm distressed at the estrangement between them.

This is Colette's fault. She all but bids her hands to her ears when I tell her of Marian's accomplishments. Marian, on the other hand, wants to know each little tidbit about Colette, who is now surveyed small from her.

Last month Marian won a prize in an amateur sculpture show. When I offered to show Colette the newspaper clippings, she said, "Don't bother." I'm heartbroken over this sick relationship. Aside from this envy, Colette is charming and bright.

* * *

Colette J. — My mother thinks getting your name in the paper is the most. And since Marian does it all the time, she's the daughter to brag about. I'm just a plain housewife minding my own business, so I don't count.

I grew up in the shadow of my talented sister. Now, my parents went through the motions of keeping things "even." We wore either clothes, and we both took dancing lessons and went to camp. When company called they politely asked what I was doing in school. Then their eyes lit with excitement about Marian's honors, her popularity and her glamour.

Maybe my parents wanted a son instead of me. Or another Marian. Well, I'm waiting for them all to love me as plain me, not just as Marian's sister.

The Council: Here again is "the quiet one" who, all her life has been screaming on the inside. Colette won't consider herself a full member of the family until her mother — the symbol of approval, acceptance and affection — personally confers upon her all the prerequisites of first-class participation.

While it's rather late for Mrs. W. to get to work on Colette's starved and bruised ego, better late than to assault it further. Understandably she floats along on the clouds of adulation for Marian. Unintentionally too, She assumed that plodding, moody Colette was up there with her, enjoying the spin as part of Marian's retinue.

Nothing was further from the truth. To Colette, every accolade for Marian was a repeated blow to her self-esteem. It meant "Why aren't you like her? Why can't you make us as happy?" Colette writhed in shame at not being able to "measure up."

All along, Colette probably warranted her own brand of glory. Certainly she had her own small, though unpretentious, triumphs and her own attractiveness. The present indifference to Marian is part of her desperate campaign to bring pressure on her. It meant "Why aren't you like her? Why can't you make us as happy?" Colette writhed in shame at not being able to "measure up."

Colette writhed in shame at not being able to "measure up."

Mrs. W. must now, hard as it may seem, focus upon and even exaggerate her role as Colette's proud mother, underplaying the whole bit for about the next 6 months. Two things may happen. She will discover unexpected treasure. And Colette's icy defensiveness will melt once the ice bank in its shell for family appreciation.

Only then will she be able to reach out and publicly commend her sister. For only a person who is content within herself can rejoice in the success of another.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS

BY PATRICIA LEWIS

WHAT'S YOUR E.Q.?

Most brides know that wedding gifts have to be acknowledged, but questions about procedure often pop into mind. Like this few:

1.May printed thank-you cards be used instead of notes?

2. May the groom lend a hand in acknowledging gifts?

3. Must all thank-you notes be sent out before the wedding?

4. How should notes be sent before the wedding be signed?

6. What signature should be used when sending notes after the wedding?

7. Must a thank-you note make specific reference to the gift?

8. If the gift is to be exchanged, should this fact be mentioned to the donor?

9. When a gift is sent by a married couple, to whom should the thank-you note be addressed?

10. Should telegrams and other congratulatory messages be acknowledged the same as gifts?

ANSWERS

1. No. Each gift should be acknowledged with a handwritten note even if it's a stationery, preferably white.

2. No. All gifts are acknowledged by the bride — even those sent by friends of the groom to the bride and almost daily contact.

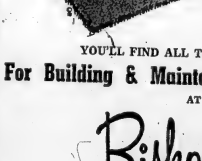
3. Yes. Notes should be sent even to those with whom the bride has close and almost daily contact.

4. Presents should be acknowledged as soon as possible, preferably on the day they're received. Those that arrive at the last minute may be acknowledged afterward. But most thank-you notes should be dispatched before the wedding.

5. The bride uses her first name to close friends, or her first and maiden name on notes to more distant friends and acquaintances. "Miss" is not written before the name.

6. Notes may be signed with the bride's first and married name, or with her first, maiden and married name, depending on which one will be more easily recognizable to the donor.

7. It should.



8. Not necessarily. But this is a decision that has to be made according to the relationship with the donor.

9. The envelope and the greeting on the note should be addressed to the wife.

10. It is gracious to do so.

Shirley pinned a corsage on the guest of honor as she arrived and the group enjoyed a variety of interesting games.

During the evening Jean was seated in a decorated chair, gay with pink and white streamers and bells, where she opened a large array of miscellaneous gifts. She voiced appreciative thanks for the party in her honor and the gifts.

Guests were in attendance from Bath, Belleville, Trenton and the Stirling area.

The hostesses served dainty refreshments after which the guests expressed best wishes for future happiness as they departed for home.

On Wednesday evening a surprise miscellaneous shower was held at Batawa by fellow workers of the Bata Shoe Factory, who had arranged the party, and assembled in room with pink and white streamers for the occasion. Mother's Helper

WHEN THERE are two children in a family, sibling comparisons between make-believe possessions, privilege, etc., are inevitable. Do your best to avoid arguments about this kind of equality. Assure each of your love, and try to make them understand that things are not always the same but are likely to come out even, eventually.

HILL — HORTON

Baskets of multi-colored gladioli and potted ferns adorned the altar, and white satin bows the guest pews in Centennial Free Methodist Church, Belleville, on Saturday, August 11, at 1:00 p.m. for a lovely double-ring wedding when Jeannette Alison Horton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Horton, of Belleville, became the bride of Kenneth Earl Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Dracup, of Belleville. The Reverend Edith Mainprize, pastor of the church, officiated.

Mr. Alfred Reed, of Belleville, provided the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Albert Smith, in her rendition of "The Wedding Prayer," previous to the ceremony, and "O Perfect Love," during the signing of the register later.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiantly lovely in her full-length bridal gown of brocaded white satin fashioned on princess lines with long torso effect, having a scalloped neckline edged with seed pearls and sequins, and long lily-point sleeves. The full skirt, which was gathered at the hip line, was accented by a large back bow and butterfly-wing puff which cascaded into a chapel train. She wore a rose-type headdress with petals encrusted with seed pearls and an over-the-face finger-tip bouffant veil, and carried a cross-shaped bouquet of Sweetheart roses, centred by a white garden orchid and misted with Adiantum fern. A cultured pearl pendant with matching earrings and bracelet with Adiantum fern. A cultured pearl pendant with matching earrings and bracelet with gold, the gift of her bridegroom, completed the nuptial costume.

She was attended by Miss Anne Middleton, of Belleville, as maid of honour; and by Miss Barbara Shaw, of Brantford, and Miss Joyce Ketchum, of Belleville, cousins of the bride, as bridesmaids. All were gowned alike in waltz-length romance blue silk organza over taffeta, featuring fitted bodices of lace, having scoop necklines and cap sleeves. A wide, shirred cummerbund of silk organza accented the gathered skirt. They wore single strands of cultured pearls, the gifts of the bride, romance-blue floral headdresses made by Mrs. Ketchum, aunt of the bride, white shoes and gloves, and carried baskets of pink gladioli.

Little Miss Debra Grass, of Belleville, was a charming little flower girl in her short white nylon and organdy frock over taffeta, fashioned with short sleeves, full skirt with large back bow. She wore a romance-blue floral headdress matching the attendants' gowns, short white gloves, and carried a tiny basket of white and blue baby 'mums. A single strand of cultured pearls completed her ensemble.

Master Robert Horton, six-year-old brother of the bride, was a regal ring-bearer, trim in his grey flannels, blue blazer and maroon tie, with white carnation boutonniere, and carrying the rings on a white satin cushion pillow.

Mr. Ronald Chapman, of Ottawa, attended the bridegroom, while Messrs. Fred Grass, of Belleville, brother of the bridegroom and Thomas Horton, brother of the bride, ushered the guests.

The reception was held in the Army, Navy and Air Force Hall, which was prettily decorated for the occasion with streamers and large white and pink wedding bells. The Ladies' Auxiliary to the A.N.A.F. catered.

The bride's table was appointed with the traditional white damask linen and centred by a three-tier all-white pillared wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom beneath a heart-shaped arch of pink roses and blue forget-me-nots, and misted about the base with white tulle. Three tall pink candles in crystal candelabra, and the bridal bouquets lent an additional nuptial accent to the attractive setting. Floral tables were enhanced with monogrammed serviettes, doilies and the A.N.A.F. rosebowls filled with red roses.

Gets UNESCO Grant to Study In Far East

TORONTO (CP)—When Barbara Stephen was given a UNESCO grant to study Far Eastern archeological objects, she recognized that it would take more than just a trip, to her access to get the necessary information.

Miss Stephen, assistant curator of the Far Eastern department at the Royal Ontario Museum, here, is making a trip around the world with stops in the United States, Hawaii, Japan, Formosa, Hong Kong, India, Sweden, France and Britain.

Miss Stephen, assistant curator of the Far Eastern department at the Royal Ontario Museum here, is making a trip around the world with stops in the United States, Hawaii, Japan, Formosa, Hong Kong, India, Sweden, France and Britain.

In each of those places, she expects to gather information that will be of use on her return to the museum, which has one of the finest Eastern collections in the world.

The study trip, Mrs. Stephen says, arises from a need to relate the collection of Far Eastern archeological objects at the ROM to those still in the East, and a desire to see the many archeological sites she has previously been scientifically excavated."

"Many of the finest pieces that came out of China before the Second World War were dug up by people who were interested only in making a profit and that fine excavation work was not scientific."

WILL STUDY BRONZE

In Formosa, where she will spend four months, Mrs. Stephen is looking forward to seeing collections of bronze ritual objects from the Shang Dynasty, the first in China that can be dated by excavation.

"This is the first dynasty known to have used bronze and we have thousands of pieces from this era in our department, many of which are yet to be catalogued. What I learn will be applied here when I return."

Mrs. Stephen began by flying to Seattle to spend a day and a half at a museum there. Then she was off to the Honolulu Academy of Arts and the Bishop Museum in Hawaii.

She will spend six weeks in Japan before beginning her "major study" in Formosa and early in the new year will go to Hong Kong and India. She is at the University of Hong Kong.

"Paris, London and Stockholm all have good collections of early Chinese material, although Stockholm's is the most important as it is comparable to ours in Toronto."

Mrs. Stephen, who is travelling without her husband but who hopes he will be able to join her for a vacation, will be making her second trip to Japan. She was there on a UN Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization grant in 1956.

On her return she will prepare a full report on her work for UNESCO.

GOLDSTEIN — BLACK

Six gathering baskets of white and coral dahlias and gladioli along with two small tax trees, silver bows, foliage and coral tulle formed the setting for a very pretty wedding on Wednesday, August 22nd at 5:00 p.m. in Toronto, at the Beth Tzedec Synagogue, when Brenda, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Black, 3 Cherry Gardens, Belleville, became the bride of Mr. Paul Stanley Goldstein, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Goldstein, 485 Simcoe Street, North, Oshawa, Ontario.

The quartet accompanied by the organ, provided the wedding music before and during the ceremony. Officiating at the double-ring ceremony were Rabbi I. Celniker of Toronto, assisted by Rabbi M. Nurdeen of New York.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiantly lovely in a full-length gown of white silk peau de soie with imported hand made white and silver flowers trimming the low cut neckline and fitted bodice. The bell shaped skirt had a scooped hemline and matching delicate embroidery. The embroidered high necked fitted jacket had full length sleeves, buttoned in the centre back. The detachable cathedral train was also embroidered on the sides and hemline in beautiful sprays. The bride's veil was a simple coronet of matching silk with scooped rim embellished with white and silver embroidery to match the gown, which fell in a full length flowing double veil of pure silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of roses, with three white phalaenopsis orchids and one hybrid orchid with silver foliage.

The maid of honor, Miss Beverley Yarnell, of Belleville and the bridesmaids, Miss Stephanie Goldstein, of Oshawa, and Miss Barbara Kofelist, of Toronto, were dressed alike in full-length gowns of pink taffeta in aquamarine. The bell shaped skirts fell from side and back pleating at the fitted waistline. The gowns had turquoise and aqua shaded French silk roses on matching silk leaves from centre waist line to hem. Crescents of petal design stitched formed the headdress. The bridal attendants carried bouquets of pink and coral roses, carnations and camellias, with silver foliage.

Mr. Philip Horwich, of Oshawa, attended as groomsman. The ushers were: Mr. James Topping of Oshawa; Mr. Leonard Stass of London; Mr. Stanley Nafulin of London, and Mr. Stanley Safe, of Montreal.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Synagogue, the bride's mother receiving in a full-length gown of sheer pure silk in pale grey with embroidered delicate silver motifs in a fine all over design. The high neckline had a soft flared half cape in the back from shoulder to waistline. The long elegant flow of the skirt had a train effect. The bridegroom's mother assisted in a gown with fitted bodice of imported Swiss brocade, shaped neckline and short sleeves. The dipped waistline and sheath skirt with front wrap was in pale blue and was in turquoise peau de soie.

For the wedding trip to the Catskills, the bride travelled in a gold imported knit dress with matching bolero and three-quarter coat, with brown accessories. Her corsage consisted of one hybrid orchid.

WALLACE — EMERSON

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Word from the Dundas underground has it that a general shakeup has been ordered, the reserves called out, the local militia unit ordered to stand by and ways and means under investigation in an effort to halt the triumphant march of the Belleville Kenmores.

The faithful down thataway, I am informed, have been more or less stunned by the pair of jolting setbacks suffered by their eight-team league champions, also victors of playdown series, at the hands of the clout-crazy seniors from the banks of the Moira.

That is understandable. There should not be that much difference between two teams of senior classification who have reached the provincial championship arena. There should be some sort of parity. Two crushing 12-0 and 11-3 defeats in a row are a rarity in championship series.

I am not taking anything away from the return to plate form of the Kenmore ace, evidenced in the thunderous barrages that blasted off their bindpoems in the opening pair of games. After all, 35 homer-sprinkled clouts are not to be sneezed at in any man's league.

Perhaps the story that came out of Dundas yesterday casts some light on the situation. Kenmore officials were informed that the Dundas squad that were defeated in the first two clashes was not the club that won the western Ontario OBA title.

It seems that two or more of the regulars of the Merchants were not available for the opening tilts but are now back in the fold after vacations, and should ping a few of the holes that badly need stopping.

Two of the returnees, the story goes, are infielders and that should make a big difference. The Dundas defence in this respect seemed one of the weaker spots with the majority of the team's errors occurring in the inner garden.

Add to this the information that the Merchants' two top hurlers are now well rested and ready to go to the barrier. This could make some difference for the Kenmore have shown a wholehearted disdain for the shoots, curves and fast balls of the foemen teasers.

The clubs tangle in the third game of the series here tonight at the Fair Grounds with game time slated for 9.15. The fourth set-to is slated for Dundas tomorrow starting at two p.m. The club leaves at 10 a.m.

SOFTBALL

The keen rivalry that has existed between the District Softball League flag-winning Joyces and the Trenton RCAF Flyers flares anew next week when the two clubs pick up the threads of the league championship series. As of now they each have a victory to their credit in the best-of-seven joustings.

The clubs square off at the Fair Grounds on Tuesday night next with the fourth game scheduled for Wednesday or Thursday.

That well-known little rumor gremlin tells me that feelings are running high between the locals and each joust from here in will be a do or die affair. The championship chips are down and Tuesday night's tussle should see both squads throw everything they've got at the opposition in an effort to cop the all-important third-game victory. Game time 8 p.m.

THE MIDGETS

The caper of the Hamilton baseball midgets in refusing to play a Sunday game here was actually one of those rare rarities of a club throwing the book at the parent body.

The Hamilton mentors were within their rights in saying they would not play Sunday because that is what the OBA "bible" states.

Thanks to the Northern Electric sports officials the game has been arranged for the Fair Grounds at 4.30 Saturday. And Hamilton had better be here for "Prime Minister" Jack Carson, head of the OBA cabinet has a pretty good throwing arm himself particularly when the official "book" is clutched in the hand. Ask Kingston's Frank Fairs.

Giants Breathe Down Dodgers' Neck

Dog Puts Hole In One Golfer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Duke's hole - in - one coat a driving range $2,250 this week.

The trouble was that Duke was the range's guard dog, not a golfer. It was a golfer that Duke put the hole in.

Mr. Justice J. S. Aikins made the award in Supreme Court Wednesday against Lions driving range and in favor of the bitten golfer, cab driver Charles G. Kayton, 36.

Duke, a German shepherd, was installed at the driving range after people started climbing the fence at night to steal golf balls. He was chained to a wire run during day.

While golfers were whacking balls, July 26, 1961, he broke loose.

Several golfers barricaded themselves in the pro shop. Kayton, last man in the retreat, didn't quite make it. Duke bit him on the leg, throat and arm.

Owners of the driving range admitted liability.

Duke was sold to a guard dog service, put on duty at Capilano Stadium where he bit a seven-year-old boy who climbed over the fence, and since then has done police work.

Cepeda Walks Home Winner

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Three weeks ago, manager Al Dark of San Francisco Giants tagged slugger Orlando Cepeda with a $50 fine for failing to run out a grounder. Cepeda walked to first base Thursday night and Dark smiled.

The Giants' baby bull, on a hitting rampage since he was fined and benched Aug. 19, walked with the bases loaded in the ninth inning. The tie-breaking run propelled second-place San Francisco to a 9-6 National League triumph over the league - leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

Cepeda's walk on a 3-and-2 count forced in Chuck Hiller with the run that snapped a 5-5 deadlock. Harvey Kuenn then followed with a two-run double off Ron Perranoski, clinching the victory that moved the Giants to within 1½ games of the Dodgers.

Cepeda, last year's league home run and runs-batted-in king, was fined by Dark at Milwaukee for not hustling on a game-ending grounder and was benched because he seemed tired. When he returned to action, Cepeda, started to make up for lost time.

The 24-year-old righthanded swinger increasing his RBI total to 18 in the 17 games since the day Dark set him down.

Three Keane Signs With Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Manager Johnny Keane of St. Louis Cardinals signed a new one-year contract with the National League club Thursday.

No salary figure was announced, but Keane is expected to get about the same $30,000 salary he received this year.

wound up with three runs batted in against the Dodgers as Milwaukee Glavine for Orlando Cepeda series 3-1.

The Dodger defeat enabled the idle Cincinnati Reds, in third place, to climb to within 4½ games of the top. St. Louis Cardinals belted Milwaukee Braves 7-1 and Houston Colts edged Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3.

Ernie Broglio (11-7) scattered nine hits while batteymate Gene Oliver supplied the punch for the Cardinals with a two-run homer in the seventh inning and a run-scoring single in a five-run outburst in the eighth inning.

The Colts scored the tying runs in the ninth inning to beat the Pirates as rookie Dave Roberts drove in the tying and winning runs with a pinch-hit double, his first major league hit.

Houk Likes Schedule Remnants

Late Yankee Rally Whips Angels

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

"The schedule appears to favor us," says manager Ralph Houk of New York Yankees.

A look down the American League's home stretch shows Houk is not indulging in wild optimism. The Yankees have 20 games left. Seven are with Boston Red Sox and four with Washington Senators. The Yanks have a 20-5 won-lost record with those clubs this year.

The Yanks wound up their season play with the top contenders Thursday as they rallied for four runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to edge Los Angeles Angels 6-5.

It was the only league game scheduled and the victory opened a three-game Yankee lead over the idle Minnesota Twins and the Los Angels.

Left-hander Tom Tresh singled home two runs with two men out in the seventh frame to cop the Yankee rally after Angel shortstop Joe Koppe committed a costly error to open the gates.

The victory gave the Yankees a 3-2 split in a tense series with the Angels.

YANKS BATTLE BACK

The Angels battled from behind to win two of the games and appeared to be riding the same formula to victory Thursday when they broke a 2-2 tie with three runs in the top of the seventh inning.

The Angels filled the bases with one out against Ralph Terry in the seventh. Billy Moran tapped a grounder to short, where Tony Kubek, in a hurry to try for a double play, bobbled the ball and had to settle for a force play, with Felix Torres scoring and Thomas and Leon Wagner followed with run-scoring singles for a 3-2 Los Angels lead.

The Yanks battled back with two runs off Angel starter Dean Chance. Then Koppe, who had just replaced Jim Fregosi at shortstop, threw wide on Kubek's grounder. Bobby Richardson doubled and Dan Osinski came in to relieve Chance. Tresh lined his second pitch to left field for the two key runs.

The victory gave the Yankees a 10-8 season edge over the Angels. They have closed out the year's work with the Twins with an 11-7 margin.

JENSEN DELAYS SWIM

Play In Ottawa Tonight

Bombers, Riders Toss-Up

OTTAWA (CP)—When Winnipeg Blue Bombers come gallopping into Lansdowne Park tonight to tackle Ottawa Rough Riders, the odds-makers are going to have their problems.

On the basis of league standings, both teams are the best in their respective divisions. Both teams have won four games while only losing one in league play this season. Neither team has been beaten on the road.

So the odds-makers will have to dig deeper. They will find with some searching, that Ottawa don't have a good record against traditionally-powerful Winnipeg clubs; that Bombers have the country's best defensive record; that they also have Canada's best scoring record; that they have the Grey Cup in their locker.

On the other hand, Riders have surprised just about everyone with their success so far this year.

Bombers come to town with tackle Frank Rigney—their only injury—while Ottawa goes into the game at full strength. Ottawa coach Frank Clair, expecting the game to be a tough one, has had his players studying films of Winnipeg games, with a special eye on defence. He thinks Bombers may have "invented a lot of new stuff."

As far as offence is concerned, Clair indicated his club will take to the air. Only Clair sees it, Bombers will be concentrating on stopping the rushing of Dave Thelen.

"If they do that," he says "we feel they can be completed by passing because they'll only be using three deep men. You have to sacrifice something and they may feel that our passing isn't a big enough threat."

Quebec Aces Get St. Laurent

MONTREAL (CP) — Coach Floyd (Busher) Curry said Thursday his Quebec Aces are "mighty pleased" to acquire veteran defenceman Dollard St. Laurent from Chicago Black Hawks.

"We've been trying for quite a while to get St. Laurent," he said. "It was a relief to hear from Quebec that we had finally landed him."

Curry said St. Laurent should be a big help to the Aces who are being strengthened for the American Hockey League campaign with five other newcomers.

The addition of St. Laurent gives Curry six defencemen for the Quebec team. The others include Gary Bergman, just acquired from Cleveland.

The Aces also have acquired forwards Bill Sutherland and Ron Atwell from Cleveland as well as Bill Dineen from Rochester. Bob Courcy, bought from Buffalo in June, is the other new forward.

Brampton Loses to Victoria

VICTORIA (CP) — Brampton Excelsiors have learned they can't continually play with fire and not get burned.

The rugged eastern club found this out the hard way Thursday night when Victoria Shamrocks used a deadly power play to wallop them 23-7 before 1,400 fans here and tie the best-of-seven Canadian Junior lacrosse final series for the Minto Cup at one game each.

The third game is set for Saturday night. The fourth will be Monday and the fifth Wednesday.

Three TD's In Five Minutes

Alouettes' Dixon Turns Lion-Tamer

By MARVEN MOSS

MONTREAL (CP) — What happened to the telephone line?

That was a beef from Dave Skrien Thursday night.

It came after his British Columbia Lions bowed 21-19 to Montreal Alouettes in Canadian Football League interlocking play.

The coach claimed the telephone line between his bench and the sportser's box was severed after the first half.

He felt the skullduggery was a factor in British Columbia's downfall. At halftime the Lions led 5-0.

Fullback George Dixon scored three touchdowns in a five-minute fourth-quarter spree to give the Als the win.

Skrien granted that it was "missed tackles that killed us" but "we couldn't make the necessary adjustments on defence because we had no word from our spotter."

DIXON' SHAKES LOOSE

The Als were down 12-0 when the 185-pound Dixon shook loose for touchdown runs covering 15, 10 and 32 yards before the crowd of 19,350.

Skrien said Montreal's two-quarterback formation — featuring Hawaiian-born Joe Francis and rookie Randy Stephens — was not particularly bothersome to the Lions.

But he said the alignment helped his running game substantially. He drove for 160 yards in 18 carries—an average of 8.8—virtually all of it after coach Perry Moss threw in his wrinkle to start the second half.

"Under that system I get directly behind the centre and it enables me to get a faster start," he said.

It was Montreal's second win against two setbacks and a draw this season. The two points lifted the Als to within two of Edmonton's second-place Tiger-Cats in the Eastern Conference.

British Columbia remained last in the Western Conference with a record of two wins and four losses.

It was also the east's third win in four interlocking schedule games this season.

SALVAGES TWO POINTS

In the opening quarter they twice drove deep into Montreal territory and then salvaged only four points on an 18-yard field goal by Vic Kristopaitis and a single the same when another of his attempts for a three-pointer was stale.

But quarterback Joe Kapp kept the Lions moving with a brilliant start passing game—he hit 15 of 24 attempts with 2 tap throw of 23 yards—until Montreal's final-quarter surge.

Dixon's first and third touchdowns came on short plunges at slants ork his left tackle. For the second he skirted his right end. All three were converted by Bobby Jack Oliver.

A fumble by British Columbia's fullback Nub Beamer led to Dixon's game-winning run. Dick Lucas, a Montreal interior linebacker, recovered the bobble and on the next play —at 11:31—Dixon tore across from 22 yards out.

CLOCK RUNS OUT

The Lions came back to score with 24 seconds left in the game, Kapp throwing to halfback Mack Burton for an 18-yard touchdown after a double field drive marked by five first-down plays in six scrimmages. Then the clock ran out.

Beamer's one-yard plunge over tackle gave B.C. its 13-0 lead in the third quarter. It culminated an 11-play sequence covering 65 yards.

Kristopaitis converted both touchdowns and Bob Schloredt booked a 38-yard single in the second quarter.

British Columbia picked up 25 first down to Montreal's 18 and in total yardage rolled for 435 against 313 for the Als.

Francis and Stephens completed five passes apiece, with Francis tripping nine and Stephens 12. B.C. made two interceptions — Stephens the victim both times—while one of Kapp's tosses was picked off by Montreal.

Canadians Favored in Heat

Eights Eliminations

LUCERNE, Switzerland (CP) — The battle of the eights takes place today in the second-last round of the world rowing championships.

Judges and officials expect the eliminations to end with first victories for the Olympic gold medal winning Germans, the Russians and the Canadians. All three teams are in different heats.

Other heats are slated for the double sculls in which the three favorites — the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union — face each other in the first semi-final elimination round.

Repechage or losers' rounds are scheduled for the coxed fours, the coxless pairs and the single sculls, with the victors of each losers round entering Sunday's finals along with the first place finishers in the earlier heats.

PLACE THIRD TWICE

Canada's University of British Columbia oarsmen placed second in one of the heats in the coxless fours—won by Switzerland—at the opening of competition this week while another UBC crew finished third in a coxless pairs heat, also won by a Swiss crew.

In the fours the underdog Swiss crew of Eric Boy Melle-tosh, Tom Gray, Elden Worcester and Tom Stokes by pouling a time of 6:40.0, finished ahead with Canada's time of 6:42.72.

Canada's Jack Levoy and Herb Challer finished behind Switzerland and Finland in the coxless pairs. The winning time was 7:10.9. The UBC time was 7:21.8, compared with 7:12.47 for Finland.

In the initial eights heats, the favored Russians probably will find their only competition from France, a crew that has worked intensively to prepare for the championships.

Canada's giant oarsmen, who outweigh all other oarsmen here by between 15 and 20 pounds, face one serious contender in the second heat—Australia.

Otherwise the Australians are not favored to win, their practice sessions have caught the attention of the experts.

They show a remarkable degree of co-ordination and team spirit," a German coach said in reference to the Australians' competitively at the time of working together as a team-four months.

The Germans are expected to find their toughest competition in the third heat from the Americans, all members of the Vesper Boat Club in Philadelphia.

But despite the Americans' superior size in comparison with the 150-pound average of the Germans crew, the Germans are expected to repeat their performance at the Rome Olympics.

Final Series Tuesday

Blank Lightfoots

Trudeau Motors jumped into a one-game lead in their best of seven City Commercial softball league finals last night when they blanked Lightfoot Construction 3-0.

The second game of the series will be played at the CNRA Park Monday night at six o'clock.

Harry Powers, of Trudeaus, and Percy Long, of Lightfoots, hooked up in a tight pitching duel with Trudeaus' two runs in the bottom of the third giving Powers the nod.

A last-off single by "Shaker" Baker ignited the deciding rally. Meraw sacrificed him to second and Bob Wannamaker hit a single, scoring the first run. An error in the outfield allowed Wannamaker to go all the way.

Powers scattered five hits over the route, leaving ten Lightfoots stranded on bases. The losers had the bases loaded in the sixth and had two on in each of the fourth and seventh frames. Powers fanned three and walked four.

Long gave up half a dozen safeties while claiming three strikes and passing but one.

The Trudeau hits, all singles, were divided among Bob Wannamaker, Percy Potter, Bob Brooks, Lyle Wannamaker, John Carey and "Shaker" Baker.

Don Smith had a pair of singles for Lightfoots with Tom Lynch, Doug Morcau and Don Wood getting the others.

Trudeaus: B. Wannamaker, Potter, Whiting, Brooks, L. Wannamaker, Casey, Baker, Meraw, Powers.

Memo To Grid Managers

EDMONTON (CP) — Joe Ryan, general manager of Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Football Conference, dipped deep into his 30 years of football experience to work out a move to obtain quarterback Jim Walden.

The Eskimos became desperate for another quarterback to support Canadian Don Getty following an injury to first-string signal caller Jackie Parker. The veteran all-star was injured in a game Monday at Calgary and has been placed on the 20-day disabled list.

Walden, placed on the waiver list last weekend by Calgary Stampeders, was the best quarterback available for immediate study.

But Edmonton's chances of getting the former Wyoming star through the Canadian Football League's waiver system were slim. Five other clubs could ask him under the waiver system before Edmonton would have an opportunity to make a bid.

Ryan said he called Perry Moss, general manager of Montreal Alouettes of the Eastern Conference and suggested he pick up Walden since Montreal had the second chance after B.C. Lions.

But the Alouettes would have to cut one player from their roster to pick up Walden. Ryan suggested they sell the player to Edmonton and then swap the player for Walden in a second trade.

Moss agreed. He sold veteran tackle Angelo Mosca to Edmonton and picked up Walden for the $350 waiver price. The clubs then exchanged players.

Ryan said, "Perry helped us out a lot. He had to take Mosca or somebody else off the Alouette roster to make room for Walden. But he got his ball player back in a few minutes."

Italian Horse Favorite

LONDON (CP)—An alien hoof hangs menacingly over the last of this year's British racing classics.

It belongs to Antelami, a stay bay colt from the famed Dormello stud near Milan. He is favored to win the St. Leger Stakes, to be run at Doncaster next Wednesday.

An Italian victory would be run at Doncaster next Wednesday.

An Italian victory would be the last galling blow for horse-proud Britons. Ireland won the Derby with Larkspur and France filched the Oaks with Monade; now the Latins are happily anticipating winning the Leger.

Horse racing takes a back seat in Italy to trotting, but by some turf miracle thoroughbreds seem to thrive on the same equivalent of chianti and spaghetti. Despite slender resources, Italy has produced such champions as Ribot, Nearco Movieto and Botticelli, Sire of Antelami.

Antelami was brought to Britain this week and is in training at Newmarket for Wednesday's race of 1¾ miles. English experts, always ready with a few thousand well-chosen words on the appearance of thoroughbreds, say courtly that Antelami is no oil painting, but "ugly is as ugly runs."

FOURTH CYCLIST DIES

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man (AP) — The twisting, mountainous motorcycling circuit around the Isle of Man claimed its fourth racing victim in less than a week Thursday. Keith Gawler, a 22-year-old British optical scientist, was thrown from his machine on a second trip over the course in preparation for the senior Manx Grand Prix. Three riders were killed earlier in the week in the junior Manx Grand Prix.

Woman of Age 40 or More On Plump Side Is Best

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

Hollywood (AP) — The ideal amateur contestant in an audience participation show is a woman of age 40 or more and on the plump side.

That is the opinion of Bob Barker, who has been picking participants for his day - time Truth and Consequences for the last six years. Before each show, after the warmup in the Hollywood studios of NBC, Barker walks into the audience and chooses the participants.

"I'm looking for characters," explained Barker, "but we don't want people who will freeze up when they realize they are on camera."

"The first thing I look for is animation. Then I ask them to stand up because I've found that many people are enthusiastic when they are just one of a crowd but dry up when they realize the spotlight is on them. Then I test a bit to make sure that they are self-confident but not aggressive.

"Lots of people come to the show feeling they would be a riot on TV because people have told them they are a scream at a neighborhood cocktail party or over a bridge table. Usually they aren't."

MATRONS ARE BEST

Barker says that, with many outstanding exceptions, his best contestants are mature and comfortably cushioned matrons.

"Married women who are over 40 are likely to be more relaxed and easy as contestants," Barker theorized. "By the time the house is paid for, the car payments aren't looming large and their husbands are safe. They know they aren't going to starve."

"But when they're 21, they have less confidence — the house, the car, the furniture and everything else is on credit and they haven't been married long enough to feel really secure."

Ont. Senior Hockey

Galt In, Stratford Out

GALT (CP) — Galt Terriers will re-enter the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League Sunday when clubs meet in London for what is expected to be their final organizational conference.

The Terriers, who played in the competition last year, reached this decision after a summer of decision about re-entry.

The club will immediately launch a campaign to find its bare treasury, including promotion of season tickets, donations from businessmen and a possible grant from the OHA, similar to that given Woodstock last week.

Terriers have won an Allan Cup and have represented Canada in the world championships during the last two years.

The team is negotiating for player assistance with Providence Reds, of the American Hockey League.

STRATFORD (CP)—Stratford Hockey Association executive Thursday it has decided not to sponsor the Stratford Indians in the Ontario Hockey Association senior series.

The association said it will concentrate its efforts in entering a Junior B team in the OHA western section.

Bill Hathaway will coach the team. Player help is expected from Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League.

Other teams in the Junior B loop will be Woodstock, Tillsonburg, St. Thomas, London, St. Marys, Sarnia and Goderich.

Ingersoll will be a newcomer to the league and will sponsor the Ingersoll Marlands.

The team organization was set up Wednesday night at which Les Feldman was named president of the club. The team will have affiliations with Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings of the NHL.

Kansas Won't Get Belinsky

Frick Kills Player Deal

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—"It's a long shot chance I'll be traded now."

This was Bo Belinsky's reaction Thursday to a ruling by baseball commissioner Ford Frick killing any possibility of the controversial pitcher with Los Angeles Angels being shipped to Kansas City Athletics at the end of the season.

Frick acted quickly following reports and Belinsky's statement that he had been promised to the Athletics to seal a deal made last July 21 when the Angels purchased pitcher Dan Osinski from Kansas City's Portland farm club of the Pacific Coast League.

The commissioner, overriding denials by officials of the clubs involved, emphasized the original deal made no mention of any other player involved and cited baseball law which stipulates "no gentlemen's agreements or understandings are permissible."

GLAD OF JUSTICE

"I don't like undersanded deals either," Belinsky said when asked what he thought of Frick's ruling. "It makes me feel good to know there is a little justice left in baseball."

The 26-year-old rookie southpaw, who hit the headlines last May 5 when he pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Baltimore Orioles, added:

"Frick's decision is the best thing that happened to me but the guy I feel sorry for is Fluffy (Kansas City owner Charles Finley). It's not his fault if he was able to make a terrific deal only because the general manager (Fred Haney) doesn't like me."

Los Angeles manager Bill Rigney also was pleased with calmly. He learned of it only after his third-place Angels dropped a 6-5 decision to New York, dropping them 4½ games behind the league-leading Yankees.

"Obviously there's one club (the Athletics) in the American League that definitely will never play with," Rigney said.

Mitzi Gaynor Now Svelte Movie and Nightclub Star

By DORIS KLEIN

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mitzi Gaynor, the plump teen-ager who became a svelte movie and nightclub star, wept all day on her 31st birthday.

When she arrived at her 15-room Beverly Hills home that night—after a day emoting in $1,000 furs, Louis gowns—she answered her husband's loving, "happy birthday," with a blubbering, "Uh-th-thank you dear."

It wasn't another case of the poor - little - star - who - has - everything. Mitzi's one of the happiest gals in town. And the set of Three on a Match, her film she's making with Kirk Douglas, is one of the gayest—thanks mostly to Mitzi.

"I had this weeping scene," she explained the next day, "and they kept doing retakes. By the time I got home, I couldn't stop crying.

"No more tears—today I'm mad"—but she didn't look mad, only in front of the camera. Mitzi's one of the best muggers in the business.

ALWAYS SINGING

She goes around the set doing a little step and singing, "I love my baby. Everybody love my baby . . ."

The three-foot, confetti-strewn birthday card on her dressing room door read, "We love you baby," and it's signed by everyone on the film. Her birthday cake bore an equally endearing phrase,

At 01: Mitzi's unspoiled as when she started as a 150-pound 16-year-old. And she has little reason for tears.

"I couldn't see how they were going to make a star out of that girl when she first turned up at Twentieth—she was so chubby," said an old hand who knew her then. "But look at her now."

Today's Mitzi is a breath-catching 114 pounds.

AT THE BELLEVILLE DRIVE-IN — Chubby Checker, Twist king, stars in "Don't Knock The Twist", Color Picture — "Don't Knock The Twist" is playing at the Belleville Drive-In Theatre. Other entertainers in the film are Gene Chandler, Dee Dana, Linda Scott, The Carroll Bros. and the Dovells. Just feature attraction is "Duel in the Sun", in color and starring Gregory Peck, Jennifer Jones and Joseph Cotten.

Reed Loses To Mexican Net Star

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Rafael Osuna is trying mightily hard to concentrate on winning the United States tennis championship but his mind keeps wandering to Mexico City.

Osuna and his teammate, Antonio Palafox, will form the Mexican team that meets Sweden next month in the interzone Davis Cup semi-final. The winner will meet India for the right to play Australia in the challenge round.

Rafael, 23, won a long battle from Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., 11-9, 6-4, 5-6, 3-6, 10-8 Thursday to advance to the fourth round of the men's singles in the U.S. event. He is seeded fourth.

Three other seeded players didn't make it, in the biggest reversal in the men's division. 39-year-old Vic Seixas, seventime U.S. Davis Cupper from Philadelphia, ousted Jan-Erik Lindquist of Sweden, seeded No. 6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3. In the women's division, 17-year-old Vicky Palmer, U.S. girls' junior champion from Phoenix, Ariz., downed Wimbledon queen Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of San Diego, Calif., seeded No. 2, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Margot Dittmeyer of Germany scored the third upset when she eliminated sixth-seeded Renee Schuurman of South Africa, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1. Both women's matches were third-round events.

Top-seeded Rod Laver of Australia had no trouble with Bob Mlachs of Germany, winning 6-2, 6-1, 6-1. Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., seeded No. 5, and Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., No. 8, both won in straight sets. McKinley crushed Vladislav Skonecki of Poland 6-4, 6-4, 6-1 and Froehling toppled Cliff Drysdale of South Africa 6-0, 6-3, 6-0.

Top-seeded Margaret Smith of Australia and third - seeded Maria Bueno of Brazil jumped a round ahead of the field in the women's division, each moving into the quarter - final. Miss Smith polished off Anna Dmitrieva of the Soviet Union 6-3, 6-1. Miss Bueno beat Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica, Calif. 6-0, 6-3.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching — Jim Coates, Yankees, preserved 6-3 victory over third-place Los Angeles Angels with two innings of no-hit relief and boosted American League leading New York three games ahead of second-place Minnesota.

Batting—Orlando Cepeda and Harvey Kuenn, Giants, combined to drive in winning runs in four-run ninth inning rally that beat National League leading Los Angeles and moved second-place San Francisco to within 1½ games of the Dodgers. Cepeda drew a bases-loaded walk to snap a tie and Kuenn followed with a three-run double.

IMPORT JOINS ARGOS

TORONTO (CP) — The first of the east-oft imports arrived in Toronto Argonaut camp Thursday night. Jerry Wilson, a veteran end and linebacker from Auburn, was picked up from Buffalo Bills of the American Football League. Toronto coach Nobby Wirkowski announced Wednesday that several cuts from NFL and AFL camps were expected by the Canadian Football League club and Wilson is the first to be named. The six-foot-three, 235-pound Wilson was Chicago Bears' second draft choice in 1958 and played with Boston Patriots of the NFL in 1960. Last season he was in military service.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Streaking between horses on the final turn, Morris Wade's Buff Pine thrilled his supporters by getting up in the final stride to win the Mida Claiming Purse before a crowd of 5,801 at Woodbine Thursday.

Under jockey Armando Viola's masterful handling, Buff Pine won by a nose over Bourbon King, which had a little more than length on the favorite for the tiring Bold Scholar.

Buff Pine, which ran the six furlongs in 1:11 4-5 over a fast surface, won his fourth race in 15 outings the season to bring his earnings this year to $6,810. Steven Doll, a three-year-old filly, won the mile race by 3½ lengths over Lovely Lynne and paid $53, $8.60 and $5.60.

The daily double, combining the first winner with Court of Appeal in the second, was worth $144.80.

Sunday School Lesson

Adjusted to Shabbiness

By ROY L. SMITH

It is a terrible day in the life of any nation, community or local church congregation, when it has become adjusted to shabbiness or sin.

There is no more accurate index of a people's patriotism than the loving care they bestow on their public buildings and there is no more revealing evidence of a congregation's ingelty than when it allows its house of worship to fall into disrepair.

It is hard to convince a person of taste and refinement that a congregation's religion is a dim matter if no one takes any interest in it. And it is a questionable pride that permits a people to worship in a sanctuary that is not clean.

APPEARANCE OF HAGGAI

The deportation of thousands of the best people from Judah to Babylon, was a crippling blow to the nation. Not only was it true, that the king and his government were gone, but the people who set standards and maintained ideals were also gone.

Those who were left behind — the children, the ne'er do wells, the profligate and the problems—had probably been dispirited by the desolation left behind by the Babylonians, and when in time they became accustomed to the piles of debris and the rubbish, and could not be understood, the people who were shocked.

This writer remembers quite vividly the difficulty the priest of a certain rural temple experienced in getting his undrstand my remark about the disreputable appearance of his old house of worship. "Why," he exclaimed, "it is 400 years old and we like it this way. It would be a terrible thing to modernize it." And the people therefore continued to walk over rubbish, sit down in filthy seats, and endure the smell of damp plaster because it was old, and because it was not revered.

—wellsaranoj hswof. .slrhrha

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for September 9: "Faith Is Rebuild." Haggai: Zechariah 4:6-10 8:18-23; Ezra 3: 4:24; 5:8-11.

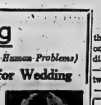
To Haggai, the devout young layman, the sight of the neglected temple was extremely depressing. He could not believe there could be any revival of the true spirit and the old faith until the sacred building had been reconstructed. Of course it was going to cost money, and the people had no money. But to Haggai the rebuilding was worth any necessary sacrifice.

In the more than 50 years that I have spent in the ministry of the Church of Jesus Christ, I have undertaken to lead a campaign to raise funds for various church projects. And of one thing I have been very sure in every instance. Some one always rose and said, "This is not the time."

There is never a time when the building of a new church can be done without it costing some people heavily. And for the last 50 years there has continued the vain hope that "next year the costs will be a little lower."

The surest way to kill a good project is to persuade the people that we are all for the improvement, but that this is not the time to begin it. No matter what the time may be, there are always a few objections that can be raised, and made to sound logical.

If it is going to mean a greater confidence in spiritual values, a deeper dedication to good morals, a better opportunity to appeal to the community, a greater evidence of interest in the religious training of our people, more respectful representation of our reverence for God, a greater desire to reach the irreligious of the community, a more consecrated stewardship, a rededication of the people, or a matter of tapping the undedicated resources of a congregation, then we can always afford the new church, the education- al unit, or the expanded program.



There is one safe rule which any congregation can follow. If the thing proposed is the thing God expects us to do, then we can be very sure that God has provided us with all the resources we need to do it, for He never expects the impossible, and He never asks the unfair thing.

In attempting to estimate what God expects of us, count up what one-tenth of the total income of the congregation would be, if all members tithed. Then if we measured up to that standard, we have not measured up.

Black Is Not Appropriate for Wedding

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—I have been living with a man for six years not married to him. I am going to leave him.

If I leave, could I have the children's names changed to my own? When they were born I used his name because he promised we would be married. Instead he remarried his wife, then left her and came back to me. Filled me with lies. Only partly supports us.

I see no reason to go on and be a fool any longer. Would he have to give any support for our children when I leave? If so, would the law make me let him see the children? I don't want him to come near us ever again.—THE WORM HAS TURNED.

DEAR WORM-HAS-TURNED—And about time. But there's trouble ahead.

Registering children's names in his name required a statement that you were his wife. So you made a false declaration. Which is a criminal offence.

Get a lawyer and straighten it out. As for support, you may claim this, but access may well go with it.

• • •

DEAR DORIS—To settle a discussion, kindly inform us if it is appropriate for guests to wear black to a wedding.—THREE WOMEN.

• • •

DEAR THREE—No. It is not appropriate. Black is too closely associated with funerals.

• • •

To "To Lose Weight": Write again, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I will send you a leaflet about losing weight.

• • •

(Write to Doris, who has studied human problems, for practical help. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, with your letter.)

Astrological Forecast

Saturday, September 8
By Evelyn Omarr

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)—Good reason to celebrate tonight is indicated. Achievement highlighted. Put stress on aspirations; lay groundwork for strong "follow-through". Very good for widening range of contacts.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20)—Reaching for, for could find in you coming up empty-handed. Much of what you need is close at hand. Best to seek new avenues of expression. You can do this if you give up illusions about "what should be".

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)—Outside influences greatly affect activity now. Don't be surprised at sudden change of plans due to call, letter or other communication. Request by friend should be granted. But be practical about finances.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21)—Much "on the line" today. Try to maintain sense of humor. Join in social affair without agreeing with everything said. Be diplomatic. But be clear in stand against prejudice.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Take time to give attention to pet or hobby. By taking pride in this area, you could gain tremendous self - satisfaction. Details require concentration, especially at home. Attend to them, so you can relax tonight.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23)—Desire for self-improvement is evident. Instead of being restless and irritable, take positive step in right direction. Study opportunities expanding knowledge. Consult one in position to give specific advice.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Trying to be too many places at the same time will, naturally, prove impossible. Furthermore, while trying to please friends, you could intimidate them. State problems clearly. Others will understand!

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Excellent day for gardening, performing tasks requiring patience and steady vision. Avoid the "flashy". Go for the "long pull". Very good for getting house in order, entertaining congenial friends.

Capricorn (Dec. 23 to Jan. 20)—Be positive in thought, action, but combine this with diplomacy. Don't give the impression you are "ordering", instead, request and suggest. You'll gain more this way. Check on papers, agreements which need attention.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Trust intuition of those who are representing your interests. Might be a strange turn of events which begin to unravel today. Double check! Your suspicions may be correct.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)—Participate in group activity, organizations, and help friends with their plans. Cooperation is key. Like Taurus, concentrate on ways to express your abilities, desires. No time to withdraw.

If today is your birthday . . . you are determined, often stubborn in your insistence on attaining goals. This should be banner month for gaining more success and handling additional responsibility.

General Tendencies: Big trend is toward practicality. Those who claim ability to manage and economize are favored.

Science at Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sometime in the next month U.S. astronaut Wally M. Schirra is to ride a Mercury spacecraft six times around the earth to a Pacific Ocean landing. It will come four months after the latest Mercury manned shot. What happens in those four months is a subject for science at work.

BETWEEN SHOTS

The public eye is focused on the magic of the moment — a man staking his life on an adventurous ride into space.

But what of the months between these big moments? Why does it take so long between shots?

The spacecraft itself is constantly changing, Scott Carpenter's Aurora 7 spacecraft was different in some respects from John Glenn's Friendship 7. Each flight contributes new ideas, new concepts of flight, new evaluations of equipment.

For instance, Carpenter's flight May 24 showed he could easily put the spacecraft into a controlled drift—constantly changing attitude. The manoeuvre didn't seem to bother him—and it allowed a conservation of the fuel used to maintain the attitude — the pitch, yaw and roll of the spacecraft.

On future long-term missions, this will be part of the flight order.

Earlier astronauts questioned the need of the 79-pound telescope. The spacecraft window in the Carpenter flight seemed adequate. In future flights the telescope will be removed and the weight used to provide other services.

PERFORMANCE STUDIED

But every change has to be designed and engineered. It must be fitted into the Mercury capsule.

Space agency planners look carefully at the pilot's performance, his flight plan, the things he did in orbit.

Carpenter became engrossed in certain of the phenomena he observed during the flight. He was concerned with looking closer at some of the things John Glenn had observed—the strange particles for instance.

In fact it was the discovery of these particles toward the end of his flight that made him hurry his preparations for re-entry to the earth.

Space agency officials reporting on the mission, said that "flight difficulties occurring during this mission ... have served to emphasize that the primary attention of the pilot should be devoted to management of spacecraft systems and detailed attention to operational functions." His first duty is to fly his spacecraft.

Don't Buy Passing Fads In Clothes for School

By JACK HUTTON

A 16-year-old friend telephoned me this week to report on one girl who stood out like a beacon in their classroom on the first day of school.

"We didn't know whether she was a student or a theatre usherette," he confessed. "I'd never seen bellbottom trousers like that before."

"But on the next day she came back dressed like everyone else. And she claimed she thought everyone would be wearing bellbottoms this year."

This is the time of year when a slice of that summer money goes toward buying a winter wardrobe. And it always raises that same nagging question; what is everyone else going to wear?

The case of my friend's unfortunate classmate who was caught with her bellbottom trousers showing illustrates the first rule in buying clothes: Don't buy passing fads. You'll be caught out on a limb every time.

In a pre-school survey of high school dress by our cross-Canada correspondents indicates that Canadian teenagers aren't going in for fads this fall. They're avoiding them like the plague.

What should you buy? I hope you're always careful on this point, because teen-age clothing is a multi-million dollar industry in Canada. And there is a very wide choice of styles for you.

A saleslady in a department stores recently to seek the advice of their teen-age weekend employees on how to build up a teen-ager's wardrobe. Here are the tips which they passed back for you:

Boys — Concentrate on buying two or three pairs of casual slacks which can be used with a sports jacket. Avoid buying extreme styles which will probably be dated by the Christmas exams. Aim for one good suit.

Girls — Decide which basic color suits you and then build your wardrobe around it. For example, a navy blue skirt is a good basic item of dress which can be blended with a great many other colors.

The three basic colors which might appeal to you are blue, beige and red. Our advisors frown on black since they think it is a bit too severe for the average teen-age girl.

Several suggested red as a basic color. For some reason, our correspondents reported, this has been growing in popularity in the last three years. But be careful!

Handbags? One year ago our advisors almost unanimously agreed that large handbags were going out of style. This year they're coming back — and don't ask a poor ordinary mals to explain the switch.

How much should a teen-ager spend on clothes? The answers varied, but most agreed that $10 or $15 a month is a good average for keeping one's wardrobe in shape.

Avoid "over-dressing" at all times. Our advisors suggested that two or three teen-agers get the reputations of being "clothes-horses" soon after school opens. And no one especially wants that.

Final word of advice from our advisors: don't be carried away by the lure of a credit account. Many stores will offer credit to teen-agers, but this is a bad habit for anyone to acquire — and especially a teen-ager.

COLD HANDS

Wanted: The Ice Cube champion of Canada. Have you tried yet the latest fad of trying to see how long two people can keep tossing back and forth a handful of ice cubes?

Sandra Fraser, 15, of Halifax read our last column and felt moved to issue a challenge to a friend and I tried this," she wrote, "and kept two ice cubes for 13 minutes and 30 seconds."

"Is it just possible that we're the ice cube champions of Canada and don't know it? It's terribly wondering whether or you have and won a title or you haven't. Can anyone beat us?"

The only rules, Sandra added, are that the ice cubes be two by two — must be standard ice tray size. The partners may stand three to six feet apart but must never drop an ice cube. Dropping a cube automatically disqualifies you.

Ice cubes, anyone?

YOUNG MUSICIANS —

Stories are still drifting in of how well our National Youth Orchestra was received wherever it played this summer.

As you probably know, 91 young musicians from all across Canada met in Toronto, rehearsed for a short period and then played a series of concerts. The first stop was Buffalo, N.Y.

Bonnie Kushner, 16, a Montreal violinist with the orchestra, recalled how the Buffalo audience apparently expected an amateurish performance.

"At our first concert the house was only three-quarters full," she said. "They didn't seem to expect very much of us." Many had never heard the group before that evening.

The mood of the audience changed as soon as the musicians started to play. "At the end they were whistling, cheering and shouting 'bravo'. It was really very thrilling," said Bonnie.

The orchestra holds auditions once a year in several centres, and those chosen met for two holiday sessions — one week at Christmas and two weeks during the summer.

Most members are between 16 and 21. This might be something for you to aim at this fall and winter! I'd be glad to forward details to anyone who is interested.

Predict Speedy OK Of Plan To Call Reservists

Kennedy Asks Standby Order to Call 150,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders predict speedy approval of President Kennedy's request for standby power to call 150,000 military reservists to active service if necessary to deal with a new East-West crisis.

Primary concern in high official quarters here centres on the possibility of new Soviet moves in Berlin. But officials recognize that Kennedy's request also may be regarded in Moscow and Havana as a go-slow warning for the military buildup in Cuba.

The president sent his request to Congress Friday without any prior warning of such action, although the White House said the plan was discussed with Republican and Democratic congressional leaders when they met with the President Tuesday for a slide-in Cuba.

This tie-in with Cuba's military preparations that Kennedy and his advisers may be forced to counter, they have appeared to be about the recent substantial deliveries of Soviet arms to the Castro regime.

Informed officials said this is the case, although they also said Kennedy would like to have the standby power in the event of unexpected developments in the Cuban situation.

BERLIN IS WORSE

But the Cuban problem and the far greater danger, according to Berlin, Where there has been a steady buildup of East-West forces.

Kennedy, State Secretary Rusk and Defence Secretary McNamara all reported agreed that it would be important for the president to have additional resources of military authority.

The new authority would run from the time Congress adjourns, now expected some time next month, until next Feb. 28. It would be about two months after the next session begins.

A little more than a year ago Kennedy asked Congress for substantial increases in the permanent strength of the army, navy, and air force, and Congress acted, also, power to call reserve and national guard units to active service. Congress approved his request in about five days and additional legislation Friday they hope for similar, swift action on his new appeal.

WILL QUESTION

Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois said Congress cannot quarrel with the president when, as commander-in-chief, he asks standby authority to call up reserves. But Dirksen added: "there will be questions."

"You have a natural curiosity to see if you're behind such a good deal call for authority when you have 200,000 men in uniform," Dirksen said.

Dirksen told reporters he and House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana would ask questions about the scope of their proposal that Congress grant Kennedy advance authority to use troops if necessary to meet the threat of a Communist military buildup in Labor Congress Denies Plans to Boycott Seaway

TORONTO (CP) — A "categorical assurance" that the Canadian Labor Congress of Affiliates plans no action to close the St. Lawrence Seaway was given the federal shipping inquiry Friday by CLC counsel Maurice Wright.

Mr. Wright said he failed to understand the origin of information in a Toronto Maritime story saying Canadian maritime unions are threatening to close the seaway again.

This would be as a counter to a planned boycott by the International Longshoremen's Association of Canadian ships in United States ports, the newspaper says.

For 36 hours beginning July 1 the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC) — which bargains for seaway canal workers—closed the passage to retaliate against American harassment of ships manned by the Canadian Maritime Union, CLC affiliate formed expressly to crush the controversial Lake Seamen's Union of Canada (Ind.).

The SIU is supported in American ports by the longshoremen and other unions.

The story was raised at Friday's session of the inquiry into Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway counsel Jo. A. Couture of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority.

He said there is no plan to close the seaway "or any intimidation of any such step . . . would constitute a very serious transgression" of the international treaty between Canada and the U.S. which covers the seaway operation.

Mr. Justice T. G. Norris of British Columbia, presiding at the inquiry, said "it wouldn't trouble myself unduly."

"People are going to speculate," he added.

Claims Missiles On Cuban Soil Threaten Florida

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Emerson Rupert, Republican opponent of Senator George Smathers in the November general elections, sent a telegram to President Kennedy Friday saying Florida was in danger more than 300 Russian missiles on Cuban soil.

Rupert said the telegram, that he had talked with many Cuban refugees in the Miami area who claim that Soviet missiles are ready for launching in underground silos on military bases in Cuba.

He pinpointed the bases as San Alonso Pinar del Rio province, Columbia Aerodrome near Havana, Cayo Largo, Camaguay and Cienga Zapata in Matanza province.

Rupert called for President Kennedy to "enforce and maintain an immediate arms blockade around Communist Cuba by 'quarantine' the enemies which physically and economically threaten the safety of Florida."

HEES OBJECTS TO CANADA JOINING AREA

Present Taxation Criticized

OTTAWA (CP)—It would not be to Canada's advantage to take out membership in any of the free-trade areas that have been suggested, Trade Minister Hees said Friday.

When Canadian membership in some bloc akin to the European Common Market is proposed, he told an industrial expansion conference, the idea should be studied thoroughly and not on merely a superficial phrase that rolls easily off a platform.

His department had carefully studied the question and "there is yet to come to light a net advantage to Canada as a whole in the joining of any of these groupings that have been suggested."

Canadian businessmen who advocated taking the country into a free-trade grouping were those whose industries would benefit from such a move.

The one-day conference, sponsored by the trade department, brought together one of the largest assemblies of business talent ever assembled in Canada. It was put on by 425 officials including 160 company or corporation presidents and vice-presidents.

CRITICIZES TAXATION

The conference produced criticism of Canada's corporate rates of taxation.

Said Carl A. Pollock, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and conference chairman:

"The existing burdensome tax structure is a serious drag on economic growth and a deterrent to job-creating investment in Canada."

Mr. Pollock also had some advice for labor.

"Labor must be convinced that at this stage of our national development wage parity with the U.S. is neither a practical proposition nor a realistic goal. We should aim, it is to say, at industrial disaster."

The role of the National Research Council in industrial research was called into question by Dr. Lloyd Montgomery of du Pont of Canada Limited. Industrial research should be handled by industry, not government, he contended.

Mr. Hees called for a show of hands by those of the delegates who had benefited from research carried out by the National Research Council.

No one put his hand up.

Gen. de Gaulle Visits Munich

MUNICH—French President de Gaulle flew here today on the last state visit to West Germany and expressed happiness over the new pace reached in Franch-German relations.

About 5,000 people cheered the white-haired French head of state to visit Germany officially.

De Gaulle, accompanied from Hamburg by his wife and son Philippe, was welcomed by Bavarian Minister President Hans Ehard, who said that for centuries Munich had been the relations "between Bavaria, the oldest German state, and France, the mother of Western European civilization and culture".

Pregnant Woman of 18 Spent Five Hours Clinging to Raft

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mrs. Ethel Case, 18, has another child named, spent the first five hours of her 18th birthday clinging to a make-shift raft in Georgia Strait.

She was pulled from the water at 4:55 a.m. Friday after her husband and a friend were swept away when their raft and two other men went down with their 42-foot fishing cruiser in the storm — tossed strait.

Missing and presumed dead are Ronald Case, 25, her brother Glen Lorenzo, 21 both of nearby Coghlan Beach Road, 40, of Vancouver, and Bud Greenball of Gibsons, B.C.

The Loretta B sank after it was swamped by heavy seas near the mouth of the Fraser River shortly before midnight while taking a load of salmon to a cannery.

Mrs. Case was placed under sedation by a doctor who said she was "very hysterical and swollen from the ordeal but her unborn child is apparently unharmed. She has another child 14 months.

Mrs. Case said she was with her husband and Bland, skipper of the Loretta B, when the craft was swamped by the other two men were asleep below and probably went down with the boat.

Bland sent a radio distress call and the men put to sea aboard by lashing three wooden boxes together with rope.

Speeds Exceeding 100 mph Resulted in Union Chase

TORONTO (CP)—Speeds of more than 100 miles an hour resulted last May when a car bearing two officials of a union fled from two others carrying rival union members, a federal shipping inquiry heard Friday.

Secretary-Treasurer Jim Todd of the Canadian Maritime Union (CLC) said he and a companion were "pulled by the two other cars which attempted to bun in the Todd car on Highway 400 May 21.

Mr. Todd said he was slowed to a speed of 30 miles an hour—he had been going 80—before he broke away from the box-in manoeuvre and came to a police who detained four members of the Seafarers International Union of Canada (Ind.).

One driver was SIU Vice-president Paul Hague, Mr. Todd said, from Thorold, Ont., and the other was official John Jackson of Toronto.

No charges have been laid from the incident. Testimony was that one of the cars forced men stuck his face close to Mr. Todd and snarled: "I just want to get a look at you because we're going to get you."

The inquiry under Mr. Justice Norris Friday followed the attempt by the CLC to charge the attempt to that of jackals and said they were cowardly and "perfectly shocking." He spoke after ship's cook Roy McLennan said his wife thought it testify at the hearing because she was frightened.

Mr. McLennan said with him in Trois - Rivieres, Que., Mr. McLennan said, when he and two companions were pulled over and tackled as they left a hotel.

"She's nervous with these gangsters hanging around —these SIU guys," Mr. McLennan said.

Stu T. G. Norris of British Columbia completed its third week Friday and appears to have another week of testimony ahead before a report is made on the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway labor trouble spawned by rivalry between the Canadian Maritime Union and the SIC.

The former was sponsored by the Canadian Labor Congress but bears the maverick SIU, ousted from the CLC in 1960 for misconduct.

CLC witnesses the last week have been testifying about their organizing drive by SIU before joining the CMU and about a series of attacks on CMU personnel this last spring.

Mr. Justice Norris Friday likened the attacks to that of jackals and said they were cowardly and "perfectly shocking."

MANY BUSINESS AND INDUSTRIAL LEADERS ATTEND

Expansion Parley Called by Dept.

OTTAWA (CP)—One of the most impressive arrays of business talent ever assembled in the capital turned up Friday for the one-day national industrial expansion conference called by the trade department.

The 425 delegates — originally a turnout of 200 was anticipated — represented the cream of Canadian business and industrial leadership. Although the conference was not just a welcome, he wasn't even in sight.

No fewer than 160 company or corporation presidents and two dozen board chairmen were in the audience for the animated discussion on how to boost production, sales, profits, sales and replace imports with Canadian - made goods.

They represented such industries as mining, oil, steel, chemicals, pulp and paper, forestry as well as other manufacturing and retailing enterprises.

NEW EXPECTATIONS

Said an elated Trade Minister Hees: "We hoped for something like this but the atmosphere of trips everything we expected."

A glimpse at the registration list a good cross-section of Canadian industrialists:

Thomas Gordon, president of International Nickel Company of Canada, Copper Cliff, Ont.; K. C. Irving, president of Irving Oil Co., Saint John; W. H. Rea, President of Canadian Oil Companies, Toronto; L. D. Smithers, president of Dow Chemical, Sarnia.

Presidents N. R. Crump of the CPR and Donald Gordon of the CNR were on hand. So were Finance Minister Nowlan and Senator Wishart McCutcheon of Toronto.

Some of the delegates interviewed praised the trade department for calling the conference. But there were a few critical notes.

VALUABLE, BUT

Said R. A. Bell, president of B. F. Goodrich Canada Limited at Kitchener, commented: "This is a very valuable thing . . . we all agreed on what is being done here but we're not saying we're not saying it to the right people . . . government and labor."

R. D. Macdonald, vice-president of Eager Machine Company, a St. Thomas firm which makes construction equipment said: "We're pleased with the government aid to industry. That's really a lot of us came to hear about."

J. A. Sully, president of Dominion Road Machinery Company, Goderich, Ont., summed up his feelings: "I'm glad I'm glad that we have to do a lot more homework in both domestic and export markets."

HIRE GOATS

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — The State Ports Authority has purchased 20 goats to help in the upkeep of its Wilmington docks area. The 19 nannies and one billy goat have been assigned grass consuming duties on a fenced 40-acre tract, A. C. Davis, authority executive of the docks, estimated that the move will save up to $100 a month in mowing costs in the area costs about $150 a week.

Pegged Lending Rate Of Canada's Bank Relaxed

Drop of Half-Point Announced Friday

OTTAWA (CP) — The emergency financial measures imposed in Canada 11 weeks ago were partly relaxed Friday with a half - point drop in the pegged lending rate of the Bank of Canada — a sign of slightly easier credit.

With the country's exchange reserves climbing and short-term market interest rates declining in recent weeks, the Bank of Canada said it was making its moderate reduction in the bank rate to 5½ per cent from "the very high level" of also.

But still the bank rate — a leading indicator of interest rate a generally — remained pegged. Had it been freed to float with the government treasury bill market as it did before June 24, today it would be lower still at 3.32 per cent.

The central bank statement said the reduction followed "increased public confidence in the exchange rate of the Canadian dollar, reflected in the increases—$216,600,000 in August alone—in the official exchange reserves."

EMPHASIZES NEED

But the bank included this in its statement:

"The governor (Louis Rasminsky) said that the reduction in the bank rate should not be taken as indicating a view that Canada's balance of payments problem had been solved, and he emphasized that there was continuing need for long - run constructive measures to improve our basic international payments position."

The bank rate itself is rarely used, and only then as a minimum charge on central bank advances to the chartered banks. Between Nov. 8, 1956, and last June 24 when the financial measures were announced, it was allowed to float at one-quarter of one per cent above the average yield on 91-day government treasury bills.

When the rate was pegged at six per cent from a floating rate of 3.97 on June 24, it was taken as a signal of so-called "tight money." The chartered banks responded by raising their prime lending rate for commercial loans to the statutory limit of six per cent.

Thus, a dip in bank rate likely would be seen by the banking and financial community as a signal of an easing in credit conditions as constructed by the Bank of Canada. But first indications were that there are unlikely to be any wide-ranging import surcharges, federal budget trimming and sharp

Orthodox Doukhobors Seek Protection From Murders

GRAND FORKS, B.C. (CP)— Orthodox Doukhobors have asked the federal government for protection from the radical Sons of Freedom sect.

"In God's name take the necessary steps to prevent them from murdering us," a letter said a telegram sent to Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

Surely you have enough on their hands calls for preventive action rather than to wait until the deeds are done."

The telegram, sent by the executive committee of the 12,000 Orthodox Doukhoors in British Columbia, asked the minister to "put a stop to their terrorist way with everything up to and including murder." It did not explain the murder references.

The telegram was sent as orthodox Doukhobors took precautions to protect their property as a march by some 750 radical Sons of Freedom members of their sect remained stalled in the community 250 miles east of Vancouver.

Orthodox leader John Verigin said many of his people are spending sleepless nights watching out the window for "unwelcome guests."

For years the Freedomites have been blamed for numerous arson and bombings in the southeast Kootenay district of B.C.

Most of the marchers left Krestova and Brilliant Saturday, planning to walk and ride to Agassiz, 80 miles east of Vancouver, where many of their number are serving sentences in Mountain Prison for terrorist activities.

Mr. Boomer said in a speech to the Canadian Bar Association adopting certain measures contained in Doukhobor's plan a view to forestalling situations which may soon arise. He did not elaborate.

Eight-Month Dispute Behind Violence at Glass Factory

HAMILTON (CP)—A dispute trucks and strikers, the company obtained a Supreme Court injunction limiting pickets to four at each plant gate. But many strikers milled around outside the injunction territory.

Friday an injunction was granted Dominion Glass Company Limited restraining violence in the labor dispute at the Ontario plant of the company.

Vehicles entering or leaving the plant were stoned and several incidents this week involving scuffles, and throwing of stones and bottles at company officials and strikers have been reported.

Strikers have been using name - calling, but no injuries.

Strikers publicly burned company bulletins drawing attention to the injunction. Hodges, secretary of the company said that the incidents do get evidence to keep the injunction in effect. The company contends that it is necessarily harsh. Another union official, Ken Hodges of Investigators employed by a Hamilton agency are used as truck drivers.

Cuban Group Plans to Attack Red Vessels

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The leader of anti-Castro Cubans who abelled Havana from Venezuela said Friday his group is preparing to launch sea attacks on Communist-bloc ships in Cuban waters.

Juan Manuel Salvat told a press conference:

"Any Communist flagged ship, regardless of nationality, seen in Cuban territorial waters will be considered a military target and will be attacked without previous warning."

Salvat and members of the Student Revolutionary Directorate came to Caracas from Miami to issue what they called the Caracas Declaration as an answer to a Soviet announcement of military aid to Cuba.

He said his organization now has 300 young youths active and personally ready to take part in all-and-run raids on Cuba.

Soblen Better Although Still Unconscious

CP from Reuters-AP

LONDON — Dr. Robert Soblen showed signs of improvement in coma for 24 hours, 48 hours after taking an overdose of barbiturates to evade deportation to the United States.

His doctor reported Soblen's heart was stronger, his blood pressure back to normal and his coma lessened, with no lung infection or worsening of his incurable leukemia.

Dr. C. G. Barnes, the consultant in charge of Soblen at Hillingdon Hospital, said the 61-year-old fugitive spy has not recovered consciousness "even momentarily" but "the fact that he is in a lessened degree of coma makes us more hopeful that he is going to regain consciousness."

He added he did not think Soblen could be conscious in the hours of regaining consciousness, ruling out any early bid to carry out the Soviet deportation order against him.

LEUKEMIA THE CAUSE

Barnes said Soblen's leukemia apparently has not been affected by the overdose and he is being administered antibiotic drugs to prevent any lung infection.

"He is being fed intravenously with glucose and saline, having antibiotic drugs injected intramuscularly to prevent infection of the lungs.

"There is no sign of infection of the lungs at the moment. His blood pressure fell yesterday as his heart showed signs of strain, but has now risen to normal levels.

"It is an improvement in his condition and his heart shows signs of improvement also."

Soblen, facing life imprisonment in the United States for spying for Russia, was watched over during the night by his wife at Hillingdon Hospital, where he was taken Thursday after swallowing drugs while being taken to nearby London airport by car and private plane.

Mrs. Soblen spent five hours at the spy's bedside Friday, holding her husband's hand, kissing him and trying to coax him to awareness.

FLIES FROM U.S.

Soblen, known professionally as Dr. Dina Soble, flew to London from New York Friday, July 20, after being sentenced in Manhattan Federal Court to a total of 20 years and $5,000 in fines.

Before the visit began she was searched by a nurse and watched closely by a detective. Another detective watched from a window and he sat with her husband.

Officials who still have not explained how Soblen got the drugs used in his latest bid to escape a U.S. prison sentence in the United States for espionage were guarding against any new breakdown in security.

High School Students Travel 40 Miles to Bancroft School

Distance doesn't seem to mean much these residents of North Hastings — especially for those of high school age.

Proof this is that there is only on high school in the entire North Hastings district — at Bancroft — and students are transported to the rambling central school from distances up to more than 40 miles.

Guy Bentley, chairman of the North Hastings District High School Board, told members of county council at a dinner at Deloro this week, that the original district high school was built for 250 students.

Soon more accommodation was required and a ten-room ed addition was built.

Today's enrolment is 880 students and the school is still growing.

At the present time there is a million dollar technical school addition being constructed which will give the school a total of 40 rooms and a capacity of more than 1,000 students.

Central location for elementary schools is also the vogue in North Hastings and has been for many years.

One of the first municipalities go for the central school idea was Dungannon township which has had but the one school location for more than one-and-a-half decades.

Shortly after the war the one central school was built at L'Amable and only recently was additional accommodation required. The extra rooms were built at the same site.

Govt. Has Not Abandoned Idea Of New Harbor

- - Roberts

MOOSONEE, Ont. (CP) — Premier Roberts assured residents of this James Bay settlement Friday night that the Ontario government has not asandoned the idea of a possible harbor here.

"The government which I now head has not 'written off' the possibility of developing port facilities at Moosonee," he said at a dinner for touring members of the. legislature at the nearby RCAF base.

The premier said an erroneous impression had been left by reports of a technically very of seasport possibilities at Moosonee, 15 miles up the broad, shallow Moose River from the James Bay outlet.

"At the time its report was made public, it was mistakenly referred to as a feasibility survey, and the impression left was that the development of a port here would be too exorbitant to be warranted.

"What I hope will be feasible is an initial installation of modern facilities to handle the local shipping in the James Bay and lower Hudson Bay area."

The 17-car special train carrying the legislature members on an 11-day tour of northeastern Ontario returned south to Cochrane Friday night and west on the CNR mainline to Kapuskasing.

The schedule today includes visits to pulp and paper operations in the Kapuskasing district and the official opening of a high school vocational training wing. The train will remain there Sunday before continuing south to other centres next week.

Parkdale Ratepayers Urge Action to Check Vandalism

At their general meeting last Wednesday evening, members of the Parkdale Ratepayers' Association decided to lodge strong complaints with the authorities at the municipal hall during the summer months.

The report of these damages, which appeared in the Ontario Intelligencer of Tuesday, September 4th, had raised general indignation and the members were strongly felt that legal action should be taken against any persons found damaging the hall, illegally entering the Hall, in the future.

Mr. L. Weagant, building superintendent for the Community Board, noted that, despite clue to the guilty parties had been overlooked, the vandals must have suffered a rather painful entry, since iodine and bandage from the Scout first aid kit had been used.

TELLS OF CLINIC

Mr. Bruce Lynch representing the Hastings County TB Survey, spoke to the meeting on this subject. He explained that the clinic would be held in the Hall on October 4th to 6th, from 2.00 to 5.00 in the afternoon and 7.00 to 10.00 in the evening.

A harmless, painless, skin test is given, and checked up to four days later. Those who show a positive reaction will be requested to have a chest X-ray taken over forty will automatically be given this X-ray service, since this is medically recommended.

Mr. Lynch stressed that a positive reaction to the skin test does not necessarily mean that the person has TB, but that usually the person has been exposed to the disease. He noted that these services are entirely free and that everyone in the area attend the voluntary clinic.

REPORT ON CAMP

The meeting then continued with minutes of the previous meeting read by secretary-G. Burnett. Treasurer Harry Cole dings noted that some additional memberships and fees had been received. Scouting group chairman Harry Brooks reported on the Scout camp and their recent cruise from Kingston to the riganstine St. Lawrence II.

Mr. D. Riordan, special committee chairman, on transit, read recent correspondence from the Belleville Transit Commission. He noted with satisfaction that the Commission would not provide evening bus service on the Parkdale-Avenue route until such time as it appeared that such would operate at a profit.

"I don't think that the Parkdale end would operate at a profit," declared Mr. Riordan, "but when coupled with the distance and passenger possibility of the Avondale end, it would."

MEMBERS DISCONTENTED

Expressions of discontent with the timing of the Commission were general. Some members felt that some form of evening bus service be provided on Fridays and Saturdays, in the early and late evening. Others thought that the change should be made.

It was further felt that the Parkdale share of the tax subsidy afforded the city bus line should be considered. Many of those present felt that the areas that have different-route and late evening service should pay more toward the subsidy than those in the central area of the city. The matter was tabled until the correspondence could read by the full Association membership.

On further business, the members approved the formal induction of the first Wednesday evening in each month at 8.30 p.m., for Association General meetings. It was also agreed that a program or Hall improvement should be constituted, with the assistance of the Community Board, with insulation of the ceiling as a suggested first consideration.

WILL INVITE SPEAKERS

In open discussion, interest in Parkdale Association aims and procedures was evidenced. It was also suggested that Mayor Haig might be asked to give a talk, explaining how municipal government is constituted and how it operates in carrying out its responsibilities.

Most members agreed with the suggestion that Allen that, as citizens of Belleville, they should know more about the city government and how it operates.

I guess we are pretty free with our criticisms," suggested Mr. Allen, "without being aware of how valid they are under the circumstances."

The idea was put forth that a speaker could be invited to the September meeting, starting with the Mayor and suggested member of Council, the City Manager, and heads of departments, chairmen of the various committees should the executive committee should then make enquiries to see if the plan could be started and surveyed by the membership to ensure that a representative attendance could be expected. It was considered that attendance should be at least sixty, to make it worthwhile for the guest speaker.

Big Question Whether ECM Will Be Swayed by What PMs Say

By ALAN DONNELLY

LONDON (CP) — Commonwealth leaders will talk of Commonwealth trade for the next week, but their thoughts will stray across the channel to Brussels.

The big question: Will Brussels, capital of the European Economic Community be swayed by what they say?

Britain, bidding to join the EEC's prospering Common Market already has learned in the Brussels negotiations part of what this move likely would mean in repercussions on the Commonwealth's treasured trade ties with Britain.

Now the other Commonwealth partners, in private talks, beginning Monday, have probably their last chance to influence the reasoning of the impact on them.

OPINIONS VARY

Informed opinions here on whether the six EEC countries will modify their demands for British membership range from pessimism to guarded hopefulness.

The Canadian government estimates that Britain's entry into the EEC, on present terms, would adversely affect a majority of its trade when $600,000,000 in annual exports to Britain.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker indicated Friday Canada may press for transitional measures some of the tentative trade arrangements already worked out by British at Brussels.

Other Commonwealth members would be affected here to greater or less degree. Other prime ministers will say that they, too, will be seeking a better deal.

SEEK SAFE GUARDS

The Canadian government's apparent approach is that Britain's chief chance of getting the Common Market to agree to better safeguards on British markets for Canadian agricultural products, industrial raw materials, and perhaps even manufactured goods.

And Diefenbaker's statement that expanded Commonwealth trade may be an alternative to self-sufficient EEC membership for Britain made it apparent that his gov-ter.

ernment still considers it possible that Britain will remain against joining.

Supporting this argument are statistics showing a marked growth in two-way trade between Canada and Britain since 1957.

On the other hand, Prime Minister Macmillan argued this week that it's better to have a smaller trade in a growing European market than a larger share in a diminishing Commonwealth market.

About 40 per cent of British exports go to the Commonwealth and 15 per cent to the Common Market. But trade figures show no upturn in British sales to the Commonwealth in recent years.

WIDE RANGE

British negotiations at Brussels still were a long way from even tentative agreement on Commonwealth matters when they suspended Aug. 3.

In Canada's case, the Brussels talks were far from agreement on two major issues affecting the trading relationship — agricultural products, the other industrial raw materials.

But the outline of a possible settlement was taking shape, and the Canadian government hasn't been pleased with what it sees.

On farm products, the EEC agreed to provide "reasonable access" for Canada and offered to promote negotiation of world - wide trading arrangements.

But the Canadian government's reply is over the Common Market plan to protect supports under EEC farm products and variable import levies to bring the price of imported foodstuffs up to this level.

The Canadian concern — shared by Australia and New Zealand—is that this system might encourage so much farm production in the Common Market that the area would become self-sufficient in many of the key products Canada has to of-

Apple Crop Slightly Down From Last Year

OTTAWA (CP)—Revised estimate by the bureau of statistics place Canada's 1962 apple crop at 16,867,000 bushels down 1.4 per cent from last year.

A decrease is estimated in all provinces except British Columbia and Quebec. In P.C., the 1962 apple crop is estimated at 5,301,000 bushels compared with the 1961 crop of 4,979,000. Quebec's crop is estimated at 1,454,000 from last year's 2,846,000.

Ontario's crop is expected to drop to 4,322,000 from last year's 8,331,000, while Nova Scotia harvests 2,300,000 bushels compared with last year's 2,151,000.

Majority of fruit crops are expected to decline this year. Exceptions are pears, which are expected to climb to 1,823,000 bushels from last year's 1,407,000, Agricols, up to 281,000 bushels from 265,000 and sweet cherries, up to 201,000 from 206,000.

SOUR CHERRIES DECLINE

The biggest decline is in sour cherries, all grown in Ontario. The 1962 crop is estimated at 204,000 from compared with last year's 326,000.

Plum and strawberry crop is estimated at 1,000,000 bushels in 1962, down from 23,022,000 a year ago. Raspberries are also expected to drop to 2,000,000 from the 1961 figure of 9,460,000. The grape crop is also estimated at 84,420,000 pounds against last year's 85,221,000.

A big drop is expected in the 1962 peach crop, down to 2,346,000 bushels from 3,075,000. The decline is in Ontario where the crop is estimated at 1,700,000 compared with last year's 2,544,000.

In British Columbia, the only other province with any amount of peaches, the 1962 crop is expected to be 616,000 bushels from last year's 531,000.

Accused Must Remain in Sudbury Jail

TORONTO (CP) — Gerard Graham Dennis, an international figure, must remain in a Sudbury jail pending his trial on a charge of escaping custody in the Burwash Industrial Farm in 1943.

Dennis, whose attendance from prison in Auburn, N.Y., where he spent 13½ years for murder, is needed in the New York state amounting to more than $600.00.

Mr. Justice H. A. Aylen refused an application for habeas corpus regarding Dennis' committal for trial which was filed by F. J. Keenan of St. Catharines who appeared for Dennis.

Mr. Keenan said that Dennis had served six years more than he should have. Dennis succeeded ultimately in having his sentence at Burwash reduced to the 7½-year minimum term which should have been imposed on him, said Mr. Keenan.

He argued that it was cruel and unusual punishment contrary to the Bill of Rights, to incarcerate Dennis for an offence alleged to have been committed in 1943.

There was evidence that Dennis escaped Burwash during a snow storm and did not return, Mr. Justice Aylen said. He refused bail.

Vaccination Cuts Number of Blood Donors

TRENTON — The Trenton Blood Donors' Committee reports that 159 persons donated blood at Wednesday night's clinic. This, say the committee members is a poor showing for a town the size of Trenton but sure arms, an aftermath from the recent vaccination clinic, are held to blame for the small attendance.

A dramatic moment was provided when the members of the Batawa volunteer fire brigade, led by Chief John Aquin., marched into the hall in full regalia, to give blood. The spontaneous act was carried out in two parts, as half the department was left on call at the fire hall.

Thirteen people, some of whom were unaware of their particular blood type until they made at the clinic, donated type O Rh pos itive blood, for which the Canadian Red Cross has made an urgent appeal, prior to the clinic.

Six Members Given Pins for Attendance

TRENTON — On Thursday night 6 members of the Trenton Kiwanis Club were presented with perfect attendance pins by Kiwanis past-president Dick Burnet. John Sarlo had also achieved the enviable record of 10 years perfect attendance; Nivil Fraser and Harry Foster, nine years; past president Norm Davis, four years; Ben Cressie and Mo Jeffery, two years.

Guests at the meeting were Herbert Heid of Kitchener, O.S.A.; Derek Baker, a former member, from Jamestown, N.Y.; John Thurston and Cecil Warner, of Trenton, and Capt. Jim Johnson of the Trenton Salvation Army Corps.

Guest speaker, George Kempf was introduced by Peter Held. Mr. Kempf gave the club members a comprehensive address down on the operations carried out by the Minister of Canada Ltd., of which he is general manager. One interesting fact mentioned by the speaker was that some of the electronic components contained in Telstar were made in Deseronto plant. He also said that the Trenton plant at the present time produces as unique in that it is the only plant which manufactures (on a small scale, in some cases) every product Erie makes.

Mr. Kempf urged his listeners to impress upon the young people of their acquaintance that "the world didn't owe them a living" and to give them the opportunity to make a living." He said there was a crying need" for electronic engineers and that his own company has been, from time to time, to send out of the country for such men.

To Build Sidewalk

TRENTON — Town council's public works chairman, Councillor James Duncan reported to council Thursday night that his committee had recommended that a sidewalk be constructed on the east side of Campbell Street, from Princess St. to the Broken Front Road.

Also recommended was that town engineer Eric Aldersey be instructed to prepare the necessary schedules and estimates for carrying out the installation of sanitary sewer services on Sidney Street, where a new trunk sewer is being laid.

Afternoon Classes at Tweed School Cancelled by Strike

Classes at Tweed high school were cancelled yesterday afternoon by a student strike that kept students grouped about a public address speaker off the school grounds.

In the morning, all the nearly 400 students of the school had refused to enter in sympathy with about 40 students from East Huntingdon who were ordered, by the Centre Hastings School board, to attend the Madoc High School. The Tweed — Hungerford students returned to classes, however, in answer to a plea by principal W. R. Hamilton, were cancelled yesterday afternoon when, during the morning, one false fire alarm brought the students out again, and some of the students left classes to join the East Huntingdon students, milling about the area.

The failure of the morning strike was mainly due to Mr. Hamilton's warning to the Tweed - Hungerford students that he might be fired if he could not bring them back and maintain order.

During the lunch hour, the striking students argued with those who had returned that Mr. Hamilton's job was not in danger. The Huntingdon students maintained that the Tweed-Hungerford students had shown their respect for Mr. Hamilton by returning the first time, and they warned that if Mr. Hamilton were fired, "there wouldn't be enough kids in that school to raise dust", in the words of one girl.

SET UP PA SYSTEM

By the end of the lunch hour, a group of students had taken over a house owned by Fred Langevin, across from the school, and set up a public address system on the porch. A continual appeal from students inside the house persuaded students to stay out of the school buildings, and some girls, standing on the porch, did striking students in school cheers. At least one student took over the microphone and stepped out on the porch, to advocate returning to classes, and Ed Lynch, mathematics and physical education teacher in the school, was allowed to use the system to try to persuade the students to return. Although some students, like the girl who said "my mother told me to go, I have no choice," returned to classes, they were so few that no effective classes were held.

The strike lasted the afternoon, and the students were returned to their homes by buses.

TO SEEK COURT ORDER

Meanwhile, back in Belleville, Mrs. C. G. Allen, of the school board, had been leading a delegation to see lawyer Robert Temple. Mrs. Allen, one of the leaders in the successful move for separation of the Tweed-Hungerford area from Centre Hastings school area, told reporters on her return that a court order would be sought to permit the East Huntingdon students to attend school in Tweed.

Tweed High School will open for classes as usual Monday morning, and the Tweed-Hungerford students are expected to attend. It is possible one or more students from East Huntingdon may be admitted to classes, as a test. From then on, the problem is up to the courts.

Student leaders of the revolt at Tweed high school yesterday group about the microphone of a PA system they set up across from the school. These students refused to identify themselves, but the student to left, holding the microphone in this picture, has since been identified as Glen Brough.

Tom Kelly, a member of the Centre Hastings high school board, speaks to rebellious students in the schoolyard at Tweed high school. "You can't win," he said. "For this protest to have any effect, you'll have to hold out until Christmas, and I don't think you can do it."

Elmer Wilson, (foreground), reeve of Huntingdon, and Wesley Farrel, a Huntingdon councillor, speak with township residents at the scene of the Tweed high school strike. The reeve and councillor later led a delegation to see principal W. R. Hamilton about the banning of Huntingdon students from the school.

Robt. A. Pringle, Q.C., Dies In Lachine, Que., Hospital

Robert A. Pringle Q.C., well-known lawyer of this city passed away early this Saturday morning in a Lachine, Quebec hospital.

Mr. Pringle succumbed to a stroke suffered aboard an aircraft returning from Halifax, N.S. last Monday where he had been attending the annual convention of the Canadian Bar Association.

He was removed from the plane at Montreal and rushed to the Lachine General Hospital.

Mr. Pringle never recovered consciousness.

Mr. Pringle who resided on the Trent Road, marked his 81th birthday last Sunday.

Robert Arthur Pringle was born in Montreal, Quebec, the son of the late James F. and Mrs. Pringle. Mr. Pringle was a former vice-president of the Canadian National Railway.

He received his public and secondary school education in Montreal and Toronto later graduating from Osgoode Hall. He was called to the bar in 1904.

Mr. Pringle came to Belleville in the same year and became associated with the law office of the late Colonel W. N. Ponton.

Following the death of Col. W. N. Ponton, Mr. Pringle became a partner in the law firm of Pringle and R. K. Graham. Later he formed a partnership with his brother John practising for three years, when John was appointed Hastings County crown attorney. From that time on he operated his own law office.

Mr. Pringle was a highly respected and esteemed member of the legal profession. He was made a Queen's Counsel in 1930. He was a Bencher of Law Society of Upper Canada and a member of the council of the Canadian Bar Association and was a past president of the Hastings County Law Association.

Mr. Pringle took a deep interest in the welfare of the community. He was a member of the city council for four years until his appointment as city solicitor in 1946 an office held for eleven years. He was a member of the Industrial Commission for a number of years.

Mr. Pringle was a member of St. Thomas Anglican Church and devoted much of his time and effort to its furtherance. He was the rector's warden for a number of years and was a chancellor of the Diocese of Ontario.

Mr. Pringle was a personable man. He had a quiet but friendly personality that, marked with a keen sense of humor, added to the popularity he enjoyed in the many circles of social and other phases of city life in which he moved.

He did active work in the fraternal or service club life of the city, but contributed to its welfare in an individual manner.

Quiet-spoken and serious in his general attitude toward life and his profession, Mr. Pringle had the delightful quality of treating the lighter side of life in an individually humorous manner. His witticisms were often quoted.

One of the happier moments of his life came when he attended, without fail, the annual get-together of the "Wharf Street Debating Club". Here his humor reached its best.

Mr. Pringle was sports-minded from early youth. Hockey was his favorite recreation and he became an outstanding player. He was a valued member of the Toronto Canoe Club junior OHA team and his ability on the ice drew the attention of scouts of the Toronto Maple Leafs.

He was offered a tryout with the professional club but bowed to parental wishes that he devote his time to education.

Mr. Pringle liked golf and was a great outdoorsman. He liked to hunt and fish with his summer recreational forte being long canoe trips with friends.

ROBERT A. PRINGLE, Q.C.

Surviving are Mrs. Pringle, the former Eileen Bliss, daughter of Gananoque; three brothers, James F. of Aultkoan, Ont, William Alfred of Ottawa and John A. of Belleville; one sister, Mrs. John L. The reserves at Aug. 31 stood at $2,250,000,000, compared with $1,100,000,000 at June 30 when the government took action to curb the capital outflow and the run on the Canadian dollar. Since then the dollar has remained fairly steady at around 92% U.S. cents.

However, part of the exchange - fund gain was in the form of a $300,000,000 loan from the International Monetary Fund and $350,000,000 loan from British and United States central banks.

Stripped of these credits from abroad, the Canadian reserves stood at Aug. 31 at $1,492,800,000 but still down from last November's peak of $2,110,600,000.

Bridge Links Isle in Trent To Mainland

Residents of Anderson's Island in the Trent River west of Stirling now for the first time have a bridge capable of carrying normal loads, as a result of construction work completed this summer.

Steel work for the bridge was commenced last summer but was interrupted by the steel strike and the construction of the steel was completed in December.

This year concrete was poured on top of the bridge abutments and in wing walls. Granular fill was placed in June following which a 2 x 8 laminated timber deck was laid.

The low timber bridge about 30 feet downstream has been removed and the new bridge opened for traffic. Erection of guide rails on the bridge approaches and handrails on the bridge proper still remains to be done.

The new structure is high enough to allow passage of small boats without interference and will also permit the passage of large area of bulktrain type boats which frequently float down the river from upstream.

Cancer Society Gets Objective

The Belleville and District Branch of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Cancer Society received notice from National Campaign Chairman Mr. George C. Hitchman, that this year's campaign had been a success. With a national objective of $3,819,000, the Canadian Cancer Society has received to date $3,320,922.

The Belleville and District Branch obtained 106 per cent of its objective. With a target of $11,000 this branch collected, $11,658 and for the third year in a row passed its objective.

Local campaign chairman, Fred B. Deacon, said today "the success of this year's campaign as every year is due to the hard work of the many area chairmen, canvassers and in particular, the willingness of the citizens of Belleville and district to support through their contributions the Canadian Cancer Society's program of research, education and medical assistance."

Cuba.

There has been a chorus of demands this week from both Democrats and Republicans for tougher action against Cuba.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, in a floor speech, said the Dirksen-Hallock proposal "seems to imply that the Republicans want a military attack—an aggressive act, a warlike act against the island, with American troops."

"Thousands of Cubans will die in such an attack and untold numbers of Americans," Mansfield said, adding that Kennedy had not asked such a move.

Germans Want Nuclear Arms

"All the fearful indications are that West Germany, one way or another, will be in the nuclear club within a few years," says Ron Collister, writing from Washington for the Toronto Telegram.

Mr. Collister's choice of an adjective to describe this situation is admirable. Unfortunately there is little in the remainder of his article to indicate any conviction that the probable consequences fully warrant his choice of the word "fearful." He refers to tensions and worries and pressures. But only in the final paragraph does he plainly imply that the issue may involve the danger of war.

"For political reasons, something is going to be worked out," he says. "Rejection of Germany's aspirations (to join the nuclear club) would fan the fires of nationalism again. And everyone knows what happened the last time they caught fire."

Everyone does — and nobody better than Khrushchev. For that very reason, the Russians will stop at almost nothing to prevent Germany from acquiring nuclear weapons. They would almost certainly be prepared to fight a war, if they believed it could be limited to the use of conventional weapons. They might even be ready to risk a nuclear war today, rather than to face such a war under worsened circumstances later.

The point that many observers in the West seem to overlook is that on this issue the Russians would have the unqualified support of many, though perhaps not all, of the satellite nations of central and eastern Europe. Certainly they could count on the Poles and the Czechs, whose fear of a powerful Germany is even greater than that of the Russians themselves.

Whatever may be the political reasons impelling the West to accept West Germany into the nuclear club, they can hardly be so forceful as to warrant this trip to the very lip of the brink.

Fortunately, while the danger does not seem to be fully recognized by many in the West, there are signs that it is grasped by a few. Indeed, we may hope that this is part of what President Kennedy had in mind when, a few days ago, he told critics of his conciliatory efforts to arrange a ban on nuclear tests that the gravest danger facing the world was not that Russia would obtain an advantage over the U.S. in nuclear weapons but that the nuclear club would grow much larger.

The moment the West consents to West Germany acquiring nuclear arms, the world will be separated from a holocaust by only a hair's breadth.

Should Act Quickly

The three-man royal commission on the federal Government organization has presented its report.

It says that "many tens of millions of dollars can be saved."

If this is true, two things are obvious.

Firstly, the changes it recommends ought to have been made long ago.

And, secondly and far more important, these changes ought to be made as speedily as possible — just as quickly as the necessary legislation can be prepared, debated and approved by Parliament.

There is a third point, but not of great urgency. The Glassco Commission pictures the government machine as a giant which grew on a set of practices "bearable" 40 years ago but unsuited to today's operations. Once practices suitable to today have been established, some provision ought to be made for assuring that they do not remain unrevised and unchanged until they, in turn, are out-dated and wasteful. The Commission report covers this point, urging continual review with an independent survey of the entire service every five or ten years. This is not the least important of its recommendations. One cannot help wondering, though why the necessity for such action was not self-evident to governments years ago.

Speech is civilization itself. The word, even the most contradictory word, preserves contact—it is silence which isolates.—Thomas Mann.

The only freedom of speech worth having is the freedom to speak things that run wholly counter to the spirit of the times.—Mr. Ronald Bell, a British M.P.

Precarious Parliament May Survive by Alliance

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

Ottawa — In this strange new Parliament where an avowed admirer of Hitler and Mussolini could hold the balance of power, it would not be as strange to see the Conservatives and Liberals in some sort of an informal alliance.

The idea of Conservatives and Liberals on what essentially could be the same team, might be a little startling at first glance.

But think about it for a moment.

Despite the initial reaction of surprise and even skepticism, it makes some political sense.

For in this Parliament, as seldom before, the basic power struggle between the "ins" and the "outs" could be missing.

In its place, for the first time since World War II, when in the emergency, political ranks for a time were closed, there will be a compelling nonpartisan concern for the public interest and the national good.

At least between the two historic old-line parties.

A sense of urgency, even of emergency, that sets the tone for the new Parliament, arising from the economic difficulty the nation faces both at home and abroad.

COOLING OFF

Liberal Leader Pearson already detects a cooling off, that he is aware of the pressures.

For when, almost immediately after the inconclusive election, Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced that there be a political holiday of sorts for the Summer . . . a "cooling off" period, he called it . . . Mike Pearson strung along.

This, he quickly felt, was no time for rocking the boat.

And so, except for calling on the Prime Minister to summon Parliament as quickly as possible, the Liberal Leader seemed satisfied to let the dust settle.

There was plenty of opportunity to raise political hob . . . the thalidomide tragedy . . . some price increases . . . unemployment edging up . . . continuing uncertainty.

But, as Mike Pearson has told friends, he thought it might give concerned Tory and nation of irresponsibility if he began firing from the hip.

His attitude in the thalidomide tragedy was typical of what is carefully considered conduct.

Here was a chance to come out swinging. He could have accused the Government of negligence . . . the Food and Drug Directorate of National Health and Welfare. These perhaps would be charges that could be made with this issue, so close to the hearts of mothers, so charged with emotionalism.

But Pearson declined the opportunity deliberately offered to him at a press conference to politically exploit heartbreak.

BE SURE

"I can't make charges", he said simply. "I don't know all the facts, and I won't go off half-cocked on a thing like this".

And that is the way he has been all along.

He has told friends that he didn't think the majority of Canadians would appreciate the boat being rocked politically "at a time like this".

Now while this may not entirely please the real red-hot partisans among the Liberals, it does make a lot of good clear-thinking common sense.

And look at it this way, too . . . the pressing problem facing Parliament and the nation is essentially economic . . . and a working understanding with the Liberals would not require none of the basic incompatabilities for the Conservatives that co-operation with either the New Democrats or Social Credit would require.

The Liberals are no less responsible or concerned with the national interest than the Conservatives.

The trick will be to provide a program which the Liberals can support.

And this is understood to have been the special job for which Toronto Tory Senator Wallace McCutcheon was personally assigned by the Prime Minister.

Senator McCutcheon, the economic adviser to the Cabinet, will be drafting an economic blueprint designed to solve the dollar problem and unemployment that will be so obviously sense-making that the Liberals, in plain regard for the public interest, will be impelled to support.

EYE TO EYE

For an economist of Senator McCutcheon's proven talents, this should be no hat trick.

It just so happens that the money-men of the two parties, McCutcheon of the Conservatives and Walter Gordon of the Liberals, are of the same economic stamp.

Both are money management men.

They share views as to financial soundness.

What is safe and sane to one is sound and sensible to the other.

United States Senator Hugo Long was fatally wounded by Dr. Carl Austin Weiss, son of one of his political enemies, in the Louisiana State House at Baton Rouge 27 years ago today — in 1935. Long, then at the height of his political power and 42 years old, died two days later. Weiss was shot immediately after the attack on Long by the Senator's bodyguards.

Film Cowboy Really Rode

New York Times

Edmund Richard "Hoot" Gibson, who died this week in California, was a motion picture cowboy who rode the horse himself. He had been brought up on his father's ranch and he not only knew how to stay on horse when he wanted to; he also knew how to fall off. In the late Twenties he is said to have earned $14,500 a week. In the early days he used to fall off horses for $2.50 if he was predicting to be an Indian, and for $5 if he was a cowboy and had to ride a saddle with a high pommel. He took risks on them by means of conveyance, including one airplane which cost him three fractured vertebrae and some broken ribs. Between 1915 and his actual retirement in 1944 he starred in a couple of hundred silent movies and seventy-two talkies.

Mr. Gibson belonged in that famous school of the Wild West heroes that included Tom Mix and William S. Hart, both of whom could shoot as well as "Bronco Billie" Anderson, who never even pretended to do much more than stay on a stationary horse.

Some oldsters, remembering these favorites of the silent days, will be wondering whether the films we have today are not any more entertaining or take us, out of our worries more effectively than those of thirty or forty years ago. The whole thing may be a matter of habit. What amused the younger generation's fathers and grandfathers might not amuse anyone today. But the imaginary West of the glorious days which Mr. Gibson took, a noble part stirs nostalgia in us just as does the Arthurian legend, even that of which its romances were based.

Car Mileage Is Stretched

Milwaukee Journal

According to a report from Detroit, automobile odometers — the gadgets that measure the miles a car travels — are due a set on the generous side. An odometer may indicate 50,000 miles have been covered, whereas the true distance is only 100.

The reason is to make motorists think they are getting better gasoline mileages than they really are.

The report reminds us of the story current when midget foreign cars first became so popular. One owner asked a filling station operator how he could get the high gasoline mileage other owners of the same make did. He was told "Jle like they do."

Stretching the truth about automobile performance is as old as the gasoline buggy itself. But it should at least be the prerogative of the owner. Kidding him by juggling a device normally considered reliable isn't cricket.

One Is Silly to Worry About X-Ray Radiation

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Repeatedly I receive letters from people saying, "I had X-rays last year and now the doctor thinks I should have them again. Do you think this amount of radiation will hurt me?"

I've been saying "no" steadily, I continue to do so.

But in further alleviate worry, I call attention to a report by Dr. Richard H. Chamberlain, representing the American College of Radiology, to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Earlier estimates of the amount of radiation being absorbed from medical X-ray have been much too high, he said. The estimates had run as high as 160 one-thousandth of a 'rad' — a 'rad' being a technical measurement for absorption by tissues.

Between 25 and 50 one-thousandth, he reported, is much more likely to be the correct figure.

To make a comparison that I understand, 160 is the one thousandth are about amount absorbed each year from natural background radiation — the radiation to which mankind has been exposed for countless generations.

Dr. Chamberlain's estimates were aimed primarily at the amount of radiation affecting the reproductive organs, this being considered to be the most critical, as concerns radiation. The faint smile of these 25 to 50 one-thousandth of a rad is far outweighed by the benefits, in his opinion, and the rest of the body is unlikely to suffer any health damage at all.

It must also be pointed out that in general younger people to whom the reproductive risk if any is important) get very little exposure to X-ray. Mostly it is for diagnostic X-rays which are brief.

It is usually the older person, to whom possible reproductive harm is of little if any significance, who is exposed to the vastly heavier X-ray used for treatment of disease.

There's a lot to be said for this fact. The amount of X-ray exposure needed to make a picture is steadily declining. Machines are better shielded now. There is very little unnecessary exposure that required to leave an image on the radiographic film.

More sensitive film is being used, and in some cases other methods of image-intensifying are possible. The net result is that less X-ray is needed, Dr. Hanson Blair estimated. Also, exposure to X-rays for medical purposes has been cut about 30 per cent in three years in New York.

My advice, therefore, is not to worry at all about whatever X-rays are needed for medical purposes. If you insist on worrying about something, then worry about what would happen if mankind ever permitted a nuclear war. That's really worth worrying about, and the exposure would be billions of times as great as all the medical X-rays for the next million years.

Dear Dr. Molner: Has it been proved that one race is more susceptible to radiation than another? — M.S.

No.

Dear Dr. Molner: My 2½-year-old daughter loves chewing gum and prefers it to any candy. Is it harmful? She swallows it at-seen as she chews it. She has about three small pieces a day — one to one stick. Regular gum, not bubble gum. — Mrs. D.W.

Swallowing it won't hurt her. I call your attention, however, to doctors who point out that gum has sugar in it, and a continued prescribe of sugar, even in small quantities, can contribute to tooth decay in some people — at least. The greatest danger is inhaling the gum, causing it to lodge in the lung. For this reason I prefer that parents to give chewing gum to toddlers or young children.

Typical Scot Hospitality

St. Thomas Times-Journal

A lone American touring Britain arrived in Edinburgh around midnight and directed a taxi driver to take him to a certain small hotel where he had made a reservation. When they got there, the visitor discovered he had made no mistake and was at the wrong address.

In the meantime, the driver, in cooker inspector-invited him in, cooked him a meal and while he was eating told him all about the historic places he should see during his visit to Edinburgh. Then the innkeeper drove him to the correct address.

But he would not accept a bawbee (penny to you) for his services.

Believe it or not, that was a typical Scottish hands-across-the-sea action.

Plan Public Defender

Oshawa Times

The New Zealand government has decided to go ahead with its plan to appoint a public defender to protect the public against the excessive powers of the state. It is so sudden decision the idea has been studied for a year, with close attention being given to its results in the Scandinavian countries, where it originated and where the public defender is called "ombudsman." It seems likely that the name "ombudsman" will be popularly used in New Zealand, because the official title there will be parliamentary Commissioner for Investigations.

The New Zealand government's situation is similar to the malicious abuses of power are rare in that country, there are inevitable cases of mistakes, misjudgments and unreasonable decisions which in the present law provides no adequate means of redress. The commissioner will seek investigate decisions by the courts or cases where a right of appeal exists.

The New Zealand action is the result of a swelling volume of public complaint about the frightening grip of bureaucracy. The same complaints are now heard in Canada, and Canada could well follow New Zealand's example. We need an ombudsman here just as much as do the New Zealanders. The public service contains a large number of hard-working and conscientious public servants, but it also contains some petty tyrants who hide their deficiencies behind a curtain of red tape, and the larger the public service the greater the number of petty tyrants.

It is difficult indeed for the ordinary citizen to pierce the red tape curtains. That is why we need an ombudsman.

THE PACKSACK

—By GREGORY CLARK

What must be the feelings of a gull, for example, when all of a sudden, as if a bell is rung sounded, a vast silence falls all over the lakes and rivers? Not a soul in over a mile of the blue abouts. No water ski skid about the landscape. In one second and one scramble, last weekend, all the cottages were clammed shut, all the boathouses padlocked, all the wharfs left bare and vacant. Maybe once an hour, some lonely outboard scuttles across the water so lately crowded. From a cottage here and there, a door slams, and some elderly person, rejoicing in the peace and quiet, comes and stands gazing comfortably across the uninhabited scene.

What, for example, does a deer hope has happened to us? Is it a plague that has carried us off?

The mice don't have to hide any more. They can come boldly in the silence of noon, and explore around the back door. Migrating birds from the north, already moving southward upon these deserted resorts, and, if they encounter a wonder, must suppose here are the remains of a once flourishing civilization, which has died, nothing so surprising to the creaturing of the air than the sudden collapse of the holiday season.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED WILSON

Blue Feathers

Have you ever thought of how few birds with blue feathers come to Canada? Of course, there is our beautiful, soft-spoken bluebird, but wrong to, changed conditions it is becoming very scarce. Then there is the gorgeous, loud-voiced blue jay which, on the other hand, has actually thrived, and although essentially a bird of the woodland has become common in our small, eastern towns.

The blue-winged teal has, no more blue on it than a mallard or a wood duck — merely a small wing patch. The blue goose is really not blue. The great blue heron, like the king fisher is more a blue-grey. Much the same shade are the blue-grey gnatcatcher which crosses Canada's southern border at Lake Erie, only just making southern Ontario, the black-throated blue warbler, and the two nuthatches.

Seen in a good light in spring, the back of the male myrtle warbler, though spoken of as blue-grey, seems decidedly blue. The cerulean warbler, as its name says, is really sky-blue, but just on the back of its head, other upper parts more of a grey-blue. This is another bird found regularly on Canadian soil only in southern Ontario. A tiny sprite, the parula warbler, with an average length of less than 4½ inches, has head and back grey-blue.

SEARCH KINGS

Three of our swallows have at least a bluish tinge: the barn swallow, the cliff swallow, and the tree blue-green.

One of our little songbirds, however, is truly blue — and all over too! The little indigo bunting, a member of the sparrow family. The male is positively the only all blue bird. He is, in a poor light, indigo; but in a bright light a brilliant blue. This small seed eater, only ½ inch longer than the chipping sparrow, like it, feeds mainly on insects during the summer. Unfortunately, indigo buntings are found only east of the plains. They would be an asset to any district. The male's intense blue is a delight to the eye; its cheery persistent song decidedly pleasing, and his autumn habit of living entirely on weed seeds certainly beneficial to the country.

Most songbirds have two or three definite song perches from which they do all their singing. Not so the indigo bunting. For him the very top of every tree or bush in his territory is a good spot from which to pour out his song, and he moves swiftly from one to another all day long, throughout the entire summer season.

A Lift for Living

Expectancy Is More Solid Than 'Stuff Dreams Made Of'

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Expectancy quickens energy. Many tests have been made of this fact. Two persons are sitting in a room. One expects the arrival of a longed-for visitor; the other has no intimation or expectation of his coming. The former will hear the first faint step in the distance long before the latter sharpens our mental faculties and increases our physical powers.

Expectancy is a stronger word than hope. A 12-year-old lad illustrated the difference between the two words one day when he came in from fishing. A neighbor asked him about his catch. The boy replied: "Well, I didn't get as many as I hoped for, but I got more than I really expected."

Expectancy carries the element of confidence. To expect a thing is to look forward to it as very probable or certain. I may hope for a visit from my friend although I have no word of his coming. I expect it when I have had some intimation of his coming by report or letter. SOMETHING MORE SOLID

Moreover, expectancy is composed of something more solid than "such stuff as dreams are made of." Hope sometimes partakes of the delusive escape of daydreaming. Dickens referred to "the hope of happy inexperience"; and left immortal illustration of it in the person of Mr. Micawber, who was always hoping for "something to turn up."

Because hopes so frequently seem but daydreams, many conclude that it is more realistic to look on the dark side than on the bright. Such persons think themselves mentally superior to those who go to church and accept the promises of our Christian hope.

Many feel that when we talk about religious faith we are leaving the solid ground of reality for the realm of speculation and make-believe. They assume that faith is a sort of prop for weak minds and a substitute for logic. They may even second the sneering remark of Madame de Stael: "Have you not observed that faith is generally strongest in those whose character may be called the weakest."

Let us look more deeply. The sturdiest hope rises out of the sternest realism. It was a veteran of life's hardest vicissitudes who called God "the God of hope."

One source of Paul's hope was history. He knew the history of his Hebrew people who survived.

Also, St. Paul had come in contact with a company of disciples who were following One whom they called the Christ. They lived in the hope that He was to redeem Israel. Although He had been crucified, yet out of the ruins had risen more radiant hope. The One crucified is conceived as more than King of Israel. He is King of Kings and Lord of Lords, whose reign shall know no end.

Paul had caught the contagion of hope which sustained these early Christians.

Moreover, he had verified and fortified his hope by first-hand experience. He tells the steps: "Tribulation worketh patience; and patience, experience; and experience, hope." Or as the Revised Version puts it: "Suffering produces endurance, and endurance produces character; and character produces hope."

How different was Paul's hope from the flimsy thing which Dickens called the "hope of happy inexperience." Here is hope learned in the school of hard knocks.

Recall again Christ's parable of the talents, which is so often cited to show how faith makes for success. We assume the man of ten talents won ten more because he was not afraid to invest while the cautious fellow lost his one talent because he lacked faith. That is only part of the point.

Listen to what was said to the man of ten talents: "Well done, good and faithful servant, you have been faithful over a little, I will set you over much." The parable is to be summed up: faithfulness as well as expectancy.

True hope is begotten by faithfulness. Those who best keep faith with God have most of faith in God.

"LAKE SUPERIOR'S UPPER SHORE"

"At Wawa, for example, there is a sign pointing west-toward White River that says: "No Gasoline for 58 Miles." — Damon Stetson.

Here on the highway (Route 17) between the "Soo" and Wawa, the next largest town 130 miles north, on this Superior, there is no traffic, this perfect sunny morning, except for some large heavy trucks loaded with logs. Now, Ah, there is a trailer ahead and as we pass it, we note it is from Wyoming.

Suddenly we come upon an amazing sight. For here along the lake shore, trailers from various Canadian provinces and States are parked, like loaves of bread on a baker's shelf, for nearly a mile along a narrow strip that divides the lake from the road, where each is busy with camping affairs, content to crowd together in this vast wilderness, during a night's rest.

We were to learn, however, that camping grounds are being built along the highway at intervals of about 150 miles. These areas have large parking spaces, fresh water and outdoor places for the traveler to pitch his tent under the stars. Picnic sites, simple stopping places with the usual rough-hewn wood tables were found at convenient intervals every fifty miles along the way.

For travelers here on a camping trip, like ourselves, there are sleeping and dining facilities at key stopping points along the northern shore, though not too numerous, as yet. But those in existence are so dining-and-how they cry with most accommodation found in cities, in style and latest decor.

As we enter one inviting restaurant, its motel still in the process of being built, we are struck by its fresh gay interior with muted colorful hanging lights. And it seems somewhat paradoxical, here in the heart of a wilderness, to hear a young college boy exclaiming:

"Oh, no, don't cook my hamburgers, just breathe on them." He gets up and goes to the very kitchen door with her, "Look, just count four" or maybe two for each side; no more." Needless to say, when he received his order he is far from satisfied and pouts "it simply won't do at all. Make me another!" But his waitress, unwilling to combine the wide wilderness along with wild, wide demands, likely never having encountered such particularness even in civilization's most refined situations, coolly replies, "No," and confides with another customer, though she can only been here a month, she goes to Toronto every chance she gets, for she'd never dream of going to Fort William, on her days off.

As for Fort William, we have not a chance of reaching it today. It is noon, and here we have just reached Wawa, welcomed by a white mammoth gold goose of a plaster, at least 50 feet high, (Chief is Indian for wild goose).

Across from a white frame Catholic Church on the main street that runs beside pretty Wawa Lake with a community bathing centre, we turn in at a station for gas at 47.9c a gallon. A grocery store nearby features watermelons at $1.99

Stories of Famous Hymns

BY HORACE B. POWELL

After more than half a century of use, Fanny Crosby's "Speed Away", is still the famous missicuary farewell hymn of Christendom.

Written in 1890 when Ira Sankey, the popular gospel singer, visited the poetess in her favorite tune, it ranks today with Dr. Isaac Watt's hymn, "Jesus Shall Reign Where'er The Sun" and with Bishop Heber's "From Greenland's Icy Mountains". For years it has been a popular hymn at rallies planned for departing missionaries. Thousands of Christian leaders have been speeded to their soul-winning ministries in distant lands with its challenging message.

Fanny Crosby lost her sight in babyhood but she never permitted her affliction to conquer her spirit. Sometimes rather, it seemed that her songs were sweeter for having been sung in the night. Even as child she was composing poems — happy poems — and throughout her life she found solace in writing. Strangley enough it was not until she was 44 that she turned out her first hymn. William Bradbury, the composer, chatting with her one day in 1864 urged her to try a hymn-poem. Her first composition opened with this stanza:

"We are going, we are going
To a land beyond the skies
Where the fleeks are robed in beauty,
And the sunlight never dies."

Before she was called home in 1915, she wrote several thousand religious songs. At one time her name was on the numbered those of any other author in the Sunday School song books of the day. Many of these, including such gems as "S a fe In The Arms Of Jesus", "Pass Me Not, O Gentle Saviour", and "Blessed Assurance, Jesus Is Mine" have won premanent places in the hymnals of all leading church groups.

Beverly H. — He's disabled and makes a shocking proposal.

Cary H. — I'm sorry for her. I want to be generous, but...

Beverly H.—My husband has a stroke two years ago. Although he regained most of his faculties, he is confined to a wheel chair for getting around. And due to his heart condition, he has been cautiond against sexual intercourse.

It embarrasses me to repeat his suggested "solution." One of our friends is an attractive widower. When his wife was living, the four of us used to go out together. Now Cary wants to permit me to have an 'affair' with this man.

To add to my discomfort, I'm a delegate to a convention in Denver which this man must also attend. My husband says, "Go and have a good time." How can I keep things straight?

* * *

Cary H. — I'm no dog in the manger, I want to be fair. Bev is only 40 and I can't bear to watch her wasting her years away.

I know my idea sounds batty, but I've given it a great deal of thought. Nobody is going hurt by it. If the tables were turned, and she were the disabled one, I think I'd appreciate an offer along those lines.

What's wrong with my telling Bev honestly that I feel she has a right to fill needs that she can't expect me to provide for ever again? Our friend is a fine fellow. If she wishes, I'll talk this over with him myself. I

* * *

The Council: Apart from hurting nobody, Cary's brainstorm will hurt three people sorely — plus the institution of marriage.

The idea of a "vice-husband," condoned and sanctioned by the husband for his wife, affronts the sensitivities of all three on the grounds of right and wrong. It's immoral.

Then there are individual angles. Is Cary really being broadminded, or just mischievous? Is he fanning flames so as to be able to douse a fire? There may be an undercurrent of yearning interest in his altruistic invitation. Without realizing it, he might have anticipated Beverly's "reports" as a source of vicarious experience. A professional counselor may well discuss that possibility.

As to Beverly, how can she know that Cary is merely testing her, awaiting her response, vigorous No? And the other man? Cary takes it for granted that he will leap at the offer to join in an unplatonic and precarious arrangement. He may be too smart for that.

But Cary's basic error is in lifting one part of the delicate husband-wife relationship out of context and giving it undue importance. No matter what Freud says (and his views are still debatable), the sex angle in marriage is part and parcel of an elaborate network of relationships. By itself, it's little more than an animal urge, intermeshed with spiritual, mental and emotional bonds of closeness, as is possible, in good marriage, it is an added unity.

Cary need not feel sorry for Beverly. In caring for him, she exercists a new corner of her heart. She is fuelled and propelled by personal satisfaction from wellsprings of tenderness — "For better or for worse" are relative terms. Through unexpected emotional rewards, both Cary and Beverly may find the "worse" getting better and better each year.

APPLE CHARLOTTE

(Simple ingredients made into a delicious, old-fashioned dessert). 6 or 7 tart apples, 1 tablespoon water, 1-3 cup sugar, 1-4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-4 cup seedless raisins, 8 to 8 slices stale bread, 2-3 cup melted butter or margarine.

Pare, core and slice apples into saucepan. Add water and sugar and heat to boiling. Reduce heat and cook very slowly for 4 to 5 minutes. Remove from heat and drain off 1 tablespoon apple juice; add cinnamon to it to make paste. Add raising and cinnamon paste to apples, stir gently to avoid breaking apples. Cool. Trim crusts from bread and cut out 3 circles from 2 slices to fit bottom and top of mould or deep baking dish snugly. Cut rest of bread into strips. Dip both strips and rounds into melted butter. Fit round into bottom and strips up sides of mould. Turn in apple mixture and pack rather firmly to the top. Top with remaining bread circle, pressing. Put on lid of mould, set mould in shallow pan. Bake about 40 minutes at 375 degrees. Remove from oven, take off lid and immediately invert onto serving plate.

Question — I enjoy your column very much. I have had salads at parties which are different from any I make. The one I wondered if you had a recipe for is one made of tuna and cooked macaroni, possibly celery, etc. Does it need an ordinary salad dressing? Could a person use chicken or cubed ham in place of tuna? . . . Mrs. H. H.

Answer —

TUNA SALAD

1 7-oz. can tuna for chicken or ham; chilled, 1 tablespoon lemon julce, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon sauce, shake of white pepper, 3-4 cup chopped celery, 1 cup cooked drained, chilled elbow macaroni, 1 hard-cooked egg, coarsely chopped, 1-2 cup mayonnaise.

Drain tuna, then turn into bowl. Break into 1-2" to 1" chunks. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Add next 6 ingredients and toss lightly to mix. Add mayonnaise and toss with fork until places are well coated. Chill. For a true chef's touch, serve this in mounds on thick slices from the perfect ripe tomatoes or as the stuffing for large peeled and hollowed ripe tomatoes.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS

BY PATRICIA LEWIS

TEEN-AGERS ASSESS THEMSELVES

Everyone craves attention, but there's a knack to attracting the right kind.

Youngsters, and particularly those in high school, often feel they have to make a grandstand play to "wow" the boy or girl they want to impress.

Actually, it's a waste of energy. According to teen-agers we know and have talked with on the subject, poise and good manners are natural attractions. Loudness and a tendency to show off just don't hit a responsible chord with today's crop of more serious and sophisticated youngsters.

The fifteen and sixteen-year-olds we interviewed looked with particular distaste on those of their own age who engage in horseplay in the street and are boisterous and rude in malt shops and other public places.

They not only give themselves a bad reputation, but what they give the whole school a black eye," lamented one serious young lady.

While hardly an ultra-conservative group — they do the "mashed potatoes" dance and have been known to monopolize the phone for hours on end — they had some definite ideas on the sort of behavior they considered not only unattractive but definitely offensive.

The girls generally were not enthusiastic about boys who whistled after them in the street or made remarks about their appearance as they strolled by. They also resented being jostled in school corridors and having their books knocked out of their arms, even if the whole thing was supposed to be in "fun."

For their part, the boys didn't particularly care for girls who stood in groups giggling and overwhelmed them, or for those who were obvious flirts, talked loudly and generally tried to overwhelm them with a strong dose of personality.

The youngsters voted most attractive wholesome teens trying to be boys and girls who are natural, good mannered, lively, good students and good conversationalist without being brash and noisy. We second the motion wholeheartedly.

Weaver Says Weaving Is Good Exercise

MONTREAL (CP) — A prize-winning Montreal weaver says weaving is good physical exercise.

"It's healthy," says Mrs. H. Riedl-Ursin. "You step with your feet; you push the shuttle through with your hands, and you move with your whole body."

Austrian-born Mrs. Riedl-Ursin has been pushing shuttles since the day she entered the Academy of Decorative Arts in Vienna as a young girl.

She started simply and went on until she had found her own techniques, she says.

These techniques won her first prize for the best woven tapestry at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto this year. In 1960, four years after her arrival in Canada, one of her tapestries won an award as the best contemporary design at the CNE.

Weaving, says Mrs. Riedl-Ursin, requires "taste, a feeling for color combination and texture and plenty of patience."

She says there are thousands of persons who weave for years without producing good work and emphasizes that weavers should not simply copy from others.

"They should take time out to ook into themselves."

Mrs. Riedl-Ursin has a five-foot-wide loom in her studio in downtown Sherbrooke Street. On it she weaves not only rugs and tapestries but materials for both men's and women's clothes.

She executes her own designs, either figurative or abstract, for rugs and tapestries. A five-by-six-foot tapestry requires three weeks of toil, working 14 hours a day.

More Women Working Outside Home

TORONTO (CP) — Women must regard working outside the home for pay as an integral part of their lives, Marion Boyce, director of the women's bureau of the department of labor in Ottawa said here Friday.

Miss Boyce addressed participants in a workshop at The Real World of Women, a four-day conference which opened at the University of Toronto Thursday.

In Canadian society, the place for women is still considered to be in the home, but more and more women are working out of the home for pay. "We are trying to mesh two incompatible ideologies."

"All women should be able to broaden their horizons through continuous learning, but universities in Canada have yet made provision for women to keep in touch with their fields while out of the labor force with child - bearing responsibilities," Miss Boyce said.

NEED FACILITIES

She said many married working women could get concentrate on their outside work because of the failure in Canada to ensure adequate day care facilities for children.

Miss Boyce said legal provisions are needed safeguarding working mothers before and after childbirth, and assuring cash benefits for needy mothers during confinement.

"Women should be more informed about labor legislation, she said.

"Many women don't have any idea of their rights under existing law."

Women should work for Canadian ratification of the International Labor Organization convention on equal pay for equal work, and also for legislation outlawing discrimination in the selection of employees on the basis of sex, she said.

New Director Of Christian Education

The position of director of Christian Education for Bridge Street United Church, which has been vacant for a year, has now been filled. The Rev. Robert F. Sherwin was the last director to fill this post. He is now minister of the Durham Pastoral Charge in Ontario.

The Christian Education Committee, supported by the Board of Session, recommended to the Official Board the name of Mrs. Ross W. G. Jeffries, B.A., to fill this post.

Mrs. Jeffries has a secretarial diploma from the Central High School of Commerce, Toronto, and graduated later from Oakwood Collegiate Institute at Toronto. Weddings

DE RAAF — WANNAMAKER

FRANKFORD — On Saturday, September 1st at 1.30 p.m., Frankford United Church was the scene of a lovely wedding and double-ring ceremony when the Rev. C. Judd united in marriage, Sharon Lee Wannamaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wannamaker and Arie De Raaf, son of Mr. and Mrs. John De Raaf, of Trenton, R.R. 1.

Miss Eleanor Beach played the traditional wedding music and Miss Bonnie Rowe sang, "The Wedding Prayer" and "O Perfect Love".

The church was decorated with pink and white gladioli and the guest pews held gold and white bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her floor-length bridal gown of brocaded nylon over satin with finger-tip sleeves, and net shoulder-length veil held her headdress of studded sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white trailing stephanotis.

Matron-of-honour was Mrs. Stanley Casibbo, of Trenton, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Linda Wannamaker, sister of the bride and Miss Sandra Wannamaker, of Stirling, cousin of the bride, all wore identical nylon blue sheer dresses with white accessories and carried heart-shaped bouquets of yellow and white 'mums.

Little Miss Mary Akins was flower girl from Harold, Ontario, cousin of the bride, wearing a yellow nylon dress with matching hat, and white accessories. She carried a nosegay of yellow and white daisy 'mums.

Best man for groomsman was Mr. Laurence De Raaf of Trenton, R.R. 1, brother of the bridegroom and the ushers were Mr. Wayne Wannamaker, of Ivanhoe, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Art Schaus, Codrington, friend of the bridegroom.

The ring bearer was Master Billy Twyman, of Wooler, cousin of the bride.

The reception was held in Rose Lowery Hall with the bride's mother receiving the guests in a blue embossed bengaline two-piece suit with white accessories and wearing a corsage of yellow carnations. The groom was assisted by the bridegroom's mother wearing a light green bengaline dress with beige accessories and corsage of yellow carnations.

The hall was decorated with pink and white bells, at the herd table, a three-tiered wedding cake centred the setting decorated by candelabra with lighted candles. The other tables were centred with bouquets of pink 'mums. The bride's home was decorated with pink and white bells and streamers and pink and white gladioli.

For the wedding trip to Upper Canada Village, Cornwall and Ottawa, the bride chose a green two-piece dress with flax brown accessories and corsage of bronze 'mums. They will reside on S. Trent St., Frankford.

Out-of-town guests were present from Hamilton, Grimsby, Wooler, Campbellford, Codrington, Harold, Stirling, Ivanhoe, Belleville and Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wayne Shaw are pictured cutting the wedding cake following their marriage in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Foxboro, Ontario. SHAW — KELLY

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Foxboro, was the setting on Saturday, August 25, at 2.00 p.m. for a wedding of local interest when Helen Aleatha Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kelly of Foxboro, became the bride of Robert Wayne Shaw, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Shaw, of Ivanhoe, Ontario. The Reverend W. V. Walker, former pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling, officiated, assisted by Mr. Earl Wannamaker, of Roslin, Ontario, before a background of white and blue pink gladioli and ferns.

The traditional wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Reginald Skinner of Foxboro, who accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Earl Wannamaker, of Roslin, who sang before the ceremony "O Perfect Love", and "I'll Walk Beside You", during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her floor-length bridal gown of silk organza over taffeta, featuring a molded bodice having a scooped neckline and long, fully-point sleeves, with back bow accenting the chapel train. She wore a coronet of seed pearls with finger-tip veil of illusion silk tulle, and carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses mingled with white Pompon 'mums and trailing ivy.

Her attendants were, Mrs. Stewart McClean, of Foxboro, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, gowned in street length silk organza in mauve shade over taffeta, fashioned with fitted bodice, scalloped neckline and cap sleeves. She wore a matching hat, and carried white Shasta daisies. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Donald Harris, of Hallowell, sister of the bride, and Miss Doris Colden, of Roslin, niece of the bride wore gowns similar to that of the matron of honor, in yellow, with matching hats and carried bouquets of mauve 'mums.

Mr. Clare Hagerman, of Ivanhoe, was groomsman and the ushers were Messrs. Harold Kelly, of Foxboro, brother of the bride, and Duane Johnston of Harold, Ontario, cousin of the bridegroom.

The reception was held in the school auditorium where the bride's table was appointed with a three-tier-pedestal wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom beneath an arch of pink roses. The bridal bouquets lent an additional nuptial accent to the pretty setting. Those who served included Misses Marilyn Reid; Sharon Chappelle; Lois Smith; Linda Smith, and Mrs. Gerald Hillier.

The guests were received by the bride's mother, wearing a sheath gown of brown bengaline with beige accessories and corsage of yellow chrysanthemums. Assisting her in the receiving line, was the bridegroom's mother, attired in a sheath of beige organza over brown flowered silk with matching jacket and hat, brown accessories and corsage of yellow chrysanthemums.

For the wedding trip to the Catskill and Adirondack Mountains, the bride wore a dress of organza over blue flowered silk with matching duster, white accessories and corsage of white 'mums.

The happy couple will reside in Ivanhoe, Ontario.

A kitchen shower was held at the home of Mrs. Jack Hendricks, with Mrs. Gerald Hillier as co-hostess in honor of the bride, prior to her marriage.

Ways in Which Women Can Lead Fulfilling Life Heard

TORONTO (CP) — Ways in which women can lead a fulfilling life were discussed Friday at the second group session of the CBC-sponsored conference exploring The Real World of Woman.

The 500 delegates from across Canada heard the opinions of Dr. Camille Laurin, a psychiatrist from the University of Montreal; Mrs. Thelma McCormack, a Toronto sociologist, and Mme. Jeanne Sauve, a freelance radio and television commentator from Montreal.

Women must first discover themselves and their potentialities and then develop their role in the present socio - cultural milieu, Dr. Laurin said.

"Women depend too much on their husbands for self - fulfillment and do not put enough faith in themselves."

Mme. Sauve agreed that women cannot be fulfilled by considering motherhood their only function.

"Today, life does not evolve around the home in which the mother was once the cherished centre."

Mrs. McCormack said "the importance placed by psychiatry on parents as models for their children is overstated.

"Children have a whole variety of models, from their teachers to Ben Casey, and by adolescence these models may replace the parents completely."

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

NOTE FROM A VACATION CUFF

"Spot" is a small economy-size fox terrier with a corkscrew tail, one flop ear, low gunwales, and a high I.Q.

Bringing gramp's slippers and cigarettes is grade four stuff to "Spot". This pint-size pooch is so intelligent that if you gave him a toy gun and a week's instructions he would do a Whitehall charging of the guard in sole.

He doesn't play a musical instrument —, yet. But "Spot" can "twist" dog-fashion, cavort on two legs, bend a rubber dolly into a pretzel then hide it under a rug and pretend to forget where he stashed it.

"Spot" doesn't wear a wrist watch. He doesn't need one. He's a four-legged noon whistle without benefit of steam. Five minutes before the dozen chimes, he is in a window looking for the boss to come home. Once he sees him he races through the house to the back door, sits on his haunches and whines a heart-breaking let-me-out appeal.

But "Spot's" master Jack Ogilvy, Wellington alderman, dairyman and nephew of this department, had better keep his private fishing gear from the cup-size canine.

Or words to, some day he'll come home and find the entire critter sitting on the east end village dock angling for muskies.

Jack joined me on the verandah one vacation night. It had rained a little a few hours previous. "Spot" was on the green lush of the lawn going through strange antics.

He would stick his pointed muzzle into the grass then pat it with his forepaws. He jerked his head back with nothing in his mouth. He repeated the performance, going from one part of the lawn to another.

Jack jerked upright in the lawn chair. "I'd you know what that darn pooch is trying to do? he asked.

It was warm that night. The leaves drooped on the trees. I yawned lazily and suggested "He could be trying for oil".

"Oil, my eye" said the nephew, "he is trying to bring up a dew worm or two." And as it was subsequently proved that is what "Spot" was doing.

It seems the dog could spot a fiewie scouting through the damp — and was making nose-dives for them. Up to the time I left, the score was 100-0 in favor of the fish-bait.

Years before television, H-bombs, Khrushchev, strip-teasers, rock-n-roll and the availability of fish-bait at corner stores, garages and hotels, rural kids made pocket money selling fish worms. . .

It was hard work. Spades and shovels, hand-operated, were the modus operandi. It was a slow tough way to make a fortune.

So in this case electricity was introduced to ease the labor and increase production. A long electric cord was utilized with one wire attached to a spade pushed into the earth; the other to another spade about five feet away.

When the cord was plugged in, the gang had a whole clutch of wiggling worms dancing on the turf. But the harvest did not last long. One day curious tomcat sniffed at one of the electrified spades. Nine lives went out like a light. So did the business.

But, the story goes, the young rural Eliasens were unabashed. They secured the spark coil from a Model T Ford. The coil when hooked to a battery gave out a loud noise and a harmless shock. It was rigged in a garage from which a long wire trailed to the lawn. It popped up fish worms like overnight asparagus.

The business prospered. In fact the local fish worm market was cornered. The boys rolled in affluence.

That is until one bright dewy morning when the "board" was in the garage at a meeting. Unknown to them, one of the "directors" grandmothers began to bang a weak on the clothesline her feet a few inches from one of the spades.

They connected the battery and several things happened. In short, grandmother, the washing, and the worm-blasting business went out of action. The assets were confiscated and the firm dissolved.

Untried Quarter Gets Chance

Winless Argos Start Hall

TORONTO (CP) — Can Hall unove that ball—or will Argos continue to fall?

This, in a nutshell, is the big question in the mind of Nobby Wirkowski, head coach of the sailing Toronto Argonauts.

Argos will go with an untried quarterback, Pete Hall, when they attempt to tame British Columbia Lions here Sunday afternoon at exhibition park.

Hall, who has only four minutes experience as a Canadian quarterback, will take the injured Tobin Rote's spot which was filled last weekend at Ottawa by Tom Dublinski.

Wirkowski felt Dublinski played well, but Argos lost and quite a going over before bowing out in the third fall of their best-of-three semi-finals.

Wills Steals 4, Mazeroski Cleans 'Em

Giants Win, Dodgers Lose

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Maury Wills gets to keep second base. But Bill Mazeroski will also be edging the left-fielder bullpen where it is.

Wills, Dees' shortstop with Los Angeles Dodgers, put on a fantastic one-man show Friday night by stealing four bases for a season total of 86, surpassing the modern National League record of 85 set by Bob Bescher of Cincinnati Reds 51 years ago and moving to 14 short of Ty Cobb's modern major league standard of 96 set in 1915.

But Mazeroski overshadowed Wills' heroics with a show of power, blasting a grand-slam homer that propelled Pittsburgh Pirates to a 10-1 triumph over the league-leading Dodgers and trimmed their edge to half a game over the surging San Francisco Giants, who beat Chicago Cubs 5-3.

STEALS TWO IN FIRST

Wills started his demonstration of speed during the first inning when he singled and stole second and third. In the third inning he drew a walk and stole second. In the sixth, he again singled and stole second.

His third-inning steal was No. 85—eclipsed Bescher's record. As a symbol of his achievement, Wills was presented the second-base bag.

But it was still a 1-1 game in the eighth inning when Mazeroski went to bat with the bases loaded and won it by hitting Larry Jackson's second of his career. There was no award for Mazeroski.

The Giants, who haven't been this close to the Dodgers since July 8, continued their surge as Jack Sanford posted his 21st victory—his 13th in a row—with three-run support from Jose Pagan, Tom Haller and Felipe Alou.

REDS CLOSE GAP

Meanwhile, the third - place Reds closed the gap to 3½ games with a 5-1, 11-inning triumph over St. Louis Cardinals that might prove costly. Cincinnati first baseman Gordy Coleman, who has hit 37 homers and driven in 94 runs, was spiked during the game and will be lost for an indefinite period.

Philadelphia Phillies edged Milwaukee Braves 4-3 in 10 innings and Houston Colts defeated New York Mets 4-3.

Wills, who has stolen 22 bases in his last 21 games, has 39 games in which to try for Cobb's record. He is fourth on modern major league list behind Cobb's 96 for Detroit Tigers in 1915, the 96 allowed by Clyde Milan of Washington Senators in 1910 and Cobb's 83 in 1911.

The Giants went ahead to stay in the fifth inning with two runs on a single by Pagan and an error on the play. Sanford's bunt single, a sacrifice fly by Harvey Kuenn and Willie Mays' double.

IT'S IN NINTH

The Reds sent their see-saw game with the Cards into extra innings by tying it in the ninth on singles by Jerry Lynch, John Edwards and Leo Cardenas.

The Cards moved in front in the 10th, but the Reds again tied it on Frank Robinson's 36th homer. Then, in the 11th, Eddie Kasko led off for the Reds with a single and was followed with the game-winning hit.

The Phillies won a homer battle with New York Mets when Roy Sievers connected in the 10th, winning it for Jim Bunning, schus and tagging Claude Raymond (5-4) of St. Johns, Que., with the loss. Don Demeter also homered for Philadelphia, while Hank Aaron, Jim Pagliaroni and Adcock hit homers for Milwaukee.

The Colts used two-out, run-producing singles by Johnny Temple and Jim Pendleton to snap a 2-2 tie in the seventh inning and beat the Mets. Jim Golden (6-12) was the loser. Al Jackson (8-18) supported by Bunning's four hits, was the loser.

Red Lyons' Strategy Backfires

Booted 'Daddy' Wins Bout

"Sweet Daddy" Siki may leave his belt-buckled behind at home next out here or will he?

Last night he proved to be the first "one-legged" wrestler to win a main bout here through no fault of his own.

"Daddy" wears almost knee-high leather boots attached to his dainty calves with long buckle-attached straps.

Bill, Red Lyons incensed at having the Siki boots massage his eyeballs too often, took matters in his own hands.

The Greenwich Village dandy had given Big Red the "works" during the ring in the third fall after the pair had split the two falls.

He used the boots to good advantage combing Red's hair, plunking him on the back, and thumping his back and other parts of the torso.

Then it happened.

Lyons pinned "Daddy" face down in the ring after the outside calisthenics and unknown to the dusky wrestler changed the straps lashing one leg to the other.

"Daddy" leaped to his feet and bounced around the ring like a contestant in a three-legged race.

But he didn't lose his head even if his feet were a couple of crazy mixed-up boots.

He promptly rolled outside again and "Red" took the bait. The pair battled while Referee Bert Clapham completed the count. "Daddy" cast one eye upwards and dropped back into the jousting place.

"Red" was slow in returning and Maxwell Eis rather hurried count ruled he was not back in time and gave the one-legged warrior the nod and the verdict.

Bill Stack gave Stan Stasiak quite a going over before bowing out in the third fall of their best-of-three semi-finals.

Homer Lightning Strikes In 7th

Yanks-Come-Lately Do It Again

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

In 1927 they called it "five o'clock lightning."

In this era of the night game, perhaps it would be more accurate to dub it "10 o'clock lightning."

Regardless of what it's called, the formula used by New York Yankee manager Ralph Houk today and the one used by Miller Huggins 35 years ago are the same:

Just keep sending 'em up there and pretty soon someone's going to pop one.

Elston Howard, Bill Skowron and Tony Kubek did the job Friday night, each popping a home run as the Yanks stormed from behind for a 7-4 verdict over Boston Red Sox.

It left New York three games up on Minnesota, 4½ ahead of Los Angeles Angels and one game closer to wrapping up the Yankees' 10th American League pennant in 14 years.

The Minnesota Angels kept pace, Minnesota tabbing Detroit 6-4 and the Angels outlasting Baltimore 6-5 in 10 innings. But with the season heading toward the windup, every day they fail to gain on New York is a day that day lost.

Cleveland rallied for a 2-1 triumph over Kansas City and Washington whipped Chicago White Sox 7-2 in the others.

It was in 1927, the year Babe Ruth hit 60 home runs and Lou Gherig 47, that the "five o'clock lightning" tag was put on Huggins' Yankees. It referred to their late-inning bombardments, built on homers, that so often destroyed an opponent's lead.

Things really haven't changed much since. The Yanks just keep parading their sluggers to the plate, and eventually they start pounding them out of sight.

That was the old, old story Friday night. Boston's 6-foot-5 right-hander, Gene Conley, was working on a five-hitter, had a 3-2 lead and had retired 15 men in order when the lightning struck in the seventh inning. Howard, who had been left earlier in the game, led off the seventh with a single and scored when Skowron's single down the right field stands. Two outs later Kubek parlelled one in approximately the same spot. Yanks had a 5-3 lead, good enough to stand up as eighth-inning Boston rally that produced one run.

TWO ON RARE RULING

Minnesota scored the winning run on a rare obstruction ruling in beating Baltimore for the first time in 13 meetings this season. The Twins trailed 4-3 in the sixth. Rich Rollins singled in winning pitcher Jim Kaat with the tying run and moved to Power to second. Power advanced when Al Kaline's throw from right field skipped past third base. Rounding third, Power collided with third baseman Steve Boros, and was beaten to the plate by Don Regan's throw of the retrieved ball.

Plate umpire Ed Runge ruled Boros had obstructed Power, however, and allowed the go-ahead run. Al Kaline hit his 20th homer and Chico Fernandez his 10th for the Tigers.

Los Angeles bustled in two runs in the top of the 10th, then hung on for dear life at Baltimore.

The Orioles got one back in the bottom of the 10th on a double by Russ Snyder and Steve Barber's single before Ted Bowsfield of Penticton, B.C., and Tom Morgan came on to put out the fire.

Pete Ramos of the Indians allowed only two hits in besting Kansas City. The Indians got their two runs on a bases-loaded single by Bubba Phillips and a bases-loaded walk to Dave Kindall in the ninth.

Win Sorry Exhibition 15-7

Dundas Turns On Kenmors

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Scoring 14 runs in the last four innings, the Dundas Merchants literally clobbered the Kenmors 15-7 at the Falls' grounds last night and this afternoon in what was possibly one of the worst exhibitions of "championship" baseball seen here in a long time.

Belleville leads the best-of-seven Ontario Baseball Association finals two games to one. The fourth game will be played in Dundas this afternoon with the Fifth back here on Sunday, September 16. Players and fans alike should be recovered from last night's affair by then.

Dundas had 17 hits in the game and 17 minutes to play, ending in 17 minutes before one this morning. Each of the four runs scored off 30 hits. Six pitchers saw action, Dundas' Ken Reid including 11 by one pitcher, while the clubs committed nine errors, four by one player. Dundas left 15 men on base, Kenmors 11.

Belleville led 3-0 after one inning and 5-1 going into the sixth when the roof fell in but good.

Dundas scored three in the sixth on three walks, a hit batsman and the first of Belleville's six errors. They went ahead to stay, 8-5, with four in the seventh, on two more errors and three hits, including Neil Thomson's three-run homer over the centre field fence. Three-hits and an error plated a trio in the eighth while four more in the ninth crossed the plate on a walk, four hits and a final error.

Fred Assetta was the usually smooth fielding shortstop of the Kenmors, who charged with four of the losers' errors in a rough night afield.

Hits by Assetta, Joyer and Elliott helped the Kenmors to their three runs in the first six. Rich Rollins singled in winning pitcher Jim Kaat with the tying run and moved to Power to second. Power advanced when Al Kaline's throw from right field skipped past third base. Rounding third, Power collided with third baseman Steve Boros, and was beaten to the plate by Don Regan's throw of the retrieved ball.

Plate umpire Ed Runge ruled Boros had obstructed Power, however, and allowed the go-ahead run. Al Kaline hit his 20th homer and Chico Fernandez his 10th for the Tigers.

Los Angeles bustled in two runs in the top of the 10th, then hung on for dear life at Baltimore.

The Orioles got one back in the bottom of the 10th on a double by Russ Snyder and Steve Barber's single before Ted Bowsfield of Penticton, B.C., and Tom Morgan came on to put out the fire.

Pete Ramos of the Indians allowed only two hits in besting Kansas City. The Indians got their two runs on a bases-loaded single by Bubba Phillips and a bases-loaded walk to Dave Kindall in the ninth.

Magistrate Organizes Golf Court

TORONTO (CP) — Want to break 100 at the famed St. Andrews golf course?

Get in touch with Magistrate Fred Hutchinson of Toronto.

Magistrate Thompson is organizing a golf tour of the British Isles which will include all the famous courses of England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales.

The tour will leave Toronto by Jet May 9 and the party of the golfers will be playing the Troon course, scene of this year's British Open. They return to Toronto June 1.

Magistrate Thompson says he isn't looking for exceptional golfers, just the ordinary club players who would like to break 100 at St. Andrews.

"But," he adds, "we won't turn down any golfer who shoots in the 70s."

Sportsmen Plan Picnic Field Day

The East Central Ontario Association of Sportsmen Clubs is holding a field day and picnic at the Maidoc Fish and Game Club grounds, east of Madoc on No. 7 Highway, on Sunday, September 16.

Included on the day's agenda will be trap shooting, shot gun and rifle shooting, horse shoe pitching contests and other such activities.

The Association, formed in April of this year, is made up of delegates from the Fish and Game Clubs in Picton, Belleville, Napanee, Bancroft, Madoc, Campbellford, Trenton and Frankford. There are approximately 1,500 members.

Meetings are held quarterly in the Stirling Legion Hall, under the membership of Karl Austin, president of the Upper Trent Valley Fish and Game Protective Association.

The organization works to reduce pollution of fish and game conservation and protective measures in this district. The Tweed and Lindsay district Forester offices work with the Association.

The East Central Ontario Association of Sportsmen Clubs hopes to have a large turnout at the field day and picnic on September 16.

Baxter Retains Golf Lead

DENVER (AP)—Rex Baxter Jr., unperturbed to a par 70 Friday to preserve his lead in the $25,000 Denver open golf tournament with a two-round 134, six under par.

Baxter fanned one birdie with a 30-foot putt on No. 9. His only over-par hole was on the 395-yard par 3 No. 17 where his three-iron tee shot dropped into a trap at the right of the green. His explosion shot was 15 feet short and he two-putted. Otherwise he parried the rest of the way around the 6,733-yard, par 35-35—70 Denver Country Club course.

Dave Marr, and Marty Furgol, who shot the day's best rounds of 67, were among Baxter's closest runners at 137—three strokes back.

Al Balding of Toronto shot a 69 Friday for a two-day total of 140.

Hockey Pros Eye Training

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

By the end of next week, National Hockey League regulars and prospects will be battling for their jobs.

One club has already set up training camp, another opens today and the other four get down next week to the business of selecting the players they hope will put them in contention for the Stanley Cup.

Toronto Maple Leafs, the cup champions, stepped into their Peterborough training site this week with some 50 veterans and rookies indulging in calisthenics and workouts.

There is not likely to be much change in the team that wound up in second place last season and went on to take the cup. A replacement has to be found for left-winger Bert Olmstead, picked up in the draft by New York Rangers, and there is speculation that Kent Douglas, a defenseman from Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League, will gain a spot.

ADAMS LEAVES WINGS

Detroit Red Wings, fifth-place finishers last season, start sorting out their status today at their home rink. For the first time in as long as many hockey fan can remember, Jack Adams won't be on hand in an official capacity.

Adams retired from the general manager's job after last season and coach Sid Abel will join Imlach and Muzz Patrick of New York as double-threat men. Star right-winger Gordie Howe will act as assistant coach.

Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins open camp Monday. At mid-week, the Hawks are training in St. Catharines, but the Bruins gather in Niagara Falls, Ont., to Boston. There likely won't be more than one or two changes from the Chicago team that wound up third last season and was beaten by the Leafs in the cup final.

All there could be a number of shifts in last season's last-place Bruins.

SWAPPED TWO

Boston picked up two experienced men in the off-season

—defencemen Warren Godfrey from Detroit and Irv Spencer from New York — and chances are they will be in the regular lineup.

Montreal Canadiens and New York will be the last to set up camp, next Wednesday. Canadiens, after a stint in the West last season, are returning to the Montreal area for training.

New York is moving from Guelph to Vancouver.

Gordon (Red) Berenson, a left-winger who looked good in the semi-finals last season, will be gunning for a regular job with Canadiens. Besides Olmstead, the Rangers have added Bronco Horvath from Chicago.

Punch Imlach, the general manager, will also take over the Rangers' coaching chores this season, it was announced Friday. He replaces Doug Harvey, a free defenceman who will be back as a player only.

Leafs Win Pair

Suns Clinch Pennant!

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's official.

The International League pennant flies in Jacksonville. The Suns clinched the flag Friday night, in their first year in Triple A baseball, with a come-from-behind victory over Richmond Virginians, 8-7.

Two three-run rallies in the top of the ninth fix the 8-7 decision.

In other league action, the second place Toronto Maple Leafs dropped a doubleheader to Buffalo Bisons, 5-3 and 8-0; Rochester Red Wings and Syracuse Chiefs split a pair, Rochester won the opener 8-2, and the Chiefs taking the nightcap 4-2 and Atlanta Crackers dropped Columbus Jets 8-6 in 11 innings.

The victory for the Suns gave them a three game lead over Toronto with only six more games left in the campaign. Jacksonville's pennant was assured of no worse than a tie.

The Jets all but fell out of the race Friday night as the Red Wings have a two-game edge in the fourth place, and Rochester and Columbus defeat in the remaining two games will give Rochester the last playoff berth.

Atlanta is a game ahead of Columbus for second place.

COME FROM BEHIND

Jacksonville, down 6-2, rallied for two runs in the seventh and four in the ninth on five hits, a walk and a Richmond error to tie up the pennant. The V's got one run back in the bottom of the eighth, but Tony Hawkins shut the door in a relief role.

Hawkins, 10th pitcher, Jim Constable (18-4), won both games in the Maple Leaf sweep. He threw a two-hit shutout in the seven-inning opener, and got the second victory in relief as Deals Hanke broke an 8-8 tie by getting the winning run home in the ninth on a sacrifice fly.

The Red Wings jumped off for five runs in the first inning of the opener, as Buster Narum ran his record to 12-4 with a seven-hitter. In the nightcap, the lastplace Chiefs broke a 3-3 tie in the ninth with Fred Hooke doubling home the winner.

Bob Veale, the IL's hard-luck hurler, added another chapter to his heartbreak saga. Veale, who struck out 22 men in one game and a 19-hitter league record and didn't get the win, and then lost a one-hitter, pitched another one-hitter for seven innings. He left for a pinch hitter with a 1-0 lead, Columbus had rally in the seventh, but the Crackers scored a run to tie the game and win in the 11th, on a walk, a double by Tim McCarver and a single by Rob Cox.

'Can't Pick Winner Now'

Dempsey Straddles Fence

CHICAGO (AP) — Former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey said Friday he has bookial and dislayed fancy verbal sparring in considering a winner of the Sept. 25 title bout between champion Floyd Patterson and challenger Sonny Liston.

In his paper, Liston has all the best of it, but Patterson may be able to cut this fellow up and do something," said 67-year-old Dempsey.

Dempsey underwent minor surgery Thursday on a recurring abscess in his lower back. He said the ailment, which is not an injury suffered when he was knocked out of the ring in his 1926 battle with Gene Tunney.

The fast - talking genial ex-champion was reminded he recently picked Patterson to whip Liston.

BOXERS HIS BET

"I did that with a lot of ifs and buts," he said. "I really couldn't pick a winner now without knowing both boxers in their camps.

"Liston is much bigger, stronger and faster and can take a punch. He may be slow on his feet but he is fast with his punches.

"Patterson, on the other hand, is fast, can box and can hit. We know Patterson doesn't take a punch too well. But he is young, that when he's knocked down, he can get up.

"When the fight starts, Patterson may have to decide whether he wants to box Liston or fight it out with him. I personally think he has got to box Liston. He has to be in good shape and he has got to move. He may be able to cup up this fellow and then he may be a question of how much Liston can take."

Liston — winner in 33 of 34 bouts — 23 by knockouts—never has been floored or suffered serious cuts.

Blame Cut Phone Wire On TV Crew

MONTREAL (CP)—No one officially accused Montreal Alouettes of cutting the telephone wire in the British Columbia game.

But for the record the Als entered a plea of innocence Friday.

B.C. coach Dave Skrien said after Thursday night's game that the telephone line between B.C. bench and the spotter's booth had been severed before the second half.

He said it was done "deliberately" but was careful not to point the finger at anyone.

Bill Hewitt, executive director of development, issued his team's version of what happened Friday.

Pickett said the line was cut intentionally by the crew manning a mobile television camera at ground level near the bench. He said it was behind the goal line when he dropped with the ball after grabbing Deiveaux's 50-yard punt.

It was a major error, eventually leading to possession of the ball for the rest of the game. Under the rules, a club which gives up a safety touch in the final five minutes must kick from its own 35 yard line.

EXTENDS WIN STRING

The win ran Winnipeg's unbeaten streak to five games and 24. They haven't lost a league or playoff game away from home since Sept. 15, 1961, when they defeated their first-place lead in the Western Conference by four points over Edmonton Eskimos.

Riders still hold first place in the Eastern Conference with a one-point edge over Hamilton Tiger-Cats. But Riders have played six games to Hamilton's four.

Rider Stampede Fails Near Finish

BY BEN WARD

Then Ron Lancaster, who took over the Rider quarterback spot from Russ Jackson mid-way through the third quarter, caught fire with his long passing.

He hit and Bobby Simpson, squatting all alone on the sidelines in a "sleeper" play, with a bullet drive that Simpson took for a 46-yard scoring run, shaking off a flock of Bomber Tacklers at the goal line.

TIES IT UP

Two minutes later, at the 4:44 mark, Lancaster mounted a towering throw to Tucker, an All - star in the senior Ontario-league League last year with the University of Western Ontario Mustangs, who hadn't been a passer's target all night. The 36-yard scoring play tied things 28-28 and electrified the crowd.

Then Deliveaux made it 29-28 for Winnipeg with a lofty punt from the Ottawa 31-yard line which Tucker grabbed 29 yards in but didn't have a chance to run on. Deliveaux set it up on the safety touch when Tucker dropped with the ball. Earlier, Deliveaux had scored two touchdowns for Winnipeg with fullback Gerry James and halfback Henry Janzen starting the others. James kicked four converts.

Halfback Ernie White scored the two early Ottawa touchdowns on a 30-yard run from Jackson and a three - yard plunge. Moe Racine clicked on four converts.

Rowing Championships

Losers' Day At Lucerne

LUCERNE, Switzerland (AP) The world rowing championships ended Friday on a losers' day with repechages or losers' rounds scheduled for the entire session.

Three repechages are slated for each of the rowing events, eights, the coxed pairs and the coxless fours.

The winners of each repechage will join winners of the earlier heats in the finals Sunday.

The first repechage in coxless fours includes Italy, Denmark, Czechoslovakia and the United Union, with the Russians favored to win. The Soviets surpass their best time of 6:38.3.

Although the Dacos got a better time, 6:27.60, the Russians believe the Russians held themselves back and will pull all the stops to win the first place today.

The second repechage in the coxless fours favors Canada over Yugoslavia, Austria and Belgium.

The husky University of Britain crew, favored to win, said they intend to outdo their best time of 6:42.72, a time they only half - pulled to win their heat to achieve.

YUGOSLAVS DID BETTER

The Yugoslavs did better in their heat, 6:41.72, but they were favored to win the utmost to get it.

The last repechage of the coxless fours pits Japan against Holland, Britain and Germany. The Germans, whose best time was 6:31.44, are the clear favorites.

The UBC eight crew won one of three preliminary heats Friday for rowing's top prize, a 2,000-course in 6:21.12. The Australian crew was 1½ lengths behind.

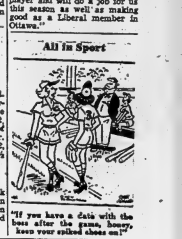
'Red' Kelly Ready for Two Jobs

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Leonard (Red) Kelly, rookie member of the Liberal team in Ottawa and veteran of the Stanley Cup champion Toronto Maple Leafs, doesn't figure to trip over parliament speeches this season.



The member for York West took time off from a skate at the National Hockey League club's training camp Friday to state that he figures he can handle the Leaf job and his duties in Ottawa without hurting either project.

"I won't be able to make the team's Western Canada exhibition tour," said Kelly. "But I'll run on the ice at all league games. I see no reason why I shouldn't be able to take care of my constituents' problems in Ottawa and Imlach's assignments on the ice."

Punch Imlach Leafs' coach and general manager, agrees with Kelly.

"I don't think that a conflict of interest will arise," he said. "He's a great hockey player and will do a job for us this season. He's looking as good as a Liberal member in Ottawa."

Sports Snapshots

By JIM PEACOCK

VANCOUVER (CP) — The same team that represents Canada in the world basketball championships in Manila in December is expected to be sent to the Pan-American Games in Sao Paulo, Brazil, next March.

As a result, says Bob Pickell, now-retired veteran of international basketball competition, the Canadian team in Brazil will be infinitely better than the Canadian team in the Philippines.

The experience in Manila will make the difference by giving the Canadian players and coach experience in the rough-and-tumble international-style basketball. Pickell says it has been the lack of such experience that has made flops in international play of men schooled in the clean b'ys and of basketball played in Canada, especially college.

"In international ball they hit, belt, slam, push and everything. It really throws you if you're not ready for it."

KNOWS FIRST-HAND

Pickell speaks with authority. Before he retired last spring at 34 to concentrate on his job as advertising salesman for a Vancouver radio station, he had often played abroad.

He was on the Canadian team in the 1952 and 1956 Olympics and in the 1959 Pan-Am Games. He also played in an international meet in Manila in 1953 and made a tour of the Far East the same year. He was in eight Canadian senior meet finals, toured the U.S. while playing for the University of Portland and spent a year with an Amateur Athletic Union team in Hawaii.

He says he has tried for years to convince Canadian team selectors they must make up the bulk of international teams with experienced players ready to play it rough.

"Players afraid to drive for the hoop through elbows and knees aren't going to make it in international ball."

NEED EXHIBITIONS

He has also tried to convince Canadian team coaches they must prepare under international conditions, including as many exhibition games as possible outside Canada en route to the games.

Coach Eldridge Broders have been chosen as the nucleus of the team for the Manila games Dec. 1-15. Canadian Amateur Basketball Association vice-president Luke Moyls said here the same team will probably go to Brazil, possibly with some changes based on performance in the world championships.

Lethbridge coach Bob Hamilton has been given a fairly free hand in player selection and is expected to wind up with about six Lethbridge regulars and six from elsewhere in Canada. The team starts training Oct. 1.

Pickell says he has talked with Hamilton about international competition and has offered to assist in demonstrating the tactics the team will meet. But, he added, Hamilton hasn't shown any signs of believing.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Mystery Guest was precisely that at Woodbine before 5,877 patrons Friday, closing swiftly to win the featured Arctic Gold purse.

The four-year-old filly from Calgary was making her autumn debut in the east after a good summer at Winnipeg's Assiniboia Downs. She was a mystery to Toronto race fans who allowed her to get away at 7-to-1 odds, longest on the board. The pay-off was $16.50.

Robert Ruark, Columnist, In No Danger of Begging

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"My big ambition as a child was not to be poor," said Robert Ruark, who likes to be known as the world's fastest two-finger typist. "Money doesn't by itself mean happiness, but it's a hell of a necessity. A guy who can't buy a bottle of whisky is better off than a guy who can't buy a bottle.

"There's nothing you can do poor that you can't do better rich—except beg."

At 46, Ruark, U.S. columnist turned novelist, is in no imminent danger of having to hold out a tin cup to passersby.

In 16 years this latter-day Richard Harding Davis estimates he has turned out more than 1,000 magazine articles and 10 books. His latest, Uhuru, a novel of African independence, was a Book-of-The-Month Club selection.

If it does as well as an earlier African novel, Something of Value, which sold to the movies for $300,000, Ruark should reap a harvest of $750,000 or more from it.

WANTED TO TRAVEL

Not bad for a country boy whose only desire was "to get out of town and see the world."

Bob left Southport, N.C., at the age of 15—he was still in knickerbockers—to enter the University of North Carolina. He graduated at 19. Later he worked as a seaman, an ordinary seaman and a newspaper man until the Second World War, during which he commanded a U.S. Navy gun crew on a freighter.

Bob returned to his newspaper typewriter then, and in six months worked up from $125 a week to $50,000 a year as a columnist.

Brash and self-confident, Ruark lives with a tremendous gusto. He is generous, sentimental and adventure. His left arm is still stiff from the tears left by a wounded leopard he shot recently in India.

He works hard, plays hard and spends freely. He smokes 80 cigarettes a day—"But only about a dozen at each"—and still restlessly travels from 100,000 to 150,000 miles a year.

SLOWING DOWN

But the boy is growing older and feels a need to live to settle down for a while.

"I once turned out a 700-word piece in 14 minutes," he said. "But the older you get the slower you write.

"A writer needs an infinite capacity for being an exhibition, at first when he is alone with the skill to put it down on paper. But I'd like to advance on the language a while longer, gradually, and write what I've seen and learned.

Ruark owns a Rolls-Royce, homes in London and Spain, and keeps busy a staff of 15 servants, secretaries, and agents.

Bob's motto:

"Everything I saw that I wanted I chased; everything I chased I caught; everything I caught enjoyed.

"But life is a matter of giving, too. Everything I got I gave something of myself first to get."

Spark Plug Checks Save You Money

By EUGENE B. MILMOE

Most car headaches, involving sluggishness or an oversized gas appetite stem from a sub-par ignition system, and the blame frequently can be laid to spark plugs — or rather, to neglect of plug service.

This careless attitude toward plugs doesn't make sense, especially with the improvement available today. In just a few minutes — without removing them — the condition of all plugs can be determined. Furthermore, you spend little for regular plug check-ups in comparison to the cost of driving with a set that is fouled, burned or badly gapped. Every day that such foolish fortune is wasted by engines which are handicapped by plugs that are overdue for cleaning, regapping or replacement.

Occasionally, troubles persist, despite regular attention, because the heat range of the plugs is not correct. You might install a set that is too hot for the constant high-speed driving you do, or too cold for regular door-to-door type of operation.

J.R. asks: "Can you touch up or seal up undercasting with anything to fill in small spots which have chipped off?"

'A) A gasket compound can be used for this purpose.

* * *

B.H. writes: "If my car lights are on, they go out when I turn the starter switch — then come back on as soon as I release it."

(A) This can be the fault of a weak battery or a loose or corroded battery-to-starter connection.

From V.McQ.: "A used car dealer has two '60 sedans I'm interested in. They are in the same make and model, but one has standard shift, and the other is equipped with the automatic transmission. How much gas mileage would I save with the standard transmission model?"

(A) If all else is equal which is unlikely . . . you could expect from two to four miles per gallon more.

Kings of the Fairways
Murder Par In Practice
AKRON- Ohio (AP)—The $75,000 World Series of Golf opens today and if the title trip plays as well as in Friday's final practice round it could be a real show.

Making up the cast are the three Kings of the fairways—Masters and British Open champion Arnold Palmer, national Open champion ruler Jack Nicklaus and PGA swinger Gary Player from South Africa.

They were booked for 18 holes today and another 18 Sunday, with the low scorer picking up $30,000, the second-placer $15,000 and the third-man $10,000.

After a so-so practice round Thursday in which Palmer was the only one able to match par for the Firestone Country Club's treacherous 7,165 - yard par - 70 course, the boys tore the place apart Friday.

Nicklaus, the 22 - year - old boy wonder from Columbus, Ohio, who has won only one tournament in his first year as a pro — the national Open—had 33-33 —66, 10 strokes under his Thursday score.

Player, 26-year-old father of three, also had a 66, one over the course record, with 34-32. He played the steadiest golf of the lot with four birdies and one par.

Not a single deuce graced the cards, but there were 23 three and birdie holes.

Player has won about $44,000 on the tour this year and Nicklaus is in the $33,000 bracket.

Tennis
Emerson Meets Mckinley

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Defending champion Roy Emerson of Australia harnessed Mike Sangster's explosive service with flicking returns Friday and beat the sturdy Englishman in a 2%-hour duel, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 8-6, 6-1 for a quarter-final spot in the national tennis championships.

The wiry Australian is expected to face Chuck McKinley of the United States in the semi-finals to see which gets the dubious honor of trying to ward Rod Laver's bid for a grand slam.

Sangster, who bangs the hardest service in the tournament, gave Emerson a stiff battle of it for sure sets but in the fifth the Australian nearly wilted under the uncanny marksmanship of the Australian's racket, and the final set, Emerson cracked Sangster's delivery three times, mainly on the strength of his underspin backhand which was sending bullets down the line for dozen passing shots.

In the women's division, Vicky Palmer of Phoenix, Ariz., upset the conqueror Thursday of Wimbledon champion Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman, established herself as a title threat by easily brushing aside Pauline Roberts of England 6-1, 6-2.

At National League Park
World Series Opens Oct. 3
NEW YORK (AP)—The world series will open in the home park of the National League champion — winner on Wednesday, Oct. 3, commissioner Ford Frick said today. The second game will be played at the American League city. If further play is necessary in the best-of-seven series, there will be another open date Oct. 9 with competition resuming on the National League park Oct. 10. A seventh game would be played there Oct. 11.

Frick's announcement followed an all-day meeting with delegates representing New York Yankees, Minnesota Twins and Los Angeles Angels of the American League, and Los Angeles Dodgers, San Francisco Giants, Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League.

The commissioner also announced an increase in ticket prices. Box seats will remain $12, reserved seats $8, open stand reserve seats $4, bleachers $2 and standing room $4.

New York was the box seat price in New York but has also increased the price to $10.50. Reserved seats in Yankee Stadium a year ago cost $7 with an additional 25 cents charged for taxes. This year's prices include all taxes.

Should the two Los Angeles clubs become world series opponents, Frick said, there will be no open dates.

Astrological Forecast

For September 9
By SYDNEY OMARR

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Self-assertion of primary importance. Activity in church could lead to personal, professional advancement. Key: Confidence. Believe what you say.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Excellent for picnics, walks, talks with spiritual mentors. Avoid brooding. Instead, sum up personal situation. Decide what must be done for greater spiritual happiness. Give serious thought to moral obligations.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21): Take care not to be too critical. Instead, stress leniency, understanding. Younger person may irritate you with his ideas. But constructive course would be to listen and possibly to learn.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21): Give thought to social activity. But do not attempt to mix business and pleasure. One who "gets you off in corner" should be given polite but firm no. Put across point with humor.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21): Avoid going to extremes in handling details. Pay heed to one close to you who advises relaxation. Conserve energy. Utilize mental energies in striving for better times ahead.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): You may find yourself centre of attention. Be prepared to give good account of yourself. Means you must be aware sensitive to reactions of others. Stay close to home if possible.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Tendency is to project, to "see" into future. This is fine if what you perceive is based on past performance. Otherwise, you could attribute qualities to individuals which they do not possess. Be practical.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Pinpoint your message. Don't beat around the bush. Say what you must. Others will respect you for being truthful. And you will have satisfaction of knowing you did what was right.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Settle accounts on paper. Take time to get house in order. Be firm with family member who wants to spend more than is wise. Point out future possibilities. Wisdom of waiting.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Day for absorbing inspiration. Message of wise person should be perceived. Fine for reading, resting, making long-range decisions. Could mark beginning of major cycle if you can detect subtle meanings.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Moderation should be key. Better to feel "drab" than to be overly stimulated. Like Taurus, take time to see picture as a whole. Be patient. Plan course that features step-by-step advance.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Pleasure through friends indicated. You can share hopes, wishes and perhaps come up with valuable ideas. One close to you could remind you of details which cannot be ignored. Pay heed!

If today is your birthday you would make excellent teacher, nurse or vocational counselor. This month you can advance goals, desires. Be ready for promotion.

General Tendencies: Cycle up for Sagittarius, Capricorn, Aquarius. Special word to Cancer. Be considerate of feelings of others. But refuse to be persuaded against your will.

For September 10

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): You may find yourself being held back because friends lack either the desire or the finances to "keep up." So be prepared to follow through on plans alone.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): You make mistake if you underestimate person or project. Deception could be involved in report which states "road is easy." Better be sure you really know the rules of the "game."

Gemini (May 21 to June 21): Favorable lunar aspect today indicates you should look beyond immediate benefits. Be willing to make some sacrifices in order to achieve greater future. Moon position' "on your side" today.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21): Good Venus aspect in your sign means today is excellent for expanding contracts. And for romance. Remember, however, that financial extravagance could lead to sorrow tomorrow.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21): You may be impatient with family members, business associates and most certainly with yourself. Take time to "cool off." Cycle will soon end and you will gain by waiting.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Very good for training pets, showing fellow workers that you are aware of their problems. Important to avoid worrying. Stress should be on self-reliance. Otherwise, you waste time and energy.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Key is achievement. You can make this a banner day if you push ahead until objective is accomplished. This happens if you concentrate on originality, and are not afraid of being "different."

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Feeling of restriction should not be permitted to dominate. Instead, handle details; day to make sure you have facts on hand. Tonight, very promising for impressing person who "counts."

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Take a chance on yourself. Trust hunch. You are able to see behind scenes. If you do, you could hit "jackpot." Key is versatility. Not time to stick in mud.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Answer to question concerning additional financial responsibility is yes. But not quite the way you presently picture situation. There are going to be some changes made. Be ready!

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Good day for adding to income, for meeting new, vital persons through hobbies, mutual interests. Avoid scattering forces, running yourself down physically. Important to get your rest.

RALPH CAMPBELL-A TOP BUILDER

In time, every house tells the story of its builder's ability and integrity. That is why the reputation of Ralph Campbell has grown with the years. Personal pride in workmanship, the best brands and on-the-spot supervision by Mr. Campbell himself are the reasons why many Campbell homes have been recorded as landmarks of quality by many satisfied owners.

We are proud to offer a wide choice of homes in one of the most recommended builders.

If you want to move into a new Campbell home immediately, we have a number of fine 3-level bungalows in the new East End. Or, if you prefer, Mr. Campbell will build for you according to your plans or in any part of the city.

For buyers desiring larger more elaborate homes, Ralph Campbell will build your dream plans in fully serviced areas of Belleville. See Belleville's highest real estate values.

Or if price is your main consideration, Campbell will build a standard bungalow in the East End for $11,000 less than you can buy a similar home in the city. RHA or conventional financing.

He plans to specialize in growing giant vegetables after his retirement.

The Golden Years

Here Is How One Couple Found Their Paradise in Retirement

By THOMAS COLLINS

"My husband and I are thoroughly shocked by the image of retirement a lot of people paint in your column. . ." told how she and her husband moved to Victoria, B.C., and found their Golden Years.

"My husband retired in 1957 after 45 years with his company. He was 65, and I was 62. Our combined monthly pension check is now $265.00. Out of this we deduct $15 monthly for Medical Plan.

"We owned a large home on five acres just outside a large town in the Midwest . . ."

The couple wanted to move, and had chosen Victoria. They visited it several times on vacation. They found the climate ideal, the people friendly and the scenery colorful. Also, one of their sons lived there.

"We sold our home for $30,000 cash," the wife continued. "We also sold our furniture, reserving only my fine china, our hi-fi records and my husband's model railroad equipment. All this we moved to Victoria in our son's pick-up truck. (Retired people who move are showing a growing talent for borrowing or renting a truck, or trading their car in for one, in order to move their reduced household as small cost.)

MAINTAINED LIVING STANDARD

"We bought a home in Victoria, paying just what we got for our old home. We bought new furniture. We did not lower our standard of living.

"We never liked hamburgers or noodles and still don't. So our allowance for food is above the average. But we can have the food we want and live comfortably on our net income of just under $250 a month. We have our hi-fi music system, a color TV set (a gift from our son), a 1961 car. We also can take care of our life and auto insurance premiums."

The couple take life with a low-key effort. They arise between 7:30 and 8:00 A.M., have a slow breakfast, then read the newspaper thoroughly. After that they nap, on a normal day, go out and work in their flower garden, or work on their lawn, "which is the talk of the neighborhood." Or they may work on mosaics together or go fishing.

Individually, the wife may be at work on her knitting or crocheting. The husband may play with his model railroading or make models of oil refining equipment or the Space Needle at the Seattle World's Fair.

Once a year they go camping or take a vacation away from home.

"This," said the wife, "compares with life back in the Mid-West where we arose at 5:30 am every day, where my husband worked about 10 hours a day, and where, after that, we had to keep our five-acre tract presentable. We fell into bed at 10 o'clock every night, and the only leisure we ever had during my husband's working years was his three-week vacation per year.

TIME TO ENJOY

"We have time to enjoy our friends now, and we entertain informally on the slightest excuse. We have time for concerts and lectures, which are numerous in this town. We are even taking up the study of Spanish. We spend much of our time contributing to the wealth and welfare of our old community. We feel we can now indulge ourselves. In a new life, surrounded by people with new friends we have found life stimulating. We are happy. We are enjoying health.

"Why should we be obligated to any other purpose?"

This couple, apparently has caught the greased pig at the County Fair. I have no argument with them, nor will most people. Financially, they are about par — with a $30,000 house paid for and $250 a month a couple can have a car and skip the hamburger. And buy flower seed and fish hooks. They are symbolic of many other pensioned couples in their belief that, now that they can afford it, they will relax.

Seamen Have Great Faith In Presbyterian Minister

MONTREAL (CP) — There's a jail cell in Montreal with Rev. William McLean's name scribbled on the wall along with directions on how to reach him.

Father Bill, as Montreal's waterfront padre is best known, was telling how he found out about it.

"A sailor called me from police detention cells one day to say he was scheduled to be before a judge in a few minutes and asked my help. I asked him how he got my number.

"He said a note was scribbled on the cell wall telling seamen in trouble how to get in touch with me."

The incident is an indication of the faith seamen have in the 65-year-old Presbyterian minister who has spent 25 years helping sailors. On any day he's likely to be found on the docks, in Joe Beef's waterfront eatery or in court.

Officially he is manager and chaplain of the Montreal Sailors' Institute which this year celebrates its 100th anniversary. But he finds himself most involved in the spiritual hotel service, money changed, rather than physical side of operating the institute, set up by watch television or movies, buy Montreal shipping executives and other businessmen interested in seamen's welfare.

SAILORS HAVE CHANGED

Interviewed in his well-ordered office in the institute's four - storey, $500,000 building opened in 1954, Father Bill said:

"We have a big program of entertainment here. We have religious services also every Sunday and on certain weekdays. But we're non-denominational."

The institute last year provided overnight accommodations for 1,432 sailors from 32 countries.

"Things have changed over the years. When I was here first, most ships were coal-burners with large crews of firemen. It seemed they were only interested in getting as far as the nearest tavern.

"Now the men are well-dressed and behave well. They have more money and they're better educated. You can't tell the difference between a fireman and a steward or deckhand.

"People have the wrong impression of seamen. Sure, you'll find trouble-makers, but most of them are hard-working men in an honorable industry supporting families back home."

Mr. McLean said sailors come to the institute for many reasons. They can get complete gifts or just sit around and talk with friends.

They can dance just about every night of the week. The dances sometimes promote romance between seamen and city girls.

"And do you know the first thing the girls try to do? They try to get their husbands to give up the sea."

Dear Henry:—I am 13 years of age. I have a younger brother four years old. I try to do my homework up in my room where it's quiet but every time I start at it, in comes my brother. My mother can't keep him downstairs and she won't let me have a lock on the inside. How do I keep him out?—VALDA.

Dear Valda:—Tell him that if he stays out of your room you will promote him to the Supervising Editorial and Pictorial Judge of the National Civic and Municipal Discarded Rubbish. He will be thrilled.—HENRY.

Dear Henry:—My friend and I went swimming. When we got to the pool she ran off with her former friend. They didn't include me in their games. Since she was my guest to the pool I was mad at her for this. Do you think I should have been?—PROVOKED.

Dear Provoked—Did you pay her fare? No? Then be angry! Yes? You should be ferocious!—HENRY.

Dear Henry:—I am a girl of 15 that is very interested in art. I am constantly bringing art books from the library and cutting out pictures from magazines and saving them. As you are aware some of these pictures and books show nudes and that is my problem.

I have two brothers, ages 9 and 10 who, when they get hold of my art books (though I hide them), act in the most disgusting manner. They chortle over the pictures and refer to my scrapbook as "her dirty book."

How can I make them realize the difference between art and "dirty pictures"? Please help me, they are driving me mad.—HELEN.

Dear Helen:— The difference between art and dirty pictures is that art is pretty and you are not afraid to show it to everybody and not to hide it like you did. Let them look at your art book all they want; you will show them that you are proud of art.—HENRY.

Dear Henry:—How can I make my children read books?—CONCERNED FATHER.

Dear Concerned Father:—Hide the TV cord.—HENRY.

Dear Henry:—I am 14½ years old. I stayed out with a boy last night until only 2.30. My mom lectured me and took away 50 cents of my $3 allowance. I'm broken. What should I do? Please print this for other kids I know who get this treatment too. Help!—HEARTBROKEN.

Dear Heartbroken—Think of your parent! Waiting there with a cup of black coffee thinking of you. Was she in a car accident? Was she kidnapped? Your parents are all frazzled and here you come in the door all smiles. Only 50 cents? You are lucky.—HENRY.

Red China Says She Shot Down Two U-2 Planes

Chinese Nationalists Admit One Is Missing

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Communist China, reporting it shot down one of two U-2 planes the Chinese Nationalists bought from the United States, charged today the flight over Communist soil was part of a U.S. spy program.

The Nationalists confirmed that one of the high - altitude U-2's they have been operating for nearly two years disappeared Sunday on a "routine" reconnaissance mission over the China mainland.

A Nationalist spokesman said the U-2's were bought from the Lockheed Corporation in the United States in 1960 and put into operation in December of that year.

A U.S. state department spokesman said the U-2 purchases were made with U.S. approval, but that operation of the planes was under a Nationalist matter.

Officials admitted privately, however, that it "could be assumed" that information obtained by the Nationalist U-2 flights would be turned over to the United States in the normal course of intelligence exchange between two allies."

AFTER RED PROTEST

The latest U-2 incident, announced over Peking radio, came five days after the Soviet Union protested that an American-piloted U-2 had violated Soviet air space over Russian-held Sakhalin Island, north of Japan. The United States admitted that one of its jet-powered planes might have been blown off course by high winds.

Peking did not disclose the fate of the Nationalist pilot, but Nationalist officials said privately they were convinced he could not have escaped alive.

It was recalled, however, that the Communists offered Aug. 4 to pay $280,000 in gold to any Nationalist pilot who delivered a U-2 intact to the mainland.

The Nationalists' offered $35,000 several years ago to any Red Chinese pilot who brought his MIG jet fighter to Formosa. One defected last March.

The Peking People's Daily, official Communist party organ, charged today that the plane was engaged in "espionage against socialist (Communist) countries using Japan as the primary base."

DENIES RED CHARGE

The paper claimed the flight underscored "U.S. imperialism's aggression" in Asia and was linked to the two-day visit to Formosa of President Kennedy's military adviser, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor. It said the charge was "obviously untrue." He denied knowledge of the Nationalist U-2 flights.

Defected Spy Says New York Mecca for Communist Agents

NEW YORK (AP)—A Soviet spy who defected to the United States in 1960 said today New York is a mecca for Communist agents and the Pentagon as "one of the best sources" to take data about military subjects."

The spy, former Col. Pawel Monat, who served in the United States from September, 1955, to May, 1958, as military attache to the Polish embassy in Washington. He defected to the United States in the summer of 1959.

Monat, writing the account of his espionage work that during his mission in the U.S. he made about 40 trips to New York City.

"The sprawling metropolis, with its teeming life, crowded meeting places and throngs of United Nations delegates and other foreigners all speaking in strange accents, is an ideal stamping ground for a foreign agent."

It provides the cover necessary for spies to meet and pass along information and instructions, he said.

Monat's book, Spy in the U.S., written with John Dille, will be published Wednesday by Harper and Row.

"Anyone, from a four - star general to a 15-year-old boy can provide the espionage," Monat said.

"And once inside the Pentagon—though many areas are extremely well guarded to let the initiated slide—the military attaches of other foreign countries, their staffs and the top-secret planners deliberate in privacy—anyone can go inside the offices and pause in the corridors."

He said aides went there frequently, as did military attaches of other foreign countries. Their purpose was to eavesdrop on conversations.

Other sources of information readily available to the spy, Monat said, include free press, government technical publications and congressional loose talk.

For five cents a day, Monat said he could buy seven newspapers information that would give the United States millions of dollars in savings from Russia by U-2 airplanes or reconnaissance satellites.

HOUSE ARREST MAY BE USED IN SOUTH AFRICA

Would Silence Political Enemies

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — English - language newspapers here predict a new step—house arrest—soon will be announced in the South African government's campaign to silence political opponents.

Provisions of South Africa's new anti-sabotage law empower Justice Minister Balthazar Vorster to confine people to their homes for a specified number of hours and to stipulate who can visit them. Such people would be allowed to continue their jobs if these were not considered harmful to the state.

The case against them is expected to be based on the charge that their political tendencies undermine the security of the civilized world and aid in the spread of Communist doctrines.

Premier Hendrik Verwoerd, Vorster, and other government officials have made recent speeches that action must be taken against Communism which is the smaller brother of communism."

TAKES DRASTIC STEPS

Under the Anti-Sabotage Act, promulgated last July, Vorster has so far:

Placed 102 South Africans—more than half of them white—under a ban of silence;

Authorized numerous police raids and arrests against suspected people and organizations;

Formally outlawed the multi-racial South African Congress of Democrats and the Suppression of Communism Act. The congress went under the ban which previously hit South Africa's Communist party and two underground organizations—the African National Congress once headed by Chief Peace Prize winner Albert Luthuli and the offshoot, the Pan-African Congress.

MAY SILENCE ALL

The Johannesburg Sunday Times says: "It is conceivable that in order to silence Communists and agitators still more effectively it will be necessary for minister Vorster to silence the entire nation."

The Sunday Times and Sunday Express complain their reporters were barred away from an only Afrikaner reporters were admitted to the Communism Saturday night in nearby Pretoria honoring Verwoerd on his first birthday.

Admirers presented Verwoerd with a huge white birthday cake which pictured him atop a pyramid whose supports included the shoulders of common people and Bibles.

Unwanted Freedomites Say They Will Move On on Wed.

GRAND FORKS, B.C. (CP)— While an irate farmer looked on helplessly, some 750 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors peacefully settled down in his fields Sunday.

Their work nothing that farmer Bill Podovemitoff could do about the home - sieging Freedomite members — for there were there at the invitation of his wife, And they were apparently staying until Wednesday.

"I didn't want them to come to my farm," Mrs. Podovemitoff said. "But my wife said they can stay as long as they like. She owns the title to the land."

"I went to the police but they say I'm up to her, I can't influence her. I have a well and they are buying food. I don't think they'll burn anything."

Meanwhile, the Freedomites in the entire valley were trekking to Agassiz, 80 miles east of Vancouver—were seemingly unconcerned about the consternation, anger and worry they were causing around them.

As they sang, prayed, disrobed for no apparent reason, washed clothes and worked on cars and trucks, angry Orthodox Doukhobors guarded their farms, British Columbia, highway patrol officers and others watched bridges and buildings and RCMP continued investigations of the destruction of a wooden bridge, saying arson was a possibility.

Orthodox leader John Verigin blamed the burning of the bridge 12 miles east of this border community, 250 miles from Vancouver, on Freedomites and charged that the marchers were robbing Orthodox farmers' fields.

He expressed disappointment that there had been no reply from Attorney-General Bonner.

Army Ignores Truce Terms, Moves Into Happy Algiers

ALGIERS (AP)—Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella and his regular army Col. Houari Boumedienne were locked away today and preparing to nominate the nation's first legislature heavily weighted in their favor.

Boumedienne marched 5,000 men of his Communist-equipped army into Algiers Sunday, ending the chaotic, seven weeks corruption of the city by rebellious guerrilla forces of wilaya (one) No. 4.

The regular troops were given a tumultuous welcome as they drove up and down the streets of the capital in a show of force in addition of an agreement with wilaya 4's leaders to "demilitarize" the city.

With roar after roar of cheering, the civilian crowds expressed both their pride in their "national people's army" and their relief to be rid of the oppressive wilaya 4 regime.

The guerrilla leaders had run the city of gangsterism and sought to impose an unpopular Moslem puritanism. They had put their control of the capital to stall attempts to organize an orderly national government, mainly because of their fear of being placed under Boumedienne's command.

They capitulated after a weekend civil war and a counter-coup that city several hours before Boumedienne's troops arrived. In Paris, over political matters at Biskra, 3 miles southwest of Algiers, the guerrilla leaders complained bitterly that they had been tricked. The cease-fire ending the civil war provided for only a small "token force" of the regular army to enter the "demilitarized" capital.

It was obvious that Ben Bella and Boumedienne never had any intention of abiding by the demilitarization deal.

With the wilaya 4 leaders eliminated as a political and political force, only their allies, the guerrillas of Kabylie Mountain wilaya No. 3, remained as an important stronghold of anti-Ben Bella politicians.

De Gaulle Home After Six-Day Trip to Germany

PARIS (Reuters) — President de Gaulle has returned home from a six-day state visit to West Germany that appeared to have strengthened his hand against the opponents of his policy on Europe.

De Gaulle, in a delegation which his arrival here Sunday to West German President Heinrich Lubke, visited Cologne, Bonn, Dusseldorf, Duisburg, Hamburg, Munich and Stuttgart.

Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville described his trip as "extraordinary and exceptional." He added that its object was "to cement the policy of the French and German governments to the people for whom they are responsible."

This policy, as de Gaulle stressed again and again before German audiences, is that Franco-German co - operation is the largest possible number of fields" is the keystone of European unity.

After that, he has said, can come the political unity of the five with the other four members of the European Common Market — Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

And as a third step, he said during his tour, can come the entry to Britain into the Common Market, on which "we fully count."

FINNISH PIPELINE

KARLSRUHE, West Germany (Reuters)—The 470-mile, $125,000,000 Mureck-Karlsruhe oil pipeline was completed Sunday with official dedication of the section beneath the Rhine. Saharo oil will flow in the pipeline.

He said if Russia tries to set up long range offensive missiles in Cuba, it "would have the most serious consequences."

A sharp rise in the flow of deliveries from the Soviet bloc started in July and included not only economic help needed by the Cuban regime, but also the Fidel Castro but also large amounts of military material.

The arms appeared to be mainly early-model ground-to-air missiles and jet aircraft equipment. About 3,500 Soviet military "technicians" also arrived, bringing the total of Russians in the use of the new weapons.

Senator Kenneth B. Keating (Rep. N.Y.) said Sunday that reports are circulating in Washington that "a horse trade" with Russia in Cuba and Berlin may be in the wind.

Keating said the U.S. must make clear to the people of Cuba and the people of West Berlin, and to people everywhere, that no such deal is in the cards."

Five Killed In Mishap at Kirkland Lake

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)— Five persons going to visit a baby in hospital were killed Sunday night when they car and another collided head-on on Highway 112. Six persons were injured.

Dead are Herbert Widdifield, 70, and his wife Myrtle, also 70, both of Englehart, and their son Barry, 24, and his wife Shirley, 20, of Lorder Lake, Ont., and Mrs. Edna Brownlee, 32, mother of Shirley Widdifield.

They were going to Kirkland Lake to visit the younger Widdifield's infant son who is in hospital. All died at the scene.

The injured are members of a Sudbury football team. Most severely injured were Norm Delisery, 25, and Douglas Grenon, 20. Delisery was in critical condition and Grenon in serious condition. In satisfactory condition were Joseph Brunell, 20, Robert Bainbridge, 22, Graham Edwards, 22, and John Leore, 22. All suffered multiple internal injuries.

They are members of the Sudbury Hardrocks, a Northern Ontario Rugby Football Union team that played there Saturday.

The accident occurred on a straight downhill stretch of the Highway 11 miles south of here. It was raining and foggy at the time.

TOLL MAY RISE

KAZVIN, Iran (AP) — There are no signs of life at "scores of villages" still unreached by rescue and relief teams working in Iran's earthquake belt, a United States helicopter pilot reports. The report of Capt. Dallas W. Goodwin, 42st medical air support surgeon, put the death toll of the earthquake of a week ago might go higher than the present official estimate of 10,000.

If Long-Range Missiles Set Up In Cuba, Fat Would Be in Fire

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

A high U.S. government official warned Sunday that any Russian attempt to set up long-range offensive missiles in Cuba would provoke "the most serious consequences."

A Havana dispatch from a Canadian Press staff correspondent told of passing by a truck carrying a long, rounded case about 30 feet long and eight feet high, with Russian letters on the side.

"I wondered what was inside," wrote Reuters correspondent John Hughes from Sunday, Paul Nitze, assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs, told a television audience that the Soviet arms buildup in Cuba is of a defensive nature so far, but still is of concern because it helps Castro to consolidate his position and thereby increases the possibility Cuba could be used as a base for Communist penetration of the rest of the hemisphere."

Common Market Foes Are Led By Diefenbaker

Curiosity Is Whetted By Hint of Alternative

LONDON (CP) The Commonwealth of nations, still holding together by some mystic cement, assembled today for its largest and perhaps most important conference in a mood of uncertainty and considerable tension.

Statesmen from 24 countries, including eight colonies nearing independence, drove to 203-year-old Marlborough House for the opening session of meetings that may have a big bearing on Britain's ultimate relationships with Europe and the Commonwealth.

After a round of formal handshakes, delegates ranged themselves alphabetically for the usual group photograph, a ceremony now a ritual one of these family summit meetings.

Then Prime Minister Macmillan, carrying the weight of Britain's tormented search for a role in European affairs that will not jeopardize cherished Commonwealth links, extended a formal greeting to the representatives of the far-flung family of nations.

FIRST REPORT

Prime Minister Diefenbaker of Canada, pleased by some British newspapers in playing a key role at the conference, spoke in reply of representing senior Commonwealth country.

On arrival Friday, Diefenbaker wheeled journalistic scrutiny by guarded references to an "alternative" Commonwealth plan for Commonwealth trade expansion. He may be pressed if Britain does not join the European Economic Community.

Produced and marketed by sections, Newspapers hostile to British entry generally portrayed Canada as a foe of Macmillan's main opponent.

The Daily Express, a constant critic of the European design, says Diefenbaker will "lead the Commonwealth against Britain" week in two major speeches. One stressing his fear that Canada may be forced into undue dependence on the United States, the other pressing for damage British membership in EEC would do Commonwealth newsprint, aluminum, lumber, fish and the big industrial combine that supplies Canada with machinery.

Other papers are more specific about Canada's views. The Daily Telegraph, favorable to British entry, says delegates are eagerly awaiting details of the reported Canadian initiative. It says they are unable to see what alternative to EEC could produce other than a Commonwealth free trade area, a project for some years now has been recognized as a complete nonstarter.

One vague report in conference circles, which Canadian informants declined to discuss, was that Canada has a "document in being" sketching the broad outlines of a Trans-Atlantic

YOUNG LIBERALS HIT PLATFORM IN LAST VOTE

Say Voters Got Muddled Picture

HAMILTON (CP) — The Liberal platform in the June 18 federal election came under fire Saturday at the second meeting of the Ontario Young Liberal Association.

Several of the 50 delegates by a resolution committee meeting at various times attacked and defended the platform, prompting a resolution by Jerry Grafstein of Toronto which sought establishment of a committee to organize and re-examine party policies.

Among the platform's critics was Dr. Russell Taylor of Toronto, who said the 75-plank platform might well have been cut to two or three broad planks. As it was, he said, some voters got a muddled picture of the party's real aims.

But Russell Sullivan of Toronto maintained the program could be have been worse. Booklets explaining party philosophy were abundant and of good quality.

TOO SIMPLIFIED?

Leo Gray of Windsor said New Democrat literature was attractive to voters because it was "simplified over-simplified."

"The problems facing the nation today are complex and cannot be solved overnight," Mr. Gray said. "The NDP literature confused politics when cancelled out other policies but it was simple and easy to read when it came to programs. It is difficult to discuss things with this philosophy today."

The delegates first approved an amendment to the Grafstein resolution urging the party to present its policy in a more specific and clear-cut way than defeated, the amended resolution.

Michael Walsh of Toronto said the motion would have thrown a wet blanket into the party.

The Young Liberals also decided that James E. Coyne, former governor of the Bank of Canada, does not rate having his face on Canadian postage stamps.

The young politicians, at their

Tweed H.S. Back to Normal, Seek Court Order to Admit East Huntingdon Students

TWEED — Classes are back but to normal at Tweed High School today, after the student strike of last Friday, which disrupted the morning classes, and prevented afternoon classes. The Tweed-Hungerford students, who left class Friday in sympathy with about 40 East Huntingdon students who were forbidden to attend school in Tweed, are now back in class. The East Huntingdon students, who sparked Friday's revolt, are apparently staying home today.

J. R. Bancroft, secretary of the Centre Hastings High School Board, in Madoc, reports that about seven East Huntingdon students, who registered in Madoc at the beginning of the school year, in compliance with the board's order, are still attending classes in Stirling. They were joined by two more students from East Huntingdon last Friday, when the Tweed school buses refused not to pick up East Huntingdon students going to Tweed.

Robert Temple, Belleville lawyer, has been retained by a group of Tweed citizens in sympathy with the East Huntingdon students, to seek a court order to the Tweed school to admit them.

Wednesday, in a test case, a hearing will be held in Belleville, on an application for a court order to permit student Larry Jones, 15, to attend the Tweed school.

According to Mrs. A. G. Allen, a member of the group retaining Mr. Temple, the appeal for the court order will be based on the Secondary Schools Act, which provides that any Secondary School must accept any qualified students living within the school area. Tweed is part of the Centre Hastings School area, but because Tweed-Hungerford will form a separate school area, beginning January 1, 1963, the Centre Hastings High School Board, which administers the Tweed school until the separation, has ordered that high school students not living in the Tweed-Hungerford area will attend school in Madoc.

Four Trenton Cadets Enter Venture Plan

They are Maynard Livey, Myrhaugen of Skyview Trailer Court; John Kenneth Stanley of 1 McEwen Drive, Middleton Park; James Adam Melrose Fisher of RCAF Station Trenton and James Robert Glover, 251 West Street in Trenton.

The Venture Plan is open to junior matriculants or better. Tweed Forest District

A foggy drizzle enveloped the northern wooded areas this morning with the humidity reaching a seasonal high of 98. Overnight rain enveloped the district with Gilmour getting the heaviest fall of .52 inch. White Lake had .45, Tweed .35 and Plevna .27.

Fire ranger officials look for cooler weather following the rain and the current drizzle.

Six fires in the district are being patrolled, one of them believed cause by an incendiary and two others by neglected camp fires.

A dropped or tossed cigarette started a blaze in Barrie township at the southeast corner of Mazinaw Lake. It is under control.

With the rain and humidity the fire hazard dropped to normal.

annual meeting, drew out a resolution recommending the post office issue a stamp in the image of Mr. Diefenbaker, "economics expert and unsung hero."

Following a short tongue-in-cheek discussion, in which it was generally agreed that Mr. Coyne had not achieved the status of a hero, even though screwed to quit his job by the Progressive Conservative government, the question was rejected with only one dissenting vote.

The delegates backed resolutions urging a comprehensive health plan for Canada, promotion of bilingualism and distinctive Canadian flag and anthem.

They defeated a resolution calling on the government to renounce all claims to the possession and use of nuclear weapons by the Canadian armed forces or on Canadian territory.

Water Pollution Control Centre Fancy Name Given Sewage Disposal Plant

Construction of the city's new sewage disposal plant in Foster Ward is proceeding on schedule and is expected to be ready for operation well before the end of the year.

And when it goes into operation it will have a dressed up name to identify it. The name will be Belleville Water Pollution Control Centre.

The various buildings housing the machinery for the disposal project are well advanced, with some of the machinery already installed. The area has been completely fenced and grading of roadways is underway, while landscaping is also expected to be completed in the near future.

The trunk sewer from the east end of the city has already been completed to the plant, as has the sewer crossing under the Moira River and along Dundas Street West.

Also completed is the trunk sewer running from Dundas Street to College Street on the west side of the river.

Sewer installations in the Avondale area and in the Parkdale area are underway in readiness for hooking up with the main trunk lines.

Sewage pumping stations on Dundas Street West and on Fireman's Park at the lower end of Front Street are progressing and will be ready in time for the opening of the treatment plant.

Also under construction is the forced main from Fireman's Park to the treatment plant and the outfall into the Bay of Quinte.

to a wire he sent Friday calling for protection of his people.

Officials at Agassiz, 80 miles east of Vancouver, wondered what they could do about the Freedomites if and when they arrived there.

In Nelson the day before the Association of Kootenay Municipalities proposed that all Freedomites freed from prison and their families be dispersed throughout Canada.

Most of the group, which represents about 50 per cent of the Freedomite population in B.C., left their capital of Krestova a week ago Sunday. Many of their relatives are at Mountain Prison at Agassiz, serving terms for terrorism.

A delegation left for Agassiz Sunday to attempt to arrange accommodation. Fanny Storegoff, one of the spokesmen, said the rest would leave Wednesday when the delegation returned.

Apparently in commenting on reports that the Freedomites would never reach the Fraser Valley town, "Big Fanny" said: "I do not care what anyone says or what the reports are. We are going to Agassiz to our people."

Mr. Verigin expressed his disappointment with the attorney-general in an interview.

"This situation is very, very serious. My people have had no rest and are on edge and we will find no peace or contentment until they (Freedomites) have left the area."

He has said that the people are spending sleepless nights guarding their property. It is reported that the five sawmills in the area will stay closed until the Freedomites leave, giving their employees a chance to guard their property.

The RCMP said arson is a possibility of the burning of the 300-foot wooden bridge during the weekend on the main road to Spokane, Wash.

Mr. Verigin commented: "Leave us not be children. We know as you do how that fire started."

Councillor Norman Green of Agassiz said officials are at a loss to know what to do about the marchers. If they arrived something would have to be done—"we can't just turn them out."

The community has passed a bylaw forbidding construction of shack towns such as the sect has lived in in the past.

Chess League Again Formed With 5 Teams

The annual meeting of the South-Eastern Ontario Chess League was held yesterday afternoon at the Brockville Town Hall. Representatives were present from Brockville, Kingston and Belleville. It is expected that the other two teams in the league last year, Ottawa and Cornwall, will also enter. An application was received from Peterborough, a former member of the league, but since this team did not wish to play a full schedule against all clubs, due to distances involved, its entry may not be accepted. Picton will also be contacted to determine whether it wishes to enter.

Dr. G. Dandor of Kingston was re-elected president, while Eric Bachofer of Kingston was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Bachofer will contact all clubs and draft a schedule.

Turnabout, Etc.

Russia is challenging the Monroe Doctrine, through her actions in Cuba, according to a Canadian Press report. The United States, the report continues, is not taking up the challenge because there are too many other points at which the Soviets could cause trouble in retaliation. Iran, Berlin and Laos have been cited as examples.

Strictly speaking, Cuba does not present a violation of the Monroe Doctrine. The present regime in Cuba was set up through internal revolution, and the European aid, which is a challenge to the doctrine in one sense, was offered only after the Cuban government gave clear indication that it wanted it.

But the small countries of Latin America may not appreciate this. In terms of black and white, the United States has withdrawn the guarantee under which they have sheltered since 1823, and they are not likely to approve of it.

The Russians have demonstrated one solution to the problem. They won China with Chinese, trained in guerrilla warfare by Russia. They won part of India the same way, and they show every indication of hoping to win Laos.

The United States has trained guerrillas Americans, ready for use in case of war: but the Americans do not want to commit their own men except in case of war. They could, however, with relative immunity, train others: Cubans, Vietnamese, even Chinese.

A very large percentage of the free world's troubles are the result of trained communist agitators, fighting guerrilla wars in remote areas. Perhaps the U.S. might ease the pressure by fighting a few wars of its own, by the same rules.

Effects of Devaluation

When the devaluation of the Canadian dollar grabbed the limelight with the fixing of the exchange rate at 92½ cents to the U.S. dollar in May, (devaluation had actually been going on for some time previously), it was commonly contended that devaluation made no difference whatever to the purchasing power of the dollar when applied to Canadian-produced goods.

The erroneous nature of this contention has now been made plain by the release of statistics regarding the consumer price index at the end of June. This index climbed four-tenths of a point, as the result of higher food prices. Largely responsible for the increase in the food index were higher prices for beef and pork, the prices of which, it is explained, are governed by U.S. markets.

It is now abundantly evident that devaluation of the dollar has a definite inflationary tendency. Higher living costs are certain to be followed by demands for higher wages and salaries, especially from labor. Yet this trend will have to be resisted or we shall create a situation in which further devaluation of the dollar may be necessary. If wages are raised, the increased opportunities for export sales which devaluation provided will be reduced or even wiped out. The plain fact is that Canadians were living beyond their income, and in one way or another must accept a reduction in their living standards until productivity increases.

Another Relative!

Prime Minister Macmillan of the United Kingdom has put the finishing touches on his revamping of his government.

Amongst the newest appointments is that of the Duke of Devonshire as Minister of State at the Commonwealth relations office. The Duke is a nephew of Macmillan's by marriage. He is just the latest of Macmillan's relatives to get a top job. Either Mr. Macmillan is unusually fortunate — or unfortunate to another sense — in the size of his relatives by marriage, or he is singularly unconcerned about the possibility of charges of nepotism. Macmillan's son-in-law, Julian Amery, was named aviation minister in July.

Any nation with an old, hereditary aristocracy, whether of title or training, is certain to find the blood lines of its leaders strangely interwoven, but a careful examination of recent Conservative governments could easily leave the uninformed investigator with the impression that the British Tory party consisted of a mere handful of families — instead of being the party of the majority of the population.

There Was Life Elsewhere

By MICHAEL JACOT is Imperial Oil Review

There was, and perhaps still is, animal and plant life on another planet. Men on earth have examined remnants of that life.

This is not science fiction. It is the contention of one of all scientists and two university colleagues, based on physical evidence they found in the tiny granules of a lump of matter from outer space, a fragment of a meteorite that fell in France 98 years ago.

The scientist, Dr. Warren Meinschein of Esso Research and Engineering Co., and Drs. Bartholomew Nagy and Douglas Hennessy of Fordham University, made the news at a meeting of the New York Academy of Sciences.

Since then there has been further evidence. Because the tools and techniques used are available in industry in its search for oil-bearing rock, oil scientists have been particularly useful in checking the evidence. An Imperial Oil scientist, Dr. Hans Jensen of Calgary, one of the continent's top micropaleologists, has examined the 98-year-old meteorite and confirmed certain of the findings.

It means that other worlds had — and still may have — seas on them. Many other things could breed. It could mean that life there may no longer consider himself unique.

• • •

Wax, Hennessy and Meinschein was analyse organic compounds in the meteorite which fell at Orgueil in May, 1864. Using highly advanced techniques as infrared and ultra-violet spectroscopy, and mass spectroscopy, all of which are used by oil scientists to determine the composition of organic matter in rocks, they found hydrocarbons which are molecules composed of hydrogen and carbon atoms — similar to those found in living matter on this earth.

In November last year I interviewed Dr. Meinschein in the Esso Research and Engineering lab at Linden, N.J. Meinschein is a tall, lean man like the late Humphrey Bogart, has a soft southern accent, keen brown eyes and the precise diction of a trained scientist (BSc. Michigan, PhD. Texas). He has been engaged in geological research for 10 years. His job, he said, at work has to do with the origin of and discovery of oil. He serves as a modest office at Esso Research and Engineering with a colleague.

• • •

"We believe that wherever this meteorite originated, something lived," he told me.

"What sort of life? Bugs, animals or something unknown on earth?"

"We don't know specifically what sort of plant or animal life it was."

"Would you find these molecules in terrestrial animals? In me, for instance?"

"Yes. The distribution of these molecules in terrestrial life is very distinctive. Certain molecules are made up mainly of odd numbers of carbon atoms . . 21 . . 23 . . 25 and so on. The meteorite samples showed this same odd/even several tests — and as far as I know only living things show it."

"Can these particular hydrocarbons be made by anything which is not living?"

Meinschein shook his head. "No. At least there is only one chance in a billion that they can. It would be a sort of fluke."

"Not even in some atmospheric gases, like Venus?"

"Not that we aware of."

Meinschein got up from his desk and looked out from the penthouse office on the 15th floor of the labs. "We have always looked at this negatively, he said. "We have assumed there aren't things in outer space. We have ignored limited evidence to the contrary. Most scientists today — and many laymen — feel that the universe wasn't created just for us to look at it."

It was this positive attitude which sparked Dr. Nagy's interest in investigation of the meteorite. Nagy interested Meinschein, who had gone deeply into the origins of animal matter in rocks while studying about oil which also contains hydrocarbons. No one is entirely sure how oil is made but we do know that it was formed over millions of years and represents in part the accumulation of hydrocarbons made by once-living things.

Meinschein agreed to take on the meteorite work as a sideline, doing most of it late at night or on Saturdays. Two major questions confronted the scientists. Was the stony material found near Orgueil an actual meteorite? Had it been contaminated by meteorite during its 98 years on earth?

The leaflets that dozens of villagers saw the Orgueil stone fall on the clear evening of May 14, 1864. As it hit the earth it exploded, as meteorites usually do. Nearly all the fragments were collected the next morning. They were immediately carefully preserved in museums. It was in one of these samples that the hydrocarbons were found.

Meinschein and his colleagues studied their sample carefully and skeptically. As the research began in earnest they washed the stone, broke it up, ground it. They cleaned all equipment until it was completely free of laboratory contamination.

The first results were disappointing. There was so much water in the meteorite that they could not analyse the hydrocarbons. Meinschein decided a specimen was needed for distilling off this water from outer space. It was not like earthly water: it had seven times as much hydrogen in it.

When the extraterrestrial hydrocarbons were next subjected to analysis, the equipment reported them to be similar to those being made on earth by living things. In addition, Meinschein and the colleagues found that the inside of the meteorite contained about the same amount of hydrocarbons as the outer layers. This meant that it did not pick up surface foreign molecules from museum shelves; otherwise the outside would be been more on the outside.

The discovery of the organic matter, with its odd carbon count, that spelled "life," thrilled Meinschein. He rechecked and rechecked. Each test came out the same.

They analyzed a sample of another meteorite, which fell near Murray, Kentucky, in 1952. Not all meteorites contain carbon compounds, but this one did, and the results were almost identical.

• • •

But Meinschein is reserved. "These hydrocarbons are certainly unusual," he said, "but there is a lot of work to be done yet."

"Is it possible that the meteorites you examined came from earth? Flew off the earth and then came back onto it?"

"I don't think so. We know of no natural force on earth that could have placed a stone in orbit. Furthermore, the metal contents of the meteorite differ significantly from those of terrestrial metals."

"Where do meteorites come from?"

"They are thought to have come from the asteroid belt, a ring of space between Mars and Jupiter. Here chunks of barren rock and metal, some as big as a mountain, others the size of Lake Ontario, travel about endlessly. Some scientists believe that these fragments are from a demolished planet.

"We don't know if they were a part of a former planet. But we are quite sure that the chunks of meteorites we have analyzed were once part of a biosphere in which one-celled plant-type plants and animals existed. The Orgueil stone is likely a piece of rock from some offshore bed. Our analyses indicate that the organisms in these meteorites held large bodies of water in which cellular life was living."

"How long ago was this?"

"The age of meteorites is calculated at 4.6 billion years. The life may have come later. If it did, the life in meteorites remains are the earliest life that has been discovered."

"Other scientists have worked on the Orgueil meteorite, they haven't they come up with this information?"

"Many scientists have worked on the stone, but other scientists didn't have the tools. Incidentally, we are the first people to say that there is organic matter in meteorites. Berzelius, for instance, speculated about this possibility in 1834. Later, in 1880, a German, Wohler, stated that certain material (in the Kahn meteorite) was unquestionably of organi origin. They hadn't the tools to prove it. Today we can analyse less than one thousandth of a gram of a substance.

• • •

More and more scientists, although by no means all — are beginning to agree with Meinschein and his colleagues.

A fourth member joined the team, Dr. George Claus, of New York University. Claus examined other fragments from Orgueil and found hydrocarbons. He examined other meteorites which had fallen in India, Africa and France, and found 25 different organisms all told. Some were single-celled, others resembled like things never seen on earth with arms and legs coming out on their hexagonal interior.

When Claus completed his examination, Dr. Frank Stapelin of Imperial's Calgary laboratories was asked to take a look. He discovered five or six additional organisms and a coiling what seems to be cell tissue.

He confirmed Dr. Meinschein's discoveries but was not fully convinced that the microcoorite came from outer space. Staplin suggests that chondrite (meteorites filled with hydrocarbons in them) could have come from the earth, having been flung into space and returned.

Dr. Harold Urey, a leading U.S. physicist, also says that the meteorites may contain a form of ancient life — in fact the beginnings of life — which existed on earth, was thrown out onto the moon (where it perished as water dried up there) and has now come back.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

Speaking at the weekly luncheon at the Hotel Quinte on Monday, Dr. George MacNab of Guelph, District Governor of Rotary District 168, gave an official visit to the Belleville Rotary Club. "The work of service will never be finished. There is a greater need and scope than ever for the improvement of the social spirit to promote the finest and best in each community." he likened Rotary to the bonds of the British Empire, "something powerful, unbreakable, but stronger than bands of steel." The distinguished Rotarian is a member of the Board of Directors of Queen's University, and a doctor of pedagogy.

Reports of a band of gypsies having camped in the vicinity of the home of O'Brien's Bridge, south of Plainfield, have been given to the provincial police it was stated this morning. Members of the band expressed their willingness to tell the fortunes of residents of the community, but they will request them to vacate the territory and move to other parts.

The simple but not recommended expedient of tying down the main sheet when he bailed out the boat gave an unbelievable man an unexpected outing on the Bay of Quinte on Monday afternoon, when a sudden squall turned over his sailboat. The man promptly righted the boat and the overturned craft where he awaited rescue. Onlookers on the shore were amused at the three quarters of an hour wondering how many occupants there had been in the boat.

How Not to Be 100 Per Cent American

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Some pompous ass or declamatory bigot "100 percent Americanism" at a dull dinner party the other evening, and I desperately wished I could have remembered the answer I was once given by the late phrase by Prof. Ralph Linton, the celebrated anthropologist.

I read Prof. Linton's comment many years ago, and so can only give a rough approximation, it concerns the "100 per cent American" who rises in fervid indignation at the sight of a garment of East Indian origin and gets out of bed that was built on a pattern originated in Persia.

Per patriot then looks at the clock — a medieval European invention — and goes to the bathroom, where he dries his face invented by the ancient Egyptians, the glazed tiles by the Moors, and the porcelain by the Chinese. His bathtub and toilet are Roman derivatives — and only the ugly radiator is distinctively American.

He then shaves — the device developed by Egyptian priests) washes with soap invented by the Gauls, and dries himself on a frankly Turkish towel.

Back in the bedroom, he puts on clothes whose form derives from the nomads of the Asiatic steppes, whose cloth comes from the 18th century Crosts, and goes down to breakfast.

Here, his food is placed before him in pottery vessels stemming from China. His fork is a medieval Italian device and his spoon is a copy of a Roman eating tool. His breakfast consists of coffee, which originated on the Abyssinian plateau, orange juice, originally from the Mediterranean, and a bowl of cereal, made from grain that was first domesticated in the Near East.

After breakfast, he places on his head a piece of felt, invented by Central Asian nomads, puts on the coat, which is an adaptation of a costume worn by medieval Polish horsemen, lights a cigarette which is a Mexican habit learned from the Indians, and walks to work on streets paved according to a system developed by the Romans.

At work, he writes with symbols invented by the Babylonians, on paper made from a process invented by the Chinese, and if he is a bookkeeper he uses a method developed by Italian merchants in the Middle Ages.

In the course of the day, he will have learned about the world from a printing process invented in Germany, upon a principle discovered in China. Then he thanks a Hebrew God in our Indo-European language that he is a hundred-percent (decimal system from the Greeks) American (from Amerigo Vespucci, an Italian explorer).

There Are Preventives For Atherosclerosis, No Cures

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have atherosclerosis. Please tell me if there is a special diet for this.

A firm that sells health foods claims it can prolong my life by using its products. What is your advice on such foods? And what effect does atherosclerosis have on the arteries? — Mrs. M.C.

Everybody reads this column sooner or later will have atherosclerosis, just as everybody will see the little lines in his youth, and acquire a few wrinkles, and notice that the hair gets grayer if not thinner. So what? The longer we live, the older we grow.

It may be — indeed it is probable — that diet has some effect on atherosclerosis, but so do other things, such as age, heredity, and exercise. Dr. Paul Dudley White advised me to ride his bicycle, and talk about it, just for fun. He has followed that steady exercise throughout his life in order to keep the arteries in better condition.

The two things we can control, diet and exercise, have little if any effect in preventing atherosclerosis after it has developed. They are preventives not cures.

I don't mean radical or rigid diet. I don't recommend violent exercise. If people would get into the habit, as young adults, of doing an hour's brisk walking or the equivalent, every day, that would be a good habit. Some days it could be bowling, swimming, golf, tennis, or a stamp-and-envelope and 5c in coin to the nearest mailbox. Handling. Write in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 198, Dundee, Ill.

In the past couple of years, there appears to be not only a great increase in the quantity and variety of artificial flowers on display in our stores, restaurant and novelty stores, but a considerable improvement in the artistic quality of the artificial refits. So much so that even the real flowers have to look to their weather. But when the nonflorist shops and stores began advertising more and better artificial flowers, we realized we had to get into the business too. After all, this is the age of substitutes for the real thing: sundial plastic grass, paper for silk, rayon for linen and cotton. Instant coffee, instant flowers. Flowers are made to be put indoors instead of mouths."

So I bought a couple of decorative dafodils.

Nfld. Girl Kills 2 Bulls At Festival

NUEVO LAREDO, Mexico (AP)—Despite a stiff wind—a bullfighter's worst enemy—Carolyn Hayward came through with flying colors in the first of the blood two young bulls here Sunday before 3,000 spectators.

The 19-year-old green-eyed native of St. John's, Nfld., proved everything said about her as she completely subdued a couple of other young bullfighters in the festival.

Miss Hayward, the only woman bullfighter in the world today, used three quick thrusts to kill the first bull but vanquished her second one on the first try.

She received an ear and an ovation for her performance.

The slight, 100-pound daughter of a Second World War aer pilot learned bullfighting in Spain and killed more than 100 bulls in a Canada-American tour.

She became the only woman bullfighter in the world when Pat McCormick and Betty Ford, who had won much fame in Mexico for their bullring performances, retired.

Rev. L. A. Page Becomes Rector At Niagara Falls

The Reverend L. Arthur Page, Rector of St. Margaret's on-the-Hill Anglican Church since 1951 has announced his resignation which is to take effect on October 15th, when he assumes the Rectorship of All Saints' Church, Niagara Falls.

Mr. Page returned to the Belleville area in 1950 after an absence of twenty-five years, during which time he did Social Service work in Toronto, Ottawa and Quebec, and fourteen years of Social Service and Parochial work in Prince Albert, Sask. On his return to Ontario he served a short pastorate at Roslin, and in October 1951 was appointed Rector of Shannonville with Point Anne and St. Margaret's. But with the growth in the eastern environs of the city and the completion of the present St. Margaret's Church, Shannonville and Point Anne were taken off and St. Margaret's became a separate parish with Mr. Page as its first Rector.

Since 1957 Mr. Page has been Rural Dean of Prince Edward, and for three years has been chairman of the Diocesan Council for Social Service; he has attended two meetings of the Executive Council of General Synod, and at the General Synod recently held in Kingston was assistant to Archdeacons N. R. Stout and J. B. Creegan, Registrars.

Gasoline Price War Expanding In This City

Belleville motorists for the past week have been enjoying a gradually expanding gasoline price war which has seen most of the service stations in the city dropping prices for regular gasoline by two cents per gallon.

Most of the stations in the city are now charging 28.9 cents per gallon, although a few are noted to be charging 37.9 cents.

The drop in price is apparently aimed at competing with Prince Edward county service stations which have been on a gasoline price war for the past year. When the war was at its height, stations in the Picton area were charging as low as 30.9 cents for regular gasoline.

Two Charges Laid Against Wpg. Tribune

WINNIPEG (CP) — Two charges of unlawfully publishing references to an admission or confession tendered in evidence at a preliminary hearing have been laid in Magistrate's Court here against Ross Munro, publisher of the Winnipeg Tribune, and the Southam Company Limited.

John Enns, crown attorney, said he was instructed to proceed against Mr. Munro following a report published in the Tribune dealing with the preliminary hearing of Clarence Richards, charged with capital murder in connection with the death of his wife.

Mr. Munro and the Southam Company were served with a summons Saturday after the charges were laid and are to appear in court Sept. 12.

The Criminal Code was amended in 1959 to ban any publication in news reports to admissions or confessions tendered in evidence at a preliminary hearing until discharge of the accused or end of the subsequent trial.

The conference, perhaps the most publicized in Commonwealth history and certainly the most important in relation to economic offsets since the Ottawa agreements of 1932, opened against a background of unusual complexity.

For the one hand those who profess to know the British government's innermost feelings are convinced that Macmillan and his colleagues will make clear their belief that Britain's come what may, must take the leap into Europe.

Against this there are signs that the government will need steady nerves to combat steady and growing volume of anti - European sentiment both in the Commonwealth countries.

Conference sources said that it already was generally agreed that the talks should end Sept. 19.

Sources said that after his formal welcoming statement as chairman, Macmillan will not present the United Kingdom's case for joining the six - member Common Market.

Then he was expected to leave the British case open by willing each of the representatives of the Commonwealth countries to make opening policy statements.

The sources said that some of the leaders would limit their speeches largely to general observations for tactical reasons. The leaders wanted to hear the entire British case from Edward Heath, Lord Privy Seal and Common Market negotiator, before giving their own detailed reactions to the terms that so far he has negotiated at Brussels, with the six —France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Diefenbaker, representing the senior Commonwealth, will reply first on Tuesday with a statement of his government's views. He lunched Sunday with Macmillan at Admiralty House, the British prime minister's residence while 10 Downing Street is undergoing extensive rebuilding. They talked for two hours and the Canadian leader described the conversation as "very fine."

One point they touched on, it was understood, was the Saturday declaration by Opposition Leader Hugh Gaitskell that Britain shouldn't enter the EEC on the basis of interest - vague promises and assurances" for the protection of Commonwealth trade interests.

Diefenbaker was reported buoyed by the Gaitskell declaration and by the recently published findings of a national public opinion poll that a majority of British people now oppose Common Market membership.

Diefenbaker obviously sees both these developments as adding weight to Canada's concern over the proposed British move.

Queen's Is Offering Executives' Course

The basic principles of sound management will be investigated at the fourth annual winter "Executive Program" being offered this year to Kingston and District Chamber members by Queen's University. Topics to be covered include management practices, human relations and business policy.

Chairman of the Executive Program for the School of Business will be D. Barrett, announced today three-hour evening classes will be offered on Wednesday from October 3rd to December 19th. Dr. Ellis Hurst, Assistant Professor F. W. Judge, will be instructors for the course.

"We will be able to accommodate 65 men in this regional training program," Dr. Barrett said. "Last year we had 95 applications from the Belleville-Kingston area for only the 65 positions, so it might be wise for qualified executives to register early for the program."

New Storm Building Up Among Arabs in Mid-East

By WEBB McKINLEY

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A new storm is building up among Arabs in the Middle East.

At its most violent, it could topple governments and cause the Arab League to turn out to be merely another epic story of words and gestures.

The oil - rich Saudi Arabian throne, and sharpened his attacks on Jordan's young King Hussein.

At the same time Nasser has manoeuvered against Iraq's Premier Abdel Karim Kassem—who boycotts the Arab League because of its acceptance of Kuwait in defiance of Iraqi claims of ownership.

All these rivalries cut down Nasser's onetime dominance of the league. With his opponents lining up against him, and new North African Arab states showing their independence in Arab affairs, Nasser found the league no longer his instrument.

Syria fought the matter to a head by calling the Shtura meeting to accuse Nasser of urging Syrians to revolt. At the meeting it accused Nasser of collaborating with the United States to work out peace with Israel.

DELEGATES WALK OUT

The suspicion here is that Nasser decided well before Shtura either to chuck the league or regain control of it.

In Cairo he has formed rudimentary alliances with Yemen's Egypt's President Nasser and the influence he can exert on the islanders.

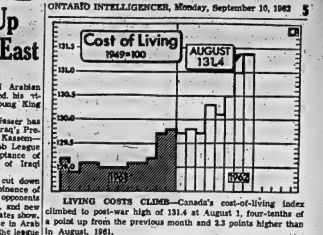
Egypt's walkout from the Arab League meeting in Shtura, Lebanon, was a storm warning. Nasser is dropping any pretence of dealing with other Arab governments in the league's polite channels. He is taking off the gloves and going to work more than ever directly with the people of secondary against their governments.

POPULAR WITH PEOPLE

Syria's successful breakaway from his United Arab Republic one year ago hurt him but did not cost him his popularity with the Arab masses. He reacted by intensifying his drive for a kind of national socialism in Egypt and by abandoning the façade of friendship with what he considers the Arab world's reactionary regimes.

In the past year, Cairo has broken with medieval Yemen's ruling Imam, going all-out in a propaganda offensive against royals of the Arab People's Congress, aimed at uprooting the Arab masses over the heads of their governments.

Syria has cease-out fighting. It has set up a Free Egypt Committee, aimed at toppling the Cairo leader.



The kings of Jordan and Saudi Arabia, forgetting their old tribal rivalries, have proclaimed plans for a military and trade union.

Syria and Iraq—just as opposed to Nasser but suspicious of monarchies — criticize the kingly alliance. But they have pulled their own Baghdad-Damascus axis closer together.

Thus the Arab world is choosing up sides. Standing cautiously aside are the neutrals and mediators, Lebanon, Kuwait and the African Arab states.

A special message to all parents of boys and girls now in high school

You can guarantee your youngster's College Education in partnership with "MY BANK" BofM

BANK OF MONTREAL
UNIVERSITY EDUCATION PROGRAM

A comprehensive, life-insured plan for financing a college education for boys and girls now in high school

If you are like most parents with children in high school, you are probably wondering how you are going to meet the costs of financing your youngster's college education. To help parents solve this problem, the Bank of Montreal has introduced its University Education Programme—the first life-insured plan of its kind in Canada.

Under this comprehensive programme, parents, guardians and sponsors of high-school students can spread the cost of a university education over periods of up to nine years, thus keeping monthly payments to amounts that are affordable without hardship. And the cost to the parent is only a fraction of the interest paid on a straight loan programme.

HOW THE PROGRAMME WORKS

Under the basic plan, the parent agrees to make monthly payments to the Bank starting, say, two years before the student enters university, and terminating one year after graduation. In return, the parent receives an annual sum from the Bank at the start of each of the four university years.

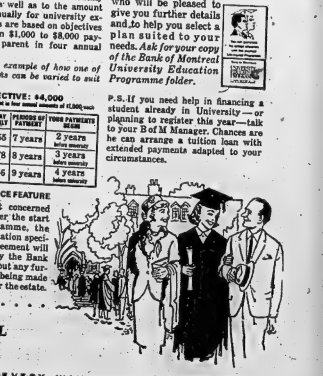
VARIANTS OF THE PLAN

Several optional plans are available to suit the requirements of almost any parent wishes to make monthly payments, as well as to the amount required annually for university expenses. Plans are based on objectives ranging from $1,000 to $8,000 payable by the parent in four annual instalments.

Here is an example of how one of the basic plans can be varied to suit your needs:

OBJECTIVE: $4,000
To be paid to the parent in four annual amounts of $1,000 each

OPTIONS	MONTHLY PAYMENTS	PERIODS OF PAYMENTS	YOUR PAYMENTS BEGIN
Plan A	$49.55	7 years	2 years before university
Plan B	42.78	8 years	3 years before university
Plan C	37.56	9 years	4 years before university



LIFE-INSURANCE FEATURE

If the parent concerned should die after the start of the programme, the funds for education specified in the agreement will be advanced by the Bank each year without any further payments being made by the family or the estate.

HOW TO JOIN THE PROGRAMME

See the people at your neighbourhood B of M branch. You will receive a warm welcome from a staff that will be pleased to give you further details and to help you select a plan suited to your needs. Ask for your copy of the Bank of Montreal University Education Programme folder.

P.S. If you need help in financing a student already in University — or planning to register this year—talk to your B of M Manager. Chances are he can arrange a tuition loan with extended payments adapted to your circumstances.

Happy Life Only Depresses Her

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS:—I wonder if you could give me some suggestions as to how I could help my sister learn to enjoy life.

She is 24, in good health, has no money problem, has a hard-working husband, two fine sons, a delightful daughter-in-law and three beautiful grandchildren. She lives in a modern farm home and drives a late model car. And yet she is depressed.

Recently I spent a week with her and it made a nervous wreck of me. She nagged her husband about every little thing. She cross-examined her 16-year-old son about his activities. This boy is withdrawn.

She cried on my shoulder about all her problems she has. I can't understand why she behaves like this—MRS. M.S.

* * *

DEAR MRS. M. S.—Her complaints, her crying, are a kind of satisfaction to her.

Perhaps by a child she couldn't hold her own with an an older sister. Perhaps her parents discouraged progress with too great demands. Perhaps she was overprotected.

So her one satisfaction was in getting sympathy. This became habitual. She is now discouraging her son. Vicious circle!

If she could get a glimpse of the fact that the fault lies within her, a counsellor might help. And I wouldn't rule out the influence of physical changes, right now.

* * *

DEAR DORIS:—Would you please tell me what qualifications you need to be a telephone operator? How do you apply for this job?—AN EX-FARMERETTE.

DEAR EX:—My leaflet on this vocation answers your questions, so I am sending you one. To apply where you are, see your chief operator.

TO I. J.—Just take the first step in the direction of a social worker. Then she will help you talk about it. Trained social workers learn how to draw people out about intimate family things. Unless you discuss them, you'll have trouble finding a cure — when they've gone as far as they have in your case.

Rev. J. Moloney Honored on Departure

CAMPBELLFORD — St. Mary's Parish Church was filled to capacity for 10.30 Mass on Sunday, September 2, the last Sunday the pastor, Father J. C. Moloney would be in Campbellford. He had recently been appointed to St. Paul's Church in Norwood and took up his duties there on Saturday, September 8th.

At the conclusion of the Mass, a delegation of men consisting of Messrs. Paul O'Sullivan, Henry Forestal, T. B. McArvella and Leo Doherty proceeded to the altar railing to make a presentation to Father Moloney. Paul O'Sullivan read an address, stating that Father Moloney had been priest, director, spiritual director and close friend to the members of the parish. He enumerated the many changes which have been made in the parish since Father Moloney's appointment here some 14 years ago, saying that education had always been of great concern to Father Moloney, himself a high school teacher. He mentioned the new school which had been built during his pastorship and the recent addition of two new classrooms. He had been time this year. He asked Father Moloney to accept the gift of a purse of money, presented by Leo Doherty, as a token of the parishioners' admiration and respect of the entire parish of St. Mary's.

At the conclusion of the presentation, Mrs. Emmett Kelleher, president of St. Mary's Parish Council of the Catholic Women's League, read an address on behalf of the group. She stated that for the past 14 years Father Moloney had been their spiritual director and had directed and guided them in their every work. He had attended most of their monthly meetings and assisted them in every way possible. She asked that he accept a gift of a reclining chair and ottoman, presented by Mrs. Leo Doherty and Mrs. Joseph Smith, as a token of love and respect of St. Mary's Parish Council.

Though taken by surprise, Father Moloney thanked the members of the parish most gracefully, and paid tribute to the work of the C.W.L. He said he would be sorry to leave Campbellford but that these transfers and assignments are essential and vital to the growth and propagation of God's church on earth. He paid tribute to the various other organizations of the church, thanking them for their co-operation during his pastorship, and invited everyone to call and see him at his new parish in Norwood. Father Moloney paid high tribute to his successor, Father Joseph Walsh, who has been transferred from St. Alphonsus Parish, Wooler.

Father Moloney, who was born in Eusimore, Ont., attended St. Augustine's Seminary after completing his high school studies. He was made assistant at Sacred Heart Church, Peterborough, after his ordination, and in 1940 was appointed pastor at Huntsville. He came to St. Mary's Church in Campbellford in April 1948 succeeding Father Joseph Collins, who was appointed to Cobourg, Ontario.

The Reverend Father Joseph Walsh, a native of Duoro, Ontario, also attended St. Augustine's Seminary, and, after his ordination, was assistant at Immaculate Conception Church in Peterborough. He was pastor at Kinmount, Ontario, for some years and after the death of Father Richea in 1934, was appointed pastor of St. Alphonsus Church, Wooler.

Rainy Day Cheer

BY GRACE THORNCLIFFE

Water-repellent taffeta makes a coat crisply smart and a treat when it rains. It comes in tan and green plaid on white, or in black with white and gray.

The topper is smartly tailored with curved seaming extending from under the arms down each side to the flap pockets and the back hangs straight. And a bonus there is a matching tone chiffon head scarf.

From Provisions At Hand

by Mary Moore

It is inevitable that the time will come, even in the best-ordered of households, when the cook is backed into a corner. Either you have deliberately let yourself run out of supplies so you will use up leftovers and canned or frozen foods you are tired of looking at or you have unexpected guests or (and this happened to us in Muskoka) the supplies you want are just not available.

Our dilemma had a happy ending. Marion and Wilf Mallory are Wyn and my brother-in-law's friend and were invited for their annual Muskoka luncheon. Last year it was at their cottage.

Wyn and I planned the menu around what supplies we had and what The Stitching Post could provide. We had a can of minced clams and some bacon and mixed vegetables so clam chowder came to mind. After a trip to the store this turned out to be a seafood chowder which was a success — I know because Marion wanted the recipe.

Cottage days are past for another year for most of us but this recipe for seafood chowder should be kept in mind for emergency meals at home.

SEAFOOD CHOWDER
(Canadian-resort style):

This serves 8 generously as a main course.

Saute gently, starting with cold frying pan, 3 slices back bacon chopped small with 1 medium onion chopped (or ¼ Spanish onion, shredded, which I used) and 1 teaspoon curry powder, until onion and bacon are limp and transparent. Add 3½ to 2 cups raw potatoes, pared and diced small and 2 cups water and gently boil for 15 to 18 minutes until potatoes are tender. Now add 1 quart whole milk, 1 7-oz. can minced clams (1 4-oz. can lobster flaked and bones removed) 1 7-oz. can shrimps (add the liquids from these cans of shellfish), ½ pint 18% cream and 1½ teaspoons salt. Bring to scalding point and taste. You may want to add more curry powder and salt and some pepper. 1 added 2 tablespoons butter. We served it piping hot, in old-fashioned flanged soup plates, with salted Dilly Bread, with which devotees of this column are familiar, straight from the oven.

Then we brought on a platterful of chilled large tomatoes stuffed with cottage cheese to which we had added finely chopped green onions and inner celery and enough mayonnaise to moisten. Each stuffed tomato was nestling in a choice well-cupped crisp lettuce leaf.

For dessert there were choices: applesauce made from Duchess apples bought from the roadside, sliced Niagara peaches or wild blackberries picked on our own Muskoka property.

Unpretentious fare but every bit fitting for an August lunch in the North.

MAY IMPORT GRAIN

WARSAW (AP)—Communist Leader Wladyslaw Gomulka confirmed Sunday what hardselling Polish farmers already know — that bad weather has cut the crop short of record 1961 levels. He spends much of the speech on efforts to confirm the expert view that Poland may be under pressure to import more grain.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Bess W. — The help they give me isn't worth the nagging I must do.

* * *

Ken W. — When I get home late and find Bess all tuckered out from doing chores the kids were supposed to do, I'm ready to wake them up and find out what gives. They slip up to their rooms and, before Bess has checked up on them, it's 10 o'clock and they're in dreamland. Meanwhile, the garbage hasn't been put out, the wash hasn't been taken off the line, and the supper dishes are still soaking! Bess must carry on and, of course, I pitch in too.

We have four youngsters, two boys, 14 and 8, and two girls 12 and 6. We assigned them each a few reasonable duties as their part of the housekeeping job. When I'm around, I take no excuses for slacking work. But their mother considers it a Big Deal whenever they come through a door they're supposed to. And they know it!

* * *

Bess W. — Sometimes I don't know whose character is being developed by our housekeeping system — mine or the children's! It takes a lot of restraint on my part not to dust where Susie's supposed to and not to wash the bowl for Johnny's cat. And then, to check up on who's done what each day requires a staff of inspectors. Maybe we need a new system where they check on each other, instead of waiting for me to raise a rumpus when they cheat. But that would turn them into squealers, and that's not good either.

I'm glad when they turn in a kick and a promise just to show they get the general idea of how they must help. It's simpler to finish up myself than to nag.

* * *

The Council: Here are a pair of stout-hearted parents, followthing what the book says about teaching children to share responsibilities, but forgetting that "the book" hands out ideas in the abstract and that it's up to each family to work out a how-to that works! Bess is right. The W.'s need a new system. Handing out assignments and allotting duties is only a first step in the scrub bucket-It's the follow-up that starts the elbow grease flowing!

Perhaps the centurions is basic to the children's attitude. Dad considers their house chores a no-nonsense must; while Mom is wish-washy — mostly wishy. So the first step would be to draw up a new list of routine responsibilities, reduced to a minimum, but easily checkable (by Bess). Then the youngsters could expect some consistency in enforcement of the house rules.

Next, since all four children can presumably read and write, how about giving them an element of choice, so that they can "sign up" for a type of work they prefer? And, should they regret their choice or weary of it, the record-book may be re-opened each month for some rotation. The 14-year-old, for example, might like to switch from Folding The Laundry to Sewing On Buttons. The big guy could swap Sweeping The First Floors with the little guy, for Changing The Guppies' Water.

Then each should have one duty, or be invited to include one which involves working alongside a parent. Nothing makes a kid feel so "tall" as to be the other member of the team making the cake, or fixing the car, or talking down the grocery. Working is that concept his rich emotional "fringe benefit" all round.

And finally, each should have one small assignment for which he is solely responsible, with no ifs, ands or buts. Knowing, for example that no one else will water his patch of geraniums and if he doesn't the plants will die, provides a wonderful discipline of its own. The sad results of shirking, not Dad, will make him up!

Under some such program as this, the two purposes of work obligations may be fulfilled — developing a feeling of family responsibility for the children, and producing some real, not just "busy," help for hard-working parents.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS

BY PATRICIA LEWIS

"CONVERSATION GROUPING"

Hostesses always expect — and rightly so — that their guests will be well-mannered and keep a conversation going at all costs.

Most guests generally come through with flying colors. But to few often emerge with sorely strained vocal cords. Why? Because the arrangement of the furniture makes talking practically impossible.

A room may be tastefully-furnished and done in a charming color scheme that is blended and accented perfectly. The acoustics, too, leave little to be desired with deep carpeting and yards of draperies to subdue any clamor. The only real difficulty in establishing conversational rapport is that the sofa is at one end of the room and a chair or two way down at the other. Each is an island unto itself, and guests are forced either to gather in isolated twos and threes or call across the room in an effort to converse.

As a result, talk can become stifled and tiresome, but there is a solution. It's what decorators call a "conversation or more without moving a grouping." You can have one, two or more, depending on how much seating equipment you have in the room, and how large it is.

All it actually means is grouping a number of chairs within a comfortable conversational range. The sofa is often combined with one or two chairs to make a major grouping. Several small chairs ranged around a low table can make a secondary grouping. Sometimes two love-seats arranged opposite each other offer ease of conversation.

Pictures of room interiors in newspapers and magazines offer many ideas on congenial furniture arrangements. Decorating rooms in department stores are another rich source of inspiration.

Adventurers Challenge Fate by Crossing Stormy Atlantic in Fishing Boat

MONTREAL (CP) — Some disciples of the Hemingway code take to sports car racing; others try big game hunting. But John and Sheila Rotgans of Vancouver are two adventurers who challenged fate by crossing the stormy North Atlantic in a 40-foot fishing boat.

The husband and wife and three hardy Britons took the Ice Bear, converted to a sailboat and aided by a 44-horsepower diesel motor, on her journey from Aberdeen through gales, dense fogs and icebergs to Sept-Iles, Que.

And despite some hair-raising moments and the breakdown of their two-way radio half-way across the Atlantic, the two were almost ready to start again by the time they had lost their sea legs in Montreal.

"Crossing the Atlantic in a small craft isn't so unusual" said Sheila, a doctor and the only woman in the crew, "but most people take the safer and warmer South Atlantic route to the West Indies."

They took the northern route, a "desert" of ice where they rarely saw another ship, because it was shorter and they could refuel in Iceland.

Both seasoned sailors, the Rotgans originally wanted to sail back to Canada from their visit to England in their own 34-foot yacht. But they were forced to change their plans and instead teamed up with Cambridge law professor Dr. R. M. Jackson, owner and skipper of the Ice Bear, who was looking for a crew to sail to Canada where he was to serve as visiting professor at McGill University. The other two crew members were Cambridge students.

The boat, commissioned for war use in 1936, was rigged with a jib sail, mizzen sail and two square sails for the old wind-jammer style." The Ice Bear's steering cabin had some distinctive features as well—seats from a London taxi and windows from an old Daimler car.

Off Iceland's coast they found themselves in a fogbound forest of obelisk-shaped rocks jutting from the water. "I was more scared then than at any other time during the trip," Sheila said. "I really thought we had had it."

Off the south coast of Greenland they ran into a 94-knot gale which whipped them 80 miles off their course. After this their radio broke down. They met a second gale in the iceberg-ridden Belle Isle Straits. But there were no casualties on the 2,000-mile voyage which took exactly a month.

In calm weather the resourceful sailors augmented their allotted rations and accommodations are needed to bring present realities of life into harmony with social institutions, attitudes and values.

6. Women are still uncertain about the actual facts of Canadian society, the acceptability of their present behavior and about the future.

No one at the conference actually knew how many working mothers need day-care facilities for their children, or the degree of guilt or frustration existing among Canadian women, Dr. David said.

Practical ways of adjusting values with realities suggested by the delegates included adjustment of educational and employment schedules to accommodate women, increased child-care facilities, flexibility in education and legislation assuring the legal status of women workers.

He predicted the impact of the four - day conference, attended by close to 500 delegates from throughout Canada representing 18 national women's organizations, will be felt in two years' time in home life, schools, churches and every aspect of Canadian life.

canned diet with fresh codfish caught from the side of the boat. Sheila, chief cook and doctor, said she had to disguise canned food — "to prevent grumbling" by male crew members. "I was always fiddling with fried onions or adding curry sauce to things like canned stew."

The worst aspect of the trip, Sheila said, was the perpetual motion. "I just wanted to stay still after a while."

But the Rotgans are ready to go down to the sea again. "Sometimes you think you're cured," John said, "But the sea is a terrible, f'ny always go back to it." They have dreams of sailing up through the Queen Charlotte Islands in British Columbia.

The second long leg of their journey west, incidentally, was on a motor scooter — with their extra cash which they were to pick up from friends en route.

The leaders of Girl Guides and Brownies in the Belleville Division will have the opportunity to attend four basic training periods starting in September and spaced a week apart to conclude in October.

These training periods are designed for new leaders and to acquaint experienced Guiders with the latest data released by Guide Headquarters. Anyone interested in the Guiding Movement is invited to attend, to get a better insight as to the regulations and suggested methods for each Guider to follow when conducting a regular Guide or Brownie meeting.

Mrs. J. Gist, Belleville Division training chairman, has arranged for the first two of these evening instruction periods to be conducted at the Kiwanis Centre with the latter periods at St. Thomas Parish Hall.

The Blue trainer (Guides) is Mrs. Diana Settle and the Brown trainer (Brownies) will be Mrs. Joan Watkin.

Miss America Jackie Mayer Of Sandusky

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) Twice it from Jacquelyn Jeanne Mayer, it pays to diet. As a chubby little girl in Sandusky, Ohio, Jackie dreamed of being Miss America. Today she is.

Jackie met interviewers Sunday at her first press conference since being crowned Miss America of 1963 a few moments after midnight.

"I was always chubby until I was about 15 years old," she told them. "I guess it's all right to say it—I weighed 150 pounds.

"But when I was a sophomore in high school I decided it was about time to lose some weight. We ate at the school cafeteria, so I saved money by having no lunch. I also watched my evening meals and hardly ever ate breakfast."

Now 20, she has a 36-22-36 figure, but has to be careful what she eats to remain at 115 pounds. She stands 5-foot-5.

Jackie, as her friends call her, has hair so long she can sit on it when she lets it down.

A member of a musical family—her mother is a music teacher—Jackie formerly sang with Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians.

Miss America aspires to be an actress, but she said she first wants to complete her education.

The Miss America title carries with it a $10,000 scholarship, and Jackie's personal appearances during the year are expected to bring her an estimated $75,000.

She succeeded Maria Beale Fletcher of Asheville, N.C.

Canada's representative, Nina Marie-Holden, 18, of Victoria, failed to place in the finals.

More Questions Raised Than Answered at Forum

By PATRICIA KUSAK

TORONTO (CP)—A four-day conference exploring the role of women in present-day society raised more questions than it answered, Dr. Henry David of New York said Sunday.

Summarizing The Real World of Woman at its closing session, the president of New York's New School for Social Research said the examination of the world of Canadian women involved an examination of every aspect of Canadian life.

Subjects discussed in the CBC-sponsored conference's 18 workshops and three group sessions ranged from discrimination against women in education and employment to the nature of femininity and sexual satisfaction in marriage.

IDEAS EMERGE

"Neither men nor children could be excluded from any discussion," Dr. David said. He added that six major ideas emerged from the discussions:

1. Freedom of choice for Canadian women has been greatly magnified and has resulted in new living patterns and consequently new needs and new expectations.

2. Canadian women realize the importance of developing their potential and regard the scale of waste as "too large to be tolerated."

3. Women feel opportunities and facilities for self-development must be broadened.

4. They feel discrimination should not be based upon sex, either in industry, government or education. "Inequality of opportunity exists especially in the field of education, which makes it possible for discrimination on the basis of sex."

5. A whole range of adjustments and accommodations are Schreider Quits Lions!

TORONTO (CP) — Gary Schreider played a whale of a defensive game, scored a touchdown, kicked a field goal and three converts, then quit his football job.

He left British Columbia Lions of the Western Conference to continue law studies at Osgoode Hall here.

The surprise move must have dampened the Lions' spirits after their 37-21 triumph over Toronto Argonauts in a Canadian Football League interlocking battle, but it sent a spark of hope into the Argo camp.

There was speculation Argos would try to make a deal with B.C. to add the talented, Canadian-born linebacker to their group.

Toronto coach Nobby Wirkowski, surprised at the news, said he hadn't had time to think it over. "But, we'll have to give it a second thought — we need ball players."

Herb Capozzoli, general manager of the Lions said last week Schreider had signed to complete the 1962 season. He wasn't available for comment.

WAS WITH OTTAWA

Schreider, 26, was traded to the Lions this season after spending six successful years with Ottawa Rough Riders of the Eastern Conference. Coach Frank Clair of the Riders didn't approve of Schreider's plans to commute between Toronto and Ottawa.

Schreider, a graduate, of Queen's University in Kingston, has only six months to complete at Osgoode and it became a matter of whether he wanted to practice law in British Columbia or Ontario. If he had graduated in B.C. he would have had to practice there.

"I've lived all of my life in the East," he said.

Terriors In Senior 'A'

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Galt Terriers decided Sunday to join the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A western division and Woodstock Athletics confirmed they would also join the new six-team loop.

Galt's decision was welcomed at a meeting of OHA executives here. The meeting drew up a 50-game schedule beginning Oct. 28 and ending March 2 next year.

The meeting promised financial help to the Terriers if the team is not reimbursed by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association for a $2,500 debt incurred last season at the world hockey championships in Denver.

Doubt that Galt would join the league this season arose several weeks ago when team officials announced the debt would probably keep them out of the running.

Woodstock decided to join the league at an Aug. 30 meeting in Windsor but had since indicated that debts were piling up and the team might not be available.

Other teams in the loop are Chatham Maroons, Windsor Bulldogs, Kitchener - Waterloo Tigers and Sarnia Rams.

VOTE AGAINST

The meeting turned thumbs down on the possibility of Belleville McFarlands or Toronto Macedonians of the eastern division meeting western division winners in provincial playoffs next April.

Instead, executives decided western winners would move directly into the all-Ontario final against the winners of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association series.

Sarnia manager Jim Watson made the proposal to help Galt Terriers out of their jam. The league assured Galt that a $2,000 loan would be forthcoming if the CAHA basked down.

Candy Spots Wins Rich Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Candy Spots, a supplementary entry, won Chicago's $357,250 Arlington - Washington Futurity, the World's richest race, Saturday. The favored Never Bend was defeated by one-half length and his jockey, Manuel Ycaza, was penaled for claiming a foul.

Ycaza contended he was fouled by a horse that finished out of the money but the stewards disallowed the claim. Later the Illinois Racing Commission voted to suspend Ycaza for making a frivolous claim. The ban will continue to the end of the Illinois racing season Nov. 17.

Candy Spots, owned by Rex S. Ellsworth and ridden by Willie Shoemaker, ran the seven furlongs in 1:21 4-5, only two-fifths of a second off the track record, and returned $6.60.

The victory was worth $142,250. It boosted the money-winning lead of Ellsworth's Chino, Calif., stables to $1,138,049.

At New York's Aqueduct park, Smart Deb, an invader from Chicago, won her seventh straight race when she led all the way in the $102,700 Matron Stakes and threw a roadblock into the two-year-old title hopes of Affectionately, which finished third.

The midwestern champion, ridden by Bobby Usserv, shot home in 1:09 4-5 for the six furlongs and returned $7.60.

DIES OF INJURIES

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Racing driver Marvin (Red) Benner of Dayton died in hospital Sunday of injuries suffered in a sprint car accident July 22 in Winchester, Ind. The 35-year-old driver had been in a coma since the mishap.

THRILLING FINISH — Undoubtedly the most unusual and exciting finish to any sports car race at Mosport Park this season occurred yesterday in the battle between the very fast Sunbeams of Dennis Coad and Eppie Wietzes of Toronto. In the top picture the two cars collide and veer off the course in a cloud of dust just about 100 feet from the finish line as the starter waits to give the winner the chequered flag. Coad and Wietzes had been engaged in a nose to tail battle for first place all the way up to this point. As the dust settled (bottom picture), Wietzes has managed to get his car out of the sand bank and heads across the finish line in first gear to win the race and his class championship. Coad managed to extricate his car in time to take third place. (Photos by D. Phippen.)

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Gary Bowerman's decisive 8 and 7 victory for the Bay of Quinte Country Club's senior golf championship Saturday added weight to the stated belief of several veteran observers of the club.

I do not mean it detracted from the golfing ability of runner-up Mike Acquafredde. Mike is a veteran of the links, a fine golfer and a consistently good player. He defeated some of the best to reach the final round for the club title.

Gary's remarkable emergence from the cocoon of golfing youth to a burgeoning manhood has caught the eye of older golfers and officials.

A recent brilliant runner-up performance in the Kawartha Tournament and subsequent fine efforts in other outside tourneys has focused attention of well-known Ontario golfers including pros on this husky 21-year-old son of Shirley and Joy Bowerman.

A former secondary schools basketball and football player, Gary turned to golf because, he said, "it is a game with a challenge. It, for me at least, makes me want to go out there and beat my last score. Old Man Par is there sneering and saying 'go ahead, beat me'."

He has been playing golf for eight years. When a junior he showed flashes of the potential that now, it is being proven, was always there. He admits he was temperamental, sometimes feeling like throwing a club away after a bad shot. He was never satisfied with his game. He felt, and the feeling always persisted, that he could do better.

He was right. As club pro George Balazs and older members of the club told me: "Gary as a golfer changed from a boy to a man practically overnight."

The metamorphosis became suddenly apparent. Gary, it seemed, shook off the "childish things to become a man." He told me he had his temperament under control. Something seemed to break inside and his game burgeoned into the something he felt would develop some day.

Since that time he has "gained ten yards with every club." His drives are longer. Galleries do not bother him. The youthful frustration, he used to experience with bad shots has gone. He has more confidence with longer putting.

The first concrete evidence of Gary's blossoming into golf manhood came a few weeks ago when he shot a brilliant 66 over the club's new 18-hole course while playing a foursome.

This proved no flash in the pan for the suddenly-developing youngster. He went out there and shot a 68 and two 69's for a 72-hole score of 276, a score which would have won many a tournament.

I am not trying to say that Gary was a "duffer" in his junior days as a golfer. He won the club's junior championship twice, and reached the senior men's championship semi-finals once.

Gary's more or less sensational performance in the Kawartha's tournament opened the door to a wider, more important vista of golf. He led the big field of 240-plus top Ontario golfers after 36 holes. A brilliant comeback performance by Bob Jamieson who won the tourney, left Gary in second place minus three strokes. But he had defeated some of the province's best golfing names.

He put the name of Gary Bowerman and the Bay of Quinte Country Club on Ontario's golf bulletin board. His performance drew the attention of pros and top players. They wanted to know him. Gary Cowan is now a personal friend.

Gary's golfing future looks bright. He would like to become a pro, something that might be realized sooner than he thinks.

"It is a good life," he said me, "although the hours are long and a fellow will have to work. But I love the game and would like to do it."

He may be with a well-known Toronto golf and country club by spring. Both Cowan and John Kindred think Gary has a "terrific" chance to make good on the leads read to pro-dom. In fact Cowan invited Gary to go with him and play in the United States Amateur Tournament.

And so a door to a fine future opens to this promising young golfer. The overnight mushrooming of partly dormant potential has given him confidence in himself. But he knows there is room for improvement. He is not confident to the point of cockiness, rather a surenness of himself and his ability.

I'm sure the best wishes of Quinte and district golfers will go with him.

Dodger Steals Bucs Blind

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Because Maury Wills, son of a Washington minister, refuses to adhere to the commandment "Thou shalt not steal," Los Angeles Dodgers are still in first place in the National League race by half a step.

That was just about all Wills needed Sunday as he stole three more bases and helped the Dodgers defeat Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3 to protect their half-game lead over San Francisco Giants, who beat Chicago Cubs 5-4.

The Dodgers' mercury-footed shortstop, staging a one-man show before 37,264 fans at Los Angeles, hit three singles in four at-bats, stole second each time and scored twice. His three hits gave him nine in his last 12 at-bats. His three stolen bases gave him eight in his last three games and 25 in his last 22.

With 86 stolen bases in 144 games, Wills needs 13 more to top Ty Cobb's modern major league record of 96 set with Detroit Tigers in 1915. The Tigers played 156 games that year. The Dodgers have 18 left in their 162-game schedule.

REDS FADE

Cincinnati's third-place Reds fell 5½ games off the pace and virtually out of the race by losing a 5-3 decision to St. Louis when the Cardinals scored five runs in the ninth inning, four on Carl Sawatski's grand-slam homer.

Philadelphia Phillies defeated Milwaukee Braves 4-3 and Houston Colts played a 7-7 tie with New York Mets. The game, halted after eight innings to allow the Mets to catch a plane, will be completed in New York Sept. 30.

The Dodgers belted Pittsburgh 6-1 Saturday, Philadelphia beat Milwaukee 6-4, San Francisco overpowered Chicago 7-3 and St. Louis edged Cincinnati 5-4. Houston swept a doubleheader against New York, 4-3 and 6-5 in 10 innings.

Southpaw Johnny Podres was touched for 11 hits in 7 1-3 innings Sunday but got his 13th victory for the Dodgers in 24 decisions. Pitts burgh's Bob Friend, seeking his 17th victory, absorbed his 13th defeat.

WILLS STARS

Wills, hitting safely in his 11th consecutive game, singled with two men out in the third, promptly stole second and scored the game's first run on Jim Gilliam's single. Wills singled again in the fifth and stole his 85th base.

Wills singled in the seventh, stole second, went to third on an infield out and scored when Pittsburgh catcher Smoky Burgess hit him in the back with a pickoff attempt.

Felipe Alou paced the Giants with a home run (No. 24), a double and two singles. Alou drove in three runs and scored twice. He has had safety in his last seven times at bat. The league record is 10 consecutive hits.

Wins Third Game 13-9

Hamilton Ousts Midgets

By PETER CARVER

Hamilton UEW's swept their way into the OBA midget "A" finals here Saturday defeating Belleville 13-9 in the third game of their semi-finals series.

The Hamilton youngsters meet Chatham or St. Thomas for the provincial title.

A five-hit seven-run explosion in the fourth innings tucked the game away for the Hamilton team after it had taken a 2-0 lead at the end of the second frame.

They scored four insurance markers in the seventh.

Belleville broke the ice in the fifth with three runs and narrowed the gap in the seventh with a six-run eruption.

They loaded the sacks in the ninth with two out but Hamilton's Jim Cunningham struck out the third man to end the rally and the game.

Frank Farrell started for Belleville and was relieved in the fourth by Bobby Boyle after giving up six runs for six hits. Boyle was nicked for seven runs off five hits.

Hamilton's Ralph Corning lasted until the seventh when Cunningham took over to squelch the Belleville six-run rally.

Hamilton scored their fourth, innings seven runs off four singles a double and two walks. Mike Bulat's three - run homer sparked their four-run outburst in the seventh.

Belleville scored three in the fifth off two walks, a hit-by-pitcher, Rathwell's first hit and Boomhower's two-run drive.

Moore's homer and singles by Boomhower, Lewis and Rathwell plus two walks and an error gave them six runs in the seventh.

Bulat's homer and two singles, and Duffy and Hilson with a double and single paced the Hamilton attack.

Rathwell's three singles headed the Belleville offensive. Boomhower had two singles with Glancey, Ethier and Hallam adding to Moore's homer.

The teams:

Hamilton: Temborino, Hilson, Nempling, Corning, Cunningham, Duffy, Bulat, Hyrnick, Jackson, Fazio.

Belleville: Glancey, Boomhower, Lewis, McMillan, Tomaso, Hallam, Ethier, Rathwell, Moon, Goodfellow, Boyle, Farrell.

The score:

Hamilton	110	700	400	13-12-3
Belleville	000	030	060	9-9-0

Lions Whip 'Fat, Well Paid' Argos

By PAUL RIMSTEAD

TORONTO (CP) — When Nobby Wirkowski took over as coach of Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Football Conference, the team had lost three times in three starts.

Said Wirkowski: "The reason is about to begin."

Today, two games later, Argos have lost five in a row. Nobby is still waiting for the season to open.

British Columbia Lions socked Argos 31-21 in a Canadian Football League interlocking game here Sunday before 22,254 fans who weren't often excited.

The loss almost killed Toronto's playoff hopes. Argos are five points behind the third-place Montreal Alouettes. The Lions moved from the Western Conference cellar to a third-place tie with Edmonton Eskimos, only one point behind the second-place Calgary Stampeders.

When the Lions had finished with Argos, Wirkowski accused some of his men of being "too fat and too well paid." He hinted that sweeping changes will be made after a practice tonight.

"We'll go with the pads," Nobby said, "No more sweat suits. Some of these fellows aren't hungry enough anymore."

MAY MAKE CHANGES

The rookie coach also called a workout for Tuesday morning. The team hasn't held morning practices since training camp.

Lurking in the background are six hulking recruits from the National and American football leagues. All were late cuts who are trying for jobs with Toronto.

Several Argos are said to be on thin ice, including such former all-stars as halfback Dave Thelen and tackles Billy Shipp and Walt Radzick.

The way Argos looked Sunday, they can use help.

Willie Fleming scored two touchdowns for the Lions and Gary Schreider scored a touchdown, kicked a field goal and three converts. Bob Schloredt kicked a single and Nob Beamer and Tom Larscheid scored the other touchdowns.

For Argos, Dick Shatto scored two touchdowns and rookie Joe Hernandez scored the other. Bill Mitchell kicked all three converts.

ARGOS LOOK BAD

The most talked about play was the last play of the first half with the Lions leading 8-7. Schreider, trying for a field goal, hit the upright. Argos stood around watching as Schreider swooped in to grab the ball on the Argo three-yard line and carry it over for the touchdown.

Defensively, the Lions were strong. Linebacker Norm Fieldgate intercepted three passes Schreider was a defensive standout.

Toronto started with newcomer Pete Hall calling the signals, but Hall couldn't get the rolling and veteran Tobin Rote took over. Rote, who missed a game because of a broken index finger on his passing hand, mustered a Toronto attack in the fourth quarter but it was too late.

At one point, Rote completed seven passes in succession, and led the team to two touchdowns on consecutive sequences, but the Lions romped through for a touchdown between them.

B.C. quarterback Joe Kapp passed for two touchdowns, 36 yards to Larscheid and 16 yards to Fleming.

Rote tossed a long pass down the sidelines and Hernandez, who had been used on defence the last three games, spun around a defender and completed a 20-yard scoring play.

Kapp completed 20 of 29 passes. Hall, who ran well, completed only four of 10 and Rote was 1 for 3.

Injuries?

Goalby Wins Denver Open

DENVER (AP)—Bob Goalby out-steadied the field in a closing rush Sunday with a one-under-par 69 to win the $4,500 first prize in the Denver Open golf tournament. He had a 72-hole total of 277, three under par, one stroke ahead of Art Wall Jr.

Al Balding of Toronto shot a 71 for a total of 72-68-72-71—283 and a $750 prize.

Briton Wins Auto Race

MONZA, Italy (AP) — British ace Mike Hailwood rode his privately-entered Italian M.V. Agusta motorcycle to victory Sunday in the 500-c.c. race of the Grand Prix of Nations, the 15th clinched the world title in the top class.

The event climaxed a day in which Japanese Honda motorcycles triumphed in race after race.

Kidd, Crothers Set Records

HALIFAX (CP)—Two Toronto track stars did the expected.

Bruce Kidd set a Canadian open and native record in the 5,000-metre event with a time of 14:08.4. He also won the mile in 4:18.0.

Bill Crothers, a clubmate of Kidd in Toronto's East York Track Club, set a provincial open records with a time of 1:50.2 in the 800-yard dash and 48.4 in the 440.
